The group flew to New York in a chartered plane and were guests of CBS, NBC, ABC, an advertising agency and the Ford Foundation. While there they attended several stage plays, visiting back stage where they studied the technical aspects of the productions and met the performers. They also took part in discussions with radio and TV personalities and attended lectures by experts in many lines.

THE MIDDLE GUARD

by LES BINGAMAN

IT'S A LONG, long way from the college stadium to the professional gridiron. Before a player arrives with the pros, he undergoes quite a processing.

First of all, the collegians are scouted thoroughly long before they graduate. The Lions, for instance, have two or three scouts in every college conference in the United States.

These scouts, some of them college or high school coaches, others Lion "alumni," follow the same teams Saturday after Saturday and are in constant contact with Bob Nussbaumer, the Lions' chief talent hunter.

If they are convinced a player possesses professional potential, they call or write Bob. Some of them are paid for their efforts, others are volunteers.

Precious List

On the basis of these reports, plus reams of publicity that get a thorough scanning, Coach Buddy Parker and his staff make up a list of positions they want bolstered and the players they desire to bolster them.

Armed with this valuable list, over which many careful hours are spent, General Manager Nick Kerbaway and other Lions brass attend the annual draft meeting.

Until now this has been conducted in the winter, after the season is over, but because the Canadian leagues draft earlier and get a jump on the National Football League, it will be moved up to late November.

Since the Lions were on top for three years, the draft proves to be something of a "leveler," as it eventually becomes to all teams on top for any length of time.

Last Goes First

This occurs because, while the teams select players in rotation, the last team gets first pick. Thus, while the Lions may have had their eye on a hard-driving fullback, he may have been picked up by somebody else earlier. So Parker must consult his list to see who's his next choice for the post and then determine if even he's still available.

Such a procedure helps the "have-nots" immeasurably, as witness the Baltimore Colts, who acquired George Shaw, Allan Ameche and L. G. Dupre all at one draft. One of them was a "bonus" pick, a device whereby each year a different team is entitled to acquire one player in advance of the regular draft.

Once a player is drafted, he cannot dicker with any other NFL club. He is the property of the drafting club until he is either sold, traded or released.

The club pays his travel expenses to training camp, as well as his room and board. Some clubs, the Lions included, likewise give a $25 weekly expense allowance.

Paid in Twelfths

The player's contract calls for him to make the team before he receives a salary. Even then, he receives only one-twelfth of the total every Monday morning, following the game the day before. Thus, if a player's contract calls for $6,000 per season, he gets $500 each Monday.

However, 25 per cent of this amount is held back until the end of the season, thereby preventing some of the younger players from squandering more money than they've ever seen before. All the withheld money is paid in a lump sum at the end of the season.

However, should waivers be asked and a player dropped in midseason, his contract terminates, he draws no more salary (unless another club claims him and picks up his contract) and he is paid his withheld money immediately. Thus, though the Lions may be running last, you may be sure no player is "dogging it" with the threat of outright release over his head.

Maybe Rover, or the pup next door, couldn't answer this question with more than a lively bark. But a lot of folks here in town know that Ken-L-Ration is one of the famous products made by The Quaker Oats Company.
Many of these people work for The Quaker Oats Company. They're proud of what they help produce and they're proud of all the products made in The Quaker Company plants throughout the country. (You might say it's the satisfied feeling a person gets from being associated with quality products.)
Ken-L-Ration—along with popular Quick Ken-L-Meal and Ken-L-Biskit—is the dog food that's rich in high quality protein. It has all the nutrients your dog needs for clear, alert eyes, strong teeth and a glossy coat. For years, Ken-L-Ration has been the largest-selling dog food.
No wonder folks take such pride in The Quaker Oats Company products—each and every one of them! We hope you do, too.

The Water Problem

If there is any consolation in the city's acute water problem, it is this: Tecumseh is not alone in its need for more water. Tuesday, Nov. 8, in East Lansing, just a day after councilmen were told of the Tecumseh problem, 140 representatives from Michigan cities and towns were told that Michigan urban areas are facing both a water and sewer crisis.

The State Water Resources Commission said local government in Michigan will need nearly a billion dollars in the next 10 years to meet water and sewer needs.

Specifically, Tecumseh needs $220,000 to meet its immediate requirements. Even then, the city would be providing only for emergency needs. An overall program of an expanded water department and extended sewer lines will cost about $750,000.

But let's discuss the immedate need first. Actually, Tecumseh would not have to extend its water lines. The city could say "We've had it" and what was once a dynamic little town would die of a withering complacency.

And there is another aspect of the ruling of the Michigan Department of Health that is pertinent. The department ruled that Tecumseh could not have any more water line extension permits until it takes steps to provide more water supply and a reserve supply. The health department feels that in the case of an emergency Tecumseh might not have enough water to provide for the needs of its present customers.

There's not a man on the council who wants Tecumseh to die. Every councilman wants Tecumseh to continue to grow and to prosper, even if it means doubling present water rates to provide for the immediate minimum improvements.

Councilmen seem to have no choice. A revenue bond program of financing these water department requirements over a 20-year period will cost $21,700. Water rates now yield $42,000 annually. The money to finance the immediate minimum requirements must come from an increase in water rates.

If anybody has any better idea to provide for Tecumseh's future growth, councilmen undoubtedly would like to hear it.

On Firm Ground

There is a good possibility that most or all of the 16 school districts invited to annex to the Tecumseh Public Schools will approve annexation.

Some members of the smaller boards of education already have met with the Tecumseh board of education to explore further what the proposed annexation will mean to their districts. At the last board of education meeting here members of the smaller districts said they wanted to annex; and they made only favorable comment about how the Tecumseh Public Schools are being run.

One of the strongest selling points currently used by the Tecumseh Board of Education is its desire to take the schools to the smaller children instead of bringing the smaller children to the schools.

In other words, local board members feel that smaller elementary children should not be transported by bus to Tecumseh schools but area schools should be maintained. Several of the districts now have perfectly good elementary schools. Macon, Tipton and Ridgeway come to mind immediately. In time, granting that all 16 districts annex, elementary buildings will be added in some of the districts. In others, additions will be made. The school building would be planned to keep transportation of small children at a minimum.

A word of caution is in order, however. These new area schools cannot come about overnight. In fact, plans for them cannot even be started until the present building debt is retired. After the debt is retired some of the smaller districts now thinking of annexing can look forward to the day when they will have their own school buildings for their smaller children but still belong to a bigger district.

The local board of education certainly is on firm ground with this thinking.

Hard To Convince

Letter To Editor

To the Editor of the Tecumseh HERALD and the Tecumseh Community Fund Board Members —

In answer to column one, page one of last week's HERALD regarding the Tecumseh Community Fund, it seems only logical that since we are fortunate enough to have an emergency fund, the major portion of that fund should be kept as such. Who knows when a disastrous fire, tornado, or an explosion, by bombing or otherwise, will occur and the emergency fund could be the start of a relief fund?

However, Tecumseh has growing pains and some very serious ones. Thanks to the junior chamber of commerce and the community fund and city, the much needed track at the recreation field is becoming a reality instead of a dream. Now the Exchange Club and the junior chamber of commerce have teamed their efforts for the bleachers that have been years in the planning stage. At least these plans prove some of the people are well aware of the mounting needs of a growing community and are DOING something about it.

Perhaps if we all help and do our share the bleachers will be ready to dedicate (as has been previously suggested) at next year's band festival. The question now is — will Tecumseh have a band IN UNIFORM at that time? At present there are just enough uniforms for the senior band and what are usable are motheaten, and ill-fitting. Some band members have sleeves nearly to their elbows; pant legs with one fourth inch hems and then the pants are above the ankle; jackets too short; mismatched buttons, etc. Our high school band was honored this fall by being invited to participate with 1100 other students at the U. of M. Band Day and while there, they were complimented on the quality of their music, — but, incidentally, NOT on their appearance. Other invitations just might be forthcoming IF we could field a snappy appearing band to add to our already good sounding band. This year a few seniors will graduate from this group but three times as many eighth graders will become high school freshmen and join the band and for whom there will be NO uniforms.

Knowing Tecumseh and its past capabilities at meeting a need once it is known, I'm sure it can be done again. The band performs at all home football games without remuneration. The band parades for all community events whenever requested. Undoubtedly the band will continue to do so but either partially uniformed or no uniforms at all. A band without uniforms is like a cake without frosting. It may be good but its appearance isn't.

What I am suggesting is that the community fund donate a substantial sum towards the purchase of new uniforms TO BE DELIVERED BEFORE SEPT. These band members practice one hour or more each day besides special rehearsals and numerous performances. Most of the members purchase their own instruments and many of them take private lessons to perfect themselves even more. I don't believe any other school group puts in so much time to do a job so well and receives so little credit and backing.

How about it Tecumseh? Always before you've shown you had a heart when the need was shown. Can you now, once more, prove it to these faithful youngsters and their devoted instructor by providing the needed uniforms as a heart when the need was known, way of saying to them — "Thanks, kids, for a job well done. We appreciate your efforts"?

What bigger event could we have next fall than to dedicate both new bleachers and new band uniforms at the Band Festival?

Are you faced with the problem of selling your real estate? If so, consider our modern version of an old adage;

"An ounce of performance is worth a pound of promises."

Performance resulting in a sale is what you want. Consistant selling performance is what you get when you list your property with our office. There are many "promising" ways to go about selling real estate. The important thing, however, is to choose a method with a long history of satisfactory sales performance. Such a method is our Exclusive Listing Program.

At the present time, we need more good listings on homes, farms, and commercial properties. In some categories we are nearly SOLD OUT. We need fresh listings to meet the needs of many of our substantial "buyers in waiting."

List your property with us. Give us the opportunity to prove we can perform for you.

Police Recruit Team to Explain Increase in Pay

New higher pay scales will be explained in detail by the Michigan State Police recruiting team which will visit Tecumseh Saturday, Nov. 19, to answer questions and assist in filling out application forms for young men interested in becoming troopers.

A drive is now being conducted to obtain 200 more troopers authorized at the special session of the legislature to fight the highway accident toll.

Applications close Nov. 30. Those sent by mail to the State Civil Service Commission in Lansing and postmarked by midnight of that date will be accepted.

Although men interested may call at a State Police post at any time or talk to any State Police officer, the recruiting team visit has been arranged for their convenience. The team will be at the fire hall here from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.. Its members will be Dan Comrie and George Catton of the Clinton Post.

Of importance to prospective applicants is a substantial increase in pay in all brackets. In addition, the pay while in training school has been raised to equal that received the first year by a trooper.

The former training school pay was $116 every two weeks. It is now $151 and ranges up to $192 in the trooper rank. The maximum may be reached at the end of four years, or a year less than formerly.

Troopers also receive approximately $75 a month subsistence pay, their traveling expenses and their uniforms.

The State Police is a career service and members are eligible to retire on a pension of half pay at the end of 25 years. The pension also goes to widows.

Applicants must be between the ages of 21 and 29, inclusive, not less than five feet, nine inches in height, and have a high school education or its equivalent. Married men as well as single are accepted.

"Here is an oportunity for young men to enter a career that gives them and their families security," said Sgt. Fred O'Donnell, commanding officer of the Clinton Post. "It is a fine profession and young men concerned with their future should not overlook inquiring about it. This is a real chance for them."

Local Topics

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McNeil of Newburg are leaving this week for Bradenton, Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. Joseph Dziachan and children spent the weekend in Lansing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew O. Schieberl. Mr. Dziachan left Saturday to hunt deer in Luce county in the upper peninsula. He was accompanied by Don and Everett Frolich and Mr. Gurtzweiler of Holloway.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Panck were Mrs. Panck's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Filkins of Flint.

Miss Ruth Boyce, who attends Michigan State Normal College, came from Ypsilanti Saturday to spend the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Boyce, bringing four college friends. They were the Misses Roberta Hamilton, Merlene Kellogg, Carole Perugi and Marlene Fewick.

Fred Swan has received word of the safe arrival in Japan of his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Swan. A science teacher in the Westtown Friends School of Philadelphia, Mr. Swan is spending his sabatical year on a goodwill visit to Japan under the sponsorship of the World Committee of Friends. The trip was made on a Japanese freighter with an all Japanese crew and the only other passengers were a Mr. and Mrs. Saville Davis, who are on the editorial staff of the Christian Science Monitor. Also on sabatical leave, they are on a world tour, making a special study of conditions in the Far East.

Mrs. John Green Honored Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. David Gibson entertained Sunday afternoon at a reception honoring their daughter, Mrs. John N. Green of Port Orford, Ore., who arrived Saturday. Mrs. Green is the former Glendora Gibson.

The reception was held in the parlors of the Methodist church from 2 to 5 p.m. and was attended by 54 relatives and friends. Refreshments were served by the Mary Foster Circle of the church from a lace covered table decorated by a centerpiece of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Tea and coffee were poured by Miss Lillian Cannon and Miss Clara Waldron.

Guests included Alfred Gibson of Marion, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCrate of Columbus Grove, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hipp of Kenton, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Babcock of Grand Haven; Mrs. Eulia Avery of Ann Arbor; Mrs. G. McNamara and children and Mrs. George Yonie of Dearborn; Mrs. L. E. Davis of Adrian; Alex Gibson, Mr. and Mrs. David Woods and Miss Lois Younglove of Britton; Mrs. Jennie Younglove, Mr. and Mrs. William Gibson and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schroeder of Macon; Mrs. George Younglove of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Curtiss, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Smith, Miss Margaretta Brisbin and Mrs. Ruth LaPrad and sons of Tecumseh.

Mrs. Green will visit other relatives in Adrian and vicinity, leaving Saturday to spend the weekend in Chicago with her son and family.

SPONSOR JAMBOREE

The Dundee Future Homemakers of America will sponsor a Hill Billy jamboree Nov. 18 from 8 to 11.30 p. m. in the Dundee high school. Music will be furnished by Frank Billmyer and his band.

National Defense is Subject of D.A.R. Chapter

"What are we doing about national defense?" was the subject of a very informative talk at the Nov. meeting of Abi Evans Chapter D.A.R. last Friday afternoon. The speaker was Mrs. C. Strait of the Louisa St Clair Chapter in Grosse Pointe, who is state chairman of that department.

The meeting was at the home of Mrs. Leon Rosacrans and 24 members were called to order by the regent, Mrs. Neil Pearson, who conducted a brief business meeting before Mrs. Strait's address. At that time she appointed a nominating committee to report at the Dec. meeting. Mrs. F. C. Dickinson is chairman and the others are Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw and Mrs. Floyd Elliott.

Mrs. Hoyt Whelan presided over the tea service when refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee, Miss Edith Ingersoll, Mrs. K. D. Hall, Mrs. Howard Wilson, Mrs. Stanley Miller and Mrs. Francis Stone. The table was attractive with a lace cloth and a certerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums.

The Dec. D.A.R. meeting will be in the evening at the home of Mrs. Dickinson and will be a Christmas party.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Filter entertained Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Chet Godzina and children, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Prielipp, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Filter and children of Tecumseh and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Filter and children of Ridgeway. The occasion honored the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Prielipp, Mrs. Filter, Mrs. Godzina and Connie Godzina. A decorated birthday cake centered the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Croll returned Sunday after spending a week in Los Angeles, Calif., where they attended the National Milk Producers Association convention. They visited movie studios in Hollywood and television stations.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McCrate of Columbus Grove, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Babcock of Grand Haven were Friday guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Gripton.

Towels Take Beating; Buy Durable Ones

Pulling and tugging seems to be part of life for every Turkish towel and washcloth. Because of this, homemakers should choose durable towels that can take the strain of family use and frequent laundering.

Along with being durable, Cecilia Roach, instructor in textiles, clothing and related arts at Michigan State University, declares that towels should also be absorbent.

You can feel how absorbent a towel is by the loops. They increase the surface area and thereby the amount of moisture the towel can absorb. The loops, or pile, should be thickly packed and about ⅛ inch long. Shorter loops don't add much absorbency and longer ones are likely to catch and pull out.

The loops may be single or double. Double loops have two strands of yarn and, of course, are more absorbent. Miss Roach cautions that double loop towels should have a stronger background wrap.

For durability the weave of a towel must be firm and close. A twill weave is stronger than the plain or basket weave; this can be checked by holding the towel up to a strong light. The selvage and hems are also an indication of a durable towel. Check for a good firm selvage on both sides and see that the row edges are turned under at least ¼ inch and sewed with close stitches and fine, strong thread.

Miss Roach adds that proper care can lengthen the life of your towels. Don't let them become too soiled. When washing, rinse them thoroughly and hang colored towels in the shade. Never iron them, but shake the towels before hanging to dry and again when folding. Distribute the wear by rotating the towels on your linen shelf. And, lastly, repair them as soon as they are torn.

EVERYTHING YOU DO!

FROM THE MOMENT you awaken until you go to bed, almost everything you do is closely dependent upon the operation of trucks. In fact, even while you're asleep, trucks are working for you. (Beds arrive by truck, too, of course.)

Without trucks, your favorite food market would have empty shelves. Without trucks, you wouldn't find gas stations located conveniently almost everywhere you turn. Without trucks, the building of new homes, factories, and stores would slow to a walk and businesses of all kinds everywhere would suffer.

Sooner or later, everything you eat, wear, or use depends on trucks for transportation. Eventually, everything has to get to you — the consumer. So, when you consider that trucks haul three times the tonnage handled by all the other forms of transportation combined, you realize how very important they are to you!

Get 4-Season Comfort in your new Buick with FRIGIDAIRE CONDITIONING —now at a new low price

The 1956 Buick CENTURY 4-Door Riviera

NOW—
Just touch the pedal and away you go!
(That's the New Variable Pitch Dynaflow*!)

Of course, you can floor the pedal of this stunning new '56 Buick and get the full-power sweep of its advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

That's how you switch the pitch of this airplane-principled transmission for instant safety-surge acceleration to get out of a tight spot on the highway.

But now you get a brilliant new response at the start of pedal travel, too.

Now you get a solid take-hold for instant take-off in the first inch of pedal action — where most of your normal driving is handled. And you get this great new getaway with a big boost in gas mileage, too.

So there you are, just nudging the pedal, and getting action that makes you feel like you've floored it.

There you are, handling all your normal driving situations with a confident toe-touch — with new surety and snap — and with the happy satisfaction that comes with a sizable step-up in the miles you get from a tankful of gas.

And there you are, rolling along with beaming pride as boss man of the best Buick yet.

For here you have, beating any past Buick, the greatest power yet — the boldest styling yet — the sweetest ride yet — the smartest interior yet — and, by far, the best buy yet.

Drop in on us this week — tomorrow, if you can — and see for yourself that there's never before been anything like this Buick beauty for 1956.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Mayflower Pilgrimage

BY MRS. HOYT WHELAN

On to Gainsborough, and we stopped at the John Robinson Memorial Church, built in the 1890's. This was the center of the congregations that became the Pilgrims. This is a very plain church, with a large pipe organ, and on the wall back of the pulpit two large pictures are painted; the one of the left shows the embarking, and the one on the right shows Robinson, with a book, instructing three men, in a park with flowers and trees.

The church society of 1602 was joint between Gainsborough and Scrooby. Smith was the leader at Scrooby and Robinson at Gainsborough. We went through Scrooby to Babworth, and returned to Scrooby later in the day. The Babworth church is out in the country and is where Richard Clifton preached. Brewster and Bradford sometimes attended there and he converted them to the Separatist movement. The school near-by was let out and the children were brought over to the church to attend the service which our group held there. We were shown the chalice which was used in communion service at the time that Brewster and Bradford were attending there. The churches where these two men were baptized were not far from Babworth. Richard Clifton was the only ordained minister who went on the Mayflower with the Pilgrims. John Robinson remained at Leyden with the larger part of his congregation which was unable to go in 1620, and although he expected to join them later he was never able to do so, and died at Leyden.

GIFT PRESENTED

From here we went to Doncaster to lunch, then on to Austerfield to visit the church where William Bradford was christened. The Bradford Society is strong, as he has many descendants, and Mrs. Hill, of New York City, who is one of them, here presented to this church a sum of money to be used for the benefit of the church. I took a flash picture of her as she presented it. Major General Sir John Whittaker, of the Babworth church, accompanied us for the rest of that day, and I secured a picture of him and Col. Allen, Governor General of the Mayflower Society, at this church. Col. Allen is a veteran of the North Africa Campaign of World War II. The Bradford home is near-by, and the owners opened it for us to see.

Then we came south a little way, to Scrooby, where the Brewsters lived for many years. The Brewsters kept the post-tavern in the time of Queen Elizabeth the First, and James the First, when William Brewster was young, and while he was attending Peterhouse at Cambridge. Later William lived in the little house just outside the wall around the church and cemetery. At one time this house was up for sale and likely to be torn down, but Sir John Wittaker's father bought it, and it is open to visitors.

At the church in Scrooby he was present when we dedicated the plaque. William Brewster was the only man among the Pilgrims who had had a college education. His library contained books in English, Latin, Hebrew, Dutch; and plays of the philosopher, Seneca. After the church service the local people served us tea in their parish house.

SEE TINY BOROUGH

We went through Sturton le Steeple, a tiny borough, birthplace of William White and John Robinson, then back through Gainsborough to Lincoln again for the night. We got out early in the morning and went to the Cathedral where a few of us were early enough to be given seats at the right side, between the choir and the altar, during a very colorful "High Church" service.

At Newark men were working on the ruins of what appeared to be an old castle. Through Nottingham, home of the famous Nottingham lace, but no time to stop. Through what was Sherwood Forest, but very little of the forest left. The place now famous for the manufacture of textiles, and the lace. Coal fields are near-by.

Stopped for a few minutes at the ruined Kenilworth Castle, but no time to go in: just time to take a few pictures from a little hill, over the wall. From there to Warwick Castle, a beautiful place, which is occupied by the owner, but a great part of it is open to the public, for a fee, and the furniture and paintings are priceless. The whole place is beautifully kept and the lawns smooth and velvety. The river Avon flows through the grounds. Warwick castle was begun in 916 A.D., by Elfreida, as one of a chain of castles erected for the protection of her country against the Danes.

GO TO COVENTRY

We went to Coventry. In early days "Going to Coventry" meant going to prison, but we only stayed for a fine lunch, and then went on to Stratford upon Avon. The name means "The fort upon the river Avon." We went first there to the large, beautiful church, where an English Robin Red Breast was singing his heart out on top of a tombstone in the yard. They are not like our robins, and his song was very sweet. He stood his ground, singing, and did not fly away until we were quite near him. In this church, as in many others, the Bible stand was a golden eagle, with wings outspread to hold The Book.

William Shakespeare, his wife, a daughter, and a son-in-law are buried here. Here we learned of the "mercy seat" on which a person could sit a little, yet appear standing, and were shown some in the large church. The custom of the old times was that people must stand during much of the services that might be more than an hour long, and seats much like our theater seats, that could be folded back, were designed with decorations and sculpture on the under side of the outer edge which were four to five inches wide, and while the seat was turned back made a narrow place where weary bones could be given a little support and some of the weight taken off aching feet. Also elbows could be rested on carvings at the sides of the seat that might allow one to brace and relieve the weight on the feet somewhat. (Clever? What? While standing, still sit a little.)

SEE "MACBETH"

From there, went through Ann Hathaway cottage; saw the old kitchen and its cooking equipment; also the "Black Jack", and they told us the old rhyme "His red face did show how oft to his lips the black jack did go." In the evening Marion and some of the others went to The Shakespeare Theatre and saw Lawrence Olivier and Vivian Leigh in "Macbeth."

Next morning, Sept. 30, saw home of John Harvard's mother. He was the founder of Harvard College, Massachusetts.

Went through the Cottswold Hills for some distance, to Droitwich, which was badly bombed during World War II, and visited St. Peter's church there which Edward Winslow attended. The sexton was endeavoring to mow the lawn and having a difficult time as the graves were irregularly placed, and each with a mound above it and not much space between the graves. He was using a scythe and having his troubles as the graves were so close together that he could not get a good swing with the scythe. This was a difficult place to reach with our five big buses requiring parking space. It is no easy task to engineer about 170 (including guides and drivers) people around roads that are not planned for such, and not in the regular line of tourist travel.

Then on to Worcester, which is west of Stratford. The cathedral here was mostly built in the 14th century, and is the third oldest of the cathedrals, and is on the river Severn, among the Cottswold hills. These hills are not very high; one of them over one thousand feet. This is a fruit country and produces apples, plums, and cherries; and cider also. Here Cromwell, victor in the Civil War in 1651, defeated the forces of Charles the Second. King John, of Magna Carta fame, is buried in the cathedral.

W.S.C.S. MEETS

Mrs. Jane Bird entertained the W.S.C.S. in her home last Thursday with Mrs. Pauline Bailey as co-hostess.

The laides met at 10 a.m. and spent the morning cutting quilt blocks for Korea and a co-operative dinner was served at noon. Spiritual life secretary, Mrs. Alice Landin conducted the prayer service.

"Women and the Church through the Centuries" was the program topic led by Mrs. Dora Ruhl assisted by other members of the group. A report on the recent Methodist conference in Romeo was given by Mrs. Genevieve Sisson, Lorene Edelbrock, Mrs. Iva Bishop and Stella Wagner.

During the business meeting five dollars was voted to Bronson hospital.

Mrs. Roy Carothers of Dearborn spent Sunday in Ridgeway.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Strong of Melvindale spent the weekend at their home in Ridgeway.

Mrs. E. V. Avery of Ann Arbor called on Ridgeway friends Sunday.

Word has been received that Mrs. Ella Allison of Pontiac fell in her home there and is confined to her bed. X-rays showed that there were no broken bones.

Mrs. Marie Pocklington left Sunday to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carothers in Dearborn.

Mrs. Hattie Wood has returned home from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Schiller near Albion.

Nowadays, getting up in the morning isn't any harder than getting to bed at night.

Just because a man pitches a good line is no sign he has a lot on the ball.

Mama Goes on Safari

BY PEG TOUBORG

We're having breakfast in the dining room of the New Stanley Hotel. Probably I should have remained longer under my canopy of mosquito netting (felt as tho' I were in a sarcophagus) because the odor of fried onions startles me! Wish I had the time to send you my impressions, but I've had not a minute to myself. The black boys serving the tables are individuals, but they soon lose their identity in the swarm of bobbing red fezs and soiled long white robes. A dirty, ragged towel is importantly swished over our plates or coffee spoons — seems to be a rite and their pink palms flash; their black bare feet thump around the room. A page boy wanders in, ringing a tinkley bell and holding aloft on a stick a little black board bearing the person's name.

Believe Jens is the wonder of the natives in the hotel — an American who can speak Swahili! And often I venture forth coyly with a word and receive such a friendly big grin from the black face under the red fez.

MEET WHITE HUNTER

Our white hunter, Andrew Holmberg, met us at the plane — a big six footer, such a pleasant fellow and part Danish. His Godmother is Karen Blixen, the Danish author, ("Out of Africa") who ran a coffee plantation in Nairobi for years. I hope he's going to like me and not think I'm excess baggage. Jens' guns and all ammunition were immediately put under lock and key. The whole area is under a state of emergency due to the Mau Maus. We had a short time to get settled in the hotel and then were rushed over to the Indian outfitters, Ahamed, where we tried on our khaki trousers, shirts, and bush jackets (measurements had been sent ahead), two of each; a hat was plunged on my head (had to put an elastic in it to keep it on). We collected warm pjs, sweaters, men's handerchiefs, heavy raincoats that could double for bathrobes, and then we dashed down the crowded street to another store for our mosquito boots. You should see me in my outfit — look like an unglamorous Margaret Higgins.

Clausens (the couple from Denmark who went on safari with us) arrived about the same time we did, but discovered that all of their safari clothes, made in Denmark, and his eight guns had been missent to London! They're going to be sent by plane to our first camp.

Break: A conference among the six of us in our little hotel sitting room. Clausen's white hunter is Chris Askan, a man of about 50 years, another Dane. I'm surrounded by them! Freak rains will keep us from going down to the Lion country in Tanganyika. Jens wants to go anyway, but they have convinced him it might mean sitting in a mud hole for days, so he's settling for an elephant up in the Masai Country. (We found out later that it took one party caught in the flood area ten days to go 30 miles!) Hunting licenses must be bought, a license each for each of the five dangerous animals — lion, leopard, rhino, Cape buffalo, and leopard; a general license covers the game. Great discussions, "Does Mama want an elephant license?" — "One must have gloves to protect your hands from thorns when crawling on your hands and knees through the grasses." A gulp. No thank you. I'll settle for picture taking!

Sure pulled a boo boo tonight After dinner we were visiting in our adjoining sitting room with the Clausens when daddy whistled a familiar tune — "From your little music box by the sink at home", Daddy said, and — I burst into tears — in front of everyone. Think perhaps the busy safari plans are unconsciously getting me on edge.

THEY'RE WONDERFUL

Please call Mrs. Layton and tell her the Kelleys are wonderful people and really rolled out the red carpet in our honor. I have never seen such hospitality. Bill and Jessie are from Minnesota but have been in Nairobi for three years with the International Harvester Company. They are a young couple. Bill is a big handsome Irishman, and Jessie is a dear — cute, vivacious, and I feel as though I had known her for years. She's the type who inspires the best in you. We were out at their home for dinner where Bill served charcoaled steaks. I was fascinated by the huge bunch of keys that Jessie wore at her belt — "Have to keep everything locked up", she said. I suppose it's the same condition as it is in our southern states. Their stories of the Mau Maus were a shock, and made me realize that I was vacationing in the heart of the uprising.

Break: Jens and I had a short walk around town this morning. Wish I could sit on the street and write of the characters who pass — every mode of dress, a fantastic assortment — bearded men with turbans, wrinkled old men skimpily robed in brown rags, carrying staffs; Indians in khaki shorts and pith helmets; beautiful Hindu women swathed in colorful chiffon-like robes. It's quite a parade. Large modern office and store buildings are scattered through town, evidently built on strategic corners, and you pick your way from one to another through the back streets lined with native shops emitting indescribable odors. One black mama in a colorful shirt and skirt stretched out on the sidewalk, baby in her arms, in evident comfort. We were impressed by the peculiar dignity in her straight gaze at us as we gingerly stepped by. Perhaps she is closer to the fundamentals of life. She was tired, so why not sit down and rest? As you look into the eyes of the black, you haven't the faintest idea of what they are thinking — they are inscrutable.

LEARN DETAILS

Break: At 7:30 tonight I found out that we are leaving tomorrow morning on the safari, Feb. 10 to return March 10. It has been difficult for me to find out our plans. Have to divine as much as I can with my sketchy knowledge of Danish. Yes — they can all speak English but probably chatter on in Danish for Clausen's sake. We understand that we should be on the safari longer in order for Jens to get the game he'd like, so I think we are leaving here by plane March 12 by way of Copenhagen, two hours there and then on home. I don't let myself think of home! You can get word to us, if necessary, through the wireless. Oh, I feel so terribly far away from you, but actually over night will bring us back. I'm anxious to get starte to the bush too. Sure, I'm gettin cold feet — particularly when they talk about crawling on the groun tracking the animals!

Our black tin trunks, we each have one, are packed with our few safari possessions, and our brow outfits are laid out for a quic dress. We must be up and at 'en arly tomorrow morning.

Our beds have been "turne lown" for the night and look lik omething from the Arabia Nights, a mosquito netting sus ended by a circle from the cei ng completely covers the bed.

Goodnight, dear ones, Mama i oing on safari!

SERViSOFT, Inc. Becomes Part of George Getz Corp.

Announcement was made today that the George Getz Corporation, Chicago, had purchased all capital stock of SERViSOFT, Inc., Rockford, Illinois soft-water-service company. Acquisition of SERViSOFT by the George Getz Corporation marks another progressive step in the development of the Rockford institution, and further diversifies the activities of the Getz organization.

The business was started in 1936. SERViSOFT, Inc. has become widely familiar to the citizens of several hundred communities throughout the United States, whose homes and businesses are now being serviced with soft water by SERViSOFT'S franchised dealers. At the present time there are SERViSOFT dealers operating in 32 states and in Canada and Mexico.

George Getz Corporation also owns and operates the Modern-Woodmanse Manufacturing Company in Freeport, Ill.; Fabriform Metal Products Company in Los Angeles, Calif., and has extensive real estate and other investment holdings in Arizona, Indiana and Illinois. This affiliation will endow the SERViSOFT Division with additional strength and adequate resources for expansion.

Mr. James McUulty of Acme S. S. Laundry has the franchise for Lenawee County operating out of Tecumseh.

He said: "This affiliation, through the joint efforts and cooperation of dealer organization with SERViSOFT Division of the George Getz Corporation, can become the largest factors in the water softening industry."

Field and Stream

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Albert S. Hazzard, director of the Conservation Department's institute for fisheries research, will become Assistant Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission Dec. 1, it was announced today.

Dr. Hazzard had been in charge of the institute since 1935 when he came to Michigan from Salt Lake City where he had been associate aquatic biologist with the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

His successor will be announced later, according to Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy.

The 1955 Yearbook of Agriculture is dedicated this year to water and contains a section on watershed improvement written in part by Michigan conservation officials.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture publication discusses at length present American policies and methods of water use and conservation. Publication is expected shortly.

Michigan's 1955 deer hunting season, set for Nov. 15-30, is expected to attract some 425,000 hunters—about 25,000 less than the average turnout for the last three seasons.

The decrease is anticipated because no special season will be held this year in the northern lower peninsula. Special "any deer" seasons in the region in 1952-53-54 boosted the average annual deer hunter total to 450,000.

This fall's kill will be about the same as last year, when 65,000 deer were taken.

Duck and goose hunting prospects in the immediate future look good at the midway point in Michigan's 70-day season.

The total kill of 4,895 ducks and coots to date at Pointe Mouillee already has exceeded the total bag for the entire 1954 season at that game area.

Between 8,000 and 10,000 geese were reported in the Swan Creek-Fennville area with good kills all last week.

Conservation Department workers said this week that Michigan's recently-ended archery deer season was a success, as good or better than last year.

Spot checks support their statement.

Bear facts are needed to help wildlife and the sport of hunting.

This year, Conservation Department field workers live-trapped, tagged and released 34 black bear in the upper peninsula. Game workers don't know how far these animals travel or where hunters may find them during deer season. Such basic information would help set future seasons and bag limits.

Sportsmen who hunt in the central upper peninsula are being asked to be on the lookout for tagged bear and to report them if taken this fall. Reports should be mailed to Cusino wildlife station at Shingleton or to Department headquarters at Lansing.

Deer hunters who bag whitetails during the Nov. 15-30 season are asked to cooperate with the Conservation Department in gathering deer information.

Department biological checking stations will be set up on four north-south highways during the firearm season so Department workers can check deer age and antler development.

Other conservation workers will conduct "traffic counts" on nine main north-south highways and 24 secondary roads. The count of deer carried on cars provides basis for a quick estimate of the season kill.

The traffic survey covers southbound cars crossing highway M-20, roughly an east-west line from Bay City to Muskegon.

Two state park group camps are being discontinued as being too expensive to operate.

The facilities to be discontinued are located at Muskegon state park and Waterloo recreation area.

The Muskegon state park camp, a converted CCC camp with a capacity of 120, will be removed this fall. The camp has been used for several years by 4-H clubs, Scouts and church groups.

Groups which normally used the camp will be transferred to facilities at Proud Lake recreation area and Ludington state park.

Burns Lodge, a small group camp at Waterloo recreation area, will be closed after February reservations have been fulfilled.

The Lodge, with a capacity of 20, is a farmhouse which is too old for further use. The house was obtained by the state with the recreation area from the National Park Service in 1943.

The Conservation Department is cooperating in a Michigan State University study of Dutch Elm disease, the blight which has damaged thousands of trees in the state.

A graduate entomology student is conducting the study of the disease and the beetle which transmits the malady from sick to healthy trees.

From 20 to 35 small lakes and marshes will be created in Holly, Ortonville and Bald Mountain recreation areas in the next few months.

The impoundments will be from one to 20 acres in size and are being developed for ducks, furbearers and other wildlife.

Work is expected to begin next week.

This is the first time a number of impoundments have been focused in a small area. All three of the recreation areas are in southeastern Michigan.

Conservation Department biologists say they expect such an arrangement will provide a gathering place for waterfowl. The birds will move from marsh to marsh while resting on their north and south migrations.

Pittman-Robertson federal funds are being used to set up the project. All three of the areas are open to hunting.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Seen Monk's "Better Half"?

Monk McCarthy's latest creation has the town talking again. You can see it parked in front of Monk's auto repair shop on Maple.

Remember last year Monk cut two cars in half, and put their front ends together? You couldn't tell if the thing was coming or going. Sure attracted attention.

Now Monk's taken Tog Morgan's old sedan and completely restored one half of it. One side is as good as new, the other looks like—well, Tog's old car. "Sort of a before-and-after demonstration," Monk told me, "shows folks the kind of work I do."

From where I sit, some of Monk's ideas may look a little wild sometimes ... but I wouldn't want to tell him how to run his business any more than I'd like him to tell me what beverage to enjoy. He always keeps a hot pot of tea in his garage—I'd rather have a cold glass of beer—but respect for each other's opinion is "auto"-matic with us both.

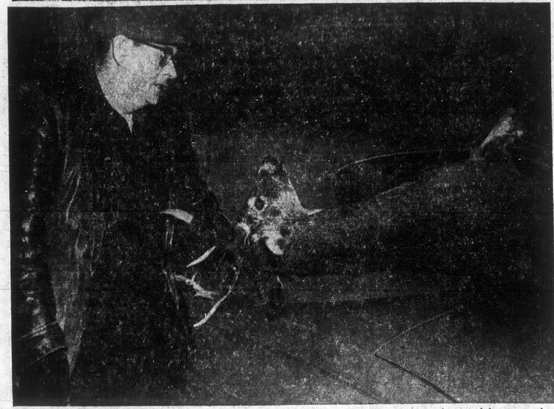
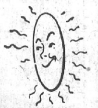
ONE HUNDRED FIFTH YEAR — NUMBER 8 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1955 | TEN CENTS A COPY



GOT HIS DEER — Lester Pearce, 301 east Chicago, Tecumseh, was one of several hunters who bagged their deer. He shot his Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 2 p.m. eight miles east of Prudenville. He was with two Adrian hunters Art Shield and Gene Baxter. Les has been deer hunting 14 years and the deer this year is his second one. Thrilled? "I'll say I was," he said.

Fire Destroys Barn; Loss Is $100,000

The Silver Lining



Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

ANOTHER ALERT group of Brownies visited the HERALD Monday. This group is known as the Star of Bethlehem. Their leaders are Mrs. Charles Sinkey and Mrs. Russell Southwell. The Brownies are Karen Miller, Linda Sinkey, Kathleen Mitchell, Judy Fletcher, Nina Robinson, Marilyn Rose, Betty Jane Lake, Cora Murphy and Cheryl Heavener. Asked to spell her name she said: "Just spell Heaven and add er."

THE REV. B. O. BASHORE begins his 13th year as pastor of the Tecumseh Baptist church next Sunday.

THANKS TO ELLA BROWN and Supervisor W. G. Waldron our birds will enjoy a sumptous Thanksgiving feast, too. Ella contributed some Nicodemus sunflower seeds and W. G. added lots of grain. The nuthatches, the titmice, the blue jays, the starlings and even the many kinds of sparrows will be there at the banquet table. No doubt a squirrel also will crash the party. The jays, however, have not learned how to win friends and to influence birds. The rest of the boys scatter when the big blue chaps begin to hog the food.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS:—"A philosopher is someone who always knows what to do — until it happens to him!"

LOOK AT THE TURKEYS. These are but a few of the several thousand raised by Bernard Clement. They certainly wanted to get into the picture. Asked if they came running up because they thought they were going to be fed, Bernard answered: "No, they are just curious." Well, you've heard what curiosity did to the cat.

MANY THANKS TO our correspondents and advertisers for getting their copy in early. Their efforts were sincerely appreciated. Mrs. William Cundiff of Britton was the first correspondent to get her copy in. Elmer Linn of Ridgeway might have won. He sent his news in a big envelope marked RUSH!, but he got in such a hurry to get in he forgot to stamp it.

THE LINING AGAIN will assist Santa in his busy mail department. Small fry may write Santa, % The Tecumseh HERALD.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — Many favors which God giveth us ravel out for want of hemming, through our own unthankfulness; for though prayer purchaseth blessings, giving praise doth keep the quiet possession of them.

—Thomas Fuller

A fire believed to have started from faulty wiring destroyed a large storage barn at the C. M. Brown farm on M-50 at Ridgeway Friday morning, causing damages estimated at $100,000.

Firemen from four departments battled the blaze which was fed by a quantity of hay.

The barn, recently remodeled, was filled with hay and feed. There were no livestock or machinery in it.

Called the Kitty Curtis farm, the property was used by the Browns for steer feeding. The Browns also operate the Meadowridge Dairy farm.

Equipment and firemen from Ridgeway, Tecumseh, Clinton and Adrian rural answered the alarm which was turned in by a passing motorist.

Firemen were not able to save the barn so they worked on preventing a fire in a nearby silo and other buildings. Later in the morning a bulldozer was used to scatter burning hay.

Questions on School Annexation Aired on Radio

A question and answer program dealing with the proposed annexation of 18 rural districts to the Tecumseh Public Schools was presented on radio station WABJ Wednesday, Nov. 17.

Participants were Milton Porter, county superintendent of schools, and James McDowell, Tecumseh superintendent of schools.

Because of the short holiday week, there was not time to publish the program this week; but it will be published in its entirety next week in the HERALD.

POLICE LOOK FOR HOUSETRAILER

Tecumseh police and Clinton State Police are still searching for a house trailer stolen from the Tecumseh airport Tuesday night, Nov. 15.

The house trailer is green trimmed in cream. It is 27 feet long.

Officers said the ownership of the trailer is being decided in a law suit and they believe it may have something to do with the disappearance.

It was taken to the airport to be repainted.

MONEY, WHISKY ARE STOLEN AT COUNTRY CLUB

The Tecumseh Country Club was broken into Monday night. About $50 was taken from a cash register which was carried outside the building and broken into and a quantity of whisky also was stolen.

Tecumseh and State Police are investigating.

Urge Cooperation

Revaluation Team Begins on Interiors

The revaluation of property in the city of Tecumseh conducted by the J. M. Cleminshaw Appraisal Co. is now in the second and most important stage of inspecting the interiors of all buildings in the city. Men doing the work have just about completed taking the measurements and recording the dimensions of each building on a neat outline sketch showing the main body and all porches and additions as well as outbuildings.

The men are now beginning their inspections of the interiors of all buildings, both residential and commercial.

After obtaining admittance to the interior of the building, the house lister notes the kind of floors, interior finish, type of heating, plumbing, number of fireplaces, etc.

The lister is not concerned with personal belongings in the home but is only interested in the physical features and condition of the structure itself. House owners will be asked to supply information regarding the age, cost of construction, or, if purchased, year and purchase price and details of any major improvement to the property. This is generally done very quickly and with cooperation it will require only a few minutes of time.

No revaluation of property can result in a fair and equitable value without the full cooperation of the individual property owner or occupant, a spokesman for the company said.

For identification purposes the names of the building listers who will be calling at city homes are: Ben Young, Ronald E. Wolfe, and Kenneth J. Schuh.

In case property owners are not at home when the lister calls, he will call back later in the day or on a Saturday.

Property owners who wish to contact the company before or after the lister has called, may contact John Saling, city assessor.

Central PTA Wants Members

Measures for stimulating attendance at P.T.A. meetings were discussed at the Central school meeting Thursday evening.

A concerted effort on the part of the membership and hospitality committees was planned which included prizes to be given children whose parents make the best record.

Mr. Greene was present and during his remarks drew the attention of parents to the undesirability of allowing small children to view late TV programs. He emphasized that sleep is of more importance than any information gained.

Mrs. Berkley, speech correctionist was the program speaker and telling of her work in Tecumseh stated that she now reaches 60 pupils here, meeting with them twice each week for half hour periods in groups of about 15. She answered questions of parents in regard to speech problems.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hadsell and Mrs. James Elliott.

There will be a combined Christmas meeting of all Parent-Teachers Associations of the district, Dec. 15 with a musical program.

Turkey Recess

Most activities in Tecumseh will recess for Thanksgiving.

The public schools will close Wednesday and they will be closed until Monday morning, Nov. 28. St. Elizabeth's parochial school also will close Wednesday and re-open the following Monday.

Three church services are planned Thanksgiving day. St. Elizabeth will have a mass at 9 a.m.; the Friends church will have special services at 9:30 a.m.; and the Christian Science Society will have services at 10:45 a.m.

The post office will have no city or rural delivery Thursday but it will have a pick-up in the business district at 3 p.m. and a dispatch will go out after 3 p.m. The lobby will be open from 2 to 4:30 p.m. for the convenience of boxholders.

Most stores, the city offices, the United Savings Bank and the Tecumseh office of the Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association also will be closed Thursday.

CHRISTMAS CLUB TOTALS $80,000

The United Savings Bank this week sent out checks totalling $80,000 to thrifty savers in the bank's Christmas Club.

And a new club is under way again.

Jack Osburn Appointed to Fund Board

Jack Osburn a nominee from the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce, was elected to the Tecumseh Community Fund by action of the board of trustees Monday night.

Meeting in the United Savings Bank, the board heard Mr. Osburn report on the community fund drive. He said the drive netted $12,123.41 and that there are two or three pledges to be picked up.

The board voted an expression of thanks to Mr. Osburn for his work and to Merlyn Downing who served as treasurer of the drive.

In another action the board:

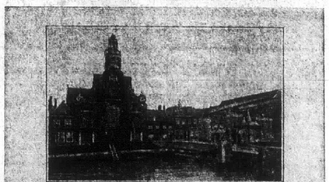
Agreed to give $120 in lieu of selling Christmas Seals in the schools to fight tuberculosis.

Deferred action on several requests for spending part of the emergency fund "until more detailed information is available."

Several letters were read requesting part of the emergency fund to support various worthy projects.

The letters were placed on file for future reference.

Thanksgiving



This is "the old church" of Defshaven, the Netherlands.

The "Pilgrim Fathers" embarked for America from this Dutch city July 22, 1620. This seemingly unimportant event in Defshaven proved one of the most momentous in the history of the New World.

The "Speedwell" set sail for Plymouth, where another ship the "Mayflower" was to take them to America. They landed safely on Plymouth Rock Dec. 16, 1620.

In 1620 the Pilgrims, persecuted for conscience's sake, "braved the tempests of the vast and furious ocean and the terrors lurking in the American wilderness" to plant their State of Freedom. Even before landing they set up their government by a written Compact; the first charter of a government of the people, by the people and for the people known to history. In the cabin of the Mayflower humanity recovered its rights. Here is this venerable document, the first American State paper:

THE COMPACT

In the Name of God, Amen. We whose names are underwritten, the loyal subjects of our dread sovereign Lord, King James, by the grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith, etc.

Having undertaken, for the glory of God, and advancement of the Christian faith and honor of our King and Country, a voyage to plant the first colony in the northern parts of Virginia, do by these presents solemnly and mutually in the presence of God, and one of another, covenant and combine ourselves together into a civil body politic, for our better ordering and preservation and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and by virtue hereof to enact, constitute and frame such just and equal laws, ordinances, acts, constitutions and offices, from time to time, as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the Colony: unto which we promise all due submission and obedience. In Witness Whereof we have hereunder subscribed our names at Cape Cod the 11 of November, in the year of the reign of our sovereign Lord, King James of England, France and Ireland the eighteenth, and of Scotland the fifty-fourth. Ano. Dom. 1620.

HEARING SET

A hearing on the charge of selling liquor to non-members brought against the Fraternal Order of Eagles of Tecumseh will be heard in Jackson, Wednesday, Nov. 30, by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

TURKEY GIBLETS — Mrs. Bernard Clement and Mrs. Nina Taylor had lots of turkey hearts and livers when turkeys were dressed Saturday. Holding up a whole bird is Bernard Clement.

Clements Raised 7000 Turkeys

Part of the year's crop of 7000 turkeys at the Bernard Clement farm near Britton are being processed for Thanksgiving tables.

The Broad Breasted Bronze hens killed and dressed last Saturday tipped the scales between 10 and 16 pounds; the gobblers ran between 18 to 28 pounds.

The Clement turkey farm, business 40 years, sells turkeys to both wholesalers and retailers.

"Contrary to opinion," reported Bernard Clement, present owner, "our turkey business is year around, although it is true that it reaches a peak during the holidays."

"Restaurants," he said, "are our best customers."

START AT ONE DAY

Tracing the raising of the young poults from the time they are a day old to the time they are dressed out at about 24 to 26 weeks old, Mr. Clement gave these turkey facts:

This year the state has 26 per cent less raisers than last year because last year a lot of raisers lost money when prices went down.

Turkeys also are difficult to raise. They are harder to raise than any other foul and they are very susceptible to disease.

The young poults are kept inside poultry houses until they are about eight weeks old (depending on weather) then they go outside.

LIKED BY DOGS

Besides disease, turkey growers have to keep a constant watch over their flocks to guard against predatory animals such as foxes and dogs. The Clement farm lost about 60 birds this year when dogs killed them. Lights are kept burning over the flock all night as one protective measure.

The flock on an average ate 12 tons of mash a week, in addition to shelled corn and oats. The poults usually are put out "to pasture" in an alfalfa field.

This cuts the cost of feed down and the green alfalfa is good nutrionally for the turks.

KILLED BY KNIFE

Saturday a crew of about 20 was busily engaged in killing and dressing turkeys for the Thanksgiving market.

The killing is done with an electric knife. First the knife shocks the turkey, but it doesn't electrocute the foul. Electrocution would make the blood coagulate too fast and the meat would be too red. The knife goes into the turk's neck and the bird actually bleeds to death.

The crew can kill and dress about 160 birds an hour. And they can package about 75 to 100 an hour.

After they are plucked and dressed, the turkeys are placed in special bags. A vacuum sucks 90 per cent of air out of the bags. This takes out bacteria and keeps the meat from spoilage

BAG IS SHRUNK

The bag is then immersed in hot water which shrinks it skin-tight. The bags of turkeys are then boxed and ready for freezing or for fresh-dressed use on a Thanksgiving table.

An inspector for the Michigan Department of Agriculture is present during the killing and dressing. Mr. Clement is very proud of the fact that his turkey farm was the first one in the state to be given the seal of approval by the Department of Agriculture.

Keeping up with the literature and programs of state turkey growers, Mr. Clement, a director in the state group, is planning to attend the turkey festival in East Lansing the first week in Dec.

And the main fare at the banquet, of course, will be turkey.

Most of the women have completed 16 hours of training and will receive another four hours on outdoor work in the spring time.

The meetings were held in the Scout cabin located in Elliott Park and were alternated with the meetings held in the Scout cabin in Clinton.

The following women attended: Mrs. Charles Beland, Mrs. Edwin Bunge, Mrs. Donald Creger, Mrs. Junior Fouts, Mrs. Marie Griewahn, Mrs. Wilmer Kiser, Mrs. Jack Nichols, Mrs. Florence Miller, Mrs. Melvin Purple, Mrs. Frank Robinett, Mrs. Jean Sinkey, Mrs. Howard Truesdale and Mrs. Julius Vincze.

Former Resident Dies in Somerset

Florence M. Smith Leutheuser, wife of Andrew Leutheuser of Somerset and a former resident of Tecumseh, died early Monday morning at her home.

Mrs. Leutheuser was born in Toledo, Ohio, May 28, 1893 and was the daughter of Edward T. and Anna M. Smith. She moved in childhood to Ridgeway and later lived in Adrian and Tecumseh. She was confirmed at an early age at the Lutheran Church on the Ridge.

In Oct. 1915 she married Andrew Leutheuser and has made her home in Somerset ever since. She was a sister of Mrs. Alvin Brazee and a sister-in-law of Mrs. George Schumm of Tecumseh.

Besides her husband and sister she is survived by eight children, Mrs. Bernard Thompson (Dorothea) of Somerset; Richard of Ann Arbor; Paul and Harold of Hillsdale; Mrs. Carl Walton (Helen) of Somerset; Pfc. Edward Leutheuser with the armed forces in Augsburg, Germany and Louise, a student at Michigan State Normal College; and a brother, John L. Smith of Somerset.

Friends may call at the Collins Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements await word from her son in Germany.

PLAN PHOTO ALBUM FOR MONDAY CLUB

Officers of the Monday Club announce that at the Nov. 28 meeting of the club at the Methodist church a photographer will be present to take individual pictures of members for an album to be presented to the president. Chairmen of the meeting are Mrs. Earl Greene and Mrs. James McDowell and the topic is "America for Me."

Officers Elected by Garden Club

"Christian Holidays Throughout the Year" was the topic of a most informative talk at the Nov. meeting of the Garden Club held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Earl Wickwire.

The speaker was Mrs. A. Phillapart of Monroe and in her development of the subject she described the "Holy Days" of the world, both ancient and modern. Mrs. Phillapart was introduced by Miss Mary McWilliams, who was in charge of the program.

There were 23 members present and five guests; Mrs. Vern Wright of Monroe, Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, Mrs. L. H. Titley, Mrs Anna Haughn and Mrs. James Artman.

During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Harold Wilson annual reports of officers and committees were made and the chair appointed Mrs. Clarence Beach to represent the club in its sponsorship of the White Rose Brownie Scout troop.

Mrs. Al Helzerman presented the report of the nominating committee and its acceptance resulted in the election of these officers for the coming year: president, Miss Ann Carson; vice president, Miss McWilliams; secretary, Mrs. William Stearns; treasurer, Mrs. Wickwire and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Neil Pearson.

The hostess and her committee served dessert following the meeting.

It is planned to hold a silver tea at the holiday meeting, Dec. 16.

Alice Ann Marks Is Bride of K. VanValkenburg

Miss Alice Ann Marks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Marks and Kenneth Dale Van Valkenburg, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell VanValkenburg were united in marriage by the Rev. Vaughn Whited Saturday afternoon, Nov. 5 at 2:30 in the Macon Methodist church.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Floyd Lindsley, sister of the groom and Harold VanValkenburg of Willow Village.

The bride wore pale blue with black accessories and a corsage of pink rose buds while her attendant's dress was charcoal gray with matching accessories and her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Mrs. Marks' dress was light blue with black accessories. Mrs. VanValkenburg wore black with a rose trim. Both had corsages of carnations.

A reception for 60 guests was held that evening in the church social rooms which were decorated with yellow and white streamers and wedding bells. A bowl of chrysanthemums and lighted white candles decorated the bride's table while the serving table was centered by the three-tiered wedding cake.

The cake was cut by Miss Bertha Service of Adrian and the punch and coffee were served by Mrs. Harold VanValkenburg and Mrs. Jay King of Willow Village. The guests were registered by Miss Margaret Marks, sister of the bride.

The bride attended Blissfield high school while the groom is a graduate of the Britton-Macon school and is employed at the Tecumseh Products Company. They will reside southeast of Britton.

COMMUNITY CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow opened their home last Tuesday evening to members of the Macon Community Club. Following supper, Clayton Bigelow conducted the business meeting when it was decided by the group to hold the next meeting in Feb. with the men in charge of the program and supper. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hendershot presented the program of readings and piano selections by Mrs. Halladay, Mrs. Rubena Wise of Tecumseh and Robert and William Bigelow.

Mrs. Carl Thomas and daughter-in-law Mrs. James Thomas were hostesses to the Macon Homemakers Extension Club last week. Following a brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. Carl Hawkins, Mrs. Shirley Jackson of EauClaire, Wis., gave a textile painting demonstration. Quilt blocks made by the group were presented to the hostess.

The Cassidy school 32 male voice choir will present a concert in the Clinton Methodist church Sunday, Nov. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Sam Burns will speak at the family night program at the Macon Community church Dec. 8. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Evans have moved to their recently purchased home on Gay St. in Milan.

Mrs. Clarence Hall spent last week with her grandchildren Barbara and Eugene Damon while their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Damon were deer hunting in northern Michigan. Both Mr. and Mrs. Damon returned with a deer.

David Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Bush has the chicken pox.

Ronald Lemerand of Tecumseh, Larry Pennington and Richard Moore spent Friday and Saturday with Robert Bigelow helping him to celebrate his 12th birthday. They attended the Britton senior play Friday evening.

SMOKE SIGNALS — The staff of the Smoke Signals, Tecumseh high school paper, is shown hard at work on the Thanksgiving issue. Those working are Rita Crosby (we cut her head off so she's there again in upper left) Judy Whiting and John Naser. That's John Rundel giving Johnny some pointers on his sports story. Not officially a member of the staff, John Rundel has been a staunch supporter. That's ye editor himself in lower left corner, looking rather smug. Others are (top row) Lee Vescelius, Bob Cubberly, Sharon Claxton, and Dean Andrews; (bottom row) Ann Rebottaro, Janet Martin, Marcia Bashore and Marshall Boike.

Former Resident Dies in N. Y.

Ralph Brooks, a former resident of Tecumseh, died Friday morning in Yonkers, N.Y. He was born in Tecumseh, Oct. 30, 1892, the son of the late Allen and Mary Cummings Brooks and spent his boyhood here.

A veteran of World War I, he had been employed by the light and power company in Yonkers until his retirement two years ago. His death occurred in a Yonkers hospital following a heart attack.

Mr. Brooks was the brother of Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett, Mrs. Garland Gove, Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Mrs. George Kielwasser and John and Howard Brooks, all of whom live in Tecumseh.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Gove and Mrs. Kielwasser went to Yonkers, Friday and a service was conducted there Saturday evening at 8 p.m. They accompanied the body to Tecumseh Sunday and funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Green Funeral Home with the Rev. Alvin Brazee officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

The bearers were Duaine and Allen Brooks, Ned Harrington, John Hewlett and Harold and Edwin Gove.

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO

THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE

By JOHN L. McCAFFREY

President, International Harvester Company

Our heavenly Father, be with me through the coming business day. Help me to be Christian in all I do, say and think. May I be able to ask Thy blessing on every plan I make. May I never take advantage of my position to hurt or hinder the welfare of my fellow workers. In all my relations with my associates and employes may I set an example of Christian living and Christian loving. In Christ's name.

Mayflower Pilgrimage

BY MRS. HOYT WHELAN

Then southeast to Tewksbury, where the last battle of the War of the Roses was fought in 1476.

Then to Cheltenham, most of which was built during the Regency period, about 120 or 130 years ago. The houses are different here and the lawns larger. Had our lunch here.

Then on to Gloucester and visited its cathedral. Edward the Second was connected with Oriole college. He was murdered in a most terrible fashion and is buried here in the cathedral. He died Sept. 21, 1327, the first Prince of Wales. We went on past the castle where he was murdered to Bristol a big city, much different, with pre-Tudor architecture. Badly bombed, the rubbish pretty well cleared, but not rebuilt. Old walls still standing, and many blocks show the evidence of bombing. Much ship-building and repair here. In the cathedral is the grave of Sir William Penn, father of the William Penn who founded Pennsylvania, and his armour hangs high on the wall at one side.

We spent the night at the Hotel Southborne, in Bath, the town named for the Roman baths over springs. These are still in existance and open to visitors through the day. We were late getting in and early going out the next morning, so did not see them, although they were just around the corner from us.

ABBEY BOMBED

We walked around, and saw some of the extensive bombing of the Abbey which was also nearby. Marion and I walked about a mile and a half around the town before breakfast and saw much, but the bus left right away after breakfast. In our walk we counted 14 chimney-pots on one chimney.

Our next stop was at Wells where there is another Cathedral. Wells and Bath were under the same Bishop, and the Bishop lived at Wells so it is Wells Cathedral and Bath Abbey, although the building seems to be as fine. The Wells Cathedral built in 12th, 13th, and 14th centuries, part at a time, as most of them were.

Through Glastonbury, where King Alfred took refuge from the Danes. Then through Taunton in Somersetshire, and lunch in Exeter. Then down through Ashburton to Yelverton, where the Lord Mayor of Plymouth lives at Buckland Abbey, built in the early fourteenth century. It was founded in 1278, by Amicia, Countess of Devon. With the outbreak of The Hundred Years War the monks were given the right to fortify the abbey as they considered their stores of such value as to command protection. In 1581 Sir Francis Drake bought the abbey. Now the Lord Mayor lives there and we had been invited to a reception and tea there. Tea was served in the "Tithe Barn," in connection, and a part of the abbey. This place was 160 feet long, 30 feet wide, and 40 feet high, and still contains the original roof timbers, which were pegged together. Stored there are various antique fire engines, carriages, cider presses, etc. The cakes, sandwiches and sweets served to us were many and varied, and more than we could consume.

PLAQUE PRESENTED

The plaque which we presented there read: "The Barbican, Plymouth, Devon, England. The Mayflower sailed from there September 16, (New Style), 1620, for Plymouth, New England. Part of her passengers were colonists, from London, part were a Separatist Congregation which had begun in Babworth, Nottinghamshire, on July 11, 1586, and had moved to Scrooby in 1606, to Amsterdam, Netherlands, in 1608, and to Leyden in 1609. The Leyden group had sailed on the Speedwell from Delfthaven August 1, (N.S.) 1620, for Southhampton, England, to join the London group who were on the Mayflower. Both ships left Southhampton on August 15th, (N. S.) but leaks in the Speedwell forced a turning back to Dartmouth for repairs. Leaving Dartmouth, after proceeding about 300 miles the leaky Speedwell caused a second return of both ships, this time to Plymouth. Here the Speedwell was abandoned, and the passengers of both ships combined on the Mayflower, 102. Elder William Brewster was the Spiritual leader of the Separatist Pilgrims, and remained in Plymouth, New England, until his death in 1643-44. Stephen Hopkins of Wotton-under-Edge, Gloucestershire, late of St. Mary Matfillon, Whitechapel, London, a Saparatist, made his second voyage to the new world in the Mayflower (180 Tons) in 1620. He had previously sailed from here in the Sea Venture (300 Tons) on July 23, 1609. He reached Virginia in 1610. After having been driven ashore in Bermuda, where his shipwreck furnished the subject for The Tempest, 1611, by William Shakespeare.

After the tea we inspected several of the living rooms of the abbey, and admired the beautiful grounds, then on into the city of Plymouth for the night at Hotel Continental. Plymouth was nearly leveled by bombing, and there is much rubble still left. Some just across the street from our hotel. The next day was Sunday and we attended service at St. Andrew's church. The tower had not sufered much from the bombing, but the rest must have been nearly demolished. A new roof had been put on and plain glass in the windows, but only dirt and rubble for the floor, and no seats. We had to stand through the comparatively short service. Near-by buildings were in as bad shape. We visited the wharf from which the Mayflower sailed.

BUSES ARE WIDE

Then on to "Journey's End Inn" which was way off the main traveled roads; the roads so narrow that we had to secure police permission to take the five big buses over them, and have a police escort to make sure that the road was kept open for us and no one came onto it from the opposite direction as the buses took the whole width of the road and scraped the hedges on both sides at once, and it would have been impossible to meet any one and let them past. This place is said to have been built from timbers from the Spanish Armada, which came to grief on the English coast when Spain tried to conquer England. It was a lovely spot, and very picturesque. The lunch was very bountiful: was laid out cafeteria style in two of the rooms of the inn; a great variety of food, with two of the traditional English Boar's Heads with all the decorations that go with them.

BUILD NEW MAYFLOWER

From there we had a beautiful drive through Kingsbridge and Kingswear, to Dartmouth and Brixham. Brixham is on the coast of the English Channel, and a New Mayflower, an exact replica of the original ship is to be built there and sailed July 4th, 1956, to Plymouth, Mass., as a gift from the English people to America. The keel was laid July 4th, 1955.

THE MIDDLE GUARD

by LES BINGAMAN

COACHING IN professional football is not unlike that in the collegiate realm, although there are certain basic differences.

For one thing, professional coaches do not instruct in fundamentals as much, the theory being that if the players haven't learned the game after eight years they shouldn't be in the pro camp in the first place.

For another, there is not the same great exhortation to "do or die for dear old Rutabaga Tech."

This is not to say that the pros do not stress the fundamentals, nor are the teams not fired up in the dressing room. It is simply that the emphasis is different.

Plenty of Practice

Take our own Buddy Parker, for instance, the greatest coach I ever played for and the most successful head mentor the Lions have ever had.

While not teaching fundamentals — something he expects his players already to know—he insists on considerable practice in them. Hour upon hour is devoted to blocking and tackling practice (although not "live" practice for fear of someone getting hurt).

Buddy, who knows more about football than anyone I've ever met, goes about his job in a very business-like manner. He neither castigates his players nor pampers them. He merely discusses the problem at hand, much as a businessman discusses a deal.

Players Respect Him

If a player makes a mistake or the team looks bad in a game, he does not upbraid them but waits until he has an opportunity to study the contest films. Then running the films through again and again, he will point out errors and explain how to correct them.

Easy-going most of the time but reasonably strict, Buddy means what he says. When he wants something done, he expects it done. He has the complete respect of every player on the squad.

In the locker room between halves of a game, Buddy has assistant coaches Aldo Forte and Paul Christman, who watch the tilt from a vantage point high up in the press box, diagram on a blackboard the mistakes of the Lions and their opposition.

When they're through, he may change the offense or the pass defense or do any number of things to strengthen the team's performance. If the team is playing poorly he adds a few caustic words.

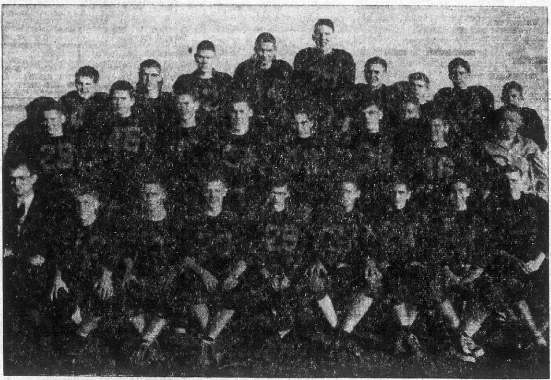
Ordinarily possessed of a slow boiling point, Buddy is not a good loser and blows up when the team blows up. This year, of course, this happened on several Sundays.

Success Through Work

Because he is so dedicated to his calling, the Lions probably will not be in such humble circumstances next year. Buddy will know whom to trade, whom to keep and what he needs to plug the gaps.

During the off-season, he goes over the films tirelessly in his home in suburban Dearborn charting how each player did on each play. In this manner, he is able to plan intelligently for the future. It is, however, a slow and tedious process.

One cannot dismiss easily the record of a coach who, in his first four seasons here, brought Detroit two World Championships, a Western Division title and a second-place finish.



JAYVEES — Coach Don Brazee's Junior Varsity of Tecumseh high school compiled a 3-1-1 record. The Jayvees had wins over Hudson, Blissfield and Boysville, tied Monroe Catholic Central and lost to Bedford.

at Conservation Department headquarters in Roscommon.

Department records indicate this is the first time a fox has been taken by this method.

Conservation Department field crews planted 4,750,000 young trees on public lands in northern Michigan this fall.

Plantings in upper peninsula forests totaled 1,750,000 trees, while 3,000,000 were set out in the northern lower peninsula. Another 500,000 trees will go into the ground in the spring to complete

A record 1,800,000 fishing licenses and an equal number of fish law digests for 1956 are being distributed by the Conservation Department to the state's 4,200 dealers.

Licenses and regulations will be available from dealers by Dec. 1.

License fees remain the same as last year.

Hickory nuts were the main diet of two red foxes killed recently in southern Michigan.

Conservation Department biologists say foxes eat a wide variety of foods, including insects, acorns, grains and grasses. Mostly, of course, they stick to field mice, but will eat anything they can find including small game animals, carrion and birds.

Hunters bagged the two nut-eaters at Rose Lake wildlife station near Lansing. Autopsy showed they cracked the hickories, then ate meat, shells and all.

A granddaddy 8½-year-old, 14-point buck, killed last week by a car north of Levering, is probably a record for this and the last several years.

Conservation Department workers believe the deer weighed about 300 pounds, but loaded on a truck on a platform scale, the pointer showed 320 pounds in the round.

When dressed out, the big buck weighed 220 pounds. Generally, 20-25 percent of a deer's weight is lost when the animal is cleaned.

Northern Michigan bucks killed during deer season average two to four years old and weigh about 120 in the round.

A sampling of campers and picnickers who visit Michigan state parks next year will be asked to give their opinions about future park system financing and development.

The Conservation Department plans to conduct a comprehensive survey of park users to continue a study begun during the past summer.

In the preliminary study, 525 park users at three state parks during the Labor Day weekend provided opinions regarding park financing. All but six percent were Michigan residents.

Questionnaire results showed approximately 85 percent favored financing of park needs by some sort of charge to park users.

Of the 444 persons favoring a usage charge, 358 preferred an entrance fee. Some 250 persons voted for an entrance fee of 25 cents per car, regardless of the number of passengers. Another 108 persons preferred an entrance fee of 15 cents per car and driver, plus 10 cents for each additional passenger.

A total of 256 park users favored park financing through the sale of season passes. Surprisingly, a $2 season car sticker was preferred over a $1 sticker by a 158-98 margin.

Park patrons also listed suggestions for park improvements, including increased parking areas, insect control, and sanitation facilities.

The preliminary study was conducted at Dodge No. 4, Bay City, and Higgins Lake state parks.

An archer bagged a red fox in Crawford county recently with bow and arrow.

A Gift of Health

For 48 years, the tiny Christmas seals have spearheaded the fight against tuberculosis. Progress in that fight since the first seal was sold has meant a savings of more than seven million lives.

But the fight is far from won. The falling death rate has obscured the fact that tuberculosis is still spreading in Michigan; 110 new cases are found each week. Tuberculosis still kills more people than all other catching diseases combined. There is no vaccine against TB, no quick cure, and no immedate relief in sight from the high costs. Every county in Michigan has cases. Tuberculosis remains Michigan's number one public health hazard.

Christmas seal dollars work tirelessly all year to fight tuberculosis . . . in school and community education . . . TB detection . . . patient service . . . research . . . fact finding.

The age-old tradition of giving gifts to loved ones at Christmas has been supplemented these last 48 years by a newer tradition — that of individual giving for the welfare of the whole community. Christmas seals this year picture children bearing gifts. And each seal is itself a gift, a gift of health.

Make It Every Day

Have you been wondering what you can do to checkmate accidents on Safe Driving Day — Dec. 1?

Here are some S-D Day suggestions, based on reports of fatal accidents from more than 20 states:

Check your speed — More than 3 out of 10 drivers in fatal accidents were violating speed laws. Speed law violation was almost twice as high on rural highways than in urban communities.

Check your drinking — In 24 out of 100 fatal accidents a driver or an adult pedestrian had been drinking.

Check your car — Among vehicles involved in fatal accidents for which condition of vehicle was reported, about six per cent had unsafe conditions.

Check yourself — About one out of 14 drivers involved in fatal accidents had a physical condition that could have been a contributing factor in the accident. In the majority of these cases the condition was fatigue or sleepiness.

Check the weather — The weather was rainy, snowy or foggy in one out of six fatal accidents. This time of the year road and visibility conditions are at their worst.

Check the time — Dec. is a dark-dreary month and night driving is considerably more hazardous than day driving. So, when possible, plan to travel during the hours of daylight. And double your care, reduce your speed at night.

Check your manners — Failure to yield the right of way, failure to keep to the right of the center line and other examples of poor manners on the highway ranked high among driver violations in fatal accidents. Take your turn—you'll probably get there just as fast.

Thanksgiving
1621 1955

An Example to Remember

The first crop had been bountiful in the new, strange land; the perils of its wilderness, while present still, were no longer unknown. So the Pilgrims offered prayers of thanksgiving on the day of the feast—girded spiritually and materially against all dangers.

As we today follow, in effect, their example in the festive turkey, so should we be girded as they were that first Thanksgiving, against all who imperil us and our heritage of freedom.

It is from our Pilgrim Fathers' grateful prayers in the wilderness that our present Day of Thanksgiving derives. They set an example in word and deed which we well might remember.

Even before the Mayflower landed them at Plymouth they had written in their Compact: "We whose names are underwritten have undertaken, for the glory of God, to establish in Virginia the first colony for the advancement of the Christian faith . . ."

So glorious our heritage, so short our memories!

Folk Music Is Topic of Music Club

Folk music was the study topic of the Music Club Tuesday evening with Miss Edith Ingersoll as program leader. Twelve members met at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Boyce and the president, Mrs. William Hayden conducted the business meeting.

It was announced that the work of repairing and listing the music left by the late Mrs. R. S. Moore had been completed and that all was now on file in the cabinets supplied by Mr. Moore.

Miss Ingersoll read a very complete and well documented article on folk music and illustrated the points of her talk by calling on club members to give appropriate selections. These included "Barbara Allen," sung by Mrs. John McColl, who accompanied herself on an auto-harp; "Billy Boy" and "Skip to My Lou," by Mrs. Murray Day and "Shortnin' Bread" sung by Mrs. Perry Hayden.

After the program the club chorus had a practice session in preparation for their part in the Thanksgiving union service and the musical tea at the Methodist church.

Mrs. Boyce served refreshments at the close of the evening. The co-hostesses were Mrs. Nina Heath and Mrs. John Wintersteen.

The next meeting has been scheduled for Dec. 27 at the home of Miss Bess Pulver when a program of chamber music will be presented by Mrs. Robert Warren. Mrs. Ellsworth Collins and Mrs. Clarence Brock will assist Miss Pulver.

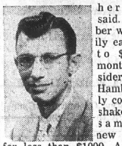
Realty Views

A young married girl, accompanied by her mother, asked to see a suitable small home. She liked the appearance and floor plan.

However, as we were driving away she said, "Gee, it's sure discouraging when you see how much a good small home costs." She was referring to homes from $8000 to $10,500.



"It shouldn't be discouraging," her mother said. "I remember when a family earning $150 to $200 per month was considered lucky. Hamburgers only cost 10c, milk shakes were the same, and a new Ford sold for less than $1000. A new small home cost about $3500."

The mother continued, "Now, you earn $180 per month and your husband gets $350. Hamburgers, Fords and houses are 2 to 3 times as much, but so are wages."

"Yes," I added, "and houses today have lots of superior features, such as heavier wiring, insulation, weather-tight windows, better heating plants and more plumbing to mention a few."

"I guess you're right," the daughter replied. "I'll talk things over with my husband. Maybe he'll agree we should buy now."

He did. And they bought a comfortable small home.

Mama Goes on Safari

BY PEG TOUBORG

Somewhere in Eastern Africa — they call our nearest native village which is twelve miles away, Maralal — Post Office "Rumuruti."

Just a short time ago we were still in civilization. Thursday morning the jeep and two lorries were ready to roll. All of our food and equipment piled high on the trucks and on top of each load perched the black boys, their heads swathed in outlandish gear, anything to protect them from the long ride under the hot sun and wind. Twenty eight native boys from various tribes—cook, cook's helper, skinners, hewers of wood and carriers of water, mechanics, trackers, and gunbearers. All strangers without identity but soon to develop personalities and become fast friends.

Then we were rolling out on the beautiful highway pointing north out of Nairobi. The good road went just about 20 miles out and then terminated, just a dirt track leading on into the unknown. We passed the Kikuyu huts looking like bee hives, all grouped in a patroled concentration camp. Any hut or spot of refuge in the mountains is destroyed and workmen were busy clearing the roadsides to prevent ambush spots.

SEE NATURAL SPLENDOR

My neck ached from turning to look at one side and then another —Cape chestnut trees with lush pink blossoms, shiny heavy foliage of the olive trees, Papyrus swamps, purple Jackerandas, Wattle trees (form of the acacias tree), wheatfields, Pyrethrum fields, Cedar plantations, pineapple, Sisal plantations. Suddenly the Great Rift Valley opened up below us showing the wide sweep of the countryside — a magnificent view — vast stretches as though some giant hand had formed it in great sweeping strokes, but we couldn't linger to admire the view. At the side of the road was a big white sign, "Warning — most dangerous to picnic in this area because of terrorist gangs!" and we obediently chugged along. I realized then why Andy had been so anxious to get an early start, why he had insisted on no casual talk with strangers about our destination, and why he kept prodding the loaded lorries along to make time, and why when we stopped at Thomson's Falls for gas he was irritated with Bitten for taking pictures of the natives. He was anxious to get out of that territory and so was I.

It was a relief when we reached the barricade with the police station and armed guards who let us through upon presentation of our papers. This meant we were out of Mau Mau territory and could pitch our tents for the night.

ENTER "FLY CAMP"

It was almost dusk when we pulled into a flat rocky area, not an impressive spot, but one that evidently pleased Andy because he got out of the jeep, looked the area over, kicked a few logs, and was soon busy gesturing and shouting commands to the boys who untangled and stretched themselves from the top of the lorries. "Just a fly-camp," Andy said. One group was busy pounding tent stakes and soon up they came, just two tents, one for Clausens and one for us. Andy and Chris slept in their jeeps, the camp boys under bushes. Firewood was gathered by another group and soon we were sipping black coffee and eating sandwiches around a makeshift table under the stars.

An old friends of Andy's who had been out rabbit and guinea fowl hunting greeted us at the police station and later joined us in camp. He had a home up in the hills, lived all alone and his pleasure at seeing white people was almost pitiful. Nick Carter ran some kind of an agricultural test station for the government. Ate supper with us and came back for breakfast — certainly appreciated the food and company.

I was so terribly tired that first night. I dozed off while Andy's wireless was squeaking out the latest news and we were lulled by the plaintive songs of the camp boys in their quarters, one contentedly plunking the guitar. We found out later that Andy listened every night for news of the Mau Mau developments. His folks were living just 30 miles outside of Nairobi; no wonder he was worried.

"WHAT WAS THAT?"

The night was filled with strange cries and barks and grunts, and often I'd awaken with a start and called to Jens, "What was that?" Everyone knows the distorted thoughts that race through ones head when you wake up in the middle of the night — that blood curdling deep growl that ended in a high whine — did it come from the hilltop in back of camp or was the animal just outside tripping over the tent ropes? Was it lion or just hyena? After all, in Hemingway's story the hyena walks around inside the tent looking at the sick man. A shudder — did Jens hear it too? Or could it be a lion? I'll have to ask about this. There's no guard. Of course, lions don't come into tents unless they are man-eaters — could this one be a man-eater? Can remember a chapter in "African Bush Adventure" where the lion carried off the person, mosquito netting and all. But for some unknown reason I dropped off to sleep again, forgetting that there had been movement in the bushes outside the tent.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Carl Auten entertained 16 members of the Britton Women's Club in her home last Tuesday afternoon. There were also four guests present.

Margie Papp of Britton high school gave an interesting talk on her trip to Girls' State in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Truman Rentschler of Tecumseh, guest speaker, talked on "You and Your Life's Span."

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Auten and her committee.

Bernard Waterbury, who accompanied several friends from Ypsilanti on a hunting trip to Atlanta, Mich., returned home last Wednesday with an eight point buck.

Raymond Auten and Joe Simeceek of Milan were deer hunting in Munising. Others from Britton hunting in the same area were Forest Weichner, Earl Smith and Bill Smith.

Pirl Robison with several friends from Petersburg is deer hunting at Cornell in the upper peninsula.

George Cline, who was a patient in Veterans' hospital, Ann Arbor, was released and has returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield, his wife's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Cline will leave Saturday for Florida.

Recent guests of Mrs. Viola Daisher were Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCombs of Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Poling and children and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keller and daughter Judy. The occasion honored the birthdays of Mrs. Daisher, Mrs. Poling and Harold Daisher.

Mr. and Mrs. David Younglove and daughter Barbara accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. William Wiebeck of Adrian were in Okolona, Ohio, recently to attend an open house honoring the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. F. Meyer. They were dinner guests of Mrs. Younglove's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Meyer of Napoleon, Ohio.

Mrs. Mary Ferguson and Mrs. Betty Maynard of Tecumseh and Mr. and Mrs. William Cundiff, Mrs. Anna O'Neil, Mrs. Virginia Crutchfield and Miss Pearl Smith of Britton went to Detroit last Tuesday evening to attend the inititation of candidates of the Highland Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Sarah Boyd has been moved to Herrick Memorial hospital from the home of her sister Mrs. Jennie Dennison of Cone.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield and daughter Nina and Mr. and Mrs. George Cline and two children were in Mason Friday evening to visit Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gibbs.

Guests last Sunday of Mrs. Bertha Brodock were Mr. and Mrs. John Bartell and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gately of Albion.

Holiday Ball Plans Completed

Plans are well underway for the annual Holiday Ball of Herrick Memorial hospital auxiliary to be held at the Country Club, Dec. 3 Mrs. Robert Anderson, general chairman, reports that invitations are in the mail and committees are busy.

The theme this year is "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" and the decorations are being planned with this in mind. Mrs. Earl Baldwin heads this committee and will be assisted by Mrs. Robert D. Moore, Mrs. Hugh H. Hanna, Mrs. Carleton Cook, Mrs. Al Musch, Mrs. Earl Wood, Mrs. Ray White, Mrs. George McCombs and Mrs. Clarence Beach. Mrs. Joseph Horvath and Mrs. T. O. Pihl, who are in charge of publicity are also helping with the decorations.

Ticket sales are being arranged by Mrs. Hugh Walters and the hostesses will be chosen by the chairman, Mrs. Clarence Gilman. Mrs. Victor Lawson has addressed all the invitations.

Refreshments will be served this year by a committee to be announced later and music for dancing, which lasts from 10 until 2, is to be furnished by the five piece "Swingsters."

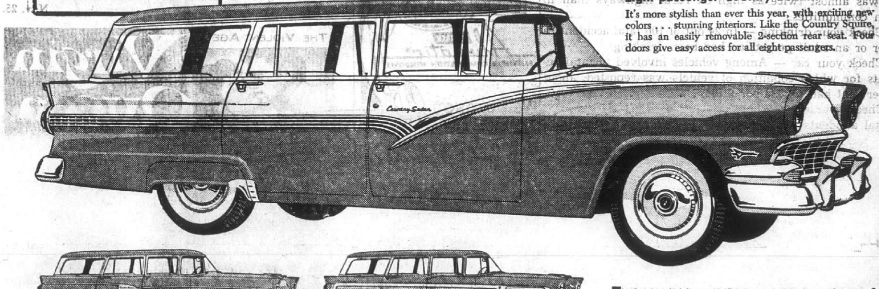
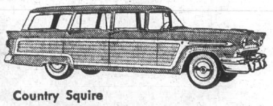
With Thunderbird Y-8 power . . . Thunderbird styling . . . and exclusive new Lifeguard Design

THREE WITH 4 DOORS



Eight-passenger Country Sedan
It's more stylish than ever this year, with exciting new colors . . . stunning interiors. Like the Country Squire, it has an easily removable 2-section rear seat. Four doors give easy access for all eight passengers.

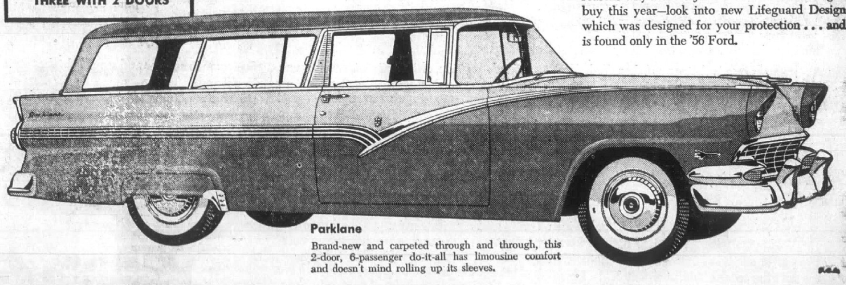
Six-Passenger Country Sedan
This model is designed for those who prefer 4-door convenience with seats for six. Like all Ford Station Wagons, it has fold-into-the-floor Stowaway seat.



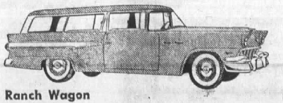
Country Squire
A queen among all station wagons. Mahogany-finished steel panels with wood-grained, glass-fibre moldings give woodlike beauty to this 8-passenger dreamboat.

There's more than meets the eye as to why Ford Station Wagons sell more than the two runners-up combined! Their Thunderbird beauty is apparent in all six models. But their beauty is more than skin-deep. Underneath that Thunderbird hide there's a heart of "GO"—for the Thunderbird Y-8 engine is the standard eight in all Ford Station Wagons, at no extra cost. If you need any more reasons why Ford is your soundest station wagon buy this year—look into new Lifeguard Design which was designed for your protection . . . and is found only in the '56 Ford.

THREE WITH 2 DOORS



Parklane
Brand-new and carpeted through and through, this 2-door, 6-passenger do-it-all has limousine comfort and doesn't mind rolling up its sleeves.



Ranch Wagon
This all-around favorite has two wide doors, easily seats 6 people. As in all Ford Station Wagons, lift gate and tail gate can be operated easily with one hand.

Custom Ranch Wagon
A 6-passenger beauty that's at home on the range or in the city. Converts in a split jiffy from luxury liner to a super-spacious cargo carrier. Easy-to-clean interior.

Man's need for spiritual alertness will be emphasized in the Lesson-Sermon "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Selections from the Bible will include the following passages from the Sermon on the Mount (Matt 7:15, 16): "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?"

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following will be read (134:28): "There is divine authority for believing in the superiority of spiritual power over material resistance."

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (16:13): "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong."

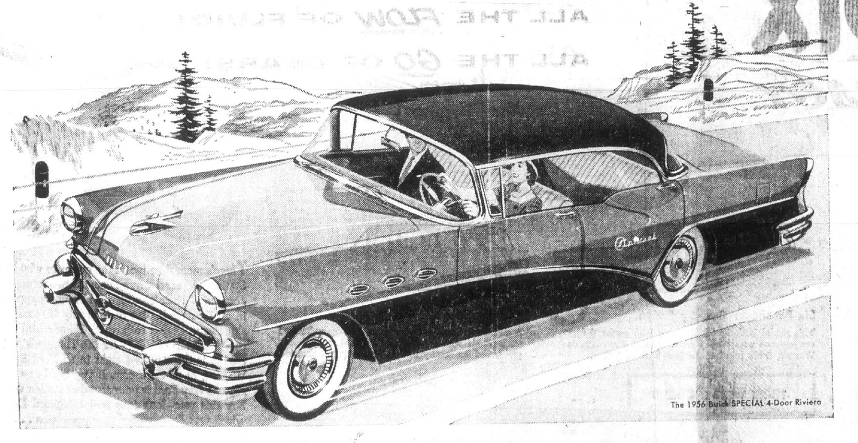
Plenty of EXTRA
in this SPECIAL



The 1956 Buick SPECIAL 4-Door Riviera

This one is the news-maker that's front-page big.

This one is the new Buick Special for 1956 – the biggest bundle of high-powered energy and high-fashion luxury ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

Just a quick listing of some certain facts will give you the picture.

First—its engine is a big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine with an all-time high in horsepower for this Series—and an engine that hits the record book at a neat 8.9 to 1 compression ratio.

Second—its getaway—with the double-action take-off of the new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—is spectacular even at only part throttle—and comes with a new boost in gas mileage to boot

Third—on ride, this new Special is more than great – what with all-coil springing, and torque-tube stability, and a new deep-oil cushioning, and a whole new front-end geometry that adds a wonderful "sense of direction" to the car's travel.

Fourth—on room, luxury, interior finish – there's never been a Buick Special like this before. From the big, broad seats to the stunning new instrument panel—there's new decorator smartness and quality throughout.

But get the picture on price, and you have the biggest reason why this sizable automobile is so extra special a buy.

For this Buick comes to you at a figure so close to those of the most widely known smaller cars, the difference in price is small change.

So—come in and see and sample this beauty. You'll find it, we firmly believe, the biggest package of automobile at anywhere near its budget price.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Grade School News

PATTERSON

The kindergarten display case has a lovely gingerbread house for all of us to see. It looks good enough to eat. We are also much interested in the case containing the Pilgrim scene. After our study of the Pilgrims we are sure those people were very brave and strong.

In second grade Arithmetic, we are learning about the meaning of the tens in our number system. We have made many things which we collect into groups of ten and are gaining a better understanding of the size of quantities.

We made some box pictures of the Pilgrims first Thanksgiving. We fingerpainted the background and all of us enjoyed the painting.

We are listening to the book "Sharp Ears" during story period. This is the story of a baby whale. We are very interested in his adventures as he travels through the oceans with his mother. He seems to have as many things to learn about as we do.

THIRD GRADE—WEST BRANCH
Mrs. Lasky

Our room looks like Thanksgiving. We have decorated it with our very own ideas about the things we've read. There are happy pilgrims, colorful gobblers, and feathered Indians.

In our language class we have been telling descriptions of people, places, and things. Now we are writing them. We discovered that we need to learn to spell many new words. We described Thanksgiving Day and in our story we each named the many things we are thankful for. All of us thank Mr. McDowell, Mr. Greene, and the school board for the new chairs and the new shades they bought for our room.

We are just beginning to add three numbers in a column in our arithmetic. We are still studying hard on our add and subtract combinations. Many of us know the answer in a "flash".

Some of us have new story books that our mothers bought for us at the book fair during book week.

Our teacher has finished reading, Old Tangle Eye to us and is reading some Just So Stories by Rudyard Kipling now. We like to hear stories about animals that talk like persons.

Mrs. Beemer, Mrs. Purple and Mrs. Kayner visited our room. We are happy to have parents see our work.

FOURTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Baily

Thanksgiving is almost here and we will be happy to have a few days vacation. We have been decorating our room for the holiday.

We have three birthdays this month, Marilee Kiser, Patty Roe, and Linda Covell. Linda moved to Britton just two days before her birthday. We hope she will be happy in her new home and school.

Every day we spend about fifteen minutes practicing our combinations and time tables. We have been having contests. Right now we are divided into four groups and each group is trying to get the most points. We are having fun and also learning to add, subtract, multiply, and divide better than we were.

In science we have been learning about the earth and sun. We have found out some very interesting things. When you folks read this we will be finding out many things about stars, constellations, planets, and the moon.

FOURTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Miller

In Social Studies we have finished the Unit about "The English Settle The North". The best readers did a play for the class. After the play the rest of the class asked them questions about the unit.

We have a scene of Pilgrims going to church on the bulletin board. We are also making pictures of Pilgrims bringing food to the Thanksgiving feast.

In Science we have been studying about the earth and how it moves to make day, night and the seasons.

You should see how hard we are working to learn our combinations in Arithmetic. Most of us do rather well on the check tests. Harry King and Rosemary Heistand are keeping ahead though.

Cathy Custard
Rosemary Heistand

FOURTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Whiting

We have been making posters and decorating our room for Thanksgiving.

We each went to our school library and got a book to take back to our room for two weeks. We will exchange books with others in the room, and are making booklets to keep track of the books we read.

Glenn Green's mother visited us one morning last week. We have each copied our daily schedule to take home, so if there is some particular class our parents would like to visit, they will know what time we have each class.

Carolyn Sparks is the only one having a birthday in November.

We are still working hard on division in our Arthmetic class. We have started a new unit in Science in which we are learning how our body works. In Reading we are reading stories about Wonders of Our Times. We are telling stories in Language, and in Social Studies we are learning about the different people who first settled in our country and why they came here.

We are enjoying our Weekly Readers and Checkaway newspapers, which we have once a week.

We are looking forward to our Thanksgiving Recess and hope that none of us eat too much turkey!

FIFTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mr. Kelty

The fifth grade is studying the movement West of the pioneers in Reading and Social Studies. In Language we are completing the study of friendly and business letters.

We are now starting the study of dividing by two figure numbers.

FIFTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Uckele

We are learning to give book reviews in language. We all went to the school library and picked out a book. Some of us are reading books from the Public Library to report about.

Mrs. Uckele is reading Children of the Covered Wagon by Mary Jane Carr to us.

Diana Glisson brought an abalone shell to school to show us. Mrs. Uckele told us how the priests who were building the Spanish Missions in California got lime from crushed abalone shells. This lime was used to make mortar used in the construction of the Missions.

Last week Gail DeMass and Joel Bailey were absent because of illness.

We are expecting to have a good time during Thanksgiving vacation and hope you do too.

WIT AND WISDOM CLUB WILL MEET DEC. 5.

The Dec. committee of the Wit and Wisdom Club announce that arrangements have been made for a 6:30 dinner meeting at the Episcopal Parish House Dec. 5. The Rev. Vaughn Whited will show pictures of Palestine and describe his visit there and there will be a handkerchief gift exchange. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Leon VanValkenburg or Mrs. F. C. Dickinson.

MISSIONARY BAPTISTS HAVE SPECIAL MEET

A "singing" will be held next Saturday evening, Nov. 26 at the Tecumseh Missionary Baptist church, Pearl and Pottawatamie, beginning at 7:30. There will be special singers from Monroe.

Local Topics

A Tecumseh reunion dinner was held recently in Santa Monica, Calif., when Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rosacrans and Mrs. W. S. Kimball entertained a group of former residents. The guests included Mrs. "Bunnie" Sisson Green, Mrs. Grace Albert Detwiler, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dimond, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yates and Mr. and Mrs. Rowe St. Olean. Mrs. Yates and Mrs. St. Olean were the former Geraldine Heesen and Mary Paxon.

Mr. and Mrs. George Adamson left Saturday morning for Douglas, Ariz., where they will spend the winter.

Mrs. A. J. Roberts of Dearborn, who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Lynn Hubbard for the past two weeks returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Waring of Marion, Ohio spent the weekend in Tecumseh. They called on old friends and attended the Ohio-Michigan football game in Ann Arbor Saturday.

John Murray Takes 2nd in County Scoring

John Murray, Boysville fleet halfback, took second place in county scoring during the football season. Shown in action in the picture above, the Fighting Knight back scored 18 touchdowns for 108 points. He scored 30 points in the Hartland game.

Dwight Klump, Blissfield back, crossed the goal line 19 times and added 14 extra points for 128 points to take the crown. He scored 29 points against Tecumseh.

Other leading scorers in the Tecumseh area were Barnoske of Britton and Dickinson of Tecumseh with 36 points each, and Tourangeau of Boysville with 30.

Field and Streams

the fiscal year schedule.

The Department's field administration division loaned tractors, drivers and transportation to help forestry crews complete the huge job before winter.

The fall's work is the first large block carved out of a proposed 250,000-acre program of planting 200,000,000 trees on public-owned lands in northern Michigan during coming years. Yearly plantings will be stepped up as the program gets into full swing.

"Better than last year" is the summary of Michigan's 1955 pheasant season which closed Nov. 10.

Higher bird populations, increased kill, good weather and improved farm conditions were all cited as factors contributing to a better hunting season.

Ralph Blouch, Conservation Department pheasant specialist, said early crop harvests made more land available for hunting, especially in south-central counties.

Hunters generally were happier with conditions and successes, Blouch said.

Some 500,000 hunters took an estimated 1,250,000 ringnecks during the 22-day season. Despite the heavy kill, good stocks are left for production next year, Blouch reported.

He said pheasant populations have been increasing since 1947.

Chill, wet weather greeted Michigan's deer hunting army for the Nov. 15 opener of the 1955 season, but early reports indicated this failed to make much of a dent in hunter enthusiasm.

An estimated 375,000 hunters were in the woods for the opener, and the total was expected to skip to 425,000 before the end of the first week of hunting.

The United States weather bureau at East Lansing predicted rain, snow and colder weather for the upper and northern lower peninsulas for the first five days of the season.

The Conservation Department predicted 65,000 deer would be taken during the 16-day statewide season and if the season follows the pattern of previous years, 20,000 of these would be taken the first day.

The Department is making its usual roadside traffic and kill studies and will have a more complete field summary at the end of the first week of the season.

Although hunting season is top feature for Michigan sportsmen at present, there's news for ice fishermen getting set for winter, too.

Licenses and fish law digests for 1956 will be available Dec. 1 from the state's 4,200 dealers. A record 1,800,000 licenses will go on sale at that time.

Water Rates Are Higher Elsewhere

Following up a ruling from the Michigan Department of Health which said that Tecumseh would not be granted any more permission to extend its water lines until a larger supply and a more adequate standby of water are provided, Ed Nelson, city manager, issued this report concerning city water problems.

"If we went back over the years of the Tecumseh water department we would not come up with a single year that the department faced any more difficulties than the one in 1955. What we thought would have been a good year turned out to be a rough one.

"When number five well was put in operation Dec. 23, 1954, we thought this extra volume would be a safe barrier if something would go wrong with one of the other wells. It did help considerably and without it the city would have been in rough shape.

"However, after operating this well for several months, complaints of iron and smelly water started coming in so we shut down this well whenever possible, knowing that we needed the extra supply in summer months.

"We checked with the state health department regarding putting polo phosphate to remedy the rust conditions. It wasn't all on account of number five well's iron content. The reverse flow of water in the main contributed in making it necessary to do something about the condition.

"As soon as the high volume of water users was cut down we have acidized two of the wells at Patterson and Union streets. They now are pumping to capacity and since these have been back in operation it hasn't been necessary to operate number five well.

"This should eliminate the smell you notice in the water and the rust stains in clothing. Several have said they have noticed improvements in the last two weeks.

"We are underway now in developing a new well at North River Acres. The chemical analysis of the well is very good so when this well is in production it will help every one in the northeast part of town.

"The new feeder main that we propose will help conditions all over Tecumseh, especially north of the boulevard and in Herrick Park. The feeder mains are not large enough on Brown street and in Indian Acres. The small main going to Burt street would not be sufficient in case of a bad fire north of the bridge.

"Therefore, for the good of every one more standby water is necessary and a larger main to get the water to these areas is badly needed. To do this water rates will have to be raised.

"Water rates in cities comparable in size to Tecumseh are listed. The rates are based on a six month period with a minimum charge of $5 for 20,000 gallons which is Tecumseh's rate.

Engineers have told city officials that to make provisions in the city water department for "minimum improvements" listed by the health department would necessitate raising water rates 50 per cent. To date city officials have not acted on this proposal.

The Silver Lining

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

HOWARD TRUESDALE has a sure way of getting deer. He took Mrs. T. along and she bagged the buck. Howard says this is not the first time that his wife came back with the venison.

COACH VIC LAWSON proudly announced a new baby boy Tuesday. He said the lad who tipped the scale at more than nine pounds already is on his way to making the teams at Tecumseh high.

MRS. A. S. CLARK of Seattle, Wash., has been reading the HERALD for almost 58 years. Let's hear of some more of these fine reading records.

YOUR ATTENTION IS called to some unusual and fine advertising on inside pages. Both ads are based on Safe Driving Day which is today. One is sponsored by local insurance agents and one is sponsored by local gas station owners. Look for them and read them carefully. Representing some of the finest public service advertising we have seen, they carry a mighty wallop.

SOME LETTERS MAILED last year to Santa Claus were stuck in the bottom of Santa's little mail box. They were found by one of Santa's "little helpers" who thought a letter to Santa is good any time because they are timeless so they are in the batch on the editorial page this week.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "People who mind their own business usually succeed—they have so little competition."

AFTER REHEARSAL BY members of the Tecumseh Music Club at our house Monday night Faith Hayden said: "I suppose you'll put in the Lining how our singing charmed you." Well, here it is. The music is charming, (and I'm not just saying this because Faith suggested it), even if our three-year-old thinks otherwise, and if you want to hear these fine voices attend the Methodist church tea Saturday afternoon.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — Don Quixote thought he could have made beautiful bird-cages and toothpicks if his brain had not been so full of ideas of chivalry. Most people would succeed in small things if they were not troubled with great ambitions. — Longfellow.

The Letters Here for Santa Claus

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS — These four small fry lined up Saturday to get their letters in the mail to Santa Claus. The letters, which may be mailed in the little special box in front of the United Savings Bank or at any post office or postal letter box, will be published in the HERALD.

Those out bright and early Saturday with their mesages were Jackie Edwards, Jamie Savage, Janie Osburn and Tommy Edwards. It's sort of hard to tell if Tommy really is interested in posting his Santa letter or in that jack-o-lantern, a hold over from Hallowe'en.

Announces First 10 Christmas Seal Buyers Here

Tecumseh's first 10 buyers of colorful TB Christmas Seals were announced today by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. The MTA said the following residents were the first to answer the 1955 Christmas Seal call for contributions: Tecumseh Electric, 115 S. Evans; Cecil L. Williams, 305 Shawnee street; Vern Manwaring, 507 west Brown street; Hugh R. Andrews, 342 north Union street; J. C. Beardsley, 401 west Chicago blvd.; Miss Anne Carson, 509 east Logan street; Henry Ehlinger, 307 north Maiden Lane; Henry Kempf, 204 Kilbuck street; George Meads, 315 south Adrian; and Paul Nobles, 410 east Pottawatamie.

Since the Christmas Seal campaign opened Nov. 16, an encouraging stream of checks and cash has been pouring into the state TB association headquarters. "It is gratifying to see that Michigan citizens are aware that TB is a constant menace and that with Christmas Seal help we can lick it," declared Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

"Judging by their generosity, the people of Michigan seem to sense that more than 4,000 of their neighbors are in TB hospitals at this very moment, fighting their way back to health. Some of them won't make it; 10 persons a week die of tuberculosis."

Christmas Seal contributions work year-round to help find unknown cases of TB, provide health information services, and pay for medical research aimed at finding better drugs and an effective vaccine against tuberculosis in Michigan.

"Judging from early Christmas Seal returns, folks in Lenawee County are determined to better last year's record of $8,057 in TB-fighting contributions," Mr. Werle exclaimed. "They want to work for a better tomorrow, free from tuberculosis."

Christmas Store Hours

Christmas shopping store hours have been announced by the newly-created retail division of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce. These are the suggested hours:

Open Friday and Saturday evenings Dec. 2 and 3, Dec. 9 and 10 and Dec. 16 and 17. Hours that the stores will be open Saturday evenings have been left up to individual merchants. A number of them have said they will be open until 9 p.m.

Open to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, Dec. 19 through 23.
Open to 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 24.

At a meeting of the retail division last week it also was announced that the main street will be decorated Sunday, Dec. 11, by city employees and men of the service clubs.

It also was decided that Santa Claus will make his visit to Tecumseh Friday, Dec. 16, and he will be in town all of the following week.

"Make Every Day Safe Driving Day"

Thursday, Dec. 1, (today) will be the second annual S-D Day, or Safe Driving Day.

Its purpose, reports George Kilbourn, Tecumseh police chief, is to demonstrate, again, that traffic accidents can be greatly reduced when motorists and pedestrians fulfill their moral and civic responsibility for safety.

It is sponsored by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety in cooperation with prominent national organizations.

The challenge to every community will be: not a single traffic accident during the 24-hour period—in daylight or darkness.

Chief Kilbourn said:

"S-D Day 1954 demonstrated that the place to attack the traffic safety problem is in the community, and that the responsibility rests upon each individual.

"S-D Day 1955 will further implant in the minds of all motorists and pedestrians the realization that, if they can greatly reduce acidents on one day, they can do so every day of the year. It will call attention dramatically to the importance of year-round support by every individual for existing safety programs of proven worth."

He listed these safe driving tips:

Be sportsmanlike on every drive.

Obey all traffic regulations.

Keep speed reasonable. Start earlier and drive slower.

Don't drive when you drink.

Remember, danger increases with darkness: at sundown reduce speed so you're within range of your headlights.

Stay in line. Don't weave.

Don't pass unless there's plenty of room—and never on hills or curves.

Allow sufficient stopping distance between you and the car ahead.

Be extra alert at intersections.

Always signal your intention to turn or to stop.

If the weather is bad, don't drive unless you must. If you drive, double your care.

He also listed these safe walking tips:

Cross streets only at crosswalks.
Before crossing, look both ways.
Cross only on proper signal.
Watch for turning cars.

Never go into the roadway between parked cars.

If there is no sidewalk, and you must walk in the roadway, walk on left, facing traffic.

When walking at night, wear or carry something white to help drivers to see you.

Police Warn

Local and state police warn that medicines stolen last week from a local doctor "are extremely dangerous to unauthorized users."

The medicines were in a bag stolen from Dr. C. L. Cook's car. The bag was stolen when the car was parked in the hospital parking lot here or at the doctor's home on north Union street either a week ago Tuesday or Wednesday.

Anyone with information on the case is asked to contact the Tecumseh police or state police.

THREE MEN FINED

Three young men, arrested in Tecumseh Sunday night by Tecumseh police on a drunk and disorderly charge, were sentenced in Justice John Lowe's court Monday.

Donald L. Clymer, 18 years old, of 412 Northwestern Drive, Adrian, was sentenced to serve five days in the county jail and pay $25 fine and $8.60 costs. If the fine is not paid he will serve an additional 15 days in jail. John Litern, 19, of Route 2, Adrian, and Donald A. Sharp, 20, of 1338 Railroad Avenue, Adrian, were fined $15 and $25, respectively, and $8.60 in court costs.

HAPPY HOME BUILDERS MEET

The Happy Home Builders Class of the Baptist church met Monday evening in the Youth House with 25 present. The group enjoyed a potluck supper and a program of Christmas movies shown by the Rev. B. O. Bashore.

President Vern Manwaring appointed Mrs. Harold Davidson and Mrs. John Surratt as a nominating committee for new officers for the coming year.

The holiday meeting will be Thursday, Dec. 29 with Mrs. Arlie Becker and Mrs. Bashore as hostesses. There will be a planned potluck supper.

Brownville Club Sees Movies

The Brownville school mothers' club met Tuesday evening, Nov. 21, at the school.

After the business meeting, Mrs. Robert Laidlaw showed pictures of Japan and she showed a display of clothes and articles used by the Japanese.

Refreshments were served by the committee.

The next meeting will be held the fourth Tuesday in Jan.

DISTRICTS DISCUSS ANNEXATION FRIDAY

Eighteen school districts are expected to send members of their boards of education to Tecumseh high school Friday night to discuss the proposed annexation of their districts to the Tecumseh Public Schools. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

$28.60 STOLEN

Bidwell's Cities Service station was broken into early last Thursday morning and $28.60 was stolen, Tecumseh and state police are working on the case.

Yours?

Prizes totalling $65 are going unclaimed in Tecumseh's window game.

Stores that have prizes to give to shoppers are Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association, Baldwin's, Bancroft Cleaners, Beach's Sohio Service, Butler Motor Sales, Cal's Tog Shop, Cameron Drug Co., Clauda Plumbing & Heating, D. & C. Stores, Inc., DesErmia's Home Furnishings, Glenn L. Driscoll Insurance Agency, Elmer W. Eberhardt and Eggleston's Cleaners.

It will pay 13 shoppers to check up. They may be the owners of valuable prizes offered by these merchants who are taking part in the chamber of commerce's window game.

Tecumseh Beats Clinton, 68-37

Tecumseh high school began its 1955-1956 basketball season with a 68-37 win over Clinton Tuesday night.

Never behind, the Indians led 20-6 at the end of the first period; 33-16 at the end of the half; and 53-24 at the end of the third period.

High scorers for Tecumseh were Miller with 19 and Sisson with 15. Others scoring for the Indians were Larned with nine, Elliott with eight, Dickinson with six and Spangler with five.

Koons was Clinton's high scorer with 16 and Chase added eight.

The Indians' junior varsity won 59-12. Dave Elliott hit 16 points and Larry Yoakum added 12 with Bob O'Neill chipping in 10.

Motorist Hurt in Accident

A two-car crash two miles south of Clinton on M-52 Saturday seriously injured John Aldrich, 36, of Tecumseh.

The other car was driven by Leonie Froehlich, 21, of Ann Arbor.

Taken to Herrick Memorial hospital, Mr. Aldrich's condition was listed as critical but he is now improving.

Details of the collision are not known. Mr. Aldrich, State Police said, has not been able to tell them what happened.

Both cars were badly damaged and the Aldrich car burned. Tecumseh firemen put out the blaze.

LT. VAN OSDAL

FIGHTER PILOT — Marine 2nd Lt. Peter B. Van Osdal is serving as a squadron pilot with Marine Fighter Squadron 334 of the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing at the Marine Corps Air Station, Cherry Point, N. C.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan K. Van Osdal of 11200 Mills-Macon hwy., Tecumseh, and husband of the former Miss Joan Snodgrass of Detroit.

Before entering the service in Aug. 1953, he was graduated from Yale University in New Haven, Conn., and was employed by the O. W. Burke Construction Co., in Detroit, Mich.

DIRECTORY SURVEY STARTED BY BPW

Members of the Tecumseh Business and Professional Woman's Club are making a house to house survey of the city and township collecting information for a new directory to be published in the near future. Householders are asked to cooperate in order that this needed source of information may be as complete and correct as possible.

LADIES ARE FETED

Rotarians feted their ladies at a dinner meeting Tuesday night. A group of girls from Tecumseh high school led by Mrs. Robert Smith, sang several numbers and Miss Jacqueline Egan showed colored slides of her trip to Europe last summer.

Winter Taxes Total $336,619

Local taxpayers soon will be getting more than Christmas cards in the mail. Winter tax bills will be sent out beginning today, Thursday.

About 2000 of the bills will go out, according to Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city clerk. The total tax roll to be paid by city taxpayers for county and school purposes this year is $336,619.59.

Spread on a local equalized valuation of $9,711,900, the total winter tax millage is broken down like this:

6.77 mills to county
13.3 mills to schools
13.6 mills to school bonds
1 mill to library

TOTAL 34.67 mills

But, according to John Saling, city assessor, the state equalized valuation of Tecumseh is $21,933,467. And the state equalized valuation was used to figure the tax millage rate, or the total amount in dollars and cents to be raised.

Using the state equalized the millage picture is this:

3 mills to county
6.3 mills to schools
(includes library)
6 mills on school bonds

TOTAL 15.3

It makes little difference to the average taxpayer whether local equalized or state equalized is used. In the first case the millage is higher but the valuation is lower. In the second case the millage rate is lower but the valuation is higher.

Taxpayers have until Jan. 10 to pay their winter taxes.

If they are not paid by this date a penalty of four per cent of the total tax bill is added.

Hand Injured by Dumb Waiter

Lonal Bishop of Macon received a serious hand injury Saturday about 6 p.m. when a dumb waiter in his home crashed on his hand while he was loading it with canned fruit.

His right wrist was broken and tendons and arteries in his hand were severed.

He was taken to Herrick Memorial hospital by a passing motorist that he flagged down and later he was transferred to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Mr. Bishop is a pressman in the HERALD'S composing room.

Adult Farmer Class Meets

Thursday evening Dec. 1, (tonight) there will be an organization meeting for an adult farmer class at Tecumseh high school.

All farmers, either full or part-time, in the Tecumseh school district intrested in either a shop or an agriculture course please meet in the agriculture room at the high school at 8 p.m.

A program will be set up at that time to satisfy the desires of the group.

PRESBYTERIAN MEN'S COUNCIL TO MEET

The Lansing Presbytery Men's Council, representing men in 29 churches in southeastern Michigan, will meet in the First Presbyterian church of Mason Sunday, Dec. 4 at 4 p.m.

There will be election of officers for 1956 and plans for expanding men's work in local churches will be discussed.

Synod director of Christian Education, Garner Odell will be the main speaker.

Delegates from Tecumseh will be the officers of the Men's Club, Harold Hammel, Otto Meiers, L. Williams and George Rhinehart. Others may make reservations by contacting any officer of the club or the church office.

MUSICAL TEA PLANNED SATURDAY

Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney will be in charge of the program to be given at the musical tea Saturday afternoon in the Methodist church parlors. A varied program of vocal and intrumental numbers has been planned.

Refreshments will be in keeping with the Christmas Tree Lane theme and there will be a booth of fancy work on display. The hours are from 2 to 4 p.m. and the public is invited.

SELL DOG LICENSES

Dog licenses are now on sale in the city clerk's office.

Marteri Cancels Jaycee Dance Planned Dec. 30

Ralph Marteri and his orchestra will not play for a scheduled dance sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce Dec. 30.

The dance, planned to raise funds for permanent bleachers on the recreation field, has been cancelled and money from tickets sold for the dance will have to be refunded.

A booking agency mix-up was blamed for the cancellation. The local Jaycees thought they had Marteri signed and all but delivered. They had made a $500 deposit for his services and the remainder of the $1000 cost was to be paid when he appeared here.

But he has a New Year's eve engagement in Iowa. The booking agency wanted to get him an engagement in Michigan for New Year's eve but it was not able to. The traveling distance, it was explained, is too far for the orchestra to make the Iowa engagement and the Tecumseh dance in one day. So Tecumseh's was cancelled.

The Jaycees have cancelled payment on the deposit check and Marteri will pay for tickets and other material that have been printed.

Some ticket money has been refunded and those who still have tickets may get their money back from Merlyn Downing at the United Savings Bank.

No replacement name band could be contacted to make the Dec. 30 engagement.

Dow Bilbys Mark 25th Anniversary

One hundred and forty of the friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Dow Bilby attended the open house Sunday afternoon which marked the 25th anniversary of their marriage. The event was given by their children, Miss Doris Bilby, Mrs. Walter Wonderly, Earl, Carol, Janet and Richard at the Baptist Youth House.

Mr. and Mrs. Bilby welcomed their guests, who were registered by Carol. Those who assisted in serving refreshments had been guests and helpers at the original wedding. They were Mrs Carl McClue and Mrs. Ronald Pilbeam, who poured, Mrs. Carl Thomas, who served ice cream and Mrs. Raynor Kerr the cake.

Pink and white colors were used in the scheme of decorations and serving was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Mills Swick, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barrett, Mrs. William Grigg and Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett.

Many beautiful gifts were received by the Bilbys from guests who came from Toledo, Detroit, Huntington Woods, Somerset Center, Brooklyn, Jerome, N. Adams, Mt. Clemens and Onsted, as well as nearby towns.

EMPLOYEES SUE OVER WAGES

Five employees of Time Laboratories, Inc. have started suits in circuit court, claiming that the firm owes them money for work done.

Plaintiffs are Lowell Kelley, Lee Kelley, Agnes Kelley, Anna Bryan and Burlin Brees. They are represented by John Zeigler. Robertson, Russell & Bartlow are attorneys for the firm.

BARN BURNS

Tecumseh firemen aided the Saline fire department in battling a blazing barn on the Glen Crittenden farm on Saline-Macon road last Thursday.

The large barn was a total loss, burning up a new tractor and combine and mows full of hay. And four calves and 350 chickens also were killed.

MISSIONARIES TO SHOW PICTURES OF JAPAN

The Rev. and Mrs. William Sackwitz, missionaries to Japan, will show colored slides of that country at the Assembly of God church, 210 W. Bidwell St., at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 1. Everyone is welcome.

Cub Scout Pack Names Leaders

A flag ceremony by Den No. 2 led by Mrs. Kenneth Rutherford opened the Nov. meeting of Cub Scout Pack 4 last Monday evening at the Baptist Youth House.

Mrs. Richard Dustin's Den 4 then presented a very interesting sample den meeting including explanation of the cub salute and promise, flag ceremony and proper folding of the flag, also demonstration of homemade games, relay races, cub yells etc., thus giving parents an idea of how the boys spend the hour each week at den meetings.

Mrs. Wallace Rutherford's Den 1 presented a pantomime of the landing of the Pilgrims and the first Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Francis Packard's Den 7 presented an accordian solo by Jimmie Wallace and the rest of the boys told what Thanksgiving means to them.

Mrs. Goldberry's Den 5 sang "America the Beautiful."

Awards were then presented by the new Cubmaster, Dr. Richard Dustin to the following boys — one year service stars, David Dustin, Paul Snyder, Terry Beland, Tom Velandra and Jimmie Wallace; silver stars under wolf, Douglas Kaynor and Douglas Goldsberry.

The retiring cubmaster, Walter Hizer thanked all den mothers and committeemen for their cooperation during his year as cubmaster.

Den 4 received Tin Can Cubby for having the greatest percentage of cubs and parents present.

The following people were registered for the coming year as committeemen, den mothers and leaders — institutional representative, Francis Packard; chairman of pack committee, Gilbert Nighswander; pack committee, property manager, Harry Beland; assistant property manager, Robert Williamson; activities chairman, Carl Hale; awards chairman, Wayne Hebb; treasurer, R. W. Dixon; secretary, Mrs. Don Johnson; assistant cubmaster, Ernie Oliver; cubmaster, R. E. Dustin; publicity chairman, Marie Deaner.

Den No. 1 — den mother, Lila Rutherford, assistant, Helen Sharpe; Den 2 mother, Jennie Rutherford and Helen Sisson; Den 3, Helen Morey; Den 4, Ruth Dustin and Hope Mensing; Den 5, Mrs. Goldsberry and Helen Kaynor; Den 6, Mrs. Frank Boike and Doris Carpenter; Den 7, Rith Packard and Virginia Dixon.

Food brough by the cubs was packed in a basket to be presented to a needy family. This is an annual goodwill project.

It was announced that committee meetings will be held at 8 p.m the second Monday of each month in the home of one of the pack leaders. The first meeting will be at the Dustins, 309 N. Union, Dec. 12.

There will be a training program for den mothers, committeemen and interested parents for three consecutive Wednesday evenings beginning Nov. 30 and including Dec. 7 and 14. The meetings will begin at 7:30 and will last about two and one-half hours. The first of these meetings will be at the home of Dr. Dustin.

School Annexation Questions Aired on Radio

(Editor's Note: The following question and answer program dealing with the proposed annexation of 18 rural school districts to the Tecumseh Public Schools was presented on station WABJ Wednesday, Nov. 17. Participants were Milton Porter, county superintendent of schools and James McDowell, Tecumseh superintendent of schools.)

Jim: The Tecumseh Board of Education long has felt the need for more coordinated educational opportunities for the area. Since some of these rural districts are overcrowded, the board has assisted them by accepting some of their seventh and eighth grade pupils in Tecumseh schools. However, the board was hampered somewhat in its desired action by certain state laws governing our district.

Milton: Yes, I have known of your problem and am glad that since you are now a fourth class district with new regulations to follow that your board has decided to invite the primary school districts now sending high school pupils to Tecumseh to annex to your district.

Jim: Milton, we all know that the rural schools are doing a wonderful job and that in general their children come to our high school well prepared academically. However, socially, since they have not had the opportunity due to the small numbers of children in most seventh and eighth grades in the rural schools to associate with children their own age, these children require much more time to adjust to high school than do our own pupils.

Milton: Do you feel that there are any other advantages that you may be able to provide these rural areas if they annex to Tecumseh?

Jim: Yes, according to tentative plans, elementary schools will be built in areas where there is already a school population within walking distance such as at Macon and Ridgeway or additions made to their present school facilities so that art, music, and physical education may be taught by special teachers and that these children will have the same educational advantages as those attending our present city schools.

Milton: Have sites for these area elementary schools already been decided upon by your board of education?

Jim: No, the board has invited the members of the boards of education of 18 primary districts to meet with them Dec. 2, in the high school cafeteria to discuss the needs of the entire area and to hear the wishes of these districts. It doesn't make sense to pick sites when we don't even know which districts will annex or what these districts want in the way of elementary schools.

Milton: Are there any other ways in which you feel that the proposed annexation plan will benefit the pupils from the primary districts?

Jim: The board feels that more rural pupils will attend high school since all seventh and eighth grade pupils will attend the same junior high which will provide ample opportunities for investigation of interests in various fields of work as well as in music, art, physical education and sports.

Milton: How would this effect your agriculture program in high school?

Jim: We expect that more rural children will remain in school at the end of the eighth grade, and, therefore, more would enroll in the agriculture programs, thus those programs would necessarily be enlarged in scope.

Milton: Do you agree that actual operational costs will be but little more than those paid by these districts this year?

Jim: Yes, since all must pay five mills on state equalized valuations in order to receive state aid. In fact eight of the 18 districts now pay higher rates than Tecumseh. Our rate for the City of Tecumseh, less the public library expense, is 5.9 mills. All these districts, if annexed, however, must pay .4 mills toward the public library so the total rate this year is 6.3 mills for operating of the schools and public library.

Milton: How about debt retirement? When will your present bond issue be paid?

Jim: The original bond issue was made in 1952 and if these districts annex it should be almost completed by Jan. 1, 1957, with about a third of a year's payment left for 1957-1958.

Milton: Is it not true that the taxpayers in Tecumseh will receive assistance in paying for the present high school if these districts annex this year?

Jim: Yes, that is true, Milton, and will be appreciated. However, the primary districts would pay on this bond issue at most two years whereas Tecumseh taxpayers have already paid three years and this year makes four. However, the 18 districts have a state equalized valuation of some eight million dollars and would pay some $48,000 a year towards this debt.

Milton: I think we realize that annexation will lighten the load on Tecumseh taxpayers as far as secondary school buildings are concerned. Are there any other advantages to the people now living in your district?

Jim: I think so! The pupils coming to Tecumseh schools from the rural areas will all have the same background of school experience and we hope be better prepared socially and educationally to enter our secondary schools with the local pupils. In this way, both the urban and city children will advance in their educational patterns more rapidly. Also, as the school grows, the curriculum may be broadened by the addition of new classes. Their school experiences will be more broadening and beneficial to all.

Milton: How soon do you expect to close the present rural schools if the districts annex to Tecumseh?

Jim: Not immediately, the bond issue has two years at least yet before completion and it will take considerable time to complete needed elementary schools before closing any of the present rural facilities.

Milton: I understand that even without this annexation Tecumseh's elementary schools are overcrowded. What will you do with the additional pupils in Tecumseh next year?

Jim: We will need at least two additional rooms but hope to be able to use the basement of the public library which was formerly used as a school room before the Patterson School was built and a vacant small room at Central school.

Milton: I understand that your present high school is adequate for the needs of the entire area if annexed. Is this true?

Jim: Well, yes, if we qualify the statement somewhat. If you consider the upper four grades as the high school, it is true. Undoubtedly the shop and cafeteria should be enlarged for they are too small now. Also, since we now have enrolled in our high school most of the pupils of high school age from these 18 districts our enrollment would increase by only the normal number of children moving into the district. However, with a larger district, more pupils will move in and also we expect more rural pupils to continue their education than formerly.

Milton: Then, you would either arrange for a junior high school or build additions to the high school to handle the additional seventh and eighth grade pupils from the rural schools or area elementary schools.

Jim: That is right. The problem of arranging for a separate junior high or additions to the high school is one already under consideration by the board as the normal increase in secondary school population in the City of Tecumseh alone has taxed the present high school building. However, this matter probably will be discussed at the meeting Dec. 2. I might add, that a study by the faculty last year indicated that they felt that more could be accomplished both in the junior high and senior high if the seventh and eighth grades were housed in a building separate from the high school. The P.T.A. has indicated a similar desire.

Milton: Do you have a building which might be used for a junior high?

Jim: Yes, Central school which was formerly the high school. This building could be readily adapted to junior high use as it has an auditorium, gymnasium and adequate class room facilities. Of course, it would be necessary to build an elementary school to house the children now attending school there. A new elementary school is badly needed in the Tecumseh Acres area now as we are bringing over 300 of their children to local schools by bus.

Milton: Will you provide bus service to the rural pupils next year if they annex?

Jim: Probably, to all high school pupils. Perhaps to elementary pupils. That is a problem to be considered by the board of education and certainly has not been decided upon yet.

Milton: How many elementary children are now enrolled in the districts invited to annex?

Jim: Approximately 650 and 120 seventh and eighth grade pupils. High school enrollments would change but little.

Milton: Is it true that Tecumseh high school is a member of the North Central Association of Schools and Colleges?

Jim: Tecumseh high school with Adrian, Blissfield and Hudson are the only high schools in the county which are members of the North Central Association of High Schools and Colleges which means that our school is accredited by them and we maintain certain high standards prescribed by the association and that our pupils also enjoy certain privileges as far as college registration is concerned. We have been continuously accredited by them since 1920 and by the University of Michigan since 1894.

Milton: I have heard that your high school will be closed to tuition pupils next year. Is that true?

Jim: The board voted at its Oct. meeting to discontinue registration of additional tuition pupils as of Sept. 1, 1957.

Milton: Does this mean that rural pupils now attending your high school will not be allowed to continue in Tecumceh next fall?

Jim: No, all pupils now attending high school will have the opportunity to graduate but no new pupils will be enrolled in our high school unless they reside in our district. Any school annexing to Tecumseh before Sept. would be in our district and their pupils would enroll with us.

Milton: Supposing, a school district does not care to annex with you, where will their pupils attend high school?

Jim: They may attend any high school which is accepting tuition pupils.

Milton: Do you feel that this is fair to the children living in these areas who would normally attend your high school?

Jim: Perhaps not to the children since they have no voice in the matter. However, the local board has the welfare of its own children to consider and over-crowding in the high school is already here. Local parents expect and should receive first consideration of the school facilities for which they have paid. Half-day sessions are nearly a reality in Tecumseh. The monetary assistance of all who use our facilities is needed and present tuition payments do not provide for a large enough portion of capital outlay and debt retirement costs.

Milton: Will this raise taxes in the districts considering annexation?

Jim: Yes, in all but one since most of the primary districts have no bonded indebtedness. However, in operation at the present time, of all the high school districts in the county, Tecumseh is fourth lowest and its present bonded indebtedness will be paid in less than three years.

Milton: Well, I am sure that your board has given this matter constant consideration and I, too, feel that all rural areas must soon consider joining high school districts to provide adequate educational facilities for their children.

I KILLED THIS BOY

They ask me did I see the child? Yes I saw him. And he's all I've been seeing since. I saw him. But it was too late to stop. I was the last to see him alive. And the first to see his lifeless body limply sprawled on the pavement—a few inches from the bumper of my car.

Yes. I am the man they now call "death car driver." I own the car whose pictures you saw in the daily press. And, yet, a thousand times I wish I were the victim rather than the man who killed him. For he died only once, but I a thousand deaths since then.

I saw him running out between two cars. He looked away. But yet his childish steps led into my path. I honked the horn. I kicked into the brake. I heard the tires squeal. And then the thud. I saw his little body hurl through air and fall down flat just as my stopping wheel almost touched him once more.

I walked ahead and bent over his crumpled form. "Call an ambulance," I shouted. "Quick." I saw the gathering crowd. They all looked at the child. And then at me.

Then came police and then the doctor. He looked first at the bloody face and form, then looked away and slowly shook his head. And then I saw the anguished features of a man—the father—and heard the desperate screams of a bereaved mother—how can I forget.

And when the scene had cleared and I had filed reports at headquarters and the police had cleared me, I stood alone and suddenly knew what I had really done:

"Could happen to any of us," a voice behind me said. I felt the sympathetic touch of a policeman's hand. "You were not speeding, nor violating any law. We preferred no charges nor did any witness charge a fault by you. The child was unattended, roaming streets alone and you did nothing that was dangerous or wrong."

I carry insurance sure. But who can replace a life? Should I visit the parents? See the child laid out? Or coldly disregard the death, the bitter grief? Will the father, mother hate me? A sense of moral guilt hangs over me. It punishes the driver hard and makes him all afraid to face the parents or the lifeless child or anyone.

Remorse alone cannot clear my conscience. And there I even doubt my friends will see my way. I wasn't careless, the policeman said. I was within the law. But yet, my conscience lives with me and I with it. And, thinking that, perhaps, the slightest bit of more attention on my part could have averted this will haunt my thoughts for every hour I shall live. And no one can deliver me of this.

Musical Program Heard by Business Women

Monday evening was music night at the Business and Professional Woman's Club which met as usual in Fellowship Center for a dinner meeting. The Christian Builders group of the Presbyterian church served the dinner and the club hostesses were Mrs. Fay Whelan, Mrs. Lewis Schultz and Miss Myrtle Mattis.

Mrs. Ray Sluyter, club president, explained in more detail the work of collecting data for the new city directory, a project that has been undertaken by the organization. She also announced that there would be no Dec. meeting.

There were 48 members present and Mrs. Robert Smith, Miss Marlyn Baker, Mrs. Halsey Eggleston and Mrs. Patricia Dobek were guests. Mrs. Ethelyn Rumler was introduced as a new member.

The program was announced by Mrs. Margretta Brisbin and was opened by two vocal solos sung by Mrs. Robert Smith, "Velvet Shoes" and "He". Marlyn Baker, a pupil of Mrs Brisbin's then played two piano selections, "Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" and "Gypsi Rondo" by Haydn.

Two piano duets followed, played by Mrs. Sluyter and Mrs. Brisbin and then Mrs. Edna Staulter conducted a musical quiz. In her usual versatile manner she played 26 popular songs whose titles the audience attempted to identify. The prize went to Mrs. Smith, who had all but one correct.

HAVE DINNER

DeAnna June Smoke Is Bride of Lowell Perrin

DeAnna June Smoke and Lowell G. Perrin chose Thanksgiving Day for their wedding at the Tecumseh Methodist church. The Rev. Horace James performed the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. before an altar massed with palms, hampers of white and cream chrysanthemums and pompoms and candelabra of lighted tapers. Bouquets of cream and white cbhrysanthemums and satin bows marked the pews.

MRS. LOWELL PERRIN

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Meyers of Holloway, was given in marriage by her father. The parents of the groom are Mrs. Gerald Craig of Tecumseh and Leon Perrin of Coldwater. Miss Peggy Jo Pocklington was at the organ playing traditional music and accompanied Diane Woodward when she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" at its close.

The bridal gown of chantilly lace over satin had a fitted bodice with long sleeves, mandarin collar and an illusion yoke outlined with lace embroidered with pearls and sequins. The full satin skirt was covered with panniers of the lace which extended into a cathedral train. Her double, fingertip length veil was held by a jeweled lace crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of camelias with bebe pompoms and a center of white tulle.

All the bride's attendants, her matron of honor, Mrs. Russell Bates, the bridesmaids, her sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Weasel, Mrs. Leonard Cotes and her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Smoke and the junior bridesmaid, her niece, Linda Bates, wore strapless dresses of American Beauty velvet and tulle topped with jackets. Their full tulle skirts were waltz length and they carried matching muffs topped with cream and white pompom chrysanthemums tied with white velvet ribbons and backed with gold foliage. They also wore matching velvet head pieces. Kay Gove, niece of the bridegroom, was the flowergirl in a white dress made like that of the bride and she carried a miniature bouquet of white pompoms with red tulle and ribbons.

Mrs. Craig, mother of the groom, wore a black dress with white accessories, while Mrs. Meyers' dress was soldier blue. Both wore corsages of Carole Amling pink miniature roses.

The groom was attended by Dale Campbell as best man while Raymond Campbell, Joe Gregory and James Smoke, the bride's brother were ushers. The bride's nephew Michael Cote was ringbearer.

At 8 p.m. a reception for about 400 guests was held at the Products Union Hall with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Meyers as hosts. The five-tiered wedding cake was cut by Mrs. Edwin Gove, the groom's sister and the assistance of Mrs. Raymond Campbell, Mrs. James Clement and Miss Kay Kutzner, all of Britton. Another sister of the groom, Mrs. C. R. Perkins registered the guests.

The bridal couple left for a week in Florida, the bride wearing a dark brown tailored dress with white trimmings and brown accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. On their return they will live at 316 N. Maiden Lane.

Mrs. Perrin is a graduate of Britton high school while the groom graduated from Adrian high and is employed by the Kroger Co. in Tecumseh.

Monday Club Women Hear Panel Discussion

The Department of Applied Education presented the program for the Monday Club this week with Mrs. James McDowell as leader and Mrs. E. J. Aebersold assisting. The meeting was held in the social rooms of the Methodist church and the program preceded the business session.

Nineteen high school students of the American history class and their teacher Douglas Murdock were introduced and engaged in an informal panel discussion of the topic, "Are students getting adequate grounding in home and community living?" The subject was divided into several phases and the leaders were Nicky Touborg and Rita Crosby, Judy Whiting and Ann Rebottaro, Allen Dickinson and Jack Purcell, Lynn VanWinkle and Sandra Hall, John Naser and Charles Foreman.

The points developed seemed to indicate that while the school, the church, athletics and recreation programs were adequate there was not sufficient individual participation or enough interest on the part of parents.

The president Mrs. Herbert Murphy thanked all those who had contributed to the program and during the business meeting which followed she announced that the Dec. 12 meeting would be a "Holly and Tinsel" breakfast at the Methodist church. The time will be 9:30 and County Federation officers and members of the Clinton, Britton and Macon Women's clubs have been invited to attend and hear the speaker, Mrs. W. C. Taylor of Toledo give "The Christmas Story."

Mrs. W. G. Waldron announced the musical tea to be given by the Methodist Society Dec. 3.

When the members gathered before the meeting a photographer took pictures of each one, copies of which will be used in a memory book for the president.

The hostess committee consisting of Mesdames Edward Harper, Alta Boyce, Leon VanValkenburg, James Artman, Don Cleveland, Ted LaBounty, George Green, W. J. Morse, R. H. Moore and C. C. Richard served tea after the meeting. Mrs. Aebersold and Mrs. R. J. McCoy presided at the tea service on the lace covered table.

21 SHOPPING DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

Moore-Alderdyce Vows Spoken Saturday Evening

Mary Lou Alderdyce became the bride of Hamilton Dean Moore in an impressive ceremony at St. Peter's Episcopal church in Tecumseh Saturday evening. The Rev. E. C. Dickin performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums, palms and lighted candelabra and satin bows marked the pews.

MRS. H. D. MOORE

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Alderdyce of East Logan street was given in marriage by her father. The parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore of Britton R.F.D.

They were attended by Mrs. Nancy Lee Randall Will as matron of honor, Mrs. Irma Adams, Mrs. Ardyth Schroeder of Britton and Miss Betty Jo Ostrander of Onsted as bridesmaids and Donald Moore as best man.

Franklin Schroeder of Britton, Gerald Carey, a cousin of the groom from Ypsilanti and Bill Gorton of Tecumseh were ushers.

Before and during the ceremony Margie Greenfield of Clinton sang "O Perfect Love," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was lovely in her gown of bridal satin. The fitted bodice had a rounded neckline with an insert of rhinestones and was closed by a row of covered buttons. The full pleated skirt was ballerina length and long matching mitts supplemented the cap sleeves. Her veil of fingertip length fell from a velvet cap and she carried a lace covered prayer book with a cluster of Eucharist lilies and white bebe chrysanthemums.

Her attendants wore taffeta in autumn shades made with fitted bodices, which had low rounded neck lines. Their skirts were full and they had matching halfmoon hats. Mrs. Will's gown was of gold taffeta and her bouquet was of shaded yellow pompoms centered with deeper bronze. The bridesmaids were in bronze taffeta with bouquets of red bronze poms accented by a center of lighter shades.

Mrs. Alderdyce wore a brown knitted suit with brown and tan accessories and a corsage of green orchids. Mrs. Moore's dress was navy blue with mauve trim and her corsage was of pale pink rosebuds.

Three hundred guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Murphy at the reception held at the Grange Hall at 8 p.m.

Decorations were in green, yellow and white, with green and yellow table covers, lighted candles and arrangements of yellow chrysanthemums on the bridal table. The wedding cake, which had been made by the groom's aunt, Mrs. Shirley Bruder of Belleville was cut by Mrs. Murphy while Mrs. William Becker served the groom's cake. Mrs. Amos Miller poured coffee, with Mr. and Mrs. Duane Bock serving punch and Mrs. Jerry Miller ice cream.

The bridal couple left for a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., after the reception. Mrs. Moore wearing a suit in avacado shade [illegible] accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1953 and is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. The groom, who graduated at Britton high school in 1954 works at the Ford plant in Ypsilanti. They will live at 109½ West Pottawatamie street.

Infant Son Died Sunday

Timothy Ray Seymour, infant son of Wayne and Patricia Ann Richardson Seymour died at Herrick Memorial hospital Sunday morning shortly after birth.

The baby is survived by his parents, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Richardson and several aunts and uncles.

The body was taken from the Green Funeral Home for a prayer service at the grave in Brookside cemetery conducted at 10 o'clock Monday morning by the Rev. Edgar Owen, pastor of the Missionary Baptist church of Tecumseh.

Ladd-Harper Vows Exchanged in Macon Church

Only the immediate families of the bride and groom were gathered in the Macon church Saturday evening when Carole V. Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harper and John Ladd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Liddle, both of Tecumseh were united in marriage.

The Rev. Vaughn Whited, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony at seven o'clock. The bridal couple was attended by Miss Virginia Gregory and David Vanderpool.

MRS. JOHN LADD

For her wedding Miss Harper chose a suit of white nylon velvet, consisting of a sleeveless sheath dress whose round neckline was embroidered in pearls and a jacket with a pearl decorated mandarin collar. The jacket also featured self-covered buttons with matching loops. Her hat was also of white velvet and she carried a tailored hand bouquet of white carnations and gold foliage.

Miss Gregory's two piece suit was of red velvet with which she wore a similar white velvet hat. Her flowers were red carnations backed with transparent leaves.

The mothers of both bride and groom had corsages of red rossette roses, Mrs. Harper's worn on a gray dress with navy accessories and Mrs. Liddle's on a gown of medium blue.

A reception for 250 guests at the American Legion Home in Tecumseh followed the ceremony. Those who assisted included Mrs. David Vanderpool of Tecumseh and Miss Sharon Ost of Adrian, who cut and served the cake; Mrs. Charles Ambrose of Cleveland, who officiated at the coffee urn; Mrs. Harley Slick of Britton, who served punch and Mrs. Douglas Monagin, Mrs. Richard Purkey and Mrs. Robert Brooks in charge of gifts. Miss Patdicia O'Brien registered the guests.

On their return from a wedding trip to Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Ladd will be at home at 111 N. Pearl. The bride, a graduate of Tecumseh high school in 1952 is employed in the offices of the Tecumseh Products Co. Mr. Ladd, who spent two years in the armed forces after graduation in 1950, works for the Union Telephone Co. in Adrian.

Before her marriage the bride was the honored guest at several parties and showers. On the evening of Nov. 17, Mrs. Harley Slick of Britton entertained a group of mutual girlhood friends for the pleasure of Miss Harper, and she was presented with a gift from those present.

On Tuesday before the wedding Mrs. Harold Harper and Mrs. Jerry O'Brien gave a miscellaneous shower in the Harper home. Games were played and the prizes won were presented to the guest of honor who also received a shower of gifts.

Wednesday evening a similar shower was given by Mrs. David Vanderpool at her home on N. Union street when games and refreshments were the order of the evening.

Barbara Donaldson and Dermont Poley Jr. Wed

Grace Lutheran church was decorated with white flowers Friday evening when Barbara Donaldson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Donaldson of Ellsworth, Mich., and Dermont Poley Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Dermont Poley Sr. of Tecumseh, were united in marriage at 7 p.m. by the Rev. A. Jeschke.

White chrysanthemums, anemone pompoms and gladioli filled the altar vases and the hampers which with lighted candelabra and palms were massed at either side. White satin bows marked the pews.

Miss Shirley Sciacero of Ann Arbor sang "The Lord's Prayer" with Mrs. Ben Hammack Jr. accompanying and also playing bridal music.

Miss Donaldson was attended by her sister Gwendolyn Donaldson as maid of honor and another sister Nancy Donaldson and Louise Poley, sister of the bridegroom as bridesmaids.

Mr. Poley asked Preston Caswell to be his best man and was also attended by Donald Maves and Ronald Donaldson of Ann Arbor, a brother of the bride. Howard Maynard of Roseville and Lee Clark of Flint were ushers.

Champagne colored lace over net and satin formed the waltz length wedding gown and with it the bride wore a finger tip length veil which fell from a lace tiara. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white roses and Frenched mums on a white Bible.

The maid of honor, whose aqua taffeta were made like that of the and bolero jacket, carried a modified crescent of coral gladioli florets, centered with a lavender orchid and interspersed with coral angel feathers and satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids dresses of coral tafeta were made like that of the maid of honor and their flowers were aqua snowdrift pompoms around a large aqua chrysanthemum with aqua angel feathers and ribbons. All wore tiny hats of taffeta to match their dresses with clusters of contrasting flowers.

The bride's mother wore dark charcoal grey while Mrs. Poley's dress was blue and each wore a shoulder corsage of lavender orchids.

During the reception which followed in the church social rooms the five-tiered wedding cake was cut by Mrs. Orson Poley of Sturgis. Mrs. Robert D. Moore and Mrs. Earl Baldwin had charge of the punch bowl and Mrs. William Stevens, sister of the bride and Mrs. Eugene Aken, sister of the groom, poured coffee. Mrs. Ronald Donaldson of Ann Arbor had charge of the guest book and Miss Janet Burkholder of North Adams received the gifts.

The bridal table was garlanded with smilax and had a centerpiece of coral gladioli, aqua chrysanthemums and pompoms accented with blue love birds.

The bride, who is a graduate of Ellsworth high school, is employed in the office of the Tecumseh Products Co. while Mr. Poley is a teacher in the Tecumseh schools. They will live at 3206 Murray Drive.

LYSTER LEAGUE ELECTS OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of the Lyster League of St. Peter's Episcopal church last Tuesday evening new officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Ira Montague; vice-president, Mrs. Harry Richard; secretary, Mrs. Jeane French and treasurer, Mrs. Carl Kennel.

Mrs. Ruth Duffin reported on the convocation for this district which she attended and it was announced that the Christmas party would be a 6:30 potluck supper at the Parish House Dec. 27. There will be an exchange of $1 gifts and those not able to attend are asked to send their names for mystery sister drawing.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Mensing and refreshments were served by Mrs. Mensing, Mrs. Clyde Mitchell and Mrs. Ira Montague.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Michigan's deer kill during the first six days of the 1955 season appears to be up about 12 per cent from last year, at least in the northern lower peninsula.

Hunting activity, meanwhile, appears to be about the same as last last year.

As yet the Department has no figures on hunter numbers in the woods, but early season predictions of "little change from last year" appear to be holding up.

"I doubt that there are significantly more or fewer hunters in the woods this year compared to last season," Ilo H. Bartlett, Department deer authority, said after an extensive trip through the northern lower peninsula. Before the season, Department officials said they expected 425,000 hunters this year compared to 430,000 last year.

Muskrat tripping in the southern lower peninsula is expected to be somewhat improved over last year, but no great change in pelt prices is anticipated.

The season opens today, Dec. 1, in the south and closes Jan. 15, except in the Erie marshes where trapping extends until the end of Jan.

A Michigan hunter must have set some sort of record for determination in bagging his deer last week.

The unidentified hunter had a strange tale to relate when he showed up with a buck at the Conservation Department biological checking station at Brohman.

It seems the hunter was in the woods with only two shells when he spotted a whitetail. His first shot dropped the deer, but the animal got up and staggered away. The hunter fired again and this time, the deer turned and charged. Out of ammunition, the terified hunter swung his rifle and splintered the stock over the deer's skull. The groggy buck dropped to the ground again.

Before the deer fully regained his senses, the resourceful hunter tied him to a tree and scrambled to safety until the buck died of gunshot wounds.

Major concentrations of ducks and geese are now present in the southern third of the state.

Mid-November waterfowl census showed approximately 870,000 ducks present on Saginaw Bay, Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie. The total was the highest recorded in the last nine years and 300,000 more than the mid-November census of 1954.

However, game workers said large flights out of Michigan were likely any day, if a major exodus has not already occurred during the Nov. 17 storm.

Concentrations of geese were recorded in the southwest portion of the state, with populations of 10,000-12,000 estimated at the Swan Creek-Fennville area. Another 2,800 were present at the Kellogg Bird Sanctuary area and 1,500 at Leidy Lake.

Heavy goose kills were reported last week at Fennville, particularly during the Nov. 16-17 storm period when 268 geese were bagged. Good duck kills also were made in southwestern Michigan with the arrival of a large mallard flight. The duck kill in the southeastern portion continued high.

Total waterfowl kill recorded at Swan Creek, Fennville and Pointe

"When you're running a hospital, as I am, you can really see the value of Blue Cross . . .

Past President of the Michigan Hospital Association, member of the American College of Hospital Administrators, and Director of the 291-bed Sparrow Hospital, Mr. Glen Fausey knows the importance of hospital protection that keeps abreast of today's hospital costs. "The way Blue Cross protects its members," he says, "it's easy to see why more than half of our patients have it."

Blue Cross protects you in terms of today's hospital costs!"

says Mr. Glen Fausey, Director,
Edward W. Sparrow Hospital, Lansing

"If you have the same hospitalization coverage you had, let us say, five years ago, and you are paying the same rates, you have something that will not do a job for you in our hospital. I don't know of a hospital where it will do a real job for you.

"You see, our costs have gone up more than 35 per cent during the past five years. The first requirement of realistic hospitalization coverage is that it keep up with hospital costs.

"This is why we are for Blue Cross. Blue Cross benefits always keep up with the times. They give you protection in terms of today's hospital costs and the requirements of today's hospital practice.

"Most people have learned to appreciate this fact. More than half of our patients have Blue Cross - Blue Shield."

What Is a Chamber of Commerce?

Most progressive communities have a chamber of commerce. Although there is some variation in the structure, methods and activities of these thousands of community-level organizations, they follow a pattern sufficiently uniform to justify their analysis as a significant factor in America's free enterprise system.

With reference to its function in community life, a local chamber of commerce might be broadly defined as

People, working together, to make their community a better place in which to live and to make a living.

Expanding the three elements of this simple definition gives an action picture of a chamber of commerce:

PEOPLE . . .

lawyers, bankers, manufacturers, doctors, advertisers, clergymen, teachers, retailers, wholesalers, salesmen—business and professional men and women who share a common interest and pride in their "home town"—what it is and especially in what it is to be.

WORKING TOGETHER . . .

meeting as a group or committees, analyzing problems, proposing solutions, initiating discussion, examining related facts, acting in accordance with the expressed will of the majority, making mistakes sometimes, but constantly striving to improve business and to build a better community.

TO MAKE THEIR COMMUNITY A BETTER PLACE IN WHICH TO LIVE AND TO MAKE A LIVING . . .

a safer, cleaner, more beautiful place; a place where businessman, farmer, industrialist and educator acknowledges a mutual dependency which—because it is understood and acknowledged—is not loathsome, but a challenge to each and a source of pride; a place where the industrialist finds a promising site, the tourist a vacation dreamland, a visitor a sure and friendly answer to his question, and the neighbor finds . . .

a neighbor; a place that is bothered about progress, that likes to survey itself and to eliminate the margin of its discontent, that looks with a critical eye on crowded streets, and frowns at buildings with faded, grim facades; a place where people grow restless if too frequently confronted with the past; where tradition is an insufficient excuse for stagnation; where each day is a day for accomplishment and tomorrow holds a promise of better living in a better community . . .

"The Chamber of Commerce: Its Origin and Purpose"
Chamber of Commerce of the United States

There are a number of fine pointe in this message from the United States Chamber of Commerce. But let's take two of the thoughts out of their context.

A chamber of commerce constantly strives to improve business and to build a better community.

It seems that this has been a bone of contention with some ex-members of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce. They felt—and they said—that the chamber of commerce was not geared to their individual needs.

Now, however, with the establishment of a retail division in the chamber of commerce maybe some of these needs will be met better. Let's give the retail division a chance to show that it is sincerely interested in helping every merchant and helping to put the chamber of commerce back on its feet.

You will note that the United States Chamber of Commerce put "striving to improve business and building a better community" in one combined thought.

If you think it can't be done read what Ralph R. Markwood, secretary of the successful chamber of commerce in Lapeer, Mich., writes:

"I know of no easy way to make a chamber successful, but if a community will work together you can have a highly successful chamber of commerce and if you have such a chamber you can be sure of a prosperous and happy city."

People working together—this is the key to the problem in Tecumseh. It can be done. It has been done in the past. Let's all try it again. Let's all work together for a better chamber of commerce and a better community.

Lulu H. Dinius Buried Monday

Lulu H. Dinius, widow of Clifford Dinius, died Thursday afternoon at Herrick Memorial hospital. She had been ill for six weeks but had been a patient at the hospital only since Saturday.

Mrs. Dinius was born Sept. 23, 1883, in Lyons, Ohio, and was the daughter of Charles and Hattie Loomis Smith. She had lived in Raisin township and Tecumseh and was well known as a practical nurse. At the time of her death she was making her home with her son George at 10087 Billmyer road.

She was a member of the Lanning Busy Bees club.

She is survived by two sons, Lloyd and George of Tecumseh; two brothers, Earl Smith of Morenci and Ralph Smith of Holland, Ohio and six grandchildren.

Her parents, her husband and a son Ernest preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Green Funeral Home conducted by the Rev. Edward Escolme. Burial was in Brookside cemetery with E. Lavern Russell, Wallace Bryan, Claire Halstead, Herman Titley, Lawrence Boyd and John Selders acting as bearers.

SERVICES HELD FOR RALPH BROOKS

Underwood-Orr Post of the American Legion conducted military graveside services for Ralph Brooks of Yonkers, N. Y., when he was buried in Brookside cemetery Monday afternoon of last week.

Vern Manwaring was the commander and John Colson, chaplain.

A former Tecumseh resident, Mr. Brooks had many relatives here and funeral services had been held Monday at the Green Funeral Home with the Rev. Alvin Brazee officiating.

The moment of decision arrived. The Martins, a young married couple, found a home that seemed to be just right. Still they hesitated.

"I'm afraid," said Mrs. Martin. "Do you think we are doing the right thing in buying this home?" she asked her husband.

"Sure, honey," he replied. "It's just like we've planned."

She turned to me. 'I'm still upset. How do you know whether you've made the right decision? This home may not suit us in a few years."

"There is no way of being absolutely certain," I replied. "Any choice involves an element of risk."

"But size it up this way. Is the home adequate for your family? Is the district favorable? Can you afford it? Does it strike you as the kind of home you'd enjoy living in? If the answer to all these questions is yes, the outlook is good. The house is probably right for you."

Mrs. Martin nodded. "Yes, I think it is."

And, her husband reassured, "If we buy now we'll have a bigger equity to handle a larger home later."

The decision WAS right. The purchase of that house has made their life more pleasant. For assistance in locating the proper home for your family, please give us a chance to serve YOU.

Mama Goes on Safari

BY PEG TOUBORG

February 11, 1955
Friday

Our permanent camp consists of our tents with canvas floors, and one open tent for the dining hall where the table supplies are kept in big green boxes. Andy and Chris are bunking so far away in the bushes I'm often tempted to let out a scream to see, if need be, how quickly Andy could make time to my tent without falling flat on his face over the tent ropes.

Our permanent camp site is now in a beautiful spot, looks like Robin Hood's glen in the forest—the shiny deep green olive trees, the fine cypress, the evotic chartreuse "Fever Trees" like patches of filigree sunshine; large shrubs with purple Hydrangia like blossoms; white wisteria, Elevation 7,000 feet — wonderful atmosphere on this large plateau.

Had a long nap this afternoon under my netting, dreaming of home. Then a commotion awakened me — a large group of Masai women and children were singing loudly across the little gully. They are all so terribly curious. The men wander by and stare, looking so terribly important in their brown sackcloth and each carrying a spear.

HAVE A BATH

Thought of you as I had my bath. My canvas tub was placed in a dark little enclosure at the rear of the tent. The boys carried tin cans of water and asked me to test the temperature. It was really wonderful and so dark I couldn't see the wiggly things. Bitten Clausen and I make the mistake of investigating the "water hole" —a scummy little patch looking like a cesspool, film of insects on top; the ground around nothing but pulverized dung from the animals. Of course, we have brought all of our drinking water from Nairobi.

The cook's bonfire is merrily blazing through the bushes. Break: —Joined the rest of the group around a huge bonfire by the mess tent. We sat out under the starry sky, the fire snapping, low conversation of previous hunts, the plaintive tones from the boys' guitar. "Happy Camp," we call it, and hope it remains that way.

Our food is really delicious — gazelle soup, gazelle chops (papa's first), green beans, potatoes and onions. Abdullah's freshly baked bread and canned butter from Holland. Out of this world fresh pineapple and delicious cheeses.

February 12, 1955
Saturday morning
From my perch in the jeep

Shaking like an aspen. A first for everything—just a matter of acquiring confidence. Am left alone in the jeep on the plains. My driver is sitting on a big red ant hill nearby. I don't dare look him in the eye yet. Don't know what I expect he might do — maybe too much Mau Mau talk and Andy's last remark as he left me — "He's not supposed to sit up in front with you. Chances are he won't but he's fairly new here. Just motion for him to move on if he does." Break:—he did come in and sit under the wheel. I sat there too for a few minutes trying to look unconcerned but fearful how to handle the next approach, and then I got out of the jeep and walked around! (Since, I have been so amused to think I could have ever been frightened of dear Sohi).

IT'S COLD

We were awakened at five o'clock this morning by the lantern being lighted, a cup of hot tea placed by our beds, and I was ready to get up — so cold. My head was so chilled during the night that I chuckled to myself. Had been making fun of one camp boy who always wears a helmet strapped under his chin — he's the smart one — probably wears it at night for warmth and forgets to take it off.

We saw the Southern Cross, then watched the sunrise while eating breakfast — just the first pink rays because it was still dark when we took off — Andy driving, Jens by the door, and me straddling the gear shifts. A rhino is supposed to be in this area. Three boys stand in back of the jeep looking for fresh tracks as we drive along. We have zigzagged through the low bushes, over and around rocks for hours, getting out at intervals to inspect the tracks and to investigate.

SHOOT TO KILL

Big game is not as prevalent here as Americans would believe. Most of the lion country has been closed to hunters. Huge areas are in national forests. Of course, the variety of gazelles, impalas, zebras, etc. are all around us. It was amusing to see the impalas leaping for the first time. The ostrich is tremendous. I'm sure that I don't want to shoot. I impulsively took out a general game license, but this is no place to practice. Over here you shoot to kill, not wound, and you must know definitely where to place the sight of your gun. We've all had our lesson in anatomy. Jens and Andy sighted in Jens' guns yesterday morning, deciding on the steadiest rest for Jens. I was proud of him. Andy said it was humanly impossible for one to shoot straighter than Jens did!

Andy is a big fellow, 36 years old, a bachelor, pleasant and interesting to be with and so nice and thoughtful to me. Has a big farm near Nairobi. Chris, Clausen's hunter, is much older, fine featured and looks like a gentleman even in his blue jeans and with his pistol at his side.

SKIN A ZEBRA

The hunters have returned with no success from their long tramp. Break: — A dead Grevy zebra is now being skinned at my left. We're quite a group — the boys have sharpened their knives; cow herders with three dogs have appeared — they' evcut off rump slices and tossed the chunks to the dogs who are fighting over them.

When the herd of zebras were sighted on the plains, and a good buck was chosen, Andy let Jens slide out of the car quickly; had spotted a bunch of rocks for a gun rest for him. Then we drove quietly away as Jens stalked through the grass. Vultures circled and descended quickly on the carcass, completely covering it an Andy said it would be gone in tw minutes — nothing left but bones I was glad to drive away.

General Phone Makes Changes in Organization

General Telephone Company of Michigan, an operating company of the General Telephone System, will be affected by organizational changes announced in New York, Nov. 8.

Mr. Leslie H. Warner has been elected president of Automatic Electric Company and will serve as chief executive officer of the manufacturing and sales division of the General Telephone System, it was announced by General Telephone System's president, Donald C. Power.

As a result of the merger of Theodore Gary and Company into General Telephone Corporation, the manufacturing division of the General Telephone System now includes Automatic Electric Company, Leich Electric Company, Alphaduct Wire and Cable Company, and their affiliated sales and service companies in this country; Automatique Electrique, S. A., Antwerp, Belgium; Autelco Mediterranea S.A.T.A.P., Milan, Italy; and Automatic Electric (Canada) Limited, Brockville, Ontario, Canada. Distribution of the products of these companies outside the United States and possessions is handled by International Automatic Electric Corporation and its affiliated sales and service companies throughout the world.

Mr. Warner was associated with Automatic Electric Company for 17 years prior to joining the General Telephone System last year as President of Leich Electric Company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Leich Sales Corporation. Mr. Power stated that because of Mr. Warner's familiarity with and experience in the manufacturing and sales companies of both Theodore Gary and Company and General Telephone Corporation, he is especially well-qualified to handle the many complex problems involved in integrating these companies as a result of the Gary-General merger.

Charles S. Cadwell, who served as president of Automatic Electric Company prior to the Gary-General merger, has been elected a vice president of Automatic Electric Company and president of International Automatic Electric Corporation. In his new capacity, Mr. Cadwell will direct the activities of Automatic's manufacturing subsidiaries in Canada, Belgium and Italy, and sales and service operations throughout the world other than in the United States and possessions.

At the same special meeting of the board of directors of Automatic Electric Company, John J. Douglas, formerly vice-president and controller, was elected vice-president and treasurer, and Edmond G. Benoist was elected vice-president and general commercial manager. Martin F. Shanahan was appointed controller of the company.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Easy Coins A Quick Profit

Hear about Easy Roberts last Friday? I helped him count his money—both before and after—so believe me, the story's true.

Easy was on the way to the bank to deposit his "cookie jar" savings—exactly $24.95 in nickels, dimes and quarters. He had them in a paper bag and as we crossed Main Street the bottom fell out.

Money went flying. Passers-by pitched in to help recover the coins. Later on when Easy counted up, he had $25.05. The "search party" had turned up all of Easy's money plus ten sents someone else had lost!

From where I sit, I wouldn't want to try this "Easy" way to make money. Usually, it takes time for a bank roll to grow... just as it takes time for a friendship to grow. But by respecting a neighbor's rights—including his right to drink coffee, tea, beer or buttermilk, whichever and whenever he chooses—it's wonderful the solid friendship you can build. You can "bank" on that.

County Buys $155,789 Worth of Savings Bonds

Purchases of Series E and H United States savings bonds by residents of Lenawee County totaled $155,789 during Oct., it was announced today by H. Dale Gardner, chairman of the Lenawee County Savings Bond Committee.

Purchases for Oct. 1954 were $149,520. The county total for the first 10 months of 1955 was $1,784,767, which compares with $1,441,742 bought during the Jan.-Oct. period a year ago.

The county chairman said Series H bonds, which provide current income in the form of semi-annual Treasury interest checks and are available from financial institutions throughout the county, have been increasingly popular during recent months. Most E bonds are purchased at the buyers' places of employment through the payroll savings plan.

Total sales of the two popular series for the State of Michigan as a whole were $27.177 million in Oct., an increase of 20.2 per cent over Oct. 1954, according to Delmar V. Cote', state sales director for the Treasury's U.S. Savings Bonds division at Detroit.

Michigan sales of E and H bonds were $275.878 million during the first 10 months of this year which constitutes 85.7 per cent of the state's 1955 quota of $321.8 million. During the first 10 months of 1954, Michigan residents' investment in E and H savings bond amounted to $242.209 million.

The county chairman urged residents of this area to consider seriously the desirability of presenting savings bonds as Christmas gifts this year. "There isn't a more welcome gift obtainable because it is kept as a constant reminder of the giver, and its value grows and grows," he said.

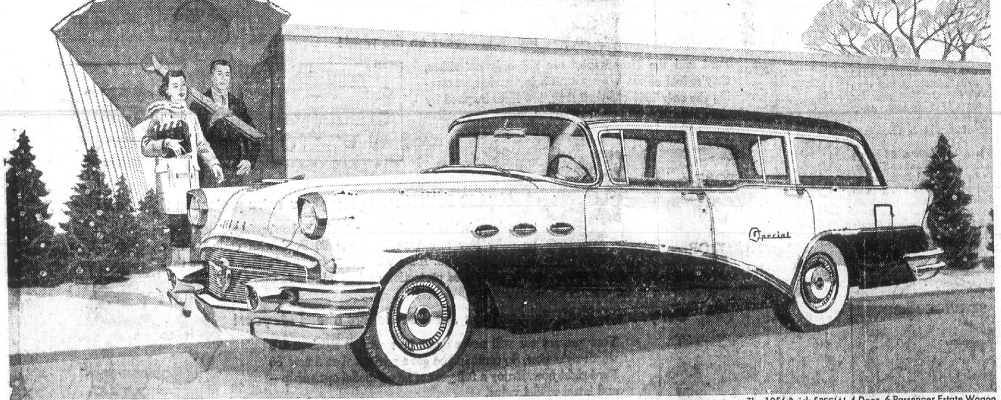
ALL-STEEL BEAUTY
at a steal of a price



The 1956 Buick SPECIAL 4-Door, 6-Passenger Estate Wagon

In no uncertain terms, this one makes your travel hours prideful as well as practical.

It's all Buick, you see—all 1956 Buick.

Which means a new lift to anyone's spirit—from the new sweep-ahead look of it—the new might of its 322-cubic-inch V8 engine raised to lofty new power highs—the new sizzle of its advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—the true sweetness of its great new ride.

But it's a lot more than that.

It's Buick's highly versatile Estate Wagon—now substantially lowered in price for 1956—and how much more practical can you get than that?

For with this one, and for an easy-to-reach figure—you have a car with all the suavity of a smart sedan plus the all-duty handiness of a suburban vehicle. You have a car completely steel-bodied, so its exterior upkeep stays simple and inexpensive—and a car more than roomy enough to carry six and their gear.

You have a covered platform that's plain wonderful. It can take an inflated air mattress. It can freight a small rowboat and camp equipment. It can hold luggage, or golf clubs--or the results of a mad shopping spree, even if you go in for antique furniture.

You can even have the rear seat come, at your option, in a handy split-section that lets you carry both rear-seat passengers and extra-long loads like skis, or fishing rods, or young trees, or two-by-fours.

So what more can we say, except come see it.

Mayflower Pilgrimage

BY MRS. HOYT WHELAN

The shipyard which is building it has been building wooden ships for a good many years. We had our lunch at a dining room in the Holiday Park at the top of the bluff.

The buses were ferried across the river Dart at Dartmouth, and as the tide was low this was an anxious time. The Lord Mayor had a reception all planned for us there.

We went on after the reception, which was just speeches, through Torquay, to Southhampton, missing some of the planned stops, but it was late and nothing we could do about it. At Hotel Dolpin in Southampton for the night. In the morning, on leaving, we drove down to the Royal Pier and placed a marker among others on a shaft already there which held memorials to John Alden, Winslow and Brewster. Also another, marking departure of troops on D-Day was here on this shaft.

PLANS ALTERED

Col. Allen, Governor General of the Mayflower Society, had been stationed at Romsey during World War II and wished to go through there so our plans were changed to accommodate him, and no one objected as that gave us an opportunity to visit Stonehenge. We spent about a half hour at Stonehenge. For some time it has been thought that this is the ruin of a temple built about seventeen hundred years before the birth of Christ, but later research puts the probable date as twenty-four years B.C.

Then to Salisbury, where we had a short stay at Salisbury Cathedral, built in the 1300's. The spire, highest in England, 404 feet, was added about 100 years later.

We went through Beaconsfield, where Edmund Burke lived, then on to Jordan where is the little Quaker church and the burial ground where our William Penn is buried, and his grave and that of his wife have plain little stones to mark their resting place. The famous old barn that is supposed to contain some of the timbers of the old Mayflower is about a half mile from the church, and we visited that.

We went on to London, through the Runnymede meadows, where the barons made the king grant them Magna Carta, refusing to go into the castles to meet him as 'They had observed that some who went in did not come out again.'

Two nights at Grosvenor Hotel, in London, which is in the heart of the city, and next to Victoria Station, probably the largest railway station in England. Were taken by bus on a trip around the city, to Buckingham palace, Queen Victoria's monument, Hyde Park, Picadilly Circus, Fleet St., and St. James Palace, a drive along Thames river, London Bridge, "The Temple" which is well known by lawyers of many countries, to The Tower of London and the Crown Jewels, to Westminster Abbey and all through it with a guide. By that time we were well tired out and did not have much interest in shopping during the time that was alloted to us but went out for a few hours and not being familiar with the city we did not have much success, and took a cab to go to see the changing of the guard at St. James Palace. That was a very colorful and interesting ceremony, lasting for about an hour. More entertaining than shopping, to my mind.

VISIT AMBASSADOR

In the afternoon of October 4, after the drive around the city in the morning, the buses called for us again and we were taken to the home of American Embassador Winthrop W. Aldrich to a reception and tea which had been planned for us. Mr. Aldrich is a member of the Mayflower Society. Lady Astor was also present. Francis Cooke, through his son John, and Richard Warren were ancestors of Sir Winston Churchill and his niece Lady Eden to both of whom memberships in the Mayflower Society were given at this time. Sir Winston was absent from home, and unable to be present, but Lady Eden graced the gathering by her precence.

On the evening of the 5th of October the buses called for us to take us to the airport and then it was raining very hard. We did not feel badly about it as it was the only rain that we had had. The sun shone every day except the day at Leyden, Holland, and that was cloudy, with some misty rain, but not enough so that I wore a rain coat at all. Some early mornings had been a little hazy.

WE FLY HOME

The rain had stopped by the time we reached the airport and although it was then dark we did not mind the damp walks and got off in good season. Because of the prevailing winds we came home a round-about way; going up across Scotland, landing at Kaflavik, Iceland, in the night; flying from there across Greenland quite a distance west, then at an angle across Labrador, to Montreal, Canada, then a little east and south to Boston. A non-stop flight except at Kaflavik, 3,850 miles, in about 15 hours.

Clayton Woman Heads County Michigan Week

Russel Swaney, general chairman of the 1956 Michigan Week, today announced the appointment of Mrs. W. W. Cook of Clayton as Michigan Week chairman of Lenawee County. Next year's celebration of the event designed to remind everyone of Michigan's greatness will be held May 20 to 26.

Mrs. Cook, who also served as 1955 county Michigan Week chairman, is state chairman of public education of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs and president of the Lenawee County Historical Society. She is past president of the county organization of the Lenawee County Federation of Women's Clubs and of the Lenawee-Monroe Counties Eastern Star Association.

Mr. Swaney, who heads Detroit's Federal Reserve Bank, urged all Lenawee County people to observe Michigan Week and if possible to participate directly by contacting Mrs. Cook and offering their services.

Durward B. Varner, vice-president of Michigan State University, is the recently appointed chairman of the 1956 Michigan Week local organization committee.

This will be the third observance of Michigan Week, which began in 1954 and has since attracted nation-wide attention. In addition to the interest generated within the state and its communities, an estimated 15,000,000 persons all over the country have heard of Michigan's greatness on radio, television, and in national magazines.

Last year Michigan communities participated in the celebration with parades, special store exhibits, pageants, and speeches — all telling of Michigan's inspiring past, exciting present, and promising future.

Mr. Swaney expressed the hope that with the early organization of the local committee next May's observance will be the most memorable Michigan Week yet.

Local Topics

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson entertained over the holiday weekend Mrs. Ray Ellis of Evanston, Ill., and her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ellis of the same city. Mrs. Ellis is Mr. Wilson's aunt and the family lived in Tecumseh at one time. While here they called on Mrs. George Wilson at the Parrett Nursing Home.

Floyd Bryan has been a patient at Herrick Memorial hospital since Friday. He is receiving treatment for a severe stomach ulcer and will remain in the hospital for another week or ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Knight of Northville came Sunday to visit Mr. Knight's grandmother, Mrs. Harriett Knight and his uncle, Floyd Bryan at Herrick Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Howard Wilson Jr. is now employed at the Universal Tool and Die Company in Saline.

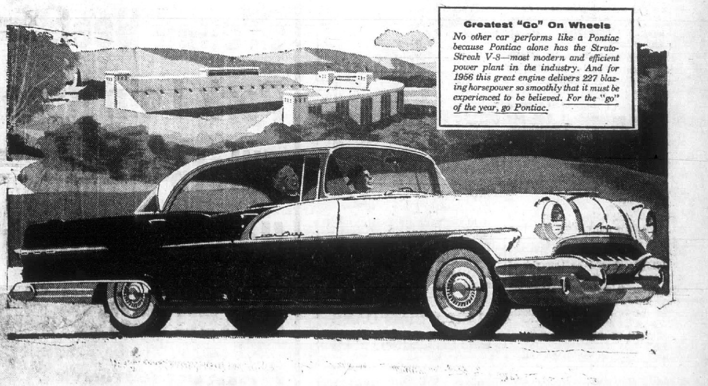
Driving's Exciting Again!



Greatest "Go" On Wheels

No other car performs like a Pontiac because Pontiac alone has the Strato-Streak V-8—most modern and efficient power plant in the industry. And for 1956 this great engine delivers 227 blazing horsepower so smoothly that it must be experienced to be believed. For the "go" of the year, go Pontiac.

Let's say you have just logged an extra-long day's mileage in your '56 Pontiac. Your clock tells you it's time to choose a lodging for the night.

Then it comes to you. You don't want to stop! You just want to keep on and on, piloting this sweet, singing beauty wherever fancy points.

Sound like a wonderful dream? It happens time and again to owners of this fabulous new car. And the lure that leads them on and on is the performance of Pontiac's great new Strato-Streak V-8 . . . the most thrilling performance on the American highway.

Traffic's a delight in this agile car. Power flows smooth as oil when you leave a light, and with the sharp authority of 227 blazing "horses". Brakes respond with crisp, new certainty. The wheel answers fast as pointing your finger. You're driving with a confidence you've never felt before!

And highway touring is pure pleasure! You swing the curves with new sure-footed certainty . . . clear a high hill or sweep safely past a loiterer with the happy assurance that you command the greatest "go" on wheels.

And when you settle down to cruising speed on an open highway—that's the real payoff on your good judgment! This is living in a wonderful new way. Driving's exciting again!

Come in and try it—you can prove it in 10 minutes as easily as in 10 hours. And you'll prove something else to yourself. Pontiac's glamour matches its "go"—it's the greatest on the road!

WHO IS THIS? The only clues we have are these: He played varsity football at a small MIAA school and also at one of the leading Big Ten schools. Another clue is this: the school in the Big Ten was not always a member but when it finally got in, it certainly gave the other nine a run for their money. Still another clue: although slightly chunky now, when he helped to beat Michigan in 1915 he weighed 198 and he could do the 100 in 10 seconds. If you don't know yet, ask one of the men in town who run a thriving corner business.

Mouillee checking stations reached 8,159 through Nov. 20, compared with 7,388 for the same period last year.

Michigan wildlife provided an $8,000,000 supply of edible meat last year, according to a recent study by a Conservation Department game biologist.

Hunters and trappers harvested almost 6,000 tons of edible meat in the state during 1954, valued at $8,298,878. In addition, pelts of animals taken were worth $1,174,128.

Charles Shick, extension specialist in game management, points out that the aesthetic value of wildlife cannot be measured in terms of money.

The evaluations used in this study "do not give consideration to the value of the recreation and enjoyment wildlife affords to hunters, trappers, picnickers, campers, tourists, photographers, naturalists and others," Shick said.

Deer provided the bulk of the game meat supply — 4,671,000 pounds, valued at $3,503,325.

Most of the game meat, including deer, rabbit, squirrel and game birds was evaluated at $.75 per pound in the study. Woodchuck, beaver, raccoon, muskrat and opossum meat values were computed at $.25 per pound.

Pheasants accounted for $1,600,000 worth of meat and rabbits added $1,400,000.

Highest pelt values were: muskrat, $388,000; mink, $356,000; raccoon, $157,000; and beaver, $135,000.

"Wildlife should be thought of as a crop since surplus game and fur-bearing animals are raised each year," Shick said. "In instances, a larger harvest of some animals will result in good management of a valuable Michigan natural resource."

State Okays Water Improvements

City Sued for Damages

Roy Carr, Adrian contractor, has started suit in circuit court against the city of Tecumseh and its consulting engineers McNamee, Porter & Seeley of Ann Arbor.

He seeks to recover damages totalling $519.76 paid to Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Mr. Carr's company was digging a sewer here in 1952. His equipment struck and damaged an underground cable owned by the phone company. In an earlier suit the phone company recovered damages of $519.76.

Mr. Carr, represented by Baldwin & Walker, claims that the city and the engineers were negligent in not telling him where the cable was. He said plans shown to him at the time did not include the cable.

J. C. Beardsley is city attorney.

Winter Taxes in Township Are Now Due

Tecumseh Township taxpayers in School District No. 11 will pay a total of 31.81 mills on every $1000 for county and school purposes. This is based on a local assessed valuation of $925,200.

The breakdown is this:

	MILLS
County	6.21
School Operations	13.10
School Debt	11.50
Library	1
TOTAL	31.81

The township has a state equalization of $1,913,037.

The winter taxes may be paid any time before Jan. 10 with ut penalty.

Special Roll Passed by Council

A resolution calling for a special assesment roll to provide sewer and water lines to 11 property owners on Russell road was passed by the council Monday night.

The property owners previously had petitioned the council for the improvements.

Councilmen also set Dec. 19 as the date for a public hearing. At this time those objecting to the special assessment roll may voice their opinions.

THIEVES GET $2

Hayden Fuel and Supply was broken into sometime Monday night or early Tuesday morning and $2 in money was taken.

DRINKS ON STREET

Joseph Soborowski, 23, of Tecumseh, was arrested by Adrian Police in Adrian Sunday for drinking intoxicating liquor on a public street.

ARREST DRIVER

Arrested by city police Saturday for drunk driving, Charles T. Gainey, 56, of Route 1 Tecumseh, is awaiting arraignment in justice court.

City Now Can Extend Its Lines

The Michigan Department of Health has approved Tecumseh's water department improvement plans and when the additions are completed the city will be in a position to install water main extensions in the future.

The health department had ruled that no more water main extensions would be granted until the city did something about enlarging its water volume and providing a larger standby supply of water.

City engineers wrote the health department explaining the city's proposed minimum improvements which included:

1. Addition to source of supply — test drilling, one 14" producing well 100 feet deep, well house, well pump, electrical work, piping and valves.

2. Elevated steep storage tank, 300,000 gallon capacity.

3. A 12" feeder main connecting wells to elevated tank (Maumee from Chicago boulevard, north to north of River Acres Subdivision then west to proposed wells).

WOULD COST $220,000

The total construction costs of the immediate requirements would be $187,200. Contingencies and engineering would add another $32,000, bringing the total to $220,000.

City engineers have told councilmen that a 50 per cent increase in water rates would be necessary to finance a 20-year revenue bond to pay for the needed improvements.

Councilmen Monday night authorized the city manager to contact the Matthew Carey bonding company in Detroit to get additional information on the proposed revenue bonds. This company handled the financing of the sewage disposal plant for the city.

LETTER QUOTED

Written by T. L. Vander Velde, chief, section of water supply, division of engineering to McNamee, Porter and Seeley, city consulting engineers, with copies to Ed Nelson, city manager, and to Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city clerk, the letter was as follows:

"Reference is made to your letters of Nov. 10 and 16 relative to proposed water works improvements in the city of Tecumseh.

"As indicated in our letter of Nov. 15 the proposed improvements basically appear to be satisfactory and would certainly accomplish a great deal in overcoming the deficiencies of the existing water system.

"We also wish to take this opportunity to commend the city council of Tecumseh for taking positive action in moving ahead on a definite and much needed program. In proceeding with the program outlined and completing it, we feel that the city will be in a position to install water main extensions in the future."

Thanks

The following letter was read at the council meeting Monday night:

"Members of the City Council:

On behalf of the Brownville Mothers Club I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for engaging Mr. French for the corner of Brown and Mill streets to help the kindergartners across at school time. Especially from the mothers in Herrick Park for it saves many trips back and forth as that is no corner for a five-year-old to cross alone.

Thank you again. We certainly appreciate your action to our request.

Mrs. Jack Curtiss."

Driver Pleads Not Guilty

James McGuire, 46, of Tecumseh pleaded not guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of a personal injury accident when he appeared before Judge Rex Martin in circuit court Thursday.

He was arrested following an automobile accident in Tecumseh Township Nov. 1. Two persons were injured.

McGuire was remanded to jail to await trial. The court appointed Paul Pence as attorney.

Burglar Gets 5 Year Probation

Robert Metcalf, 26, of Route 4 Adrian, pleaded guilty to breaking into the Tecumseh Country Club Oct. 30 and stealing $228 when he was arraigned in circuit court Friday.

Judge Rex Martin placed him on probation for five years. He also was ordered to make restitution of $147.52 to the club.

He was arrested by Tecumseh and state police.

PLAY POSTPONED

The Tecumseh high school senior play "Blithe Spirit," scheduled to be presented next week Thursday and Friday has been postponed. It will be given sometime in Jan.

The rush of the holiday season, making necessary curtailed rehearsals was given as the reason for the postponement. Director Miss Jacqueline Egan thought the young players could do a finer job if they had more time to rehearse.

Lion's Star To Speak at Grid Banquet

What members of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce hope will be an annual affair will be held in the United Products Workers' Union Hall Thursday, Dec. 15, when Jaycees hold a football banquet for Tecumseh high school football teams. The banquet is scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

The program will include moving pictures of the 1954 MSC-UCLA Rose Bowl football game and a talk by Dorne Dibble, Detroit Lions' professional football star end.

Clarence L. ("Biggie") Munn, MSU athletic director, was scheduled to speak but his plans have been changed. He will leave with the first train load of Spartans headed for the Rose Bowl game Jan. 2 at Pasadena, Calif.

Special awards of trophies to outstanding members of the Indian varsity will be made at the banquet.

The Jaycees will award the outstanding lineman; the HERALD will award the outstanding back; the Rotary Club will award the captain; and the coaches will award the most deserving player.

Clinton, Britton and Boysville football teams will be guests.

Members of the junior chamber of commerce will serve the ham dinner. Proceeds will go into the club's permanent bleacher fund.

Tickets may be purchased from members of the team, from Jack Osburn, from the coaches and at Hodges Drug Store.

Dr. Hanna Praises Sale of TB Seals

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association's year-round fight against TB was praised today by Dr. Roger J. Hanna, director of Lenawee County health department. The MTA is now conducting its annual Christmas Seal Sale.

Dr. Hanna explained that Christmas Seal contributions enable the association to carry on case finding programs, school and community health education, fact-finding, research and patients' services.

"And with 110 new cases of tuberculosis being reported in Michigan each week," Dr. Hanna said, "we cannot let up in the fight against TB."

He urged county residents to join in the voluntary fight against TB by buying as many seals as they possibly can.

"There is no vaccine that protects against tuberculosis. The disease is still our most expensive public health problem, and it still kills more Michigan citizens each year than all other infectious diseases combined," he said.

CAR IGNITED

Firemen were called to the Edgar Relyea home, 3816 Russell road, Friday when wiring in a car caused a fire. Cause of the fire was unknown. Damages were minor.

Action Begins on Annexing 18 Rural School Districts

Part of the group of 53 representatives of rural school districts study a 12-page booklet of Tecumseh school facts before meeting with the Tecumseh board of education to discuss possible annexation of their districts to the Tecumseh Public Schools.

Official action preliminary to the annexing of 18 rural school districts to the Tecumseh Public Schools was started Friday night following a three hour meeting of the school board and administration with school boards of the smaller districts.

Tecumseh board of education passed a resolution inviting the 18 districts to annex to Tecumseh if permission is granted from the Michigan Department of Public Instruction.

Fifty-three representatives of the rural districts present at the meeting were asked to return to their districts further to discuss all aspects of annexation. A vote by each district will be held as soon as the state department officially approves annexation.

Twelve pages of facts including the tax structure and future building proposals were given to each person at the meeting.

FACTS DISCUSSED

Facts in the material were discussed by Supt. James McDowell and by Jens Touborg, president of the Tecumseh Board of Education after questions were raised from the floor.

Some of their answers follow.

Built for 600 students, the high school building now has almost 700. This is the primary reason why a notice was sent out that beginning in Sept. Tecumseh no longer can take new tuition students in the high school.

In the past, high school students in rural areas were needed to give Tecumseh enough students to have a fine high school with a broad

Plans Made for Second M & M Show

Plans for the second annual Merchants' and Manufacturers' Show are being set in motion by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, according to Kenneth Hinkleman, general chairman.

Tentative dates have been set for Feb. 9, 10, 11 and 12. It will be held again in the United Products Workers' Union Hall.

The chairman said this year's show will be bigger and better than last year's with more merchants participating and a greater variety of displays will be shown.

He also said new background cloth is being ordered which should add to the color scheme of the displays.

Many merchants who took part last year already have asked for space and some have asked for additional space.

"The stage will be used this year," he said, "and this should add a great deal to the show."

Any merchant who is interested and who has not been contacted may call Mr. Hinkleman or Carson House for more information.

JAYCEES SELL CHRISTMAS TREES

Tecumseh Jaycees are selling Christmas trees.

Proceeds from the sale will go into the club's permanent bleacher fund project.

The trees may be bought at these locations: Jim Shiels Texaco, John's Gulf, Jim's Refinery, Dr. R. J. Murray's office, Consumers and R. J. McCoy's.

All about Christmas

This is all about Christmas plans.

Councilmen Monday night approved free parking for Christmas shoppers in Tecumseh from Friday, Dec. 16 through Saturday, Dec. 24. Parking meters will be covered with sacks saying "Season's Greetings."

And Friday, Dec. 16, at 7 p.m. Santa Claus will arrive in town to dispense sacks of candy to small fry.

Next Tuesday night in the American Legion building at 7 p.m. members of the service clubs will give old Santa a needed assist by packaging the candy.

The business area will be decorated Sunday, Dec. 11, by city employees and by members of the service clubs. Men are asked to meet at the city garage at 8 a.m.

Local stores will be open again Friday and Saturday nights to 9 p.m.

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

DICK PEARSON HAS scored again. He was a member of the Boston University Law School team that placed first in a regional moot court competition at Yale University. His team competed against Yale University and Boston College.

The teams were graded on combined results of brief writing and skill in oral argument. As one of 22 regional winners, the group will enter the national competition later this fall. Purpose of the competition is to enable law students throughout the country to match their court room abilities against one another.

Dick is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Pearson of Tecumseh and last summer he worked in the law office of Jim Beardsley.

LONAL BISHOP, HERALD pressman, wishes publicly to thank through the Lining Mrs. Andrew Goodin of Macon who came to his assistance when he severely injured his hand in a dumb waiter. When the accident happened Lonal's three little ones, all under five, were not dressed and the family car was filled with household goods that he and Mrs. Bishop were moving to their Macon home. Bleeding profusely, he thought he could get to a hospital faster by not waiting for his wife to dress the children so he flagged down a passing car driven by Mrs. Goodin. "She was wonderful," he said, "and I sure wish I could do something to repay her for her kind deeds."

IT'S QUITE EASY TO make mistakes in names. We thought of this all over again this week doing the story of Allan Seager. About four authors down in the voluminous material submitted by publishers of the supplement Allan is in was Alan Seeger, a poet. He was born in 1888 and he died in 1916. You see what we mean? Our Allan probably would not have cared to have these dates associated with his name.

TIME OUT FOR THE COMMERCIAL: You can give the HERALD for Christmas and 52 weeks after. And you can save money in doing it. During the remainder of the year you can get two subscriptions to the paper for $5. One of these you may give as a present and one you can use for yourself in renewing the paper.

RONNIE O'NEILL, 11, was the first to call to identify the mysterious picture in last week's paper. The picture of a football player of a century ago (actually it was only 40 years) was of Chuck Butler. Asked how he knew it was Chuck, Ronnie said: "Well he looks like he played ball and he's sort of chunky and he's doing a good business

Methodist Church Musical Tea Attended by 100

The audience of about 100 people who braved the rain Saturday afternoon to attend the musical tea at the eMthodist church was well rewarded. It was a joint ical tea at the Methodist church and the Tecumseh Music Club with Mrs. Elmer Bryan and her committee providing the guests with a dessert of Christmas plum pudding and Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney arranging the musical program which followed.

The church parlor was attractive with Christmas decorations which theme was repeated in the gay covers, candles, greens and miniature Christmas trees which adorned the tables.

Mrs. F. C. Dickinson made the very pleasant announcement that a fund of $178 was still in the bank belonging to the former community chorus of which the late Mrs R. S. Moore was the moving spirit and that it had been decided to give the money to the Music Club for the purchase of music.

The program opened with the playing of several Christmas carols by Mrs. William Hayden and Mrs Robert Warren at the piano and cello. Piano selections played by Jane Hodges followed: "Impromptu in A Major" by Franz Shubert and Chopin's "Minute Waltz".

Mrs. Murray Day accompanied by her daughter Betty then sang "Jesus Rest Your Head" and "The Virgin's Slumber Song." "No Candle Was There and No Fire" was the title of the next number sung by a trio composed of Miss Marie Wintersteen, Mrs. Perry Hayden and Mrs. Warren and it was followed by Claude Debussy's "Clair De Lune" played as a piano solo by Miss Wintersteen.

A humorous reading by William Saroyan was given by Miss Ann Rebottaro after which Mrs. William Hayden gave a beautiful piano rendition of "Fantasy Impromptu" by Chopin followed by a negro spiritual, "Sweet Little Jesus Boy" sung by Mrs. Arthur Schwartz.

A two piano duet, "Lustspiel Overture" was played by Mrs. Hayden, Mrs. John McColl, Mrs. Schwartz and Mrs. W. G. Waldron and the program was brought to an impressive close by the singing of five Christmas anthems by the Music Club chorus. Mrs. McColl conducted the 17 members in "The Carol of the Birds" by Niles, two French Noels and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and an Old English Carol. The music for the last two numbers had been especially arranged by the leader, Mrs. McColl.

THE MIDDLE GUARD
by LES BINGAMAN

LINE PLAY is frequently overlooked in football, college as well as professional, but the backs will be the first to tell you that without the linemen clearing a path for them they could go nowhere.

A back is only as good as his line, and this is apparent on any given Sunday when a star runner or passer apparently is having a bad day. More than likely it is his line that is having a bad day.

As an old lineman, maybe I'm making too much of this, but I honestly believe many fans are missing much of the game of football by concentrating on the ball-carrier and overlooking the intense struggle between the two forward walls.

For example, in the past few years the defensive game has undergone a revolution that makes it considerably more complicated and yet, at the same time, more interesting. Now you see four, six and seven-man lines by the same team, umbrella defenses for pass protection and occasional delayed charges to confuse the offensive linemen.

Key Man

The middle guard, which I once was, has come into his own. He is a key man on defense, being placed between the guards and in front of the opposing center, perhaps a yard back of the line.

He must be strong enough to stop a play head-on or must react quickly to slide along the line and follow a play. If, for example, a tackle gets trapped, the middle guard must be there to help him out.

Lou Creekmur is doing a fine job for the Lions at middle guard. Since he's taken over the spot, we've been winning some games.

Defensive teams shift constantly into four, six or seven man lines both to confuse the opposition and to better prepare for the coming play. For instance, if a pass is expected, perhaps there will be a six man line, one linebacker and four men farther back in an umbrella defense patterns to protect against the anticipated aerial.

Getting Shoved Around

The defensive linemen frequently will employ what is known as a forearm shiver to get his opposite out of the way. This is a sharp rap on the shoulder with the forearm, followed if necessary by a grabbing with both hands and yanking to one side.

Meantime, the offensive lineman is trying to move his opposite out of the way with a good shoulder block. Removal of even one man permits a pretty nice hole. Sometimes two offensive linemen will team up to move out one defensive player. This is known as double-teaming and is most effective in gaining short yardage when you're just short of a first down.

The defensive lineman must be wary of rushing in too quickly, for if he finds it too easy to get through it only means that someone is waiting to block him from the side. Thus he becomes the victim of a mousetrap play and a path is clear for the ball carrier.

Verily, the lineman's life is a rugged one.

ALLAN SEAGER (above), Tecumseh novelist and short story writer, is included in the first supplement to Twentieth Century Authors which contains 2,550 biographical entries on writers throughout the world.

Listed as an American novelist and short story writer with the birth date of Feb. 5, 1906, Mr. Seager reports in the supplement

"I was born in Adrian, Mich., a small town. Both my grandfathers had settled in the region after the Civil War. Beauman Seager, a Vermonter and a cousin of President Benjamin Harrison, had taken up bounty land. John Allan, an English orphan boy educated at the Blue Coat School had come to this country as a bricklayer in time to be a soldier. My father was a traveling salesman who knew the whole Mississippi Valley. Sherwood Anderson said he was one of the best story-tellers he ever heard and "if you have any talent, it comes from him.' It was my mother, however, who read to me young and gave me an interest in books. None of my kinfolk was literary in any sense.

"When I was about ten, we moved to Memphis, Tenn. Hating the place as a Yankee, solemnly reading a hundred pages a day aside from my school work, composing a few worthless, unshowable poems, I wanted to write but I thought there was a special way to do it that someone could show me. No one did (no one ever does) either there or at the University of Michigan where it is not study or classroom I remember, rather a frieze of pretty girls and long aimless journeys in cars at night. I did, however, make Phi Bete and a Rhodes Scholarship in my senior year.

"From my English grandfather I had expected a journey to England to be, in a sense, a return. I was mistaken. It was a foreign country more so than the France, Spain, Germany, and Switzerland I visited in the holidays. It was at an English pub, however, that I began to write, The Crown, East Hanney, Berks. I was stuck there the summer because I had no money and I spent it on a story Sir John Squire bought for the London Mercury. I felt then I had a start.

"Returning to New York in the midst of the depression I was fortunate to be hired as an assistant to Frank Crowinshield on Vanity Fair. The magazine was dying but I published several stories in it, and I learned enough about New York from Crownie's assignments to know that it was not my city. I came to teach part-time at the University of Michigan and except for one year at Bennington College and a year in Hollywood I have been there ever since. Meeting students, young, hopeful, uncorrupt, is a continuing refreshing experience from which I have learned any amount.

"Once I would have hesitated to say that the novel is the conscience of the middle class but when I remember my own, Equinox, The Inheritance, and Amos Berry, I discover that I believe it. A pleasure of middle-age is the acceptance of one's own origins, whatever one has pretended, however ambivalent the bonds. If I can say anything about the sources of my own work, I believe they lie in the tensions of that ambivalence.

"I live in a village full of maple trees, Tecumseh, Mich., and I drive the twenty-six miles to Ann Arbor three times a week. My wife, whom I married in 1939, is a beautiful, patient woman, the mother of two beautiful little girls from whom I am learning everything I know all over again."

Principal Works: Equinox, 1943; The Inheritance, 1948; The Old Man of the Mountain (short stories) 1950; Amos Berry, 1953.

Pictures of the Holy Land Shown to Wit and Wisdom

The annual Christmas party of the Wit and Wisdom Club was held this year at the Episcopal Parish House with a 6:30 ham supper Monday evening. There were 42 present and those in charge were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dickinson and Mrs. Leon VanValkenburg, who had decorated the tables with greens, candles and miniature angels in the Christmas atmosphere.

After a brief business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. VanValkenburg, Earl Greene, who with Mrs. Greene was in charge of the program, introduced the Rev. Vaughn Whited of Clinton who presented beautiful colored pictures taken in the Near East, especially in the Holy Land and the country around Bethlehem. His comments not only covered the Biblical and historical aspects of the scenes but also gave a vivid picture of the present explosive situation between the Arabs and Israeli.

He told of the work of the Christian Orphanage of Approved Holy Land Missions and as a result the group donated a collection of nearly $33 for children's shoes.

Christmas carols and an exchange of handkerchief Christmas gifts from the Christmas tree closed the evening. The next meeting in Jan. will be at the home of Mrs. Earl Wickwire.

Chosen for "Who's Who"

Alice King, a senior student in Houghton College, Houghton, N. Y., is one of six students to be chosen for "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

ALICE KING

Students selected for this honor are chosen on the basis of cumulative grade-points, citizenship, extra-curricular activities and leadership. Alice has a double major, English and Latin.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry King of South Oneida St., Tecumseh.

Civil Air Patrol News

Next Monday evening, Dec. 12, there will be a parent's night C.A.P. meeting at the Sage hall. This meeting is open to parents of cadets and to all other persons interested in seeing the functions of a Civil Air Patrol meeting. All questions about the set up and workings of C.A.P. will be answered by the senior members present and all persons interested in joining the squadron are especially urged to be present.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. and cadets and senior members are expected to be in Class "A" uniforms.

Captain Sutton, group commander of cadets has agreed to visit the squadron once a month and inform the cadets of group activities. This should be of interest to all cadets and seniors. Captain Sutton was previously associated with the Jackson squadron.

The aviation education classes are continuing with the aid of air force training films which are being shown to the cadets. Morse Code classes are continuing for all cadets interested.

and he's on a corner." Ronnie's sharp deductions won his family a renewal of the HERALD.

THE LINING HAD A lot of fun doing the picture story on the Ridgeway school annual. As each student was identified his or her parent was named and the student was asked if he or she knew so and so. Each made the same reply: "Well, I ought to. He's my father." One said: " . . she's my mother." Incidentally, the Lining wishes these young folks the best in their efforts to produce a school annual.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "One of the heaviest loads you can carry is a bundle of bad habits."

PERHAPS THIS STORY should not be told but it's too good to keep. One of the several taxpayers who called Mrs. Naomi Sallows this week to discuss the "whys" and "wherefores" of school and county taxes complained: "I don't know why school taxes should be increased. My kids don't learn anything anyway."

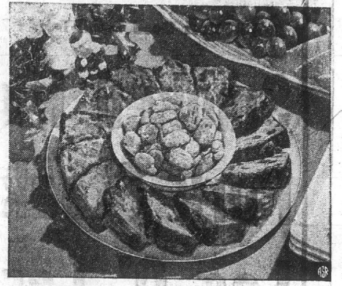
Sweet Treat For Holidays



With sugared dates and old English fruit cake on hand you'll welcome guests all through the holiday season because you'll have the makings of a handsome quick refreshment tray ready.

Old English fruit cake is made from a pound cake batter with butter, and comes to this country by way of an old, old English recipe. You'll find this cake, more than 50% luscious fruits and nuts, in its own tin in your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department.

Grapes and orange slices are good finger foods to serve with fruit cake as are sugared dates, made as follows:

Sugared Dates

Slit large dates the long way and carefully remove pits. Shape dates gently with fingers to make little boats. Place walnut or pecan halves in slits. Dip dates in granulated sugar without covering the nut.

Annexation

curriculum; but this is no longer true. Tecumseh now has enough students in its borders to provide a fine high school.

For the time being, present district school buildings and teachers will be used.

DON'T WANT TO DISRUPT

President Touborg told the group: "We have no intentions of disrupting your districts."

Supt. McDowell added: "It is possible to bond for any necessary school buildings immediately if all 18 districts annex.

"We could bond for $2,500,000. We don't need to but we could."

The superintendent also told the group: "You would be a partner in a $1,500,000 school system. If federal aid comes it will come to larger districts and not to primary districts.

"We want to give all elementary children the best instruction possible. We want to give them special classes in music, art and physical education just like our city children are getting. We want to do this to bring out all their abilities — to make them well-rounded students."

"When they come to us as high school students they are as well versed in the three R's as our students are but the rural student is lost in other broader areas.

KEEP THEM IN AREA

"We want to keep your children in their own area and not transport them to Tecumseh. Possible new school buildings would be built with the thought of having most children walk to school. For elementary children this can be up to one-half mile.

"You people also would share in our bonded indebtedness which will be paid off in 1957. So, there's no use in kidding about it. Your taxes would be somewhat higher until this debt is paid off."

"We want to give you certificated teachers. Forty-seven per cent of our teachers have masters' degrees.

"Your teachers will be kept if you think they are good and we think they are good.

"They will enter our system as probationary teachers and we'll pay them extra for going on to school for advanced work.

"We'll probably have to leave your teacher for at least a year.

NEED JUNIOR HIGH

"We would like some day to have a separate junior high building with a separate staff of teachers. We probably will remodel Central school for this purpose.

"It will probably take us at least two years to build.

"Persons living in the 18 districts could serve on the board of education which has five members."

A raising of hands showed that most of those attending the meeting were interested in becoming part of the Tecumseh district so the Tecumseh board of education immediately passed the resolution inviting the annexation.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Three fishing sites and 160 acres of game lands will be considered for purchase by the Conservation Commission at its December 8-9 meeting at Detroit.

The fishing sites are on Juno and Paradise Lakes, Cass county; and Bird Lake, Hillsdale county.

Proposed game land purchases are 80 acres each in Pigeon River and Chippewa River state forests.

Another 346 acres will be considered for addition to state game and wildlife areas under the Pittman-Robertson program, including 253 acres in the Shiawassee game area, 40 acres in the Lapeer game area, 10 acres in the Deford game area, and 43 acres in the St. Clair Flats wildlife area.

Snow and cold weather have brought raccoon hunting to a standstill in Michigan, but that shouldn't affect the supply of Davy Crockett hats for the younger set.

'Coon hunting seasons don't end until Dec. 15 in the northern lower peninsula and Dec. 31 in the southern portion, but raccoons scurry quickly out of sight to winter dens when snow falls and the mercury drops. Last year, snow and cold weather were later in arriving and good raccoon hunting resulted.

However, the scarcity of Michigan raccoons needn't alarm the youngsters, according to fur dealers. It seems the popular Davy Crockett hats usually are made from cheaper furs and most aren't 'coonskins at all!

Michigan's elk herd, estimated at more than 600 aimals, threatens to create a problem in game management.

The herd, which started with the release of seven elk in the Pigeon River state forest near Vanderbilt in 1918, has grown rapidly in the last few years. Conservation workers sighted more than 200 in less than an hour last mouth.

Private landowners in the area have complained recently that elk are causing damage to pine, cherry and other trees with low branches. Game specialists think the mauling of the trees may be an effort by the elk to polish their antlers.

In some cases, elk actually eat twigs although they are primarily grass-eating animals. Damage to trees with low-hanging branches also reduces the available uspply of deer food.

Michigan never has had an elk hunting season and there are no measures at present to restrict the growth of the herd.

Game specialists say that some control of the herd must be exerted if tree damage continues. Possible solutions include: issuance of permits to landowners to kill damage-causing elk, a restricted hunting season with a limited number of elk taken, or trapping elk and transferring them to remote grassland areas to reduce concentrations in the Vanderbilt area.

Ice fishermen are reminded that all shelters and shanties used on the ice must be identified on the outside with the owner's name and address in letters of insoluble material at least two inches high.

Complete fishing regulations are listed in the Michigan fish law digest, now available with 1956 fishing licenses at all state license dealers.

The first bobcat hunting season in Michigan history will open Dec. 15 in the lower peninsula.

Bobcats, long-regarded merely as predators, were given game animal status by act of the 1955 legislature and have been protected from trapping and hunting in the lower peninsula since Oct. 15.

The hunting season on 'cats will close March 15.

Conservation Department reports on Michigan's 1955 deer season indicate firearm hunters bagged some 68,000 bucks — about 9000 more than during the regular season last year.

Statistical studies of deer being transported on highways show about a 20 per cent increase in the buck kill in the northern lower peninsula and an over-all boost of about 15 per cent throughout the state.

Hunters bagged approximately 39,500 whitetails in the northern lower peninsula this season—about 6700 more than were taken in the region last year during the 16-day buck season.

A limited special one-day "any deer" season in a portion of the northern half of the lower peninsula added another 8300 deer to the total kill in 1954. No special season is being held this year except on a small area in Allegan County.

Upper peninsula hunters accounted for some 26,500 bucks killed this year, an increase of about 2000 over 1954, despite two severe blizzards in the region during this season.

In the farm areas of the southern lower peninsula, game workers estimated the total kill may have reached 2000, compared with 1700 in 1954.

According to fragmentary information, hunting pressure this year appeared about the same as 1954 when 420,000 hunters turned out for the regular firearm season.

More than 600 rural mail carriers will be on the lookout for pheasants during Christmastime deliveries in the southern half of the lower peninsula.

The reason for the extra-curricular activity is the annual post-season count of pheasant populations December 5-17.

Rural mail carriers voluntarily assist the Conservation Department in checking the proportion of cock pheasants to hens.

Ralph Blouch, game biologist, says information from counts made by rural postmen is an important factor in long-range management of the popular Michigan game bird.

250 Attended Holiday Ball

It was the concensus of opinion of the nearly 250 guests who attended the Holiday Ball of Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary at the Country Club Saturday evening that it was an outstandingly successful affair. From the hospitable greeting by the hostess committee headed by Mrs. Clarence Gilman and members of the hospital staff and their wives to the lingering groups who sang and danced to volunteer piano music after the orchestra had gone it was a pleasant, friendly evening.

Much of the festive atmosphere was attributed to the unusual and attractive decorations. "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" was the theme carried out by Mrs. Earl Baldwin and her committee. Angels were everywhere; in the windows, on the Christmas tree, above the mantle and suspended from the ceiling; angels with real feather wings and angels with harps and bugles supplemented by evergreen boughs and wreaths of white feathers, angels were every where except the refreshment room, the Devil's Den, where a big red devil reigned, complete with pitch-fork and blinking green eyes.

Mrs. Robert Anderson, general chairman expresses much satisfaction for the success of the ball and ascribes that success to the enthusiasm and hard work of the various committees.

Local Topics

Bert Lawrence has been a medical patient at Herrick Memorial hospital since the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Randolph who sold their home on S Adrian St. some time ago have been living for the past month in Walled Lake where Mr. Randolph is in charge of a gas station. Mr and Mrs. Oscar Meads and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Meads spent Sunday in Walled Lake as their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamilton expect to move to Adrian soon where they have purchased a home. A farewell party for the Hamiltons and for the Clarence Randolphs will be held at the Friends church Saturday evening beginning at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Lillian Hoagland will go to Ypsilanti this weekend to visit her daughter and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Beebe.

RICH FARM LAND
AN UNNEEDED NEW $4 BILLION TAX BURDEN

THE MAP above shows that there are nearly 4 million acres of rich, idle farm land in the midwest waiting to produce more food for the nation when needed. Despite this fact, the Federal Bureau of Reclamation wants Congress to approve the incredible Upper Colorado River Project which would cost the nation's taxpayers $4 billion in added taxes to "irrigate" 583,000 acres of arid mountain land in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming. Figures for the idle midwestern land were obtained from the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. This land could be brought into production at a fraction of the cost of creating new agricultural lands in the Upper Colorado River Basin.

Whites Saw Little Hope for Red Man

What did Michigan's white settler of over a hundred years ago think of the Indian as he drove him from the land the red man occupied since long before the dawn of history?

That question is answered, in part, by a letter now in the possession of the Michigan Historical Collections at The University of Michigan.

"I can't but sympathize with them. They are a doomed race and Providence will dispose of them as seemeth fit," writes G. M. Barker in a letter written from Port Sheldon, Mich., to a Mr. Kingsley on April 30, 1838.

THEY'RE HATED

"They are generally despised and hated by the whites here who become superficially acquainted with them and they quickly imbibe all the vices of the whites without their virtues. But beneath all this traces of their native virtues are still to be seen. The most prominent are an open frankness, honesty with a perfect confidence in all men and an unbounded hospitality to strangers and friends. They have seen their zenith. They have long been on the wane and time has brought them to the verge of oblivion. One step more and they are forgotten. Yet another and we follow them."

Barker continues, "I have a great desire to visit that part of the Ottawa nation settled 600 miles west of the Mississippi. We shall be old friends. I have been all winter studying their language and character. I have an extensive vocabulary and can converse on any familiar subject. The remaining part of the tribe are opposed to a removal. They say they will never cross the Mississippi but will retire to the north as the white man treads on their heels until they reach the land of the Saganosh. There they have friends and there they will make their last stand for life and liberty or for the last grave of the Ottawa."

SENT BY A NIECE

Historian F. Clever Bald, assistant director of the U-M collections, says the letter appears to have been written to the Salmon Kingsleys who lived near or at Nankin, Mich., and who died at Livonia, Oct. 8, 1838. It was sent by Barker's great-niece, Lucia Brown, of St. Paul in 1940 to Mrs. James K. Pollock who passed it on to the University collection.

METHODIST CHURCH LISTS ACTIVITIES

Universal Bible Sunday will be observed next Sunday, Dec. 11 at the Tecumseh Methodist church. The following week, Dec. 18, the Sunday School will observe White Gift Sunday at their regular hour of 10 a.m. The offering will be sent to the Methodist children's home in Redford.

At 7 p.m. Dec. 18 there will be a Christmas program in the church parlors for members of the Sunday School.

RIDGEWAY

Elmer Linn
Correspondent

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Halladay of Clinton were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Linn.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer T. Pocklington left Friday to spend the winter in Florida.

Gail Hall is a patient in Herrick Memorial hospital following surgery last week.

Mrs. E. V. Avery of Ann Arbor called in Ridgeway, Sunday.

Mrs. Gertrude Birdsall is caring for Mrs. Emma Friedlander, who is ill in her home.

Mrs. Clifford Underwood of Britton called on Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Linn, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Linn attended the funeral services of a friend in West Adrian Monday.

LEGION AUXILIARY HAS 158 MEMBERS

The Auxiliary of Underwood-Orr Post American Legion met Monday evening with 22 present. Mrs. Robert Lowe conducted the meeting when Mrs. Donald Woods, membership chairman reported a paid membership of 158. Mrs. Al Curtis, chairman of child welfare told of supplying mittons to a family of six children and Mrs. Thomas King, head of the ways and means committee reported that $38 was cleared in the last bake sale.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Purnell Osburn, Mrs. Mae Dickinson, Mrs. Ned Baldwin and Mrs. Louis Schneider Sr.

Christmas Parties Planned by Baptist Church

Christmas activities in the First Baptist church will begin with the Good Cheer Class meeting Friday, Dec. 9 for a planned potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. in the Youth House. There will be a 50 cent gift exchange. Mrs. William Grigg will present varied readings and Mrs. George Schumm will tell of a German family's Christmas customs.

Because of increased membership in the Baptist church school, seating facilities are too limited to present one combined Christmas program as in previous years and departmental parties have been scheduled this year.

The junior department, Mrs. Lyle Grigg, Mrs. Donald Cobb and George Choske, teachers and intermediate 1, Orville Bishop, teacher, will have their Christmas party Sunday, Dec. 11 at 5:30 p. m. The Youth House tree will be decorated and Santa will be present to help with a 50 cent gift exchange. Youngsters will present their White Christmas gift.

Sunday, Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m., the Bethlehem, Crusader and Chancel choirs with audience participation will present their Christmas candle lighting program. The public is invited to this program.

The beginners department with Mrs. Art Bowser and Mrs. Calvin Rickard as teachers, the kindergarten department with Mrs. Glenn Griewahn, Mrs. Robert Rutherford and Mrs. Tom Brooks, teachers and the primary department, Mrs. Cecil Fielder, Mrs. Harold Davidson, Mrs. Clifford Curran and Mrs. Francis Packard teachers will have a combined Christmas party Tuesday, Dec. 20 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Youth House. Children will also bring their White Christmas gifts to this program.

Mrs. Robert Gillespie's class and Mrs. B. O. Bashore's class will have a combined holiday party Dec. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Youth House with an exchange of gifts.

The Happy Home Builders holiday party will be at the home of Mrs. Arlie Becker Thursday, Dec. 29 in the form of a planned potluck at 7 p.m. The Rev. and Mrs. Bashore will assist.

The Baptist Women's Society will have its Christmas meeting Monday, Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Youth House with Mrs. Robert J. Moore in charge of devotions. Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett will present an international musical program. The ladies will bring wrapped white elephant items for a gift auction with Mrs. Eddie Kirkland acting as auctioneer. Proceeds will be sent to the Christmas fund for the Mather school girls, Beaufort, N.C.

Hostesses for this meeting will be Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Mrs. Carl Fosbender, Mrs. Jesse Arnold, Mrs. Ray Herrick, Mrs. Donald Cobb, Mrs. Harold Kelso, Mrs. Neil Pearson and Mrs. Neil DePuy.

H. A. Rhinemiller Died Monday

Henry A. Rhinemiller, who at one time operated the Top Hat Grill on Mill St., died Monday evening in Herrick Memorial hospital. He had been admitted Friday following a heart attack suffered while cleaning snow from his car.

Mr. Rhinemiller had been living at the Chieftain Hotel for several months after closing out a restaurant business in Detroit. His wife died many years ago and a sister had been associated with him at the Top Hat.

He was 65 years of age but had been in good health until last week. He is survived by three sisters, one of whom is Mrs. H. L. Cole of Sandusky, Ohio.

Funeral services will be held at the Foth Mortuary on Jefferson Ave., Toledo, across from the Park Lane Hotel, Thursday at 1:30 p.m.

Plans Completed for Holly and Tinsel Breakfast

Final preparations are under way for the Holly and Tinsel Breakfast sponsored by the Tecumseh Monday Club next Monday in the social room of the Methodist church at 9:30 a.m.

Following the breakfast, members and their friends will hear Mrs. W. C. Taylor of Toledo tell the Christmas story in her own dramatic way. Several years ago Mrs. Taylor was inspired by Cornelis Otis Skinner's ability to give character portrayals and decided that she, too, could do something along that line with the result that she is in great demand throughout the year for her programs. This will be her fourth appearance in Tecumseh.

Mrs. Taylor is a teacher of children's dramatics in the Toledo Y.W.C.A. All of the money that she receives from programs is used for scholarships, tuition and summer camp sessions for needy but deserving youth.

Officers of the Lenawee County Federation of Women's Clubs will be guests of the Monday Club on this occasion and invitations have been issued to the Britton Woman's Club, Macon Woman's Club, and Clinton Woman's Club for this affair according to the president, Mrs. Herbert Murphy. Mrs. M. G. Partridge and Mrs. J. W. Beardsley will be hostesses.

PRESBYTERIAN GROUPS PLAN JOINT MEETING

The Woman's Association and the Men's Club of the Presbyterian church will meet together in the Fellowship Center Wednesday evening, Dec. 14 for their annual Christmas party. Joel Sunderlan, a native of India will tell how Christians celebrate Christmas in his home land.

Each organization will hold separate annual meetings at 8 p.m. for the election of officers and other business prior to the party.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. John Saling, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schlegel, Dr. and Mrs. Carlton Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Purkey and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hanna are the committee making arrangements for the program and the Christmas lunch to follow.

OWN A BEAUTIFUL HOME

Make 1956 a HAPPY NEW YEAR for every member of the Family. Can you think of anything that would be enjoyed more by every member of the family — for a longer period of time than a new home of their own?

Or perhaps you would prefer a used house;

FOUR BEDROOM COLONIAL
Two complete baths, living room 18' x 30' with fire place, family room with fire place, den, kitchen, basement with automatic oil heat, two car garage, large well landscaped yard. Quality built throughout. Immediate possession.

INDIAN ACRES
One and one-half blocks from either Patterson, or St. Elizabeth Schools. Two bedrooms, bath, recreation room in basement with tiled floor. Many built-ins. Why not look at this on? It may be just what you're looking for.

COTTAGE
Lake frontage, extra lot, stool, lavatory and shower. Completely furnished. Will sleep eight. Boat and motor included.

IMMEDIATE POSSESSION
Four bedrooms, bath, living room, dining room, kitchen, with combination sink and dishwasher, basement with furnace, large hot water heater. Attached garage, corner lot. $8,400.

Frankly 1955 has been a good year for us, — we have averaged better than a sale per week. However our stock is low — We NEED NEW LISTINGS. Can you help us out? We have a market for used two and three bedroom homes in town.

Area Cage Teams Face League Action Friday

Defending SE Champion Indians Play Hillsdale

Defending champions of the Southeastern League, the Tecumseh high school Indians will open the 1955-1956 league basketball schedule against the Hillsdale Hornets Friday night at Hillsdale.

Coach Vic Lawson has two lettermen back. Ken Miller is a high scoring guard and Val Spangler is a hard working forward. Others expected to make up the starting five Friday night in addition to Miller and Spangler are Al Dickinson, Mike Sisson and Bill Hansen.

For a second five Coach Lawson can call on Ray Larned, J. Elliott, Scott Harvey, Nicky Touborg and Hal Weakly.

Other members of the varsity squad are Bruce McDowell, Bob Manley, Ed Lewis, Pat Fero and Gerry Greene.

Reserves from last year who will play include Hansen, Dickinson, Larned, Elliott, McDowell, Touborg, Manley, Lewis and Weakly.

Mike Sisson transferred from Blissfield where he played junior varsity ball and Harvey transferred from Pennsylvania where he played basketball.

Commenting on the Indians' chances, Coach Lawson said:

"We have only two lettermen returning but we have a good crop of junior varsity men coming up. The squad will be green but we should have better depth than we previously have had."

The Indian five would have two more lettermen in Marv Yoakum and Earl Drummonds but they quit school to join the armed forces.

The Indians will use a fast break and concentrate on controlling the ball as they so ably did in the championship game against Bedford last year.

Last year they won the league championship with a 6-2 record. They posted an overall 8-9 record.

The remainder of the Indians' schedule follows:

Dec. 9	Hillsdale	*There
Dec. 20	Blissfield	There
Dec. 27	Adrian	There

Tories Lose Two Games

The Britton-Macon Tories dropped two cage games during the past week.

Wednesday, Nov. 30, they lost to the Adrian reserves, 44-43, and Friday night Ida took the Tories, 58-31, in a Little Six League game.

Hal Rhora with 15 and Larry Patterson with 12 were high scorers for Britton.

In the Ida game the Tories held their own until the last two quarters then the Blue Streaks poured it on while holding Britton down.

Ida took a 16-14 first quarter lead and increased it to 32-22 at the end of the half. Then the Tories' offense lapsed in the final two periods. Britton was able to dump only nine points in two quarters while Ida added 26 more.

High scorers for Britton were Rhora with 7 and Kimerer with 6. Ida's high point maker was Smith with 27.

Sand Creek Is Foe of Britton in Little 6

Coach Bill Saxton at Britton-Macon high school can start a whole team of letter winners. They are Harold Rhora, Dick Bruce, Ken Bortel, Karl Kimerer and Larry Patterson. And he could add a couple of subs who also are letter winners. They are Ron Croll and Gerald Grady.

The Tories play Sand Creek in a Little Six game Friday night.

Others on the Tory varsity are Jack McClue, Howard Haas, Frank Prochaska, Dick Cox, John Korican and Dick Halstead.

Last year the Tories posted a 6-4 Little Six League record. They had an overall 10-6 record for a fine .600 percentage.

Coach Saxton said: "It is hard to tell how we will fare this year. But with a game or two of experience we should be able to tell."

The schedule is as follows:

Dec. 9	Sand Creek	*There
Dec. 16	Deerfield	*There
Jan. 6	Onsted	*Here
Jan. 10	Cement City	Here

Boysville To Play Dexter in Lake League

Coach Leo Janendo has eight Fighting Knights returning as lettermen on the Boysville basketball team this year. They are John Murray, Bob Temerowski, Dick Temerowski, Paul Carry, Joe Velasquez, Tony Mata, Joe Murray and Vern Tourangeau.

The Boysville five faces Dexter in a League of the Lakes game Friday night.

Reserves last year who are expected to help the varsity are Chuck Walters and Joe Hoselle.

Employing a figure of eight offense and a man to man and zone defense, the Knights last year won six and lost eight. They placed fourth in the League of the Lakes league.

The schedule is as follows:

Dec. 9*	Dexter High	There
Dec. 13	St. Mary's of Wayne	Here
Dec. 16*	Manchester High	There
Jan. 6*	Hartland High	Here

A. G. Benson Died Sunday

Alvin G. Benson, a resident of Tecumseh for the past three years died Sunday afternoon at Herrick Memorial hospital where he had been a patient for a month.

Mr. Benson, who for 25 years had been employed by the General Mills Food Co. came here from Boston and had made his home in the former Ashley house at 304 E. Pottawatamie. He had been in failing health for the last five months. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Standish, Mich.

He was born in Standish, Nov. 22, 1902, and was the son of Gustave and Anna Johnson Benson. Survivors are his wife, the former Ruth E. Robison and one son, Leonard Benson whose home is in Detroit. His parents and one sister, Mrs. Astrid Mattison preceded him in death.

The body was at the Green Funeral Home until noon Tuesday when it was removed to the Savage Funeral Home in Standish where Masonic services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Burial was in the Evergreen cemetery at Omer, Mich.

Cottages for Schools

One of several questions concerning the annexation of 18 other school districts to the Tecumseh Public Schools is that of where and what to build in area elementary schools.

True, this question is not ready for the drawing boards yet but, as in all school building proposals, it must be planned in advance of the actual program.

So the attention of the Tecumseh board of education and the boards of the 18 districts now talking annexation is called to the cottage-type school building plan being successfully used by other Michigan school districts.

Wayne Public Schools have used these house-like one-room buildings to an advantage; so has Flint Public Schools. And now Lapeer Public Schools are studying the cottages to cope with immediate building needs caused from expanded enrollments and overcrowding.

Both the Wayne and Flint districts like the cottages which cost about $10,000. If discontinued later, the buildings may be sold for houses.

In the other school districts mentioned the cottage-type buildings are being used as stop-gap plans. The cottages gave the school boards time to set up broad, permanent building programs that will serve their growing areas for many years.

Tecumseh may be faced with the same problem. One of the areas quite possibly may need some fast action because of overcrowded conditions. It would take one and one-half to two years to figure out a complete plan for the newly enlarged district, draw plans, let bids and get the buildings. The bulge in some of the areas is here right now and some temporary relief might have to come before Sept., 1956.

Taking care of the elementary bulge also might lessen pressure on the high school long enough to determine an overall, long range plan.

Wayne and Flint have used the one-room cottages to an advantage; others are thinking about using them; and if the overcrowded conditions pinch too much in the enlarged district here the school board may have something to turn to while they get breathing room to plan.

The President Agrees

It's a wonderful feeling for a newspaper to have an opinion and then to have some famous person share this opinion. Such sharing is good for the ego.

This occurred recently at the University of Michigan's annual football banquet when President Harlan Hatcher clearly stated that "moderation must replace accelerated madness in collegiate football or corrective action must be taken."

Reading his statements, we recalled the "madness" of the Michigan-Ohio football game when a dozen or so penalties were called in the waning moments of the game and two Michigan players were ejected. It was a sad day for Michigan fans to see Ohio win; but it was sadder to see Michigan players lose their "poise." Ty Tyson, who has been covering Michigan games 32 years, said he had never seen a Michigan team react in such a manner. Announcers called it "losing poise." Calling it by its real name, it was a lack of sportsmanship brought on by the "accelerated madness" described by President Hatcher.

Elaborating on this madness, President Hatcher said:

"The score of a game and its effect on conference championships or traditional rivalries is no longer the important thing. Sports reports now seem to place primary importance on the effect of a game on a bid to a bowl game.

"Carried to an extreme, the present accelerated madness could turn football into a year-around sport. If the bids to bowl games are all-important then it may not be too long before the demand arises for the winners of the major bowl games to meet in playoff games to determine a national champion. This could produce football games in Feb. or March with spring practice beginning soon after and then, after a summer's interval, the whole thing would start over again in the fall.

"The pressures built up by pre-season ratings and the sports writers' emphasis on bowl bids are the more regrettable because the game of football itself has so many admirable qualities and because football has become such an important part of the collegiate season during the fall.

"To save these admirable qualities I hope the accelerated madness will disappear before either the collegiate athletic officials or the college presidents have to resort to some corrective action."

Just a few weeks ago, we signed up an offer on a nice home. Mr. Marvin, the owner, was visiting in Toledo so I phoned him to discuss the proposal.

After a short silence following the disclosure that he was being offered about $1000 less than the listed price, Mr. Marvin said, "Is that a good offer? Would you advise me to take it?"

"I think it is a fair price," I answered, "and it is for all cash. You'll have your money in ten days."

Mr. Marvin cut in, "But someone else might pay more."

"That's true. On the other hand, a new buyer might not show up for some time. All we know for sure is that this particular party will not pay more. There's another thing though. He wants you to throw in the fireplace screen."

"It's no deal," Mr. Marvin replied and hung up.

Within a few minutes he called back. "We've talked it over," he said. "A person would be foolish to let a $50 item stand in the way of a deal. Go ahead if it's not too late."

The point of this story is two-fold: (1) A seller should take a reasonable attitude. Often a small item can make or break a sale. (2) If you want to sell, list with us. We will do our best for YOU as well!

Letters Can Now Be Mailed in Packages

A letter, or message can now be mailed inside a package or publication for the first time in United States postal history, Postmaster General Summerfield said today in announcing a new "combination" mail service.

Effective last Monday, all the mailer needs to do is indicate the presence of the letter or message inside the package and pay the appropriate postage on it plus postage for the package itself.

"The familiar phrase, 'we are sending under separate cover,' can now join other nostalgic reminders of by-gone days," Mr. Summerfield stated. "The mailing of two classes of mail together has been permissible for some time through the use of separate but attached envelopes and containers, and will continue to be available.

MEETS A NEED

"The new 'combination' mail service, however, meets a genuine need not satisfactorily met by other make-shift arrangements and confusing technical procedures. It is one more improvement to add to the list of more than 70 precedural changes that the present postal management has adopted for the convenience of postal mailers and patrons, and for the betterment of the postal service."

Under the new "combination" mail service, letters or other single pieces of either first or third-class mail may be placed inside fourth-class parcels or inside copies of publications mailed under second-class mail entry. Letters or other single pieces of first-class mail may also be placed inside third-class packages.

The postage for each letter, and for each single enclosure at the appropriate first or single-piece third-class rate must be affixed to the outside of the parcel.

A statement reading "first-class mail enclosed" or "third-class mail enclosed" must be placed on each parcel below the postage and above the address. This endorsement may be hand-stamped, handwritten, typewritten, printed, or put on by any other method.

The enclosures inside the package should preferably be placed on top of the other items in the package.

Under the old regulation, mailers who found it impractical to use combination containers were forced to use two separate pieces of mail instead of one, the Postmaster General explained.

SERVICES REQUESTED

"We feel certain mailers will welcome this more convenient system for mailing different classes of mail together," Mr. Summerfield added. "Over the years, thousands of letters have been received requesting this kind of service. We are here to serve the public, and are especially pleased that we can introduce combination mailings before the Christmas season when so many Americans depend upon the department for delivery of their gifts and personal messages."

Among the postal patrons needing to send two classes of mail together, Mr. Summerfield also cited business firms sending substitute products and wanting to explain why that was done; magazine publishers sending gift certificates naming the doner with first copies of their publications to new subscribers; manufacturers sending operational, maintenance and repair instructions with household appliances; and companies including sales letters with samples of merchandise.

The new "combination" mail service, effective Nov. 28, is on a 60-day trial basis. During this period, comments of the public will be welcomed.

Are You A Christmas Vandal?

Christmas vandals will soon be happily at work again stripping Michigan of its natural greenery, according to Dr. Marion T. Hall, botanist at Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills.

"Most people are so ignorant of the wild flower law," says Dr. Hall, "they do not realize they are vandals by association when they buy illegally cut Christmas greens and trees.

"The wild flower law, adopted by Michigan State Legislature in 1933 and amended in 1941 and 1943, was primarily an act passed to stop abuse of public and private lands by Christmas tree and greenery pickers," Dr. Hall continues. "Indians, and often natives who should know better, ship greens by the barrel to markets all over this country and Europe — even to Germany, where the use of evergreens for the Christmas season probably originated.

"Not content with 'picking' however, these vandals yank greens out by the roots, particularly the club mosses — trailing, evergreen mosses related to ferns. This upsets the continuing cycle of development because it makes way for weeks which become a breeding place to the insect pests that attack crop plants in the area," Dr. Hall states.

How can you avoid being an unwitting partner in this destruction? Simply look for official identification tags on all trees or greens you buy at Chirstmas time, and, of course, never never never cut trees or greens along the highway or in the woods unless you are cutting on your own property.

Savings Bonds Are Given As Bonuses

Many local firms will present Chirstmas bonuses to employees this year in the form of United States Savings Bonds, according to Noble D. Travis, State Savings Bonds Chairman.

"It is an ever-growing practice among employers throughout the state to present Savings Bonds as Christmas gifts," he declared. "The 1955 Christmas season promises to set a new record in this respect."

Mr. Travis said officials of a number of firms already had advised him of their plans to issue Series E Savings Bonds to employees, in lieu of year-end cash bonuses. He expressed the view that this would become a widely-accepted practice within the next few years.

"There are definite advantages to the Christmas bonus bond," the chairman said. "In the first place, the bonus will increase by one-third if held for nine years and eight months. So there is an incentive to add the bonus to the family savings, rather than to spend it immediately."

Mr. Travis urged all employees who receive Savings Bonds as a Christmas bonus to save them for a definite purpose, or to meet unforeseen emergencies. At the same time, he invited employers to contact him or the state Savings Bond office at 475 Federal Building, Detroit 26, for more information about any phase of the Savings Bond program.

More Than Spray Needed To Erase Dutch Elm Disease

You can't lick the dreaded Dutch Elm Disease just by spraying your trees, says a University of Michigan professor of forest pathology and botany.

Dow V. Baxter, who has been studying this serious conservation problem for almost 30 years, cites the chief hazard as "the dying, or recently-killed, elm which serves as suitable wood for breeding bark beetles, the vector for the fungus."

"The prompt removal and destruction of such wood is of prime importance," he states. "And, when used to supplement a sanitation program involving both, spraying with an application of DDT is helpful," he amplifies.

A current outbreak of the disease among Michigan's elms has focused public attention on ways of lessening its ravages.

IT'S EXPENSIVE

"There's a double expense involved in the problem," Professor Baxter points out, "since you'll want to plant trees to replace those you've had to destroy in checking the disease."

Still further expense will be entailed if the sick trees are part of a formally planned landscaping program this expert declares, since their destruction will throw future plans out of kilter in addition to wiping out the value of all previous work. "You're just inviting trouble if you street-plant elms formally," he maintains.

Dutch Elm Disease was first diagnosed in the U.S. in 1930 when it appeared in Ohio. Since it is an introduced fungus from abroad it centered in ports of entry, veneer plants and railroad distributing yards.

BEETLE IS GUILTY

The fungus is transmitted from elm to elm by the activities of a beetle which feeds on the trees, leaving wounds which are excellent places for the fungus infection to grow.

Professor Baxter lists the external symptoms of Dutch Elm Disease as: curling leaves which show wilting, yellowing or browning, bark which dries out and dies, and discoloration of the outer annual rings. If the bark is peeled away larvae of the elm bark beetles may be found — though they are only carriers, not causers, of the disease.

"One thing is clear," Professor Baxter says, "The beetles prefer unhealthy trees, so keep your elms healthy by watering and fertilization."

Call Them for Christmas

Suggestions were issued by General Telephone Company of Michigan to help speed the traditional Christmas greeting long distance calls anticipated.

This year Christmas day falls on Sunday, and many telephone subscribers will want to take advantage of the holiday by calling friends and relatives, the company said.

Telephone company officials, looking at last year's holiday records, predict a delay in long distance calls unless the volume can be distributed over the entire Christmas week. Subscribers are urged to place long distance calls to distant points well in advance of Dec. 25.

MSU Distributes 2,443 Pine Trees

Michigan State University this year distributed 2,443 white pines, the state's official tree, to schools, cities, clubs and other public organizations. Occasion was the University's centennial year.

Dr. P. A. Herbert, director of the institution's conservation division, selected the tree because it was the state's most important source of lumber in Michigan's early history. Last spring, the legislature designated the white pine as the state's official tree.

The white pines were purchased by the institution for ornamental use and were distributed by the conservation nursery under the direction of W. Ira Bull.

Gas Mileage goes up AGAIN
And so does the thrill - with Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow!

With all the big excitement of Buick's 1956 styling and power and ride and handling – it's easy to overlook this fact:

Gas mileage in the '56 Buicks takes a big step upward.

One reason, of course, is the new power plant itself.

Every new Buick cradles an advanced 322-cubic-inch V8 engine with the highest horsepowers, Series for Series, in all Buick history. Yet every engine delivers more efficiency, and more usable power to the rear wheels–because each one has a new double "Y" manifolding, and a new high in compression ratio.

But the major reason for the happy news in gas mileage–and for the new step-up in safety and thrills–is Buick's latest version of Variable Pitch Dynaflow.

In this airplane-principled transmission, you always had a gas-saving cruising range–and, at a switch of the pitch, a full-power getaway range.

Now Buick engineers have brought to this cruising range what they call "double regeneration." It simply means a new way to make flowing oil add to its own velocity to build up driving force.

So now, you merely nudge the pedal to part throttle and get new breakaway getaway. And since you get this quicker, safer response in your normal cruising range–where you don't use full power–you get plenty more miles from every tankful of gas.

But when you do need sudden safety-surge for emergencies, you just floor the pedal to switch the pitch. Instantly, you're at full-power acceleration–and it's the most thrilling safety measure in the land

How about coming in to try the most modern transmission yet?

The absolute smoothness of this new Dynaflow is worth a visit in itself. So you can be sure you're in for a wealth of wonderful surprises–for that's just the start of the best Buick yet. Can you make it this week?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster. Super and Century–optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Mama Goes on Safari

BY PEG TOUBORG

Feb. 12, 1955 Evening
Saturday

Oh, this, I believe, is my favorite hour. It's 6:30 at night. The sun's rays are low and cast mellow paths of sunshine through our valley. Three huge gnarled-trunk trees are about 20 feet from me on the edge of the little ravine. It's too dark in the foliage to see the birds, but their metallic notes, some flute like, some raucous, fill the air—just flutters, a few leaves falling. The fragrance of the cook's fire—the jumble of native voices—cowbells tingling. An eagle (they are all eagles to me) just swooped low over my head. High in one tree is a huge nest with an opening as large as a steering wheel. I've been watching but haven't seen its occupant yet, a type of mud hen.

All this peace and strange beauty makes me forgive the flies. Have had to stop writing and just listen to the twilight. If we had a recording, you would still find it hard to believe—it is like a huge symphony orchestra tuning up — all the instruments at once, some even stopping to play a little tune. It's fabulous!

WHY WASH?

Already I'm wondering why wash. My skin looks dark and crepey, my hair strings, have a pimple under the bridge of my glasses. The tent and everything in it has a pungent odor — am fighting it with "Blue Grass" but hat will run out. Our khaki clothes smell like black sateen bloomers. My nose is sunburned oo.

Wish the men would come in now. It's a lonesome hour too. Clausen's guns did arrive this afternoon, all eight, plus fancy camp stools and leather cases. I caught Chris swearing. Clausen won't let the gun bearers clean his guns so Chris had to. "The man is bristling with guns," said Chris in very English accent.

Feb. 13, 1955
Sunday

Left camp at 6 this morning. Darned cold—no doors on the jeep. Am sitting in the midst of the long yellow grass 12 miles out from camp looking down on the wooded area, grey velvet tree trunks topped with green plush. No sleep last night—too many noises!

RHINO JOINS THEM

Break:—My heart is still pounding. Just me and the boy in the red Fez, Sohi, left in the jeep. I was busying myself getting the cameras ready for action just in case I might see something interesting when Sohi's black hand waved cautiously around the cabin of the jeep. He pointed and whispered excitedly, "Faro!", and here it came thudding through the grasses 30 feet away, a hideous old rhino. I froze as I watched him cross in front of the jeep, and then plunge down into the valley. Soon more thudding and another rhino just 20 feet away came over the hill at the right. He seemed to be intently following the path of the first—then my heart stopped—he turned and came lumbering straight for the car. I looked him in the eye through the windshield and he looked at me (probably couldn't see a thing with his tiny squinty eyes). His menacing two front horns looked as though they could dig up a mountain in one thrust. What could he do to my jeep. But—he did turn and went on over the hill! When I could move, I found my little yellow Swahili book, feverishly hunted the words and told my colored companion, my protector, I was scared. Didn't take me long to hoist myself up in the back of the jeep with him; didn't even mind the dried blood, the animal hair, and the feathers. The men have come and gone again now. Their only interest in my tale, how big the horn? What horn? Did I take pictures? What pictures? This is not the life for me. "Just sit still. They can't see very well, and if you're in his path, move. Slide out either side of the cab." Slide? I know I'd be paralyzed. "But what a thrill you've had and what a good story to bring home," said Jens. This is not my meat. I've cleared the deck of all camera equipment and have practiced sliding from one side of the jeep to the other just in case.

Afternoon now. Have been riding over the country side with a skinned gazelle tied to the front of the jeep. Are looking for the proper spot to hang our leopard bait. Coach Andy explained it thoroughly to the three boys in back so that they could share in the planning and picking a site; it also makes them feel important. Andy's theory is that the leopard must be treated like royalty to lure him to dine—near water, good bed, and on the animal path.

HE MUST BE TEASED

We are evidently now in a good area because the bait has been dragged behind the car for some distance. The bait will be suspended in the tree so cleverly that the leopard must work on it slowly—like dangling candy over a child's head. The tree must be in a clearing so that, if wounded on the first shot, the leopard cannot slink into the woods or bushes. Ngaro is building the blind 150 feet away. Leopards just eat at night so each day someone drives over to see if he has been eating the bait. If he has, the men come prepared to sit that afternoon in the blind waiting, waiting for their guest t come. Time gives the hunter chance to relax and to steel himself for the big moment. The car i driven up so far and then the me crawl on their bellies through th tall grass to the blind. Have ju inspected it. Jens is finding th most comfortable position, twig are being cleared away, and he' sit on a clever little folding seat. It's 6:30 now, the light is fading and it's so still!

Jens now has a Thompson's gazelle, impala, Grants gazelle, an a Grevy zebra — all good specimens.

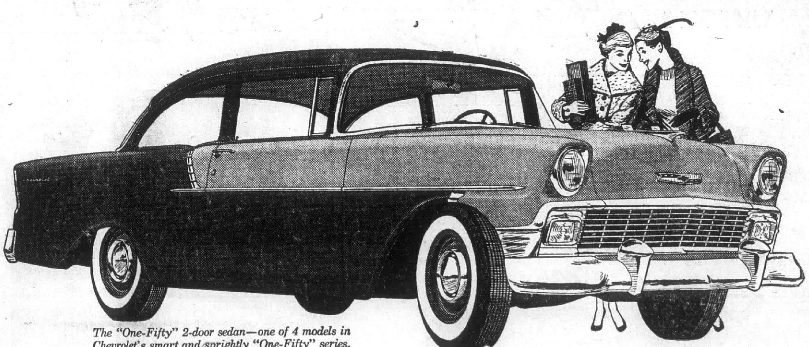
This Chevrolet keeps a secret...beautifully!



The "One-Fifty" 2-door sedan—one of 4 models in Chevrolet's smart and sprightly "One-Fifty" series.

It's one of Chevrolet's New "ONE-FIFTY" series . . . the lowest priced of all the high-priced-looking Chevrolet series for '56. But you'd never know it to look at that speedline chrome treatment or to feel that new power ranging up to 205 H.P.

There's so much fresh new styling in the "One-Fifty" it's hard to believe the car costs so little. It has new chrome—including both windshield and back window reveals—and its own distinctive two-toning. It stretches long and clean from grille to taillights (the left one hides the gas cap). It offers new power, V8 or 6, steering and handling ease few cars can match, plus all of Chevrolet's great performance and safety features. Directional signals and safety door locks are standard equipment. Seat belts, with or without shoulder harnesses, and instrument panel padding are available at extra cost. Truly, the "One-Fifty" represents more quality than before. Come in soon and let us tell you its big secret—its low price tag!

TECUMSEH'S KITCHEN VIRTUOSO

It was like an excursion into another era, almost into another country, that "do you remember?" visit with Mrs. Mattis the other day Most of the people and events of which she told belonger to another Tecumseh—the Tecumseh of the leisurely, comfortably abundant, pre-war days that are sometimes referred to as the age of gracious living.

Officially of course she is Mrs. Charles Mattis but even 50 years ago few knew her as such. But everyone then knew "Polly" Mattis, though only a favored few addressed her as such. She was Tecumseh's cateress, the arbiter of its social events. She reigned supreme in the local kitchens and helped to make possible that gracious living or at least its graciious entertaining.

Did a mother plan to announce her daughter's engagement or set her wedding day? The first step was a consultation with Mrs. Mattis' calendar. For that schedule was filled with breakfasts, luncheons, teas and dinners, sometimes two in the same day and often seven days a week. To be sure there were others, more or less competent, who were available, but the hostess who knew "Polly" was in her kitchen could "rest her mind" and enjoy her own party.

Cooking and serving food has been her life and as she says, "I loved doing it." She was grounded in a hard school for she went to work at the age of eight, her first employer being Mrs. Barlett of Clinton.

She was born in Columbus, Ohio and as she says her mother was a good cook probably her talent was a natural one. It was in the Ann Arbor homes of the University faculty that she gained much of her proficiency but she never stopped learning. When she married Mr. Mattis and came to Tecumseh, she spent 11 years helping in the P.W.A. Fitzsimmons home (the house now owned by J. C. Beardsley) and there she learned to know the housewives that she still calls "My ladies."

Her first large venture was the wedding of Viola Shull and Faron Anderson which took place in the big Victorian house now incorporated into the Helm furniture store. (Two years ago she attended the fiftieth anniversary of that marriage).

After that she seldom had a dull moment. The largest private dinner party she remembers had 90 guests. "There were tables all over the house and dishes and silver from all over town." Dinners of 30 and 40 were common and of course for the large affairs she had to have assistance but being an artist and therefore temperamental she preferred to work alone — "other people mixed up my things."

What she liked best was a party of 12. For that she would not only plan the menu, do the marketing, lay the table (even arranging the flowers) and cook the food but she would serve the four or five courses expertly and wash the dishes.

Nothing irritated her more than to have some eager-beaver helper dump silver indiscriminately into her dish pan. "Forks, spoons and knives should be washed separately" was a law she laid down even for the hostess.

One o'clock luncheons followed by cards were a favorite entertainment of the early 1900s, with 40 or 50 guests at a sitting. Often the hostess would make a clean sweep of her social obligations by having them two days in a row. With her house swept and garnished, tables set up and "Polly" engaged, two were nearly as easy as one. Especially as Mrs. Mattis bought the food so expertly that while every guest had an allotted plenty there would not be enough left for a snack for a hungry husband. In a day when grocery bills were paid at the end of the month (with luck) she never ran a charge account. "My ladies paid me and I paid the grocer."

It is difficult to write without drooling, remembering her chicken salad and feather light rolls, the oyster patties and those crisp timbale shells that were made just before they went on the table. Every plate was a carefully arranged picture. She must have made mountains of delectable sandwiches and sunshine and angel food cakes and in those days of ice boxes she made "freezer ice cream" as a matter of course. Her carmel flavor was one most enjoyed.

She served dinners for the Masons and at the Tecumseh Club, for the holiday dances at Witherell hall and once fed 350 high school alumni at their annual reunion, and she loved every minute of it. "I think I was meant to do that work for nothing ever bothered me and nothing was too big or too hard."

Mrs. Mattis still lives alone, a young looking 84, and of course those early days are brightest in her memory. "But the war spoiled it all," she says, "it has never been the same since and 'my ladies' are nearly all gone now."

And they are, those laides who had "afternoons at home" and made calls punctiliously with card cases and white gloves and gave dinner parties for 30 with "Polly" in the kitchen. Perhaps Mrs. Albert Cummins personified that way of life in Tecumseh and the passing of "the Colonel's lady" marked the end of an era. But no other place or period ever had a genius like "Polly."

Low Cost But High in Nutritional Value

An example of low cost meal planning today described by the Michigan Department of Health shows that if your grocery bill is high, you can cut it down and still stay within the bounds of good nutrition. But the department cautioned that the case history cited — food for a family of nine for $18.00 a week — is "an emergency measure, not recommended as standard."

The rock-bottom meal plan worked out by the health department to help one Michigan family provides for all nutrition requirements, except vitamin D, at a cost just under 10 cents per person per meal. A typical day's menu: breakfast — oatmeal, sugar, milk, bread, margarine; dinner — beans, orange juice, milk, bread and margarine; and supper — fried eggs, applesauce, bread, margarine and milk.

"Except in extreme cases, the health department wouldn't want to recommend such a menu," said Miss Evelyn Anderson of the department's nutrition section. "Even though the food plan includes a chicken in the pot on Sunday, this hardly makes up for eating within very strict limitations day in and day out. Given a choice, you would want more variety.

"But I'm afraid many bags of groceries bought today are high on cost and low on food value," Miss Anderson said. "Some family meal plans are double or triple the price of this one, and yet fall short of good nutrition."

The low-cost meal plan, she added, "emphasizes the values in plain, inexpensive foods; it shows what can be done by careful meal planning, wise shopping, and, most of all, if you check the nutrition values in the food you buy."

Jack Puffer Heads Masons

The annual communication of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. and A. M. was held Friday evening in the Masonic Temple preceded by a 6:30 turkey dinner which was served by the members of the Order of Eastern Star.

After the regular business meeting, called by the Worshipful Master Howard Wilson Jr. annual reports were read. These included those of the treasurer, secretary, Masonic Benefit Association and the building association and they were followed by the election of officers.

New officers of the lodge are worshipful master, Jack Puffer; senior warden, Stanley Miller; junior warden, Robert Osborn; secretary, Fred C. Dickinson; treasurer, Kenneth D. Hall; senior deacon, Richard Graff; junior deacon, Proctor Pace; senior stewards, Donald LaBounty and Henry Young; junior stewards, Russell Bonner and Robert Williamson; tyler, Ted McConnell; tyler emeritus, John H. Smith; chaplain, Ray Puffer; chaplain emeritus, Howard R. Wilson Sr.; marshall, Preston Caswell.

A public installation of the new officers will be held Friday, Dec. 9 at 8 p.m. at the Masonic hall with Monroe Lodge No. 27 conducting the installation.

Christian Science Services Listed

How safety and strength may be maintained through steadfast trust in God's power will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Exodus (15:2): "The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation."

Among the pasages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following (444:10): "Step by step will those who trust Him find that 'God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble'."

Scriptural selections will include the following from Psalms (91:1): "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

Local Topics

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Pearson spent Sunday in Detroit with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pearson.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ammer were New York City visitors last week as guests of their son Dean Ammer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Walper attended the golden wedding reception of Mr. Walper's cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Walper in Blissfield Sunday afternoon.

The Duncan Oliphants and the Ted McConnells arrived Friday from three weeks in warm and sunny Mexico. Going by way of Missouri and Oklahoma, they went through east Texas and Mexico to Monterey and Mexico City where they made their headquarters for trips into historic and beautiful Old Mexico. In fact they liked Mexico City so much that they gave up their planned trip to Acapulco to spend more time there. Returning they came by way of Houston, Texas where they were guests of the family of Mrs. Wyman Campbell, the former Mrs. Jack McConnell.

BROWNIES ELECT

Brownie Scout Troop 22, the Star of Bethelem troop, met last Tuesday at the Episcopal church and elected new officers. Those chosen were: president, Cheryl Heavener; vice president, Kay Southwell; secretary, Judy Fletcher; treasurer, Marilyn Rose; sergeant at arms, Cora Murphy. The troop has been making Christmas gifts at their meetings.

Give Only Safe Toys

Many plans are being made for all members of the family in preparation for the Christmas holidays

The children of the family are usually the first to get attention. Toys and books are a few of the articles purchased for them.

There are so many toys to choose from. The joy children get from toys is what we think of when we select toys for the little ones. And, we want the joy to be lasting. Only safe toys will insure the child's lasting fun and satisfastion. Miss Grace Harrison from the home management and child development department at Michigan State University gives several points to look for.

To have safety in toys, look for the fine points of construction. Are the wheels of the wagon so balanced that it doesn't tip over whenever the child turns in it? Are there sharp edges on that metal toy? Most everything the infant has goes into his mouth. What will happen to those beads when they are sucked or chewed? Thoughtfulness about safety beforehand can avoid problems later.

Durability goes "hand-in-hand" with safety in toys, according to Miss Harrison. Not only may the child be hurt by a toy which breaks easily; it may also teach him an unfortunate lesson—either that everything he touches disintegrates, if too many of his playthings break quickly — or, that nothing in his world seems to be permanent. Surely he needs to learn respect for materials, but he doesn't have a chance, if they are not geared to his vigorous use. Screws at points of stress in a wooden toy rather than nails — joints that work smoothly, and so on — these factors make the toy safe, last longer and a better investment, even though the initial cost in money or labor may be more.

Bulletin Tells Answers to Food Queries

Do you ever wonder if vegetable fats are any easier to digest than animal fats or if one has more calories than the other?

In healthy persons, all fats are thoroughly digested, explains Roberta Hershey, extension foods specialist at Michigan State University. Whether fat comes from animal or vegetable sources, both have the same calorie value.

She points out that fats, in general, are more slowly digested than other nutrients. There might be a slight difference in the speed of digestion of various fats. But, she says, there probably is a greater difference in the functioning of digestive systems of two individuals than between the speed of the digestion of two fats.

In a Michigan State University bulletin, Miss Hershey clears up this question of fat digestion as well as other misconceptions about food. The publication, "Fact, Fad and Fraud About Food," gives factual answers to 40 questions such as: "Is it harmful to cook foods in aluminum utensils?" and "Is aspirin a good food preservative in canning?"

Miss Hershey explains that following food fads may be very dangerous. This is especially true if peculiar diets take the place of proper medical treatment. Most food fads are expensive. And she decuares, downright food frauds are even more costly.

Miss Hershey's bulletin can be obtained from the office of your county home demonstration agent or from the Michigan State University bulletin office, Room 10, Agriculture Hall, M.S.U., East Lansing. Ask for bulletin number F-207, "Fact, Fad and Fraud About Food."

Observe Christmas Tree Law

Estimated to be a $5 million business in the state, sale and movement of Christmas trees and evergreen boughs will be closely watched by representatives of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, whose bureau of plant industry is responsible for enforcement of the state's Christmas tree law.

Cutting of trees for the yule trade is already in progress, and inspectors have been assigned to producing regions. As the sales season develops, other inspectors will check sales lots and places where Christmas trees are offered for sale.

The Christmas tree law requires that anyone cutting, moving or transporting evergreen trees or boughs must have in possession a bill of sale from the owner of the land where trees are cut. This bill of sale must be made on a form provided free by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. They are available at State Police posts, sheriffs' offices, Conservation Department district offices or County Agricultural extension offices.

An exception occurs when a person buys trees or boughs from someone who is not the original land owner. In such cases the person transporting the trees or boughs must have in possession a simple bill of sale showing name and address of the person from whom they were bought and the number and kind.

When a property owner himself transports trees from his own land he does not need a bill of sale, but rather should carry the deed or tax receipt to prove ownership of property where trees were cut.

No one is permitted to transport trees with roots attached unless they were inspected on the property where growing and found to be free of diseases or insect pests.

Violation of Michigan's Christmas tree law is punishable by imprisonment up to 90 days, or a fine of $25 to $100 or both.

MORMON KING ONCE REIGNED IN MICHIGAN

Believe it or not, a king was once crowned in Michigan! Today, on Beaver Island in upper Lake Michigan, St. James, Lake Geneserath and the King's Highway are names which remain to recall the rule in Michigan of King James I.

F. Clever Bald, assistant director of the Michigan Historical Collections of the University of Michigan, recalls the curious and little-known tale in his book, "Four Centuries of Michigan History."

A century ago, the "king," who in private life was James J. Strang, a follower of Mormon leader, Joseph Smith, headed a colony of the faithful on this pleasant island — today the summer haunt of tourists.

The historian relates that Strang first founded the settlement of Voree in Wisconsin for those who accepted him as their leader. Then in 1847 he established his headquarters on Beaver Island whither he had been directed, he asserted, by a revelation from God. There he developed a Communal economy centered in the religious organization.

MADE IT CLEAR

Another revelation from the Lord made it clear to the prophet that he should rule on earth as God's viceroy.

And so, on July 8, 1850, Strang wearing a bright red robe, was crowned king in his capital of St. James, in the presence of 400 awestruck spectators. The crown of metal, adorned with a cluster of stars in front, was placed on his brow by George G. Adams. At sunrise the next day the newly crowned king offered a heifer as a sacrifice.

Not only did the "king" not fall under censure of the government, he served two terms in the Michigan legislature from 1852 until 1856 and was regarded as a very capable legislator.

SERVED AS LAWYER

Bald goes on to say that trouble with the Irish fishermen on the mainland opposite the island led to charges that he was guilty of an assortment of offenses. These included counterfeiting, trespass on U.S. lands, treason, and robbery of the mails. Arrested in 1851 and tried in federal court in Detroit, along with 31 of his followers, he acted as his own attorney and won acquittal for all of them. "Even the Detroit newspapers, which were hostile to the Mormons, commented favorably on his ability as a lawyer," Bald says.

But Strang's autocratic rule was short-lived: two assassins shot him and escaped.

Mortally wounded, the prophet was removed to Voree where he died on July 7, 1856. Mobs from the mainland then raided the island, herded the Mormons on ships, drove them out, and destroyed their property.

Thus ended the brief sojourn of the Mormons on Beaver Island.

My Favorite Prayer

SUBMITTED TO
THE LAYMENS' NATIONAL COMMITTEE
By STANLEY WOODWARD
President, The Ruberoid Company, New York, N. Y.

Jesus, Tender Shepherd, hear me,
Bless Thy little lamb tonight.
Through the darkness be Thou near me,
Keep me safe 'til morning light.

All this day Thy hand has led me.
And I am thankful for Thy care.
Thou hast warmed me, clothed me, fed me;
Bless Thy little lamb tonight.

Let my sins be all forgiven,
Bless the friends I love so well.
Take us all at last to heaven,
Happy there with Thee to dwell.

Grade School News

SIXTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Crawford

The Halloween party in our room was enjoyed by all. One half of the boys and girls planned and worked on the arrangements. Edsel Brooks was chairman. He appointed Wayne Davis and Jerry Holdridge to organize games. The rest of the class will provide the Valentine party.

We are gradually getting used to sixth grade work. There are certainly added responsibilities now — such as remembering our asignments and getting them done every day. Absence is the only excuse for unfinished work.

Jean Packard, Virginia Greiman, Tom Hicks, and Roger Fox are doing a good job checking library books in and out. They really hustle when entire classes take out and return books all at one time. They are happy to help at anytime, however.

Bobbie Holmes was absent for a few days to undergo an operation at Ann Arbor. We are glad it was a success.

We have been working on book reviews and preparing a reference file. Each one is trying to make his review so interesting that others will want to read the book. Each review is being graded for neatness, too.

SIXTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Miss Engle

At the beginning of the school year we elected officers which are: Eugene Verrier, president; Maxine Foats, vice-president; Jamey Gabler, secretary; Bonnie Buchheimer, treasurer.

Richard Hartwig is spending Thanksgiving vacation in Tennessee.

In Social Studies we are studying about the Middle Ages.

For Science we have had movies about Marie Currie, the woman who discovered radium in Pitchblende, and how the earth was formed.

In decorating our room for Thanksgiving, we drew pictures of the first Thanksgiving.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

Christmas is in the air at Patterson! Everyone is making plans and some of the rooms have started to put up decorations. There is a big fireplace with a lighted Santa behind it in the Kindergarten. There is a big box there, too, to hold all the trimmings the children are making for the tree and for their room. The first grade is planning a program for the mothers and friends. The second graders are learning as many carols as they can and will try to find out which country first sang each one. They plan to make pipe stem cleaner figures and dress them like the people dress in each of the countries.

David Penny and Roger Brown, of the second grade, are back in school after having their tonsils removed. John Roe, Michael Schultz and Margaryet Savage, who were ill, are back again, too.

In the third grade, the first and second reading groups have completed their readers and are now in new reading books.

The fifth grade girls and boys have been studying letter writing. As a part of this project they wrote letters to schools in seven different states. They have had replies from Iowa and South Dakota, and hope that the rest of the schools will reply.

Philip Barber, Emily Manwaring, and Jimmy Pihl, second grade; Linda Spooner, third; and Harry Hodges, fourth; celebrated birthdays recently. Their classmates all enjoyed sharing the treats which they brought.

Robert Richards and Robert French have been replaced on Patrol by David Brock and Norman Grigg. Charles Osburn is the new lieutenant. We are all very proud of the fine job our Patrol is doing.

The next meeting of the P.T.A. will be December sixteenth. This will be a Christmas music program.

FIRST GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. VanValkenburg

Snow! Snow! Wonderful winter! Christmas is almost here! Our room is beginning to look as if Santa Claus might come soon.

The Star Class finished the last of the three pre-primers Friday. The Red Birds finished theirs Wednesday. We are all happy to be able to read in our new book, Fun with Dick and Jane. We have finished reading the book Guess Who.

Thursday is a big day for us. We can go to the gym and play games for a half hour. Last Friday we made our first trip to the School Library and selected a book to take back to our room.

Carol Lynn Aldrich, Barry Williamson, and Gary Dauber had a birthday. We all enjoyed the treat that they brought.

Mrs. Aldrich, Mrs. Dauber, Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. Baker, and Mr. Richardson visited us recently.

4-H Club To Exhibit Its Animals

Fifteen 4-H Club youngsters from Lenawee county will exhibit livestock at the 26th annual Detroit Junior Livestock Show next Tuesday through Thursday at the state fairgrounds. The county exhibit list includes 16 beef steers.

Ray Peffers, Lenawee county 4-H Club Agent, said the boys and girls include: Dwight Fisher, Blissfield—Hereford; Lawrence Fisher, Palmyra—two Angus; Robert Fisher, Palmyra—Angus; Richard Lutton, Britton—Angus; Lois Wilt, Tecumseh — Hereford; Larry Miller, Britton— Hereford; Tommy Miller, Britton — Hereford; Larry Neidlinger, Tecumseh — Hereford; Harold Parish, Jr., Adrian—Angus; James Thompson, Palmyra — Angus; Robert Thompson, Palmyra—Angus; Marjorie Wahl, Britton —Angus; Merlin Wahl, Britton — Angus; Marjorie Mitchell, Adrian Hereford; and Roger Wolf, Morenci—Angus.

The young exhibitors will be accompanied to Detroit by Clayton Ingerson, assistant county agricultural agent and Mrs. Barbara Johnson, home demonstration agent.

The boys and girls will be among 425 youngsters from 31 other counties in Michigan who will show 570 steers, 70 pens of fat lambs and 67 pens of market hogs, a record for the Detroit show.

The animals will be entered on Tuesday. They will be exhibited on Wednesday. And on Thursday they will be sold at auction.

Judges for the event will be members of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State University. They include Dr. H. H. Nelson, head of the department for beef; Dr. Harold Henneman, sheep researcher for lambs; and Edgar M. McClelland, swine barn foreman, for hogs.

While at Detroit, the youngsters will compete for scholarships, cash awards and trophies.

Jennifer Jones and William Holden have their own private mountain-top meeting place in the true romantic drama, "Love Is A Many Splendored Thing." It's in CinemaScope and color.

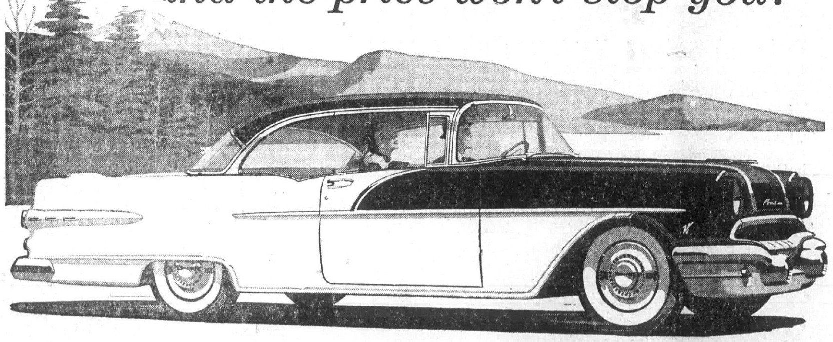
The car says "GO" and the price won't stop you!



That long and lovely creation shown in action above—glamorous with smartly distinctive car-of-the-future styling and packed with all the terrific "go" suggested by its fleet and flowing lines—is actually a member of Pontiac's lowest-priced series, the value-setting 860 line. And here's what this information means to you!

Whatever your new-car plans for '56—even if you're shopping at the bottom of the price scale—this big and beautiful mile-shrinker can be yours!

You can now look forward to luxuriating in the gracious comfort and solid roadability made possible by a man-sized 122" wheelbase —just about as long as they come!

You can now expect to enjoy the finest, smoothest performance that ever set pulses racing—blazing Strato-Streak performance from the most modern and efficient V-8 engine that ever powered a car.

You can plan on it, definitely, because there's not a thing to stop you—as the figure on the price tag plainly shows.

For instance, your favorite body style in the 860 series carries a price within a whisper of the cost of the smaller, lighter-powered lowest-priced cars! And that's just the start.

We're trading right now to set an all-time record for December. When you've heard our deal you may very well discover that there's virtually no difference in price at all!

Come in and confirm that the 860 is the easiest car to want and to buy that ever came your way. The proof is easy—just take the wheel and go as you've never gone before!

IT'S A FACT—YOU CAN HAVE ALL OF PONTIAC'S BIG-CAR GLAMOUR AND GO FOR LESS THAN THE PRICE OF 44 MODELS OF THE "LOW-PRICED THREE."

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

MRS. WILL ALLEN HAS been a faithful reader of the HERALD for 65 years. She wrote from Detroit "I see in my Tecumseh HERALD last week a Mrs. A. S. Clark of Seattle, Washington, has been reading the HERALD for 58 years. I am glad I can write you I have been a faithful reader and have sent in my subscription for 65 years and it is company for me to receive it. I lived in Tecumseh, my home town, for two years and worked as a house maid in three nice homes there. So please add my name to these fine reading records." We certainly will, Mrs. Allen, and you enjoy your paper for many more years.

AN ELDERLY MAN almost stood on his head Saturday morning to read the thermometer in front of Cameron's Drug Store. The mercury had gone down and so did his head as he read it.

A NOTE FROM MRS. RUSSELL ABBOTT of Toledo included this poem which she calls "Christmas Magic":

The Magic of Christmas has come to our house
With its pine, evergreen and holly.
It's snowing and the wind blows cold outside
What could be more jolly?
Friendship and warmth and the love of those dear
Waiting and looking for the sound of reindeer.
Candlelight, hotbreads, mince and pumpkin pie
Eaten in the living room with the firelight nearby.
These are the treasures of me and my own
There's no finer place than Christmas at home.

Thanks very much, Mrs. Abbott, for sharing this sentiment with our readers.

A PUBLISHER FRIEND at Manton, near Cadillac, wrote this little bit of country philosophy into a news story recently: "Remember that big egg reported in the Tribune-Record a few weeks ago produced by a hen on the George Talbot farm, measuring 8¼ by 7¾? Well, it weighed seven ounces and when broken, proved to be an egg within an egg, complete to hard shell. Here's the sequel to the true story: the same hen later produced another egg that contained four yolks. P.S. Two weeks later the hen died. Moral—don't try to do too much."

AS ONE OF THE many assistants to Santa Claus, the Lining has gotten a real charge out of the grubby little letters to Santa Claus. Some have enclosed nice cards for Santa and Debbie and Lee Cheever and Henry Howard enclosed pictures of themselves. The name of principal Earl Greene appeared mysteriously on Henry's letter. And Kay Southwell sent a drawing of a manger scene. Incidentally, dozens of letters mailed in the little mail box had stamps. Santa reports that this is not necessary; but it probably would be difficult to explain to the small fry how a letter could get to Santa without a stamp so the letters probably will come stamped since the tikes insist on it. Santa informs us that Monday, Dec. 19, is the deadline for letters. This will be the last time that his assistant will be able to check the tiny mail box in front of the United Savings Bank. So, kids, remember, Monday is the deadline.

ANOTHER BUNCH OF Santa's assistants, representing members of the service clubs, turned out Tuesday night at the Legion to box candy for the old boy to hand out to kids when he appears here Friday, Dec. 16, at 7 p.m.

THE OLDTIMER SAYS: "No family should have less than three children, so there will be two to support the genius."

IT'S WONDERFUL TO have members of the family reunited, especially at Christmas. Tuesday night Jim Hite of the U.S. Navy returned home to visit his parents Mr. and Mrs. Mike Hite and his sister Susan for a 15-day furlough. But Jim didn't rely on a slow ship to make the trip from Norfolk, Va. He flew home.

SHIRLEY LARNED, Tecumseh high school senior who did such a fine job at writing and giving her speech at government day in Adrian last week, will present it again at the Iron Creek church next Sunday morning at 10 a.m.

Paul Hahn, Trick Golfer, Appears at Strand Next Week in Movie

Paul Hahn, golf trick shot wizard who entertained Tecumseh Country Club patrons a year ago last summer, will appear in a special subject "Swing High, Swing Low" at the Strand theater next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The special short is in color.

Hahn, from Ormond Beach, Fla., has more than 30 trick shots which include driving a golf ball off the nose of his wife while she lies prone on the ground.

Tecumseh Country Club officials would like to have the trick golfer back here next summer for another show.

"Christmas Carol Pageant" Set Next Wednesday, Thursday

Today Is Deadline for Voting for C of C Directors

Deadline for voting for four new members of the board of directors of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce is today, Thursday. Ballots must be back in the chamber office by 5 p. m. today.

Eight men are in the running for directors. Four will be elected from the eight. The eight nominees are Hugh Des Ermia, Jack Osburn, Bert Ousterhout, Ed Heilman, Walter Hochrein, Howard Truesdale, Owen Partridge and Paul Clauda.

Palmyra Cerebral Palsy Unit To Give Program

A Christmas program will be held in Palmyra next Tuesday evennig, Dec. 20, at 8 p.m. Children of the cerebral-palsy unit there will entertain their friends with a program of songs, carols and recitations.

This party, which is the first to be held at the school, is under the supervision of Miss Kathleen Richmond and Miss Juanita Covington, occupational and speech therapists.

They hope the public will accept the cordial invitation extended and attend this entertainment which will demonstrate the progress being made.

There also will be a Santa Claus and other Christmas festivities.

Honor Gridders at Banquet Tonight in Gym

Almost 300 tickets have been sold for the football banquet sponsored by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce. It will be held tonight (Thursday) in the high school gym at 6:30.

Members of the Tecumseh high school football teams will be honored and guests will include the teams of Britton, Clinton and Boysville. Trophies also will be awarded to outstanding gridders.

Dorne Dibble, star end, will show some Detroit Lions movies and moving pictures of the 1954 Rose Bowl football game will be shown.

Co-chairmen of the banquet are Bob Breniff, Indian grid mentor, and Doug Murdoch.

The ham dinner will be served by Jaycees. Proceeds go for the club's bleacher fund. The public is invited and tickets may be purchased at the door.

The Dec. meetings of Patterson, West Branch, and Central P.T.A.'s will again this year be given over to programs of Christmas music as the children in grades three through six of each elementary school present concerts under the direction of Mrs. Marcelle Smith.

Two programs will be given. Wednesday, Dec. 21, the children of Central and West Branch Schools will give their program in the high school gym. The following night, Thursday, Dec. 22, Patterson will present its program in Patterson school gym. Both programs are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

The programs, entitled "Christmas Carol Pageant" will be divided into three episodes, "Mary and the Child," "The Shepherds," and "The Three Kings." A reader, narrating sections from the Bible, will introduce each episode. Tableaux will be given as Christmas songs from many lands, fitting each episode in the Christmas story, are sung. The programs will run as follows:

Entrance of the Little Angels, the older Angels, the Monks, the reader, Mary with the child, and Joseph, followed by the Processional "Angels Chanting All Around Us."

FIRST EPISODE

"Away in a Manger," "Silent Night," "Good Christian Men, Rejoice," "Come, Softly Come and Worship," "He is Born, the Holy Child."

SECOND EPISODE

The old shepherd and younger shepherds enter followed by the songs "Oh Mary," "High in the Postmaster Jack Metcalf reports his office has been flooded with an avalanche of Christmas cards and packages, both outgoing and incoming. Additional help has been added. He thinks this will be a record year for Christmas mail.

Mail

The postmaster adds these points to help insure delivery by Christmas:

"When you use three cent stamps on your Christmas cards, you get first-class mail service. First-class friends deserve first-class mail and the use of first-class postage makes it certain that your Christmas cards will be delivered promptly.

"Put the cards with local addresses in one bundle and those for out-of-town destinations in another. Then mark each bundle with special identification labels you can get free at the Post Office which read 'ALL FOR OUT-OF-TOWN DELIVERY' and 'ALL FOR LOCAL DELIVERY.'

"If you have a large card list mail your out-of-town Christmas cards several days in advance of those for local delivery and try to get all cards for distant points mailed by today, Thursday, Dec. 15; those for local delivery should be started on their way at least a week before Christmas."

TROOP 4 SCOUTS HAVE PARTY

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 4 and members of their families held a potluck dinner and Christmas gift exchange in the First Baptist Church Youth House Tuesday night. The Rev. B. O. Bashore showed movies.

PAYMENT AWARDED

A default judgment of $9383.73 was awarded to Morris Seps of Dundee in circuit court last week. The judgment is against the Bruce Foundry and Manufacturing Co. of Tecumseh for payment for goods sold and for a promissory note.

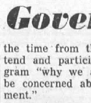
Why Good Government Is Important

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following was given by Miss Shirley Larned, Tecumseh high school senior, at the government day in Adrian last Thursday.)

BY SHIRLEY LARNED

Today I have the honor and pleasure to speak to you as well as to represent you on the sixth annual government day held for Lenawee county seniors.

On behalf of the seniors and our government teachers, I would like to express our gratitude to the interested people who have devoted a great deal of their time to the organization and planning of this program to give all of us the opportunity to learn about the various phases of government. I also would like to express appreciation to the ladies and gentlemen seated in front of you who have taken the time from their duties to attend and participate in this program "why we as seniors should be concerned about local government."



MISS LARNED

In a matter of months we will receive our diplomas. Graduation will represent an end to high school days and the beginning of our role as responsible citizens of a flourishing democracy, a democracy which we should feel proud and fortunate to live in.

Democracy, as you all know, is ruled by the poeple. We represent the future governments of our community, county and state. This fact alone reveals the importance and necessity for our interest in local government.

Looking into the past, we discover that American political ideals were developed by people who had to make their homes in a strange country far from the civilization they left. Every colonist had to make his own way. He thought his own thoughts, earned his own living and worshipped his God as he pleased. This freedom was controlled only by his own sense of values. Personal honor, integrity, justice and truth emerged as cardinal values and were taken for granted in erecting and running the government.

When the nation began, its system of government was considered a radical experiment. The idea that people could govern themselves was regarded with scorn and skeptism by all the countries of Europe. Yet for 175 years the experiment has prospered. Americans have enjoyed unequalled freedom. Meanwhile, they have developed a vigorous country which has brought more of the good things of life to more people than any other social organization in all history.

Popular government did not succeed in this country by chance. The builders of this nation worked hard to make it a success. Wars were fought to obtain the principles of our democratic heritage. Since then each generation has done its share to make the scheme work. Every future generation, our generation, has a similar task. This task is being made easier for us by the knowledge of government

Accident Injuries Kill Tipton Driver

Joseph E. Metzger, 61, a Franklin Township farmer died in University hospital, Ann Arbor, three days after he was injured in an automobile accident about a mile west of Billington's Corners Wednesday, Dec. 7.

He suffered head and chest injuries. He went to sleep driving and his car ran off the highway and struck a tree.

Mr. Metzger was first taken to Herrick Memorial hospital then transferred to University hospital.

Mr. Metzger, whose home was three miles west of Tipton, had lived in that community about 14 years. He was born May 30, 1894, in Cecil, Ohio, son of George and Mary Corrigan Metzger. He was a member of St. Dominic's Catholic church in Clinton, the Knights of Columbus and of the Farm Bureau.

He is survived by his widow, Sarah Gray Metzger, his mother, Mrs. Mary Metzger of San Gabriel, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Ann Burval of San Gabriel; two brothers, George of Cleveland and Ray of Alhambra, Calif., and several nieces and nephews. His father, a sister and three brothers preceded him in death.

The Rosary was recited Monday evening at the Proctor Funeral Home in Clinton and funeral services were held Tuesday morning at St. Dominic's with the Rev. Fr. Lewis Ellis officiating. Burial was in Clinton.

Santa

An intercepted letter from Santa Claus was received at the HERALD office this week. It said:

"Now it's my time to write a letter, so here it is. I will be in Tecumseh Friday night, Dec. 16, at 7 p.m. to meet all children in the trailer on the four corners. Paul Maves has loaned us a fine trailer for our visit with Tecumseh area children. And I'll have some candy for all of you.

—Santa Claus"

800 Students Take Part in Government Day

Eight hundred county high school students attended the sixth annual government day sponsored by the Institute of Local Government and held on the Adrian College campus last Thursday.

Purpose of the day was to gain a better working knowledge of state and local government. Theme of the day was "Why Should We Be Concerned with Good Government?"

Resource people representing state, county, city and township government took part in the general assembly. Representing Tecumseh were H. H. Hanna, mayor; Ed Nelson, city manager; John Saling, assessor; LeRoy Titley, councilman; and J. C. Beardsley, attorney.

Shirley Larned of Tecumseh wrote and gave one of four speeches at the opening session.

See "Take an Interest," Page 2 of the Second Section.

Selected by students, Miss Larned spoke on "Why We as Seniors Should Be Concerned about Local Government." Other Tecumseh students taking part were Sharon Claxton, Merene Boltz, Ed Hodges and Val Spangler. They were accompanied by their teacher Donald Brazee.

Topics discussed included roads and highways, public health, legislative procedures, taxation and municipal problems. Resource people answered questions from students.

After group discussions, a summary of the day was given at another general assembly. And students heard D. Hale Brake, former state treasurer, talk.

Latham Dewey Injures Hand

Latham Dewey is a patient in University hospital, Ann Arbor, with injuries to his left hand suffered when he caught it in a corn picker while working on his farm near Tipton Saturday afternoon. It is still uncertain whether doctors will be able to save the hand.

Mrs. Dewey is with her husband in Ann Arbor and their two children are being cared for by neighbors.

PLEA CHANGED

In circuit court Monday Donald E. Teegarden, 43, of Tecumseh changed an earlier plea of not guilty to guilty to a bad check charge. He admitted endorsing and cashing a $95 government income tax check which did not belong to him. He is free on bond awaiting sentence.

FINED BY JUSTICE

Otto Kruger, 63, of Tecumseh pleaded guilty to drunkenness when he was arraigned before Justice Robert French Monday. Arrested by Tecumseh police Saturday night, he paid a $20 fine and $8.60 costs.

CANDLELIGHT SERVICE PLANNED FOR SUNDAY

The Tecumseh First Baptist church is extending a cordial invitation to everyone to attend the Christmas candlelight service to be held Sunday, Dec. 18 at 7:30 p.m. There will be numbers by the three choirs, the Chancel, Bethlehem and the Crusaders and the congregation will join in singing carols.

Britton Passes Two Ordinances

Two new ordinances have been passed by the Britton village council. One ordinance concerns paying councilmen. The president will receive $7.50 for every regular and special meeting and trustees will receive $5 for every regular and special meeting.

The ordinance, effective today, will not apply to members of the council during their present term of office.

The second one is a traffic ordinance "to prevent injury and death to the populace." It provides that violators be tried in Britton and it becomes effective Jan. 1, 1956.

College Students Will Return to Guide Others

Tecumseh high school seniors who plan to attend college next fall will meet with members of last year's graduation class who are attending college this year Wednesday, Dec. 21 at 2 p.m. at the high school.

This is the third year that this type of meeting has been arranged to further augment the local school's guidance program.

Problems to be met by college freshmen will be discussed by the "experts". Last year's graduates who have been attending college this year but, who did not receive an invitation to this meeting, are urged to attend.

BOY INJURED IN FALL FROM CAR

Robert Brown, Jr., 4, of Tecumseh suffered cuts and bruises Monday when he fell from a car driven by his mother Mrs. Frances Brown. The accident happened a half mile west of Clinton. He was treated at Herrick Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Brown told Clinton state police the car door suddenly opened and the boy fell out.

STORES ARE OPEN SATURDAY NIGHTS

Tecumseh stores will be open as usual Friday night to 9 and they also will be open Saturday night to 9.

All next week, beginning Monday, they will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and they will close Christmas eve, Saturday, Dec. 24, at 5:30 p.m.

SISTER PARTY PLANNED BY GIRL SCOUTS

Troop 17 of Girl Scouts will entertain Brownie Troop 13 at a big and little sister party Monday, Dec. 19. The party will be held at the American Legion Home with a potluck supper and gift exchange. Parents are included for the supper and informal program and then the Scouts and Brownies will go caroling for shut-ins and nursing homes.

Girl Scouts and Brownies Report Holiday Parties

Many and varied are the holiday parties of the Brownies and Girl Scouts this year according to information received from Mrs. Howard Truesdale, president of the Tecumseh Girl Scout Association.

The girls are experimenting with the big sister idea, meaning that a troop of Girl Scouts and a troop of Brownies will have a party together. Fortunately, there are ten troops of each which makes it ideal for this procedure. The parties vary all the way from late afternoon affairs to potluck suppers with parents invited in some cases and even some are carolling parties with refreshments afterwards.

Under this plan, the big sisters have the experience of planning, marketing and producing the party as well as serving on committees and presiding in larger groups. Another phase of the experiment is to keep the cost within 25 cents per person, if possible.

Also as a part of the project some of the troops are sharing with other people in some form while other troops are accomplishing something similar in another manner. Learning to meet situations easily and gracefully is definitely a part of the Girl Scout program.

It is hoped that the spirit of wanting to share talents as well as material gifts will linger with the girls for a long time. In future troop meetings the girls will evaluate their experiences. The green and brown uniforms are very much in evidence these days.

The association wishes to extend thanks to the churches and schools for the use of their buildings for these larger meetings. The Girl Scouts recognize these services as a part of better community living.

Senior Scouts entertained the Brownie troop led by Mrs. Stanley Miller and Mrs. Kenneth Rutherford Monday afternoon from 3:30 until 5 in the Escolme parlors of the Friends church.

Refreshments planned and prepared by Barbara Crowell and Norma Jewell were served upon arrival at a long table with place mats designed and made by Joyce Wilbar.

The big sisters and Brownies were introduced to each other and then the game of remembering names became a part of the table conversation. After getting acquainted, the girls were engaged in games conducted by Joanie Johnston.

Norma Jewell then told the story of the first Christmas tree and conducted discussion on our modern customs. Due to the illness of Jackie Rucker, who had planned the music, the Senior Scouts as a group led the singing of familiar Christmas songs both modern and traditional closing with "Silent Night," which was sung in a very reverent manner.

As the Brownies departed they received favors made by Joyce Wilbar. Next Wednesday evening the Senior Scouts will hold a carolling party. Barbara Crowell is president of this troop.

MRS. C. CLARK HEADS WESTMINSTER LEAGUE

Mrs. Raymond Kempf was hostess for the Christmas party of the Westminster League Tuesday evening. She was assisted by Mrs. Stanley Kruse, Mrs. Donald Kempf and Mrs. Elmer Wilt, who served the 27 members a dessert before the business meeting.

New officers for 1956 were elected and installed, the list being, president, Mrs. Charles Clark; vice-president, Mrs. Byron Goodman; secretary, Mrs. Russell Langham and treasurer, Mrs. Kruse.

Christmas carols were sung and an exchange of gifts revealed the mystery sisters of the group.

IRENE MURPHY

ENGAGED—Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Murphy of 9600 Macon-Tecumseh road are announcing the engagement of their daughter Irene Marie to Joseph C. Gruber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Gruber of Occidental highway.

Both are employed at the Ford plant in Manchester. No wedding date has been set.

DAR Chapter Has Holiday Party

The home of Mrs. F. C. Dickinson was beautifully decorated for Christmas Friday evening when she entertained Abi Evans Chapter D.A.R. for their Dec. meeting. Twenty-two members and one guest were present.

A short business session was conducted by the regent, Mrs. Neil Pearson after which the chaplain, Miss Edith Ingersoll conducted impressive memorial services for the late members, Mrs. Neville Hart and Miss Ethelyn Garlinghouse.

Mrs. Arthur Brown, chairman of national defense announced that since Dec. 15 is the 164th anniversary of the Bill of Rights members were requested to display flags. The club voted to purchase the current issue of the Geneology of D.A.R. of Michigan and present it to the public library and tentative plans were made for a rummage sale soon after the first of the year.

The evening's program was in charge of Mrs. Kenton Hunt and consisted of the singing of Christmas carols and of a Christmas reading and poem by Mrs. Hoyt Whelan.

The hostess committee, Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. Clayton Greenwald, Miss Irene Wisner, Mrs. E. M. Linger and Mrs. J. H. Smith served refreshments of gaily decorated Christmas cookies.

Mrs. Joe Rice will entertain the chapter for the Jan. meeting which also will be held in the evening. The entertainment will be the pictures and story of Mrs. Whelan's Mayflower trip.

Joe Rice Is R.A.M. Head

Election and installation of new officers of the Royal Arch Masons of Tecumseh were held last Wednesday at the Masonic Temple.

Joe Rice was chosen high priest and the others were Elwyn Green, king; William Butler, scribe: Leroy Titley, treasurer; Glenn Hendershot, secretary; Cecile Viele, captain of the host; Henry Young, principal sojourner; Jack Douglas, captain of the guard; Russell Bonner, master of the third veil; Clair Rozelle, master of the second veil; Stanley Miller, master of the first veil; Ted McConnell, sentinel.

L. W. Larsen, who is grand master of the third veil of the grand chapter of Michigan was the installing officer and was assisted by Robert Osburn and Gibbs Barber, past high priests of the Tecumseh chapter.

A committee headed by Ted McConnell served the members an oyster supper following the installation.

ORINANCE

Meeting of the Village Council of the Village of Britton, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan, held on the 7th day of November 1955.

Present: Mayor Bryan, Trustees Charles Fairbanks, Luegge, Lewis, Brown, Lorenz and Douglas Fairbanks.

Absent: None

The following preamble and ordinance was presented by Councilman Charles Fairbanks and supported by Councilman Warren Lewis.

WHEREAS the experience of this Municipality has indicated the desirability of enacting appropriate legislation to cover vehicular traffic within the Village limits; and

WHEREAS it is deemed essential for the prevention of injury and death to the populace that such legislation be enacted; and

WHEREAS proper administration of justice requires that persons apprehended for traffic violation be tried within this Village rather than being referred elsewhere for prosecution.

NOW THEREFORE THE VILLAGE OF BRITTON ORDAINS:

1. Effective 1 January 1956 Section 3.500 through and including Section 3.587 be known as the Traffic Ordinance of the Village of Britton, and as delineated by the attached exhibit A, shall be enacted.

2. MISSION GUILD ELECTS OFFICERS

Officers of the Florence Weld Mission Guild were assistant hostesses Monday evening when the group met in the home of Mrs. F. C. Dickinson for their annual Christmas party.

The president, Mrs. Lynn Harris conducted a short business meeting during which officers were elected for the coming year. Those chosen were: president, Mrs. Lynn Harris; vice president, Mrs. F. C. Dickinson; treasurer, Mrs. Rhea Stephenson and secretary, Mrs. Lee Purkey.

Mrs. E. E. Davis was in charge of the program. She read a Christmas story "The Story of the Bells" and Mrs. Mel Partridge read "The Shoemaker's Theme." Miss Edith Ingersoll then told of Christmas customs in Germany.

The group brought 30 packages of cookies and candy as Christmas gifts for shut-ins and also contributed $30 in place of the usual gift exchange.

JAYCEES HAVE TREES TO SELL

The Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce still has some Christmas trees to sell. Members urge those who want trees to buy now while there is still some selection left. Proceeds from the sale will go to the club's benefit fund for permanent bleachers on the recreation field.

STUDY CLUB HAS FOUR NEW MEMBERS

Mrs. Howard Truesdale was hostess to the Child Study Club, Monday evening and was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Carson House and Mrs. Ben Gillies. The program under the direction of Mrs. Ed Gannaway and Mrs. Albert Merz opened with the singing of Christmas carols and preceded a bazaar and auction.

An attractive array of articles made by the members was auctioned in a very efficient manner by Mrs. Merz. They included canned and baked goods, aprons, Christmas ornaments and other hand made articles.

About 20 were present and the club has four new members, Mrs. Robert Breniff, Mrs. Jack Trudeau, Mrs. Neil Brazee and Mrs. William P. Snook. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

ALTAR SOCIETY HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

St. Elizabeth Altar Society met last Wednesday evening in the school auditorium with 48 members present. Mrs. Roy Whiting, president, was in charge of the business meeting when it was planned to have a spaghetti dinner sometime in Jan.

A Christmas program was presented by Mrs. R. J. Murray, Mrs. Robert Laidlaw and Mrs. Ralph Hodges. Carols were sung by Mrs. Ben Hammack and Mrs. Ben McWilliams and gifts were exchanged by the group.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Laidlaw and their committee.

SERVICE CLUB MEETS

A meeting of the Tecumseh Service Club was held Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Frederick Dickinson. Holiday committees were appointed and the group discussed the problem of providing used clothing for school children. It was decided to ask the school board for their cooperation in providing storage space in order that an adequate supply may be kept on hand for emergency demands. This will make it possible to meet the situation more efficiently.

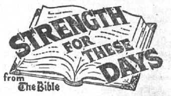
Elmer Linn
Correspondent

Mrs. Clifford Flower and Mrs. Price of Leslie called on Mrs. Flower's brother, Charles Hindes and visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Linn Tuesday.



This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him, and saved him out of all his troubles.—(Psalm 34,6.)

What is our attitude when we pray? Are we telling God what we want, and why and when we want it? Do we ask that His will, not ours, be done? When we come humbly and penitently to Him, firm in our faith, seeking only His mercy and His love, we are never denied.

GOVERNMENT

we are learning in government class.

As I already have said, the fact that we represent the future governments of our community, county and state is the most important reason for our concern about local government. As the future government we have certain civic responsibilities that further necessitate our deepest concern. The acceptance of these responsibilities will determine the pattern of our lives as well as determine the efficiency of our government.

Perhaps you have wondered what these responsibilities are that face us. Perhaps you have wondered what you can do to be a responsible citizen.

I have selected what I felt were the eight most important responsibilities of all citizens and especially as future citizens. These responsibilities awaiting us are the ones which necessitate our concern about local government. They are as follows:

1. Discuss politics. By speaking our minds and listening to the thoughts of others we can learn the opinions, ideas, and attitudes of the people around us. Out of this discussion will emerge the finished product of public policy.

2. Take an active part in government. This can be accomplished by joining social organizations and clubs, participating in church and athletic activities. The experiences gained through active participation in these "little democracies" will prepare you for participation in local government.

3. Vote regularly and intelligently. Regular voting is the greatest civic obligation and privilege of an American citizen. Yet it is the most abused privilege we possess. Our voting percentage is low because so many people feel that "my one vote won't matter." Government in this country will not work the way it should unless the people take the privilege of voting seriously.

4. Keep track of your representatives. Too many people think they have completed their duty after voting. They are wrong. It is our responsibility to make sure that the people we elected are acting on behalf of our interests and welfare.

5. Get into politics. Become a member of a political party. These are the best means yet devised for bringing together majorities of the voters for the control and direction of public offices.

6. Run for office. As an elected servant of the people, you will not become rich. But you will have a fascinating and colorful life. You will be rendering a fine and honorable service to your government.

7. Strive for an efficient government. The problems of securing efficiency begin with the people. Efficiency is possible if the people want it—but only if the people want it.

8. Maintain peace with honor. Yes, even peace among members of a community is threatened when its people fail to act wisely when clashes arise. National peace requires a strong defense, a wise foreign policy and an understanding by the people of world conditions.

In closing. I would like to leave with you these thoughts which sum up what government should mean to us and our goals as American citizens.

We have pride and confidence in our American heritage. Let's use it. We have optimism and faith in our future as American citizens; let's put them to work. We have a marvelous political structure and organization at our command; let's make it achieve a better America for ourselves and for our children.

Thank you.

THIRD EPISODE

The three Kings enter and present their gifts to the Christ Child, then is sung: "We Three Kings," "I Saw Three Ships Come Sailing In," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "High in the Heavens," and "O Come all Ye Faithful."

After the completion of the "Christmas Carol Pageant" the children will conclude the concerts with the singing of popular Christmas songs, time permitting.

ANSWER FILED IN WAGE DISPUTE

Answers to suits brought by employees over back pay have been filed in circuit court by attorneys for Time Laboratories, Inc.

The firm admits it is indebted to the five plaintiffs but says the amounts are subject to deduction for social security and withholding taxes. It further states that the amounts cannot be computed unless the plaintiffs furnish dates on which the work was done.

Mama Goes on Safari

BY PEG TOUBORG

February 14th—Valentine's Day, and my heart is in my mouth! Up at 4:30 a.m., out on the plains for sunrise. Two Cape buffaloes stared at me from the crest of a hill. The gunbearers have returned after a lucky miss with two elephants. "No, the elephants never came out on the plains. They are just in the woods or wood ridge but if they should come drive away." I love the suspense so the hunters think. When I'm alone I'm just plain scared.

Later—100 miles the mileage read, but my back—1000, as we dragged into camp at 7:45 tonight. A reconnoitering trip to follow up elephant and lion stories told by the natives along the road. We go to an area in which lions have been killing cattle, and then have to plan how the bait can be hung, also dragged in. Today proved impossible. The lion area was in nothing but rocks and ambush of thorn bushes—not one tree. The boys may, in desperation, put up heavy poles, camouflaged, but that will be a day's work.

UP THE MOUNTAINS

We drove up rock trails into the mountains, 8000 feet,—looked just like the west. Steep sides, yes, but for some reason I wasn't frightened. Except for the continuous jarring, the Land Rover really hugs the road. We passed primitive native villages where all the bucks came running out to see the car, some in their hurry forgetting to wrap their shawls around them. Various headdresses — grey mud with thistles like a tassel sticking from the back, ears and lips distorted. Saw a herd of twelve elephants some distance across the hill.

Picked up two beautiful Moran Warriors along the way. These boys are striking looking individuals. At 14 they have a big celebration, let their hair grow long, smear it with red ochre and fat and then braid it in tiny strings; looks like yarn. They peer out from under heavy braided bangs. Their shoulders and waist are also greased and smeared with the red or rather orange ochre. Their ear lobes are always plugged with enormous rings of white bone. These are the boys who used to protect the tribe from mauraders, fight their battles, kill lions. Now there is nothing for them to do. They wander, usually two together, hand in hand, across the plains; stand lazily in groups in the village; chatter together and admire each other like girls. They are very effeminate looking. They do offer a juvenile delinquency problem — carry off a few cattle.

PICTURES TAKEN

They walk with their heads held high and always carry their long spears proudly. One warrior showed Jens how to use his spear. While eating our picnic lunch from the jeep top—food spread out there, two girls who were tending cattle shyly approached and stood leaning on their herding staffs. Do hope our pictures are good. I plied them with gum and chocolate and soon they were smiling — just clothed from the waist down in a loosely wrapped square brown piece of muslin, their neck encircled with hoops of colorful beads and their arms and legs wrapped in very wide bands of close, helically wound heavy steel wires.

Heads were shaved—proper in that tribe — but each wore little tufts of yellow Pom-Poms fastened to a bow-like band going from ear to ear over the top of their black heads.

Three little boys who were far away in the bushes inched up so I could put candy and gum in each sticky pink palm. One warrior cleaned off the discarded cold beef tin and admired his headdress, so Jens polished up the tin cover and presented it to the older girl. The warrior happily discovered the rear view mirror on the low hood of the car, took an orange pick from behind his ear, squatted down so he could see, and busily reparted his orange ropes. Do wish I'd had a bunch of mirrors to hand out. We soon became one happy family—our boys from camp just amused. I got in the car and gave them a treat by putting on lipstick and powder.

LIKES DASHBOARD

By this time the children were by the door, inspecting all with their eager eyes. One little fellow slid his finger over the dashboard, was screamed at by his sister, and then, a gesture I'll never forget because the little black boy was my own little son who couldn't resist the sign on the stage coach in the museum in Wyoming, "Do not touch!" From the corner of my eye I saw the little black finger impulsively shoot out and touch my khaki trousers, then draw back quickly. Impulses are the same the world over, even in darkest Africa!

Feb. 15, 1955
Tuesday

That gentle middle morning African breeze shoos through the warm sunshine. Breakfast in the "Salon" by myself except for Kadi's patient footsteps serving my food. His solomn wrinkled brown face grinned sweetly when I read from my Quick Swahili book to him, "Bring me my gun. I shall go into battle today!" Down at the end of the sunlit path I can see the cook, squatting on a stool, kneading bread. He has shed his red night gown and is down to a grey undershirt, and his thick black shoulders are busy kneading back and forth. My tent is being thoroughly cleaned, cots are airing outside, spray guns are working. (Bet Arap Sohi found an ant.) Bitten's underclothes are drying on the shrubs. The Masai women and children who bring the cattle down to the water hole are becoming very bold. This morning as I stood outside the tent standing on my tiptoes to reach the mirror hanging from the tent pole, they laughed aloud while they watched me put on my makeup.

DAYS ARE HEAVENLY

Such a heavenly day, but they all are. Just went down to the tent to get my binnoculars to watch a red bird, heard "Jambo, Jambo." There on the rim of the gully (from our front door at home to the road) were sitting the two girls we met yesterday, waving wildly. They had tramped here from miles away—my friends! No reward for their trip.

My turbaned waiter has just left for coffee. Have had to eat by myself. It's 3:30 and the men aren't home for lunch yet. Delicious lunch of mashed potatoes and meat, etc. under a pastry top. It's always the et cetera I worry about. One learns to open the mouth just a slit to slide the food in—not as great a chance for the fly intake A perfect jam tart for dessert and fresh bread.

A little lizard just slid across the path to a fallen tree trunk. Last night coming home to camp a long Cobra was stretched across the road. I didn't see it because Andy charged the jeep ahead quickly to kill it, but evidently it slithered away. Andy said he has traveled miles and has never seen one. I have moments of fear, sort of a panic. What am I, Peg, doing here? Most of the time (when I'm between Jens and Andy) all seems natural.

General Phone Expansion Plans Are Told

Exchange Club members in Dundee Monday night heard L. H. Meyer, President of the General Telephone Company of Michigan, discuss Independent Telephony at the regular weekly meeting.

Mr. Meyer was introduced by program chairman Royal Fisher.

Mr. Meyer gave the details of the growth of the Dundee Exchange of General Telephone since the end of World War II. He stated that General Telephone System is the largest non-Bell telephone system in the United States, and that the Michigan operating company has experienced a 100 per cent increase in the number of telephones served since 1945. He indicated that 1956 plans call for a construction budget of nearly four million dollars, a considerable portion of which must be raised from the sale of securities to investors. A long range program of service improvement and expansion was predicted to keep pace with the ever increasing demands.

General Telephone Company now serves 108,000 telephones in 29 counties of Michigan.

Christmas Bells In Bible Land

NP

WHEN THESE BELLS atop the Church of the Annunciation in Nazareth, Israel ring out the tidings of "peace on earth, good will toward men," Israel's 40,000 Christians will observe Christmas much as their fellow-believers in the United States do—with prayer and feasting. Each year Israel also welcomes thousands of pilgrims and tourists to take part in extensive Christmas observances in the Holy Land.

Local Topics

Mrs. Melvin Travis and Miss Mae Baker spent Sunday night in Toledo with Mrs. Rose Harmon. Monday morning Mrs. Harmon and Miss Baker left for Miami, Fla., where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

Former students of Tecumseh high school will be interested to learn that Mrs. Edna Peck LaMont is living at Bellingham, Wash. A teacher in the high school in the early 1900s, she has lived in the west since her marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Calhoun and children Chuck and Cindy with Miss Hilda Valdes of Mexico City, a cousin of Mrs. Calhoun's who has been her guest for several weeks, will leave Friday morning for Mexico. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Willis Porter and daughter Greta and Brenda. They plan to spend Christmas with Mrs. Calhoun's mother and her brothers and sisters in Mexico City and then go on to Acapulco, returning to Mexico City on their way home.

The Rev. Edward Escolme spent Tuesday of last week in Canton, Ohio, with a committee from the Cleveland Bible College who are contemplating a new location for the college. Mr. Escolme, who is vice president of the board, will return to Canton the last of this week for further negotiations regarding the relocation.

Mrs. Anna Haughn is assisting in the Rosacrans store for the holidays. She began work Monday morning.

Masonic Officers Installed Friday

At the public installation of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69, F. and A. M. held Friday evening in the Masonic Temple, Jack Puffer was installed as Worshipful Master.

The impressive ceremony was witnessed by 75 members and guests. Past Masters present were introduced and conducted to the East.

The grand installing officer, Past Master George Zimmerman of Monroe Lodge, was presented and introduced members of his stafff with Past Master Erwin Hendershot acting as installing marshall.

Other officers installed were: Stanley Miller, senior warden; Robert Osburn, junior warden; Kenneth D. Hall, treasurer; Fred C. Dickinson, secretary; Richard Graf, senior deacon; Proctor Pace, junior deacon; senior stewards, Donald LaBounty and Henry Young; junior stewards, Russell Bonnell and Robert Williamson; Ray C. Puffer, chaplain; Howard R. Wilson Sr., chaplain emeritus; Ted McConnell, tyler; John H. Smith, tyler emeritus.

During the installation of the chaplain Ray C. Puffer, special honor was given to Howard R. Wilson Sr. in recognition of the services he rendered the lodge. The title of chaplain emeritus was conferred on him for the first time in the history of the lodge.

Mr. Wilson then escorted Ray C. Puffer, newly installed chaplain to his seat in the East, at the right hand of his son Jack Puffer, Worshipful Master.

Special music was furnished by the Monroe team during the installation.

The event was arranged by Howard R. Wilson Jr. with refreshments served in the dining room by the officers' wives at the close of the installation.

HOSPITAL BOARD WILL ENTERTAIN STAFF

The board of Herrick Memorial hospital will entertain at a dinner dance at Tecumseh Country Club Friday evening for the pleasure of the nursing staff and other hospital personnel and their escorts.

Thursday evening the nurses and other members of the hospital staff will hold their annual Christmas party with a dinner at the Holloway Presbyterian church. They will have an impromptu program and gift exchange.

Did You Forget Your TB Seals?

Many Lenawee county citizens have contributed to the 1955 Christmas Seal drive, the Michigan Tuberculosis Association said today.

However, the MTA said, many persons have not yet made their Christmas Seal returns. The county is doing well but should do better. Officers of the MTA appealed to the thousands of friends of the voluntary TB movement to make their returns as soon as possible, if they have not yet done so.

"With more than 100 new cases of TB being reported in Michigan each week, we cannot let down," said Theo V. Eddy, president of the voluntary organization. Eddy emphasized that the seals are the sole support of the voluntary fight against TB.

Cards reminding Lenawee county residents to buy Christmas Seals have been mailed by the MTA. The cards carry a reproduction of two children who have tuberculosis. Their cases were discovered after many weeks of careful follow-up of known cases in the northern part of the state.

"If Michigan citizens could only visit these most appealing, helpless, pitiful little ones, they would understand the threat of TB to their own families," said Eddy.

The cards ask "Did you forget?" Lenawee county cannot forget, Eddy said, that TB is an infectious disease and every family is subject to attack by tuberculosis.

"The children pictured on the card are but two of more than 400 youngsters who each year are found among the unknown number of children with TB. They are infected by persons who are ignorant of the fact they are spreading TB or who willfully ignore early warnings of the disease,' explained Eddy.

"There is no effective vaccine to protect our children or ourselves from this disease which still kills more Michigan citizens than all other infectious diseases combined."

MISSIONARY BAPTISTS WILL HAVE SINGING

The Tecumseh Missionary Baptist church will hold a "singing" in their meeting place, Pottawatamie and Pearl streets Saturday evening, Dec. 17. The meeting will start at 7 p.m. and the teenage quartette of Monroe will take part in the program. The public is invited.

Sunday morning at the regular service time of 11 a.m., the children's Christmas program will take place. There will be songs, carols recitations and Bible verses on the part of the young people of the congregation.

Here's why more farmers choose
TWENTIETH CENTURY WELDERS

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal • Brazing
Drilling holes • Bending and shaping
Soldering • Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

NAME CAP ORR TO YEAR BOOK

Cap William Orr, son of Mrs. Charles Johnson, 131 East Chicago boulevard, has been named business manager of the 1956 "Phoenix", Cumberland University yearbook.

Orr, 22, is a freshman in the School of Law. He is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and Adrian College.

Baptist Woman's Society Hears of Mexico City

The Dec. meeting of the Baptist Woman's society at the Youth House Monday evening was attended by about 30 members. Mrs. R. H. Moore read a story regarding candles and their significance as the religious thought and there was a short business meeting during which it was announced that the sum of $67 had been sent to the Maywood, Ill., Old Peoples Home which is supported by the Baptists.

Mrs. Eddie Kirkland acted as auctioneer for the sale of white elephant gifts, proceeds from which were sent to the Mather School for Girls.

Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett then introduced Mrs. Leslie Calhoun and her cousin, Miss Hilda Valdes of Mexico City who showed colored pictures of their home city and its surroundings and sang Spanish songs to the accompaniment of Miss Valdes' guitar.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Mrs. Carl Fosbender, Mrs. Jesse Arnold, Mrs. R. W. Herrick, Mrs. Donald Cobb, Mrs. Hal Kelso and Mrs. Neil Pearson. Tea was poured by Mrs. John Surratt and Mrs. N. C. McConnell.

Indians Lose First SE. Game, 55-50

A second period offensive and defensive lapse cost Tecumseh, defending Southeastern League basketball champs, a victory Friday night at Hillsdale, with the Hornets winning, 55-50.

The lapses occurred in the second period. After trailing, 19-15 at the end of the first quarter, the Indians were able to pick up only eight points in the second while the Hornets added 20 more to take a 39-22 first half lead.

The Indians closed the gap in the third and fourth periods, outscoring the Hornets, 12-9 and 15-7; but they could not overcome the 16 point first half lead. They made back 11 of the points but were still shy five when the final buzzer sounded.

The Indians' downfall actually resulted from the uncanny shot making ability of Don Bohannon, six foot two forward. The lanky Hornet dumped 10 field goals and cashed 7 charity tosses to rack up 27 points.

For the third straight game Mike Sisson, Indian pivot man, led his team in scoring. Mike had five field goals and six free throws for 16 points. Ken Miller hit 11 on two baskets and seven free throws. Other Indians entering the scoring column were Hansen, Dickinson and Spangler with 6 each and Elliott with 5.

Hillsdale's Jayvees won, 48-35.

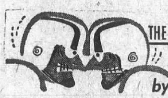
9 SHOPPING DAYS UNTIL CHRISTMAS



THE MIDDLE GUARD

by LES BINGAMAN

ONE OF THE big events in professional football, of course, is the world championship contest between the Western and Eastern division winners, such as occurs Sunday, Dec. 18.

A lot is at stake, not the least of which is cold cash. The difference between the winners' and losers' share of the play-off money is a meaty 20 per cent, amounting to around $1,000 per player.

One thousand bucks for 60 minutes' work isn't hard to take at all.

Then there's the matter of being world's champion, the best in football, and the players and fans take pride in that. However, in the interest of honest reporting, it must be admitted that most players are not greatly excited over being in the Big Game.

Just Another Game

They've been around too long and have had too many other thrills as collegians to be impressed by the title contest. To them, it is just another ball game.

Of course, there is great satisfaction in playing the game, but inasmuch as he's playing for money, the pro is out to win because it means the wherewithal for a lot of groceries on the table.

In the Lions' case, we got $1,500 per man last year in losing to the Cleveland Browns. Each of the Browns collected $2,480, a National Football League record. But the year before when we whipped the Browns, we drew the major share, exactly $2,424 per man.

The money formula is arrived at this way:

Pie Sliced Up

All the receipts are lumped together, the box-office take, radio and TV fees of approximately $100,000, revenue from sale of programs, etc. Then all the expenses are deducted, including rental of stadium and transportation of visiting team (the latter not being done during the regular season).

Of the net amount, 20 per cent goes to the league and 10 per cent to the second place teams in each division. The remaining 70 per cent then is split 60-40 between winner and loser.

The players themselves vote on who will share the profits. Generous teams such as the Lions usually cut in the coaching staff, trainer and equipment man for a full slice of the pie. Even the locker room attendant was handed a $500 slice last year.

Co-Captained Champs

That $2,424 I received in 1953 was the most I ever got for playing a football game. It was my most enjoyable season in football, too, but for reasons other than money. The Lions of 1953 were the greatest team I ever played on. I had the satisfaction of being co-captain with Doak Walker. And it was the year we edged the Browns by one point, 17-16, in a memorable game.

But I can't say any of these were my greatest thrill in football. I was more excited when I played on the Gary Lew Wallace High team that successively was runner-up and won the state championship of Indiana some years ago.

But I guess my greatest thrill was playing on the first Big Ten team officially to go to the Rose Bowl. The team was Illinois, and after the Coast had screamed it didn't want us but mighty Army instead, we whipped the pants off its team, UCLA, 45 to 14. That was a thrill.

(MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION OFFICIAL NEWS BULLETIN)

Snowshoe hares and cottontail rabbits, Michigan's most popular small game animals, are supplying plenty of sport for hunters at this time of year.

Rabbit populations appear to be increased and successes so far this year give indications of a good season.

Hunting seasons on rabbits extend through Jan. 31 in the southern half of the lower peninsula and through March 1 in the northern portions of the state.

Bag limits are five per day, 10 in possession and 50 for the season.

Last year, hunters killed more than 1,400,000 cottontails and 205,000 hares. Game specialists say hunters could harvest two-thirds of the rabbit population in a single season without reducing next year's production, but actual hunter take is far less than half the population.

Plentiful snowfall has aided rabbit hunters this season in tracking and checking on rabbit activity.

Applications for employment in Conservation Department field work are now being accepted by the Michigan Civil Service Commission.

Examinations to be given Jan. 28 will fill vacancies in the positions of "Forestry Aide A" and "Forest Fire Lookout B." Deadline for applications is Dec. 21.

Forest fire lookout positions are filled on a seasonal basis while forestry aides are year-round employees.

Application blanks and additional information can be obtained at all county clerk offices, Michigan employment security offices, or from the Civil Service Commission, Lewis Cass Building, Lansing.

More than 43,000 hunters crossed the Straits of Mackinac during deer season this year, but the total was a drop from last year's 49,500.

But 11,209 deer were taken across on Straits ferries, compared to last year's 10,020.

Also, 165 bears, 57 coyotes, 36 bobcats, 18 foxes, eight timber wolves and one Canada lynx crossed the Straits this year. Last year, 200 bears, 43 coyotes, 27 bobcats, 12 foxes and nine timber wolves were transported south over the Straits.

The Drummond Island total showed 1207 hunters took 368 deer, three coyotes, three bobcats and one bear from the island this year. Last year, 1150 hunters removed 319 deer, five coyotes, five foxes and two bears from the island.

More than 10,000 Michigan hunters will be asked to participate in the annual post card survey of the 1955 firearm deer season.

First mailings of the Conservation Department questionnaire will go out early next month as hunting license lists are compiled.

A statistically-based cross-section of hunters will be asked about their success—or lack of it—and hunting activity. Information obtained in the survey provides a close estimate of the total kill, hunting distribution and other basic data used in establishing hunting regulations and in other aspects of deer herd management.

The former practice of asking every hunter to fill out a report card on his deer hunting results was abandoned this year in favor of the more accurate post card sampling.

Under the present system, every 40th hunter on license lists is contacted in the survey. The high rate of cooperation among hunters—as many as 96 per cent respond—aids in the poll's accuracy.

Results of the poll won't be known until early spring, after all replies are received and processed.

Tories Drop Third Game

Britton-Macon Tories dropped their third game of the season to Sand Creek Friday night, losing 47-34 in a Little Six League game.

Sand Creek took a commanding 16-2 first quarter lead and outscored the Tories 11-8 in the second. Britton turned the tables in the final two periods with 8-7 and 16-13 margins.

Big gun for the Tories was Korican who had 18 points on eight field goals and two free throws. Sand Creek was paced by Knisel with 16.

Britton's reserves won 37-35.

Knights Lose Close Game

Not even center John Murray who cashed 28 points on 12 baskets and four charity tosses could pull Boysville's League of the Lakes game with Dexter Friday night out of the fire.

Down 31-21 at the end of the first half, the Knights made a powerful comeback, but the buzzer sounded when the Knights were two points shy, 46-44.

Leading from the beginning, Dexter had a 16-7 first quarter lead and a slender 15-14 second quarter margin. The Knights outscored Dexter 17-10 and 6-5 in the last two quarters.

Mosher led Dexter's scoring with 16.

Boysville also lost the preliminary game, 31-22.

Need New Bridge

The State Highway Department says it will improve M-52 south of Adrian and continue it north of Billington's Corners to Manchester. The department does not say specifically when this work will be done.

But when it does begin, highway officials might include in their planning help on the construction of a new bridge on M-52 north of town.

The old bridge has had it. Every time a car or truck goes across the bridge, it creaks and groans and one of these days it is quite possible that it will give up the ghost. If a car or truck is on it at the time a horrible tragedy could result.

The amount of both car and truck traffic warrants a new bridge.

But it never will become a reality unless the need is pointed out to state highway department officials. And now is the best time to do this. Action from our city officials right now is in order.

Take More Interest

So many comments, most of them inaccurate, have been heard over the winter taxes now payable both in Tecumseh and in Tecumseh Township that one would be led to believe that nothing had ever been written or said about these taxes. The following may help to correct some of these statements:

First, the taxes are not for city or for township services. All the tax money collected in winter taxes go for county and school purposes. The city and township are just collection agencies.

Nobody likes paying taxes, particularly when the payments come during the holiday season and when funds could be used in countless other ways. But just because a taxpayer is upset over his tax payments is no excuse to say that nobody had ever told him his school taxes were going up. This facts was mentioned several times in this paper and in the daily press. And the increase in school operating costs have been discussed at dozens of public meetings.

Another misconception about present tax bills is the story that the present re-appraisal of city real property caused the hike in individual tax bills. This is untrue. Assessing for present tax bills was done early last winter and approved by the board of review in late winter last year.

The assessments were made by the city assessor and, in the case of township property, by the township supervisor. In both cases boards of review passed on the assessments and every property owner had a chance to be heard by the boards.

It could be that folks are not taking enough interest in their local government. Afterall, it is up to YOU to learn about your government and how it works.

You Can't Win $64,000!

The radio-TV program, "The $64,000 Question," has received an enormous amount of publicity. And here's a fact that most people may have overlooked — even though a contestant answers all the tough questions, right to the end, he can't possibly win $64,000.

He'll get a perfectly good check for that amount, of course. But — assuming he is a single man earning $4,000 a year—the check would have to total $448,711 before he'd have $64,000 to keep for himself, free and clear.

Why? The answer is the federal income tax. It goes up so far and so fast that it becomes virtually confiscatory in upper brackets. A man who does take the long chances and wins the $64,000, actually gets to keep about $25,000—well under half.

BY L. M. BRILE

President, Fairmont Aluminum Co., Fairmont, W. V.

Oh Lord, when we come to Thee in humility to ask Thy blessing, we ask not to be given of material things, not to have, but to be given of Thy Spirit; not to have, but to be—to be steadfast in our devotion to Thee and to the honor and dignity of men; to be aware of the virtues of righteousness, of mercy, of charity, of honor, of integrity and to have these virtues inculcated into our souls.

In a world torn by misunderstandings and strife, may there be brought about a new world of peace, good will and understanding, where all men may be welded into a larger and greater fraternity of brotherhood, in a spirit of mutual helpfulness and cooperation, in a true fraternity organized in Thy Spirit and in a spirit of truth, justice and good will. May all men at last come to know the beauty and the charm of spirituality, justice, charity and peace.

Trim Greens from Yard for Holidays

In Michigan, the most common kinds of trees that provide greenery for holiday decorations are red or Norway pine, jack, Scotch and white pine, balsam fir, white cedar, juniper, and black, white and Norway spruce.

The best of these for indoor Christmas decorations, explains Joseph T. Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State University, are the pines, the firs and the cedars.

Both hemlock and spruces are good for exterior wreaths and sprays, but when they are brought into a warm building, they may lose their needles within a week. Of the pines, white pines is easiest to work with, because the stems are thin and the foliage soft and bushy. Juniper provides excellent decorative material, but it is hard to use because of its very sharp-pointed scale-like leaves.

Cox suggests you don't overlook your own yard. Perhaps some of your garden and lawn evergreens need trimming. If you do this, be sure to trim them carefully with a sharp knife or sharp pruning shears. Make the cut close to the tree limb so that no ugly stub is left.

Also remember that all evergreens should be cut with a sharp knife or shears so that the wounds heal quickly. Proper trimming can improve a tree's appearance and stimulate growth. Trimming in late November and December appears to do no harm to forest or garden evergreens.

Cox warns that collecting greenery from federal or state lands is prohibited without the permission of the forester or conservation officer in charge.

Jack Jackson grinned broadly as I handed him a settlement statement and check.

"How lucky can a guy get?" he asked. "I sure didn't know you would sell my house for ALL CASH within ten days after I listed it."

It was a luck break for all of us," I added.

"Yes, but you didn't know how much that sale meant to me. I had my neck out a mile."

He continued, "You see we took a long chance and bought in Detroit before even listing our house with you. Shortly after learning we had to move, we saw an ad on a house that sounded about right. Sure enough, it was. So we gave the Detroit real estate firm a down payment. You see we would have been in a terrible jam if you hadn't sold our house."

"Well, Jack," I replied, "We like to help owners that sincerely want to sell. You had a nice home, fairly priced, and in a good district. It deserved a quick sale. And we appreciate your confidence as shown by the exclusive listing."

"Yes," I concluded, "When people count on us, you can be sure we are going to try extra hard to perform well for them."

May we list your home too?

Grade School News

BROWNVILLE
Miss Bugbee

Christmas time is here! Our stockings are all hung up on our fireplace. We have brought many decorations to make our room look pretty. Mrs. Lamkin drew a Santa with his sleigh and reindeer on our blackboard. We enjoy looking at it. Chuck Gillies brought a gingerbread house to show. His mother had made it out of cookies, gum, and candy. Our stories, games, records, and rhythms have all been about Christmas. We have pretended we were different kinds of toys. We are having such an exciting time. We have made all sorts of decorations—some to put on our Christmas tree. We also have some surprises too, but we can't tell you about that. We want to show our mothers that we appreciate all of the delicious cookies which they have been sending us.

We know why we celebrate Christmas and have a large poster telling us about it. Barry Lamkin brought us the Manger Scene. We have also learned about Christmas around the world. Our Christmas unit has also included things which we see and hear at Christmas time, the work which is done, and how we can help. Of course, we wrote our letters to Santa early.

Donna Glauser is the only one having a December birthday.

Diana Clark and Chuckie Kelley have had their tonsils out. Many of us have been absent because of colds.

Our visitors have been Mary Lou Hokes, Mrs. Stanley Miller, Mrs. Maples, Mrs. Puffer, Mrs. Koelbel, Mrs. Frownfelder, Mrs. Lamkin, Mrs. Bunge, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Russell Miller, Mrs. Osburn, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Gillies, Mrs. Damon, Mrs. Foote, Mrs. Hoekstra, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Dotson, Mrs. Bauer, Mrs. Sparks, and Mrs. Christi.

We are happy that so many of our mothers came to the Mother's Club meeting. The next one will be Jan. 24. Hope to see you then.

"Although we're only in Kindergarten
Small for our ages, folks say—
Still we can wish a great big wish
For you on Christmas Day —
Merry Christmas!

FIRST GRADE—WEST BRANCH
Miss Steinhoff

December's a time
For joyful living.
We'll all keep Christmas
With loving and giving.

About two more weeks and the greatest day of the year will be here. Here in the first grade we are really preparing for it.

We have a Christmas lantern blackboard border. We've hung our stockings up on the fireplace. The nativity scene appears on our bulletin board. We've ordered a tree and we're busy with many party preparations.

In reading we're about ready to start "Fun with Dick and Jane." We have finished working with our number groups from one to ten.

We've studied about machines in science.

Jill Cunkle has moved to Milan.

Mrs. Silas Kring and Mrs. Glenn Rupp visited us this month. Many mothers didn't visit us last month. You are welcome to come anytime.

Merry Christmas! !

SECOND GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Callihan

Everywhere we see Christmas! We are glad to see the beautiful manger scene in the showcase. It will help us to remember the real meaning of this holiday.

We have our stockings hung a bit early, but we like to know they are ready.

It was interesting to learn about the Christmas flower, the Poinsettia and to find that the mistletoe lives on other trees in the South. It has to be shot from the tree by arrows or guns.

Mrs. Illeck has invited us to have our gym class with the third grade as we are too tired by Friday night to enjoy our period.

We have triplets!!! Joann Brown, Lee Hannibal, and Jean Forrester are all born on the 17th of December.

Jacqueline Cunkle leaves this week and we are so sorry to have her go, but we know she will enjoy her country school at Mooreville.

A Happy Christmas to All.

PATTERSON SCHOOL

The date for the Patterson P.T.A. has been changed to Dec. 22. The time of this meeting will be 7:30.

The kindergarten is very busy. In their showcase they have a little stable with Baby Jesus, Mary, Joseph, the shepherds and the wise men. A bright star is in there too.

Gregory Wegner is a new pupil in the first grade. This makes 24 boys and 11 girls in this grade.

Marvin Gregg, Dianne Hock and Earl Cook of the third grade are back with us after illness at home. Our room looks real nice for Christmas.

Harry Hodge, a fourth grader, left this week to go to school in Carrollton, Ohio.

The fifth grade is through with their Tonettes and are now starting on their band instruments.

Jack Dick and Mike Rice are now on the Safety Patrol.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
New Light on an Old Subject

Mr. Evans from the Lighting Company gave an interesting talk at the Community Hall last night—on how farmers can cut electric bills. For those who missed it, here's a short recap.

Don't try to light up the cobwebs in the rafters. Use a reflector and a smaller bulb will probably do the job. Too many farmers use naked bulbs that waste 50% of the light.

Try using moveable projector bulbs that beam light the way a searchlight does. A couple of these "spots" will often give you better illumination than a gang of juice-wasting overhead lamps.

From where I sit, it's amazing how often we misuse the things we have . . . like electricity. We also make a mistake if we misuse our right of personal choice—about which candidate to vote for, say, or whether beer or coffee makes the ideal mealtime drink—by trying to force our opinions on others. Respect for the other fellow's point of view should be our "guiding light."

Money can't buy it in any other car!

Lifeguard Design in the '56 Ford!

Lifeguard steering wheel has deep-center construction. Rim of wheel is mounted high above recessed steering post . . . "cushions" your chest against impact in case of accident! New Lifeguard mirror "gives" on impact . . . resists shattering.

Lifeguard double-grip door locks help keep doors closed, even under impact. And statistics prove that if you stay inside the car in an accident, you're twice as safe! These safety locks resist stress from two directions—instead of the usual one.

Optional nylon seat belts offer you 3-way security. They give your children far more protection in case of sudden stops in everyday driving . . . they help keep passengers in their seats in the event of an accident . . . and they make driving far less tiring.

Optional Lifeguard padding on instrument panel and sun visors not only reduces possibility of injuries, but in many cases prevents them altogether! It's five times as shock absorbent as foam rubber. Come in and see all Ford safety features soon.

The fine car at half the fine-car price!

Services Held for Mrs. J. Dunsmore

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Holloway Presbyterian church for Anna Belle Dunsmore, widow of John Dunsmore. Mrs. Dunsmore died Friday afternoon, Dec. 9 at Herrick Memorial hospital after being a patient for one month. She nad been in failing health for the past year.

The daughter of John and Margaret Mitchell Rainey, she was born May 25, 1876 in the home on Rodgers highway where she spent her entire life. She was a member of the Holloway Presbyterian church and the Raisin Sewing Circle.

Mrs. Dunsmore is survived by one sister Mis Maude Rainey of Holloway; two nephews, Melvin McWilliams of Holloway and Eryl Rainey of Detroit and a niece, Mrs. Matt Lunn of Holloway. She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband; a daughter, Margaret; two sisters, Ella Rainey and Mrs. Jennie McWilliams and one brother, William Rainey.

Mrs. Dunsmore was taken from the Green Funeral Home to the Holloway church at 2 p.m. where services were conducted by Dr. Paul Hessert of Adrian College. Burial was in the Holloway cemetery and Robert and Dale Mitchell and Matt and James Lunn of Holloway, Mason McWilliams of Deerfield and Eryl Rainey of Detroit were bearers.

ST. PETER'S GUILD HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

A collection donated to the St. Peter's Boys Home in Detroit took place of the usual gift exchange at the Christmas party of St. Peter's Guild last Thursday. The group enjoyed a potluck dinner in the Episcopal Parish House from tables covered and decorated in a colorful holiday theme.

The invocation was asked by the Rev. E. C. Dickin, who was a guest of the Guild and Mrs. M. W. Wilson presided at the routine business meeting which followed.

Mrs. L. W. Larsen was in charge of a program of Christmas hymns and intorduced four girls who, accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Driscoll entertained with two tap dances. They were Gloria and Jo Ann Green, Jana Barron and Rae Lynne Crosby. Mrs. Albert Merz then sang a series of selections which included "Whither Thou Goest," "He" and "White Christmas." She also was accompanied by Mrs. Driscoll.

Two new members were reported to the Guild, Mrs. C. M. Brown and Mrs. Karl Schneider Sr. and the guests of the day were Mrs. Merz, Mrs. R. W. Herrick, Mrs. Donald Cobb and Mrs. H. H. Christie of N. Hollywood, Calif. The last is a house guest of her sister, Mrs. H. H. Koelbel. Mrs. M. W. Wilson and Mrs. Lloyd Rhein were hostesses for the meeting.

Auxiliary Marks 11th Anniversary

About 50 members of the auxiliary of the Order of the Eagles and their guests took part Sunday afternoon in the ceremonies honoring the 11th anniversary of the birthday of the organization.

The 12 presidents conducted a candlelighting ceremony of the birthday cake and each received a Christmas corsage as a gift from the president, Mrs. Thomas Gallant.

About 20 were present from the Adrian organization including their team and Mrs. Howard Landin of Ridgeway was initiated into the auxiliary. The ceremony was in honor of Mrs. Mabel Duncan, who is now a state trustee.

Following the afternoon meeting, the ladies were joined by their husbands and a potluck supper was served to 100 at 6.30.

Monday Club Holiday Breakfast Attended by 100

Holly and Tinsel was the title given the Monday Club breakfast party at the Methodist church at 9:30 Monday morning and holly and tinsel in the form of corsages at each place decorated the small red covered tables at which the nearly 100 members and guests were seated. Gay Christmas cookies formed the centerpieces and the white napkins formed candles.

Most important of those guests were the officers of the County Federation, Mrs. Cleon Mason of Blissfield, first vice president; Mrs. Harold Theilan of Adrian, second vice president; Mrs. W. P. Rogers of Palmyra, treasurer and Mrs. Byron Curtis of Manitou Beach, secretary. Also present were groups from the Clinton, Macon and Britton Women's Clubs.

Breakfast was served by ladies of the W.S.C.S. of the church, coffee being poured at a table with a centerpiece of holly and pompom chrysanthemums. Holiday music was provided as the guests assembled by Mrs. W. G. Waldron.

As breakfast ended, Christmas carols were sung with Mrs. Perry Hayden leading and Mrs. William Hayden at the piano and the music set the stage for the entrance of Mrs. W. C. Taylor who was the speaker of the morning.

Mrs. Taylor, who is from Toledo and who has entertained Tecumseh audiences before, is an original monologist who received her inspiration from Cornelia Otis Skinner. Dressed in an old time costume and carrying packages from her Christmas shopping, she wandered in as if attracted by the singing, apologized for the intrusion and remained to talk entertainingly of past Christmases and their significance.

Her main thought was the influence of happy memories on the minds of children and her talk included stories told to her by her parents all of which led naturally into the recital of the Bible Christmas story. She closed with the suggestion that each member of the audience make this Christmas a happy memory for some child.

There was no business transacted, but the president, Mrs. Herbert Murphy introduced the guests and presented the president of each visiting club with a miniature potted poinsettia. Mrs. Robert Bonner, Mrs. Carlos Jones and Mrs. T. Rentschler assisted Mrs. Murphy with the decorations

LODGE MEETS

The Britton Rebekah Lodge met last Wednesday with Mrs. Herbert Maynard, vice grand presiding in the absence of the noble grand.

New officers elected for the coming year were: noble grand, Mrs. Maynard; vice grand, Mrs. Forrest Weichner; recording secretary, Mrs. R. B. Kanous; financial secretary, Mrs. George Brablec; treasurer, Mrs. Herman Bates; and degree captain, Mrs. Theodore Zornow.

The chapter was draped for Mrs. Florence Dormer, past president of the Michigan Rebekah Assembly. Plans were made for a Christmas party and family night Dec. 21 with a potluck supper following the meeting. There will be a 25 cent gift exchange.

Mrs. R. B. Kanous was appointed chairman of the committee to remember shut-in members at Christmas time. Mrs. Zornow read her letter of appointment as district deputy president of the Britton lodge. She also read a letter from her son, Sp3/c Kenneth Zornow, who is stationed at Fairbanks, Alaska telling of airplane crashes and fires that happened recently.

Visitors were present from Jackson and Milan. Lunch was served after the meeting and the birthday song was sung for Delores Zornow. Mrs. Charles Anspach received the mystery box.

ELECTS OFFICERS

Sarah DuBois Past Noble Grands club met at the home of Mrs. Anna McCarbery Thursday evening for their Christmas party. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Anne Fairbanks; vice president, Pearl Smith; secretary-treasurer, Ethel Kanous. Secret pals were revealed and new ones accepted for the coming year. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Lucille Bradley and Mrs. Helen Ousterhout.

The Britton Methodist church will have a family night cooperative dinner Sunday, Dec. 18 at 6:30 p.m. followed by a Christmas program.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Covell of Plymouth spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe O'Neil have received word from their son-in-law, Kenneth Zornow that he has been promoted from Pfc. to specialist third class. Sp3/c Zornow is a track vehicle repairman in the 771st ordinance battalion stationed at Elison AFB, Fairbanks, Alaska. Mrs. Zornow is with him in Fairbanks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cundiff spent one day last week in Ann Arbor.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunbar were Mrs. Don McKenzie and daughter and Douglas and Norman Bortram of Manchester.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Frederick and daughter were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Crouch of Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. William Case and son of Palmyra.

Auxiliary Has New Members

Three new members were initiated into the V.F.W. Auxiliary at the Dec. 7 meeting held at the Post Home on Mill street. They were Mrs. Robert Anteau, Mrs. George Bishop and Mrs. Kenneth Hunter Jr. Two guests were present from the auxiliary of Cement City.

The president announced that there would be a district rally in Jan. with the Jackson auxiliary as host. It was also announced that the auxiliary would serve a dinner for the service department of the Tecumseh Products Co., Thursday, Dec. 15.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Grenval Spangler and Mrs. Richard Johnson. The next regular meeting will be Jan. 4.

Last Sunday the V.F.W. Post and Auxiliary held a joint Christmas party at the Post Home which was a family affair. One hundred and twenty-five were present and there were a tree, a Santa Claus and candy and gifts for the children. During the afternoon the children were entertained with games and there was a social hour for the adults which was followed by a family potluck supper at 6:30.

GOOD CHEER CLASS HEARS OF TRIP

Nineteen members of the Good Cheer Class of the Baptist church met in the Youth House Friday evening for their annual Christmas party. After a 6:30 potluck supper, a short meeting of routine business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett. Mrs. Grace Shea was in charge of the period of devotions, reading the Bible Christmas story.

The guest speaker was Mrs. George Schumm, who told the class of her trip last summer to her birthplace in Bavaria. She also told of visiting other places of interest, particularly Switzerland which she had always desired to see. She spent two months in Europe, most of the time with relatives which include two brothers, two sisters and their families.

Several Christmas readings and an exchange of gifts closed the evening's program.

LADIES AID SPONSORS PARTY

The Ladies Aid of Immanuel Lutheran church sponsored a congregational Christmas party Sunday evening, Dec. 11 in the church parlors, which were gayly decorated in the Christmas motif.

Chicken dinner was served at 6:30 p.m. During the social hour, Miss Kay Miller and Miss Dorothy Schwartz presented an amusing skit and the entire group joined in singing favorite Christmas carols. Gifts were presented to the children.

The evening of fellowship was closed by singing "Silent Night" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The Macon church Christmas Cantata will be held Sunday, Dec. 18 with the junior and senior choirs presenting "The Light of Christmas." The public is invited to this program which is under the direction of Mrs. Vaughn Whited and Miss Hallie Mehler.

The Sunday School of the Macon church will present the program, "Everywhere! Everywhere! Christmas Tonight," Thursday, Dec. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. David Bush was hostess to the Macon Women's Club last Thursday. Several members planned to attend the Christmas breakfast held by the Tecumseh Monday Club last Monday morning.

Larry Neidlinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Neidlinger spent Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in Detroit showing his 4-H heifer, which won blue and red ribbons at the Lenawee County Fair.

Mrs. Joseph Bock and daughter Mrs. Loren Dicks spent Wednesday in Dearborn.

Miss May Baker of Toledo spent several days last week with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Travis. She left Monday to spend the winter in Florida.

Capt. and Mrs. Ralph Camburn and family left Monday for their home in El Paso, Texas, after spending several days visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Camburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moxley and three children of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hammond and children of Milan, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day and family of Tecumseh were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow. This is the first time in eight years the group has been together.

Mrs. Ruth Miller of Saline, formerly of Macon, and mother of Gerald Miller, is a patient in St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor. Her room number is 3024.

The Family Night Christmas party of the Macon Methodist church was held last Thursday evening. Tables were gaily decorated with red sleighs filled with snow-covered evergreens and colored ornaments. Mrs. Elwin Bugbee and daughter and Susan, Kendra and Peggy Frost did the decorating. The Rev. Sam Burns, English missionary to Africa, spoke on his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore and sons were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moore of Tecumseh. Other guests were Gerald Carey Jr., Miss Mary Jo Haynes of Ypsilanti and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Alderdyce of Tecumseh.

Mrs. Kenenth Frost returned home from Herrick Memorial hospital Saturday afternoon.

DAUGHTERS OF ST. PETER HAVE CHRISTMAS PARTY

A turkey dinner in the Episcopal Parish House was a feature of the annual Christmas party of the Daughters of St. Peter Tuesday evening. Sprays of evergreen and red candles decorated the tables and a beautifully lighted Christmas tree carried out the holiday atmosphere. Eighteen were present.

There was a brief business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Harry Schuch and the remainder of the evening was a pleasant social time during which mystery sisters were revealed by the exchange of Christmas gifts.

The Jan. 3 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. William Bly in River Acres.

ORDINANCE

Meeting of the Village Council of the Village of Britton, County of Lenawee, and State of Michigan held on the 5th day of December 1955.

Present: Mayor Fred Bryan Trustees C. Fairbanks, D. Fairbanks, Lorenz, Luegge, Brown and Lewis.

Absent: None

The following preamble and Ordinance was offered by Councilman Brown and supported by Councilman C. Fairbanks.

WHEREAS service upon the Village Council, either as President or Trustee, is a task requiring considerable time and sacrifice of personal interest; and

WHEREAS it is the opinion of the Council that a moderate payment to the President and Trustees of the Village, during future terms, might be an added inducement for qualified persons to serve in such capacities.

NOW THEREFORE THE VILLAGE OF BRITTON ORDAINS:

1. The President and each Trustee of the Village of Britton shall be paid an annual salary equal to the sum of $7.50 and $5.00 respectively for each meeting, general or special, of the village council actually attended by him during his term of office.
2. The salary due the President and each Trustee for the preceding year shall be payable on the 15th day of March in each year from the general fund of the village.
3. This Ordinance shall not be applicable to the President and Trustees of the village now holding office, during their present term of office.
4. This Ordinance shall be effective on and after publication.

Ayes: Unanimous

Nays: None

ORDINANCE DECLARED ADOPTED.

Attest:

Edmund J. Millvard, Clerk

Dated: 5 December 1955. 12-15

MERRY MERRY CHRISTMAS

GREETINGS

Most Christmas Trees Cut Months Ago, Cold-Stored

Whether decorated trees originated with Martin Luther in the sixteenth century, or St. Boniface in the eighth century, or the prehistoric Druids, is still disputed.

Undisputed, however, is the fact that these pungent green symbols of Yule cheer are as popular in atomic age households as they ever were in German halls of other centuries.

Sale of 30 million Christmas trees in the US annually involves farmers, conservation officials, timber firms, shippers, and even bootleggers.

TREE BOOTLEGGERS are those few scavengers who, without permits, hack their contraband indiscriminately from private and public lands. Their wares are usually shoddy enough to warn off prospective buyers.

Legal trees, usually seedlings, thinned from timber stands owned by lumber companies, begin their trip to market in September or October as crews consisting of cutters, graders and bundlers select camp sites for their three-month harvesting operation.

AXE-WIELDING cutters lead the parties. They cut the chosen trees, trim off dead and injured limbs and square the butts. Then the bundlers drag the cut trees to double saw horses for grading. The grading device is made of several vertical boards arranged parallel at different distances and nailed securely to one of the sawhorses. The trees are placed across the sawhorses, and the butts fitted into the proper slots.

When six trees of equal size are lined up in this manner, they are tied together into bundles that are hauled by truck or sleigh to cold storage areas. If the source is near the market, and the weather permits, the trees are often left in the woods until selling time. Since a frozen tree will break up when felled, cutting must be done before hard freezing weather.

SERVE-YOURSELF tree plantations, set aside in rocky or sandy areas by many farmers, have become popular with families who like to drive into the country and legally cut their own Christmas trees on the day of decoration.

Over half of all Christmas trees marketed in the U.S. are balsam firs cut in northern forests from Maine to Minnesota, and cold-stored months ahead, or shipped directly during the holiday season.

ASIDE FROM its distinctive spicy odor and thick pyramidal shape, the balsam fir holds its leaves longer and stands cold storage better than most other Yule greenery. Table size trees are often cut in August and bundled with branches tight against the main shoot. When the branches are released several months later, they spring back into shape in a few minutes with no signs of damage.

Despite these advantages, the balsam fir still shares popularity with such favorites as spruce, Scotch pine, Red pine, White pine, Douglas fir, cedar and hemlock, all of which, if bought fresh, hold their leaves well for the week or ten days of the holiday season.

ALL SAY SAME

Merry Christmas the world over is greeted gaily in different ways. The Portuguese say "Boas Festa;" the Italians, "Buone Feste Natalizie." In Germany, "Froeliche Wienachten," and in France, Joyeaux Noel." They all mean "Merry Christmas."

Realty Views

After a warm, enjoyable chat with a friend who stopped by the office the other day, the entire staff wished that we could visit personally all of our friends and acquaintances. At this Christmas Season especially, we realize our friends mean more to us than anything else.

Since it is nearly impossible to visit each of you personally, we hope you will let this message serve to renew our friendship.

Without the loyal support of our friends and acquaintances, our business couldn't exist. And although we may not get around to saying it as much as we should, we appreciate your calls and recommendations. So to each of you a sincere "Thank You."

We want you to know we will continue to try to merit your patronage and confidence. We pledge our best efforts in helping you solve the problem of buying or selling real estate.

All of US at Kohler Real Estate wish each of you a very MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY, PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR!!

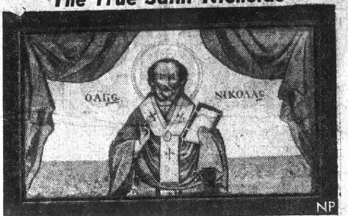
The True Saint Nicholas



THE NATIVE LAND of Saint Nicholas—or "Santa Claus," as his name has come to be written and pronounced in America—will honor him this Christmas by issuing a special stamp through the government's Post Office Department. If you're surprised to read that the North Pole has a post office, the explanation is that we're not referring to the North Pole, for St. Nick's native land was far from there indeed: he was born in sunny Turkey, in the palm-covered province of Antalya on the Mediterranean. The above portrait is found in Turkey in the church where he served as a bishop until his death in 342 A.D. Renowned for his many kind deeds, and especially for his loving generosity towards children, the good bishop has become a legendary figure in the folklore of many nations. To accommodate the many travelers who visit the church, located in the blue mountains of the city of Demre, the Turkish government has constructed a new road.

Biblical tradition is very rich in the ancient lands of Turkey. In the city of Antioch, where the followers of Christ first called themselves Christians, the site where St. Peter led the first Mass can still be seen. Many other saints, including the Apostles Paul, John, James, Luke and Barnaby were born in this region. Mary, Mother of Christ, retired after the Crucifixion to the city of Ephesus, where her abode has been excavated and opened to the public by the Turkish government.

Christmas Star Mystery Is Recalled Each Dec.

The mystery of the Christmas star brings popular interest in astronomy to a peak in Dec., says University of Michigan associate professor Hazel M. Losh. And it's a mystery astronomers haven't solved yet.

"The narrative about the star is too incomplete, the date of the appearance of the star too uncertain, the early calendar too unreliable to lead us to any definite conclusions," she states. One explanation advanced is that the "star" reported to have guided the shepherds may have been a conjunction of bright planets.

The Sun will reach its southernmost point this month, the winter solstice, as it is called. The Sun will then swing in its shortest daily arc across the southern hemisphere sky. We will have our shortest day and longest night, about nine and 15 hours, repectively, Professor Losh points out.

At this time of the year the Earth is closer to the Sun than during our summer which tends to make our winter a little milder and the southern summer a little hotter. In spite of the fact that we are closer to the Sun than we are in the summer the Sun's rays now hit us obliquely which lessens their force, the astronomy professor explains.

Venus, after its long appearance during the summer and early fall as an evening planet, is now the "morning star." And Mars will be the bright orange object in the southwestern sky.

During Dec. evenings some of the most beautiful and colorful stars in all the heavens light up the eastern horizon, Professor Losh says, citing Orion, the giant huntsman, as an example. He moves across the southern sky during the course of the night.

And turning to the northwestern horizon at Christmas time, the Northern Cross, Cygnus, stands in an upright position with the bright star Deneb marking the top, a fitting symbol for the season, she concludes.

FIRST CARD CREATED IN 1842

Over 250 years ago English school children wrote Christmas expressions of good will called "Christmas pieces." From this school chore came the gracious custom of sending Christmas cards.

The first known Christmas card was created in 1742 in London by a young etcher named William Egley. Original of this first card is now on display in the British museum.

In the United States, Louis Prang published the first Christmas cards. During the 1870's and 80's Prang produced thousands of beautiful cards and has become known as the grandfather of the business.

Hints For Christmas Mailing

Hundreds of thousands of Christmas cards and packages will be lost this year because of illegibly written addresses. Servicemen overseas, relatives, friends, business associates—all will be part of a disappointed army whose mail goes astray, because, as a national magazine recently stated, we have become a "nation of scrawlers."

Yet a few simple rules and just a little attention to it will improve anybody's handwriting immediately, says the Handwriting Foundation in a special appeal aimed at cutting down losses.

WATCH OUT FOR TRICKY LETTERS

Never close these loops: e l f

Never loop non-looped strokes: t i d

Always close letters like: a g d

WATCH OUT FOR "LOOK-ALIKE" NUMBERS

1-7 3-5-8

NP

All addresses, says the Foundation, should be written in at least three well-spaced lines, with zone numbers included. This goes for the return address as well. Take special care with the "tricky" letters and numbers shown on the chart.

Your signature, on greeting and gift cards, should be legible. Include the last name when identification might otherwise be in doubt. If it's a family card, make the children part of the greeting, and let them sign the card, too.

For far away friends and relatives, add a short note—a few words of greeting and maybe a promise of a longer letter soon. A New Year's card is appropriate for friends you've forgotten at Christmas. And never give money gifts to the postman, milkman and others without at least the personal touch of your signature.

You don't have to be an artist to decorate a card or gift package. A pen and colored inks (try red and green for Christmas) is all you need. A tree in outline, some stars, a few heavy dots . . . and you've drawn your own Christmas spirit. Another personal touch is a note in an envelope attached to the outside of a gift package.

As for next year's greeting card and gift list, compile it now. Write each name on a separate index card, and alphabetize them in a file box to simplify additions and changes. Or keep a booklet, with blank pages between names for newcomers. Such a list prevents embarrassing duplication or omission at card-sending time.

And always remember, concludes the Handwriting Foundation, that the written message is part of the Christmas spirit. Be sure to make the message legible.

Magic

There's a magic that comes with Christmas,
A magic that fills
  the heart,
And it glistens in every window
Of village . . . in town or mart.

There's a magic that comes with Christmas,
In Santa and fairy trees,
In the laughter of merry children
And people on bended knees.

There's a magic that comes with Christmas,
A magic for old and young,
For it seems that people are kinder
When simple carols are sung.

There's a magic that comes with Christmas
As the scarlet candles glow;
Because Christ was born in a manger
In Bethlehem long ago.

"DON'T LET THE FIREMEN BEAT ME TO YOUR HOUSE! KEEP SPARKS AND FLAMES AWAY FROM THE CHRISTMAS TREE...KEEP YOUR CHRISTMAS MERRY!"

CHECK TREE WIRING

Check for defective wiring or connections around the Christmas tree. When selecting a place for the tree it is best to stay away from curtains or from draperies that might ingnite easily.

WRAPPING PACKAGES

If you've taken the trouble shop for a gift, just don't wrap any old way. Take some pains with the wrapping. The most expensive present takes on new importance when properly wrapped.

ALL READY FOR CHRISTMAS. Vivacious Jean Simmons, English stage and screen star currently playing in the cinema version of Guys and Dolls takes time out to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and finish decorating her Christmas tree with Savings Bonds. Ineligible to buy them for herself, Miss Simmons has purchased several for her American friends. Paint Brushes Make Fine Gifts For Handymen

For the husband whose homework is in the "handyman" class, no finer Christmas present can be found than a set of good paint brushes.

Every handyman likes to use the right tools for the job to be done. And, in painting, selection of the right brush for the painting job to be done is essential to attain professional-looking results.

For basic home painting needs, a set of five brushes is ideal.

Such a set includes a sash brush, probably an inch or an inch-and-a-half wide; a two-inch varnish brush, a wider varnish or enamel brush, two-and-one-half or three inches, with a chiseled edge; and two wall brushes, three and four or four-and-a-half inches wide.

HUNG STOCKINGS

Stockings, in early America, were hung at the chimney on Christmas Eve by children of Dutch and German settlers, who hoped that St. Nicholas would fill them with gifts and goodies.

The origin of the tradition is not definitely known, but there is a legend that the Saint once dropped some gold coins down a chimney which were caught by a stocking that had been hung up to dry.

More likely, the tradition stems from a custom observed by European children, who placed their shoes near the fireplace and filled them with food for St. Nicholas horse.

COOKIE DECORATOR

Improvise a pastry tube for decorating Christmas cookies! Just make a cone out of a double thickness of waxed paper. Fasten the cone in place with a bit of cellulose tape or a pin. Then snip off the tip of the cone with scissors to make a small opening. Pile confectioners' sugar frosting — tinted the shade you want — into the cone, and go to work.

Many Holiday Festivities Date Back to Pagan Celebrations

The winter Solstice was once a matter of very grave concern to the heathen of ancient Europe. It was then that the warmth of the sun was weakest and it was then that the days in the north became so short that it was feared that the sun might finally disappear forever.

Fires were lit to rekindle the sun's heat. And as the sun turned in its course, and as its warmth and light began to increase, there was much celebrating and great rejoicing.

There is reason to believe that many features of our Christmas festivities are nothing more than a continuation of this ancient pagan celebration. The Yule log, for example, is a clear survival of the fire festival of the sun worshippers during the winter solstice.

THE ENGLISH are still great users of the Yule log. And somewhere they acquired the practice of burning ash fagots on Christmas, possibly as an out-growth of the legend that Joseph gathered and burned fagots of ash on that first Christmas.

However that may be, the present belief is that the burning of fagots wards off misfortune. And girls often select a fagot as, with others it is placed in the fire. The first that breaks into flames foretells the girl who will be first to marry.

IN GREECE, when the Christmas log is burned, two olive leaves are placed on the hot coals. One represents a designated boy and the other the girl he loves.

If the heat causes the leaves to curl toward each other, the pair will live long in happiness. But if the leaves curl away from each other, the reverse is true. Should they be immediately consumed in the flames, that is best of all, for it shows that their love, too, will be all consuming.

FORMERLY in the British Isles it was believed that elves and fairies delighted in taking part in the festive Christmas gatherings. It was thought that these invisible little folk live in the foliage of trees and consequently evergreen boughs were brought into homes during the Yule-tide season in order that the tiny visitors might be more comfortable during their stay. The evergreen decorations continue, of course, to this day.

Try These Recipes

CHRISTMAS TREES

2/3 Cup shortening
3/4 Cup sugar
2 well beaten eggs
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemond rind
2 Cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoon baking powder

Thoroughly cream shortening and sugar. Add eggs, lemon juice and grated rind; beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients; mix thoroughly. Chill dough. Roll 1/8 inch thick on slightly floured surface. Cut trees or stars, using floured cutter; brush lightly with slightly beaten egg white; sprinkle with colored sugar if desired. Bake on greased cookie sheet in moderate over 375 deg. about 10 minutes. Makes about 4½ dozen cookies.

CHRISTMAS FRUIT COOKIES

Cream one cup shortening and 2 cups brown sugar
Beat in 2 eggs
Stir in ½ cup sour milk or buttermilk
Sift in 3½ cups sifted, all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt
Add 1½ cups broken nutmeats, 2 cups mixed candied fruit, 2 cups dates cut in pieces
Chill for one hour
Drop by teaspoon on lightly greased baking sheet.
Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until set.
Garnish with cherries or nuts.

CHRISTMAS DATE BARS

1 cup sugar
3 eggs, beaten until light
2 cups chopped dates
1 cup broken nut meats
1 cup bread flour, scant
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cloves, if desired
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, if desired
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add sugar to beaten eggs gradually, blend until very light. Add dates and nuts. Measure sifted flour and sift with other dry ingredients. Add sifted dry ingredients and vanilla. Beat the batter until ingredients are well blended. Pour in 9x13 inch greased pan. Bake in 325 degree oven 25 minutes. Cool, cut into bars. Roll in powdered sugar. These stay soft and fresh a long time.

SUGAR THINS

Cream ½ cup butter or margarine with 1 cup sugar until very light. Add 1 well beaten egg, 1 tablespoon cream and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift 2 cups flour with ½ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon baking powder; add to the creamed mixture and mix as if you meant it. Chill dough overnight. Roll out a small quantity of dough at a time, very, very thin, on a slightly floured board. Cut cookies out with small cutters. Decorate as you like. Bake on greased sheet about 5 minutes in a 350 degree oven. This makes about 10 dozen. Have them thin—that's the secret.

QUICKIES

1 cup canned mincemeat
1/8 teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped nuts
2 tablespoons milk
1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs.

Mix first four ingredients thoroughly. Stir in the crumbs. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F) about 10 minutes. Makes about 2½ dozen cookies.

SWEDISH CAKES

½ cup butter
1/4 cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 cup flour, sifted
1 egg white, beaten slightly
3/4 cup cut fine nut meats

Cream butter, add sugar, egg yolk, beat. Blend flour, then cool in ice box over night. Make round balls size of walnut, roll in egg white, then into nuts, then place on greased cookie sheet. Press down with small glass dipped in sugar. Bake about 5 minutes in medium oven, take out and place hole in center with thumb (for jelly). Bake 15 minutes longer.

ANNIS COOKIES

6 T. shortening
2 cups sugar
1 doz. eggs
1 T. annis seed
3 T. baking powder

Beat together, add enough flour to roll out, cut into various shapes and fry.

Fun For All; Read Aloud At Christmas

Reading aloud is one of the most delightful ways for the whole family to share Christmas joys, declares Grace Harrison. Miss Harrison is an instructor in the child development department at Michigan State University. She feels that there is a wealth of Christmas poems, stories and legends that appeal to the youngest as well as the oldest members of a family.

The preschooler may catch the feeling of the story, she explains, even though he doesn't understand every word. Or, he may like the sound or the rhythm.

For those reading selections especially directed toward children, Miss Harrison suggests The Long Christmas by Ruth Sawyer and Told Under the Christmas Tree, a collection by the Association for Childhood Education.

One of Miss Harrison's favorite suggestions is to gather around the fireplace and reread the account of Tiny Tim's Christmas dinner or Donder and Blitzen's ride through the air. And, for new volumes with treasures you haven't met, she reminds that your public library is an excellent place to go.

Miss Harrison adds a few more suggestions to her list of family Christmas reading. She asks, "Do you remember Louisa Alcott's description of Little Women making merry of a meager Christmas? Or, Rat and Mole's activities in the Wind in the Willows by Kenneth Grahame?" Miss Harrison also suggests for fine reading aloud Eugene Field's Why Do the Bells of Christmas Ring?

St. Nicholas Had Great Virtue, Piety

Saint Nicholas, Bishop of Myra, was said to have been a saint of great virtue and piety.

An ancient legend is told that he became the patron saint of school boys when he restored to life the sons of a rich Asiatic, who had been murdered by a robber-innkeeper while they were en-route to school in Athens. It is said that he was warned of the crime in a vision, but was unable to reach the inn in time to prevent the murders. He restored the boys to life through prayers and also forced the murderer to confess his crime to authorities.

Township Property To Be Re-Appraised

Tecumseh Township board has decided to have the Cleminshaw Co. of Cleveland re-appraise all township property, real and personal. This is the same firm that is doing the city re-appraisal.

Speaking for the board, Sup. W. G. Waldron said: "We are doing this to arrive at the fairest possible values and to avoid inequalities as far as we can."

He continued: "It is necessary to bring our area up to that of the rest of the county. Township assessments for this year were less than 50 per cent of the amount the state figured we should have and we were required to spread the school tax on the basis of the state figures. This did not necessarily mean more money because a lower millage rate was used.

"No one can say at present what tax assessments will be next year."

The supervisor urges everyone in the township to cooperate with the Cleminshaw Co. He said: "Their men are trying to do a fair and impartial job."

Township taxpayers have until Feb. 29 to pay their current winter taxes.

Services Held for Bert Lawrence

Bert Allen Lawrence, whose home was at 215 W. Pottawatamie died Sunday morning at Herrick Memorial hospital at the age of 83. He had lived alone since the death of his wife in 1951 and had been in failing health for some time but was a patient at the hospital for only two weeks.

Born in Clayton, Mich., Dec. 27, 1871, the son of Charles R. and Augusta Lawrence he came to Tecumseh in 1892 where he had spent the remainder of his life. He was foreman at the W. W. Whiting Chic Cigar Co. until 1928 when he purchased the business. He continued making cigars until three years ago when he retired for reasons of health. Jan. 19, 1898, he was married to Nellie Hastings who preceded him in death Nov. 11, 1951.

Mr. Lawrence was a member of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church, of the Tecumseh Lodge F. and A.M. of which he was a life member and of the Chiefs Arie of the Eagles. He was the last charter member of that organization and was its third president.

His only survivors are two cousins, Mrs. Grace Wetherbee of Adrian and Mrs. Wayne Flanders of Jackson.

The Rev. George Walworth conducted funeral services for Mr. Lawrence at the Green Funeral Home, Wednesday afternoon and graveside services in Brookside cmetery were in charge of the Eagles with Thomas Gallant, Sr., as president and Ervie Raymond, Chaplain. The bearers, all past presidents of the Eagles were B. E. Brees, Verdi Skinner, Don Morley, Thomas Gallant, Sr., Tom Judd and Ervie Raymond.

BAPTISTS HAVE CLASS PARTIES

The Baptist church school classes of Mrs. Robert Gillespie and Mrs. Bashore will have a combined Christmas party at the Youth House Wednesday at 8 p.m. and the Happy Home Builders class will celebrate Christmas at the home of Mrs. Arlie Becker with a cooperative supper at 7 p.m. All couples of the church over 40 years of age are included and all are to bring food to pass and their table service. Ted McConnell will show his Mexican pictures.

Services Held for Accident Victim

Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Joseph E. Bock, 61, of Britton. Mrs. Bock died Wednesday, Dec. 14, in University hospital, Ann Arbor, two hours after she was injured in a car accident near Mooreville. She was thrown from the car and it landed on her after it ran off the road.

The services were held from the Moore Funeral Home in Ypsilanti with the Rev. O. E. Priest officiating. Burial was in the Northview cemetery in Dearborn.

Mrs. Bock was born July 23, 1894, in Wayne county, the daughter of Henry and Ella Richards Klatt. She married Joseph E. Bock Feb. 23, 1913, at Dearborn. She was a member of the Methodist church at Milan, Tecumseh Grange, the Macon Extension club, the Macon Farm Bureau and the Women's Fellowship of Britton. The family residence is four miles north of Britton in Macon township.

Besides her husband she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Marian E. Dicks of Britton, Mrs. Shirley M. Riggs of Ann Arbor, and Mrs Virginia Davis of Britton; two sons, Wayne K. Bock of Milan and Edward E. Bock of the U. S. Army stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas; nine grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs Della Hauk of South Lyon, Mrs. Blanche Preston of Northville and Mrs. Hazel Dethloff of Plymouth; a brother, Carl Klatt of Plymouth and a number of nieces and nephews.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

MRS. MAYNARD MULVANEY has a gorgeous amaryllis with several blossoms. She would gladly share its beauty with anyone who cares to drop in to see it.

JOHNNIE BARTON LOST his entire paper boy collections for a week. The amount, in a bank bag, is about $24. If you have information on the loss, call 108.

CHRISTMAS IS A wonderful time of year. Its spirit is contagious. If we but could keep this friendly spirit the year around we really would be observing His birthday.

LENNIE GREENWALD is a growing boy. He won the chow-hound prize at the grid banquet for consuming the most ham. His prize was a piece of ham.

A CHRISTMAS CARD from a Chicago supply house was addressed "Tecumsk Herald, Tecumsk, Mich."

ANOTHER SAILOR is home for the holidays. In a busy period of waiting on customers at Baldwin's, Mrs. Ruth O'Neill looked up to see her son "Skip" standing there as big as a battleship. But she got something in her eyes and momentarily couldn't see her sailor.

TECUMSEH'S HOMES really have taken on a Christmas look with their gay decorations and colored lights.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK — Men always have hope of a better world when they see the miracle of Christmas. — Charles Wells

MRS. F. C. DALY OF Dundee commended the Jaycee blood bank program in a letter to us. Jaycees donated blood for Mr. Daly. Mrs. Daly wrote: "A public organization doing work of this kind is to be commended for it is not an easy task for friends and relatives to find donors when so much blood is needed as Mr. Daly has had to have."

The Old Boy Himself

Hundreds of small fry turned out Friday night to meet Santa Claus — the old boy himself — and to pick up a box of treats and tell Santa what they wanted for Christmas.

Usually, the sight of Santa brings smiles of joy and wide-eyed wonderment but this was not true in two cases.

Corinne Gaye Schook (left), Clinton Route 1, just stared and didn't say a word while Judy Vershum of Britton, shown with her mother (below) wailed and wailed, even after she had her candy.

Some little tike was heard to say: "Santa looks like Doug Blasius."

Gale Fisher, Art Williams, Ernie Campbell and Paul Maves were four of Santa's little helpers boxing the candy.

Jack Osburn Heads C of C

Jack Osburn is the new president of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce. Elected Tuesday night at a reorganizational meeting of the board, he succeeds Paul Clauda.

Other new officers are John Surratt, vice-president; and Elmer W. Eberhardt, treasurer.

New members of the board of directors elected by mailed ballot are Owen Partridge, Hugh DesErmia, Paul Clauda and Jack Osburn. Mr. Clauda was re-elected. Other directors are Ralph Hodges, J. C. Beardsley and Harvey Wilson.

Mrs. Frances Pennington is secretary.

Services Held for Mrs. Lyman Curtiss

Jennie Mathilda Curtiss, wife of Lyman Curtiss, died Saturday evening at Herrick Memorial hospital as the result of complications following a broken vertebra sustained in a fall three weeks ago. She had been at the Tecumseh hospital for two weeks having been brought there from Deaconess hospital, Detroit.

Mrs. Curtiss, who was the daughter of James W. Owen and Marilla Hoag Owen had spent nearly all her life in Tecumseh and in the family home at 314 E. Pottawatamie. She was born Sept. 30, 1893. She attended Tecumseh public schools and for several years was a typesetter for THE TECUMSEH HERALD. Later she was employed at the Field's store in Jackson. She was married to Lyman Curtiss, Nov. 17, 1917.

She was a member of St. Peter's Episcopal church and of St. Peter's Guild, of the Tecumseh chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, Abi Evans chapter D.A.R., the American Legion Auxiliary, Petite Salon 8 and 40 and the Tecumseh Garden Club. In all these organizations she was an active, willing worker and her garden was a happy part of her life.

Mrs. Curtiss is survived by her husband; two daughters, Adah, who is Mrs. Thomas B. Morton of Detroit and Mary Lue, Mrs. Roldon Sutton of Los Angeles, Calif.; two sons, Jack of Tecumseh and Owen of Allen Park, Mich.; 13 grandchildren and three sisters, Mrs. Metta Stofflet of Ann Arbor, Mrs. Pernita Welliver, Ivy, Virginia and Lulu Wagner of Sioux City, Iowa. She was preceded in death by her parents, an infant brother and two sisters, Olcia Bovee and Adah Lindsay.

Friends called at the Collins Funeral Home until noon Tuesday and funeral services were conducted that afternoon by the Rev. E. C. Dickin in St. Peter's Episcopal church. Burial was in the family plot in Brookside cemetery with Harold Sisson, Joe Rice, Charles Howe, Waldo Mohr, Ned Baldwin and E. J. Aebersold as bearers.

Board of Education Decides Important Issues

The board of education of District No. 11, Tecumseh Public Schools, discussed many important issues at its last regular meeting.

The distribution of the surplus of $9 per registration child granted in state aid was discussed and since the money will be distributed by the state in three payments, Jan., March and May, the board decided to postpone payments until all the money had been received from the state. The local board does not have sufficient funds on hand to distribute these payments in advance of receipt from the state. However, it was voted to distribute the surplus of approximately $15,000 as follows: all full time professional personnel $200 each; all full time secretaries $200 each; maintenance engineer $200; all full time hourly rated personnel $200 each; bus drivers $75 each; cafeteria workers $85 each.

Part time regular personnel are to receive pro-rated increases. None of these increases are provided by local taxes but come directly from state aid funds.

The board has not as yet received a reply to its request to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction for permission to annex 18 primary districts if the districts desire to come to Tecumseh.

In other action the board; voted to act as trustees for the Mario Hart Memorial Scholarship Fun and directed the secretary to writ Mr. Neville Hart a letter of apprec iation and commendation for th establishment of the fund.

Discussed annexation plans, a right of way from Democrat to the Patterson School, the Book Fair at the Public Library, and the diffiulty of obtaining teachers. Mr. Iead was appointed to meet with teachers' committee to discuss rofessional growth and proficency development as related to he salary schedule.

Discussed the need for an advisory committee to assist the public librarians in their selection of new materials to be purchased for the library.

The board voted to invite Mr. Allan Seager, Mrs. Jack Savage, Miss Clara Waldron, Mr. Joseph Galazzi and a person selected by the librarians to serve for the calendar year 1956.

The librarians have chosen Mrs. Jens Touborg to serve at their invitation.

Special Christmas Programs Given

PRESBYTERIAN

The junior, youth and St. Andrew's Choirs of the Presbyterian church presented a program of special Christmas music Sunday evening.

The junior and youth choirs under the musical direction of Mr. Thomas Tipton and the dramatic direction of Mrs. William Macbeth presented "A Christmas Dream" by Annette Mason Ham. Taking parts were Karen Hall, Robert Warren, Judy Truesdale, Ronald O'Neill, Alice Titley, Charles Osburn, Tim Whitney, Bob LaPrad, Bradley McCombs, Rudy Roberts, Betty Andrews, and Bruce King. Miss Julia Boyce was organist and John Saling, narrator.

The St. Andrew's Choir presented an Oratorio by Saint-Saens written for chorus of mixed voices with soli and orchestra. Special soloists were Mr. Fred Dickinson, Mrs. Fred Oberlin, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. Al Merz, Mr. Donald Nelson, Mr. Arthur Schwartz and Mrs. Ruth O'Neill.

The orchestra was composed of 12 instrumentalists from Ann Arbor. Mr. Thomas Tipton directed the oratorio with Mrs. Fred Dickinson, organist.

BAPTIST

Fifty voices of the three choirs of the Baptist church combined to provide the musical background for the candlelighting ceremony Sunday evening. The Bethlehem choir sang "Away in the Manger," Crusaders, "In the Still of the Night" and the Chancel choir, "Come to My Heart, Lord Jesus" as the Rev. Bashore assisted by Mike and Tom Walter, James Mangrum, Ricky Holdridge, David Rutherford, Barry Packard, Paul Surratt, James Bashore, Mary Lou McConnell, Marilyn VanCamp and Joan Wing lighted the candles. His theme was "The Five Sacred Lights."

Mrs. Jesse Gray and Mrs. Lyle Grigg were soloists and Mrs. Herbert Dillon organist and the choirs were directed by Mrs. Harley McConnell and Mrs. Grigg.

FRIENDS

A program of Christmas music with interludes of readings of the sacred story was given by the young people of the Friends church Sunday evening. Readers were Marilyn Manley, Kathleen Richmond, Gerry Hirsch and Carolyn Comfort while the choir, a girls' choir and soloist Charles Baird provided traditional music.

Friday evening the Friends church primary department and classes taught by Carol Hammack, Serena McClure, Miriam VanValkenburg, Christine Meads and Gladys Woodcox will sing and present finger plays, a "Flannelgraff" story and the trimming of the Christmas tree. Other parts will be taken by Paul Gove, Charles and Donald Baird and Linda Wood while the junior choir and the Star Class will sing.

Mrs. Hardy Hurt in Accident

Mrs. Bernice E. Hardy, 52, of Tecumseh was severely injured in a two-car crash near Springville on M-50 Thursday.

Taken to Herrick Memorial hospital, she now is in University hospital, Ann Arbor. She has a broken left arm and right hip, a fractured pelvis and a lateral fracture of the spine.

Mrs. Hardy's car skidded and struck a truck driven by Robert Conklin of Jackson.

APPEAL VERDICT

The Hotel Chieftain has filed notice in circuit court that it will appeal a court's verdict of affirming the revocation of the hotel's liquor license.

Country Club Plans Dances

Holiday festivities at the Tecumseh Country Club will include a teenage ball for the younger set Friday, Dec. 30. Dancing will be to Driscoll's orchestra and music and food will be by compliment of parents of teenagers. Guests are welcome as are college students home for the holidays. Reservations should be made by Dec. 29 with Mrs. J. G. Tomorsky, Mrs. Philip Colgrove or Mrs. Bill Hanna.

New Year's Eve, Dec. 31 will be the grown-ups party which will feature dancing and breakfast. Again reservations should be in by Dec. 29 with the Ken Herricks, Bill Porters, Hal Kelsos, Chuck Newells, Herbert Dillons, Ray Schlegels or Frank Purcells.

Sunday dinners at the club have been discontinued through the month of Feb. and there will be no ladies' luncheons until Jan. 11.

SUGAR BOYS WIN

Blissfield beat Tecumseh 61-52 in basketball Tuesday night. Lee Keller of the Sugar Boys hit 30 points. Miller and Sisson of Tecumseh shared scoring honors with 18 and 17. Tecumseh's Jayvees lost 82-65. Yoakum hit for 19 points.

SCHOOLS RECESS

Tecumseh public schools and St. Elizabeth's parochial school will recess for the holidays Friday, Dec. 22, and classes will resume Tuesday, Jan. 3.

HURT BY BOARD

Robert D. Moore is home convalescing from bruises received last week when a 2 x 4 he was sawing "backlashed" and struck him in the groin. He was rushed to Herrick Memorial hospital for X-rays but no bones were broken and he was released.

Come to Church for Christmas Services

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

I. VanValkenburg, H. C. Munger Wed

At a simple home wedding at seven o'clock Wednesday evening, the Rev. Alvin Brazee united in marriage Ivah VanValkenburg and Herbert C. Munger. Twenty members of their immediate families witnessed the ceremony.

The bride wore a blue, two piece suit with an orchid corsage. Carnations, chrysanthemums and white poinsettias decorated the house.

After the ceremony the wedding party went to Rock Inn in Adrian where a wedding dinner was served in the Neopolitian Room. There a green and white color scheme was carried out with Christmas greens and white bells.

The bride has been a teacher in the Tecumseh schools for the past 12 years and plans to continue her work until June. Mr. Munger, whose home is on M-50 near Tipton, is a retired farmer.

Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Munger left by air for Santa Monica, Calif., where they will spend two or three weeks with Mr. Munger's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Titley and with other relatives and friends. On their return they will make their home at 7742 North Adrian highway.

Garden Club Has Christmas Tea

A very pleasant, pre-Christmas social event took place Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Thomas O'Hara when she was hostess for the silver tea of the Tecumseh Garden Club.

Mrs. L. W. Larsen, Mrs. Al Helferman, Mrs. Floyd Elliott, Mrs. Charles Kempf, Mrs. Eleanor Eddy and Mrs. Joseph Sheward were the hostess committee and Mrs. Harold Wilson, the retiring president and Miss Ann Carson, who will be president in 1956 presided over the tea urns.

The house was beautifully decorated with colorful Christmas arrangements of greens, candles and other traditional ornaments and nearly 50 members and their guests came during the hours of two to four. For the latter part of that time they were entertained by the Brownie Scout Troop sponsored by the club. There were 12 in the eight year old group which is led by Mrs. Arthur Woodward and they charmed their listeners as they sang Christmas carols, interspersed with solos by individual members.

DENY LIABILITY

McNamee, Porter and Seeley of Ann Arbor, engineers, have denied liability in a suit brought against them and the City of Tecumseh. The case was started by Roy Carr of Adrian whose digging equipment damaged a Bell Telephone Co. underground cable.

Carr brought suit to recover payment of damages the phone company has been paid.

The engineers claim the location of the cable was on the plans for the sewer digging job.

TOM PLEDGES

Thomas Neitling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Neitling of 300 Island Drive, recently pledged Delta Tau Delta fraternity on the campus of Hillsdale College.

He is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and currently a freshman at Hillsdale.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA PRESENTED SUNDAY

A cantata, "The Light of Christmas" was presented by the Macon Methodist church senior choir Sunday evning and the nativity pageant was given by the junior choir of the church.

Director of the senior choir is Mrs. Vaughn Whited and organist was Mrs. Helen Thomas. Miss Hallie Jane Mehler directed the junior group and furnished the piano accompaniment. Those assisting in the production were: guest soprano soloist, Miss Julia Boyce; reader, the Rev. Vaughn Whited; pageant director, Miss Myrna Bugbee; technical assistant, Melvin Travis; set and property assistants, Herman Mehler and Clarence Hall; costume assistants, Marian Ayres and Luella Bigelow.

HOMEMAKERS HAVE CHRISTMAS PARTY

Mrs. Verl Sanch opened her home for the Christmas dinner and party of the Macon Homemakers Extension club last Thursday. Mrs. Evelyn Hawkins, Mrs. Ruth Howell, Mrs. Carrie Betzoldt and Mrs. Luella Bigelow were co-hostesses.

Mrs. Hawkins conducted a short business meeting following the turkey dinner and welcomed the guests, Mrs. Dora Ruhl of Britton, Mrs. Beatrice Gilmore and A 1/c and Mrs. Melvin Sanch and family.

An invitation was accepted from the Franklin club to attend a meeting. A collection of $11.60 was made to present to the Salvation Army to help carry on their work. It was decided to adopt girls from the training school in Adrian to remember on their birthdays and other holidays.

Secret sisters were revealed and gifts exchanged and new secret sisters chosen.

A 1/c and Mrs. Melvin Sanch and family of Washington state are spending a 30 day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Verl Sanch and family and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lutton of Britton.

George Squires is a patient at St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor.

Mr and Mrs James Beach of Ypsilanti spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Carrie Payne and Mrs. Marion Spitler.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow entertained the Macon church senior choir Sunday evening following the Christmas cantata.

Sp/3 Edward Bock of Fort Bliss, Texas was called home by the death of his mother, Mrs. Joseph Bock. He will remain with his father, brother and sisters until after the holidays.

Virgil Bortel has returned home from St. Joseph hospital, where he had been a surgical patient.

The Macon Women's Society of Christian Service will meet Wednesday, Dec. 28 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Charles Bigelow will be hostess. The Alice Jane Circle will be their guests.

The Macon church senior choir will go carolling Friday evening through the Macon community and will also take boxes of cookies, nuts, candy and fruit. Anyone wishing to contribute may leave boxes at the home of Mrs. Melvin Travis or bring it to the Sunday school program Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Goodwill trucks will be in Macon Wednesday, Dec. 28 instead of Tuesday.

Dec. 13, 1955

To the Editor:

I am enclosing two clippings from the Muskegon Chronicle of this date. They seem particularly interesting in view of the recent fiasco in Tecumseh regarding fluoridation.

It is difficult to understand how a community as otherwise progressive and forward thinking as yours could become the victim of such medieval and limited thinking led by a minority few as it did.

Your experience in this matter has been the story of medical progress throughout the ages.

It is to be hoped that the people of Tecumseh will recognize the truth soon and will take steps to rectify the error they have committed.

As for the opposition — it has often been said for them "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing".

Yours for Progress,
Edwin J. May

(Editor's Note: The clippings told of "marked benefit" in children's teeth from fluoridated water in Muskegon, Muskegon Heights and in Brantford, Ontario, Canada.)

DECORATE TABLE

There are many charming ideas for Christmas table centerpieces if you will just give a little thought to it. An over-sized brandy glass may be filled with pine cones, fir branches and Christmas ornaments, placed on a small mirror and flanked by two candles for a pretty effect.

If you have a small collection of little angels, choralers or other Christmas symbols line them up in the center of the table and surround them with pieces of pine. Some of these figures may be purchased for a few cents in dime or department stores.

Add Your Personality to Christmas Decorating

Christmas is in the air, and in practically every home throughout the county signs of the festive season are beginning to appear.

If you are in the mood to try your hand at creating a variety of artistic Christmas decorations, here are some helpful hints that will pique your imagination. Once started, let the Christmas spirit guide you.

Your basic tools should be shears, florist's wire, holly, tinsel and mistletoe. Keep your Christmas decorations in tune with the mood and decor of your home.

IF YOU ARE an Early American devotee, for example, combine spruce or pine, red berries and dramatically-curved branches sprayed with white flocking. Display the arrangement in a wrought iron planter, and place three glass chimneys holding Christmas candles on each side of the planter.

To decorate an end table, take a red and white Yule basket, insert any handy container and fill with shredded styrofoam (available at your florist's) to hold the arangement in place.

For greens, use cedar or spruce. Place each branch firmly into the styrofoam, and design a right angle triangle of foliage about one-and-one-half times as high as the entire container.

For contrast spot six or eight white chrysanthemums or pompoms against the greens, using the largest flowers lower in the design. As the final touch, wire small clusters of artificial red berries and three or four pine cones with the tips painted a silver-blue to the branches.

IF YOUR HOUSE or apartment features modern furniture, choose simpler arrangements with emphasis on line and form.

Dress up a buffet, desk or high table for the holidays by mounting a square green or red candle on a plain brass tray. Place sprays of spruce or pine so they seem to climb about two-thirds of the way up the candle. Then blend in clusters of any white flowers. Add a touch of sophistication by surrounding the candle base with a cluster of chartreuse Christmas tree balls.

DOOR KNOCKER "swags" take on an aura of originality, if you use ingenuity in selecting accessories. Wicker hoops, baskets, bells and ringlets of styrofoam can be combined with the Christmas red and green in dozens of new ways.

Whether shopping for raw materials to make your own decorations, having them made-to-order, or wiring them as gifts to friends, always remember to tell your florist about the house and its furniture.

He will gladly help you bring the Christmas spirit into your home with suggestions for an unusual touch of originality.

Despite the falling tuberculosis death rate, the number of new TB cases reported in Michigan is as high today as it was ten years ago.

Mama Goes on Safari

BY PEG TOUBORG

Moments which to me have become part of the African picture in the Masai country:

The natives four o'clock trip to the water hole with their cattle — the Voices of the Masai children in the air; their shouting, singing, cat-calling, running and leaping over the grass in their birthday suits. Happy people.

At night as I wipe my face from the towel dangling outside from a tent rope — the star freckled sky so close overhead; the anvil bird still clanging away like a smithy at his forge.

The plaintive minor strumming of guitar; the contended voices of the boys chanting.

The constant breeze shoving the heat rays aside.

The bumpety bump of the jeep homeward bound across the plains, a toy in the strong hands of Andy, practically cupping the steering wheel with his bare brown knees.

The big ostriches, shaking their white tail feathers like Cancan dancers, — tall skinny necks like poles against the horizon; trotting like fat old ladies too tired to trot.

EAR DISTORTED

Sohi's grin as we noticed his one ear lobe nonchalantly knotted over the tip of his distorted ear as a person throws a shawl over his shoulder. He likes one down and one up, he said.

The majestic stature of the warrior as he strides off on his long thin legs, chiseled black head silhouetted against the blue sky — lithe and beautiful.

Swinging your flashlight as you pick your way tentward in the dark.

The frustration and cramped stoop of gathering ones clothes together in the dark frosty morning — between mosquito tents and under the low canvas top.

The friendliness and curiosity of the natives as they salute with a "Jambo".

The muffled sound of a shot in the distance and know no hunter is in this territory except your husband.

February 17, 1955
Thursday 6:00 o'clock
in the morning.

Good morning, dear people: — Sitting in the jeep among the tall grasses. This was the morning I wanted to stay in bed — had a hot water bottle at my feet s could stretch out like a cat.

GET UP IN DARK

Baby moon lying on his back with his toes in the air this morning — a shudder as the clammy nylon hits flesh; bumping against each other as we sleepily struggle into our clothes that we were so sure we had laid out the night before. "Where the devil — says Jens — "Just a moment, I know where it is", and rummage in his big black tin box at the rear of the tent. A few frustrating moments pass; finally dressed, you can straighten up tall outside the tent, breathe in the clear air, and trotting down the hill to the canvas shack is not too bad.

Whoops — a gun shot, and Sohi and I are off!

Holy Mackeral! Now I'm in the middle of the woods with Sohi and a gun bearer — the sunshine is just filtering through the branches, birds are calling, but the woods makes weird sounds — so far just the wind and branches are crackling, but around the corner? Will I run or hug the gun bearer? Papa got a Buffalo! Yes — at 7:15 this morning, but Andy isn't quite satisfied with the spread of horns, so they have left me while they go to follow up the herd. Sohi and the Skinner drove the jeep in as far as it would go, and we walked through the woods to the animal. I've snapped a few pictures for Jens, and the beast growled as the boys tugged him up. They've sharpened their knives, and a few bushes away I can hear them mumbling together as they grunt and groan over their task. A peek around the bush — they are laughingly whittling away. Oh — to be back in my snug jeep again.

It's ten o'clock — somehow I passed the two hours, squatting in the sun reading "Tender is the Night" by Fitzgerald; shifting position often to avoid the vile odors; each shift meant a glance at their work. Will not describe the picture. With me tagging behind, the boys slashed a path through the woods with their pangas to the road, a path big enough for the jeep to get through, chopping green trees and shrubs, kicking dead stumps. We're on our way back in the jeep now after the head and skin — have hit a snag and have to chop some more.

FRESH AIR IS GOOD

This break gives me a breath of fresh air — the boys are red with dried blood, their finger nails as though recently painted with polish; rivulets of perspiration streak their faces. It's a wonder to me their slight bodies can stand the hard work.

I'm now in the jeep backed up in the "mess." All the jeep windows were thoughfully closed by the boys, but I can still hear them sloshing through the puddles. Sohi again thoughtfully killed a bee in the cabin, so at least I'm not locked up with it. Oh h h h — It's hot in here. The buffalo head is reposing under a bush, his eyes peacefully closed. Maybe I didn't have the thrill of the shoot, but I am experiencing the pangs of the after glow. Come on, boys, snap into it. My flannel pajamas under my trousers are plastered to my legs with sweat — the pencil is slippery in my fingers. Hope that means the last thud in back. The cologned fragrance of my handkerchief has long ago been tainted; a little capsule of hand lotion is a Godsend.

HODGES DRUG STORE Monthly News

A message from Ralph Hodges, 'Your Pharmacist'

EACH MONTH, during the past year, these monthly news messages have been telling you about the way we operate our pharmacy. We have tried to explain some of the unusual conditions about a pharmacy.

UNUSUAL, BECAUSE PHARMACY is a profession, in which you entrust your very life in our care when we compound your prescriptions; but of necessity also, a business that must be conducted in a manner that will please you.

BUT THIS IS CHRISTMAS MONTH, so we are not going to write you about how sincerely we try to serve you courteously, honestly, and in strict observance of the code of ethics and traditions of pharmacy.

WE WANT TO BE ONE OF THE VERY FIRST to wish you a Merry Christmas, and a Happy, Healthy, and Proseperous New Year.

NOW, AT THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR, we are especially mindful of the great, good fortune that is ours in having wonderful folks like you as our customers. It is your loyalty and patronage that enables us to conduct our drug store.

We thank you for the privilege of being, "Your Pharmacist."

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

The Christmas season is an especially nice time to hear good news of old friends. Perhaps we cannot claim to be a personal friend of Mr. Scovel Walker although frequent mention of him over the years by family and friends make him seem like one but to Tecumseh and especially to The Tecumseh Herald he is a very good friend indeed. So the letter just recived from his daughter, Mrs. Woodrow Loughray of Roscommon saying that "Scov" had celebrated his 90th birthday in the best of health will be good news to many.

He is a nephew of the late Judge Consider A. Stacy and for several years lived in the Stacy home now owned by Mrs. Frank Turner which then stood in solitary grandeur on west Chicago Blvd. facing directly down that once quiet street. The Judge's son, Scovel Consider Stacy was owner and editor of The Herald in the 1890s and Scovel Walker worked for his cousin on that paper.

When in 1897 S. C. Stacy died very suddenly he and "Miss Loana," Scovel Consider's sister took over and "got out a paper" by sheer stamina and desperation. Those were the days when the editor drove a horse and buggy through the country picking up news and subscriptions and carrying back potatoes, poultry, pork and promises to pay for them. For some time Scovel Walker did it all nearly singlehanded.

Evidently Roscommon has taken him to its heart for on Dec. 3, the Masons, Eastern Stars and the Congregational church of that city gave a banquet and program in his honor. Later 70 guests attended an open house at his daughter's home and he enjoyed all the festivities.

Mr. Walker was in Tecumseh for a short time one day last May and the impression left by his visit was of an ever youthful enthusiasm and zest for living. We of The Herald send congratulations and season's greetings to Scovel Walker, 90 years young.

Raisin Green Bees Meet

The Raisin Green Bees had a meeting Monday evning in the home of Mrs. James Howard. The business meeting was conducted by the vice-chairman, Mrs. Robert Beevers.

Each member brought her suggestions on decorating homes for Christmas.

After the business meeting, games were enjoyed by all and an exchange of gifts was made by secret pals. Refreshments were then served by Mrs. Howard.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 16 in the home of Mrs. Robert Beevers. New Year's resolutions will be roll call.

A special interest meeting will be held Jan. 4 on "Your Child, His Social and Emotional Needs." This meeting will be at the Michigan Producers Dairy Co. auditorium in Adrian at 8 p.m. Husbands are invited.

SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORTS PARTIES

The Congregational Christian church Sunday school classes began a full week of parties with the Duets class Christmas party last Wednesday evening. The nursery and beginners classes gathered around the tree with Santa Claus and there were gifts for everyone.

Thursday the Dorcas class had their party which began with a luncheon at noon. Mrs. Robert McCarbery had charge of the Christmas program.

Thursday from 4 to 7 p.m. grades two through six gave a party in the spirit of giving instead of receiving. They brought gifts for babies in other lands and presented them during a candlelighting service. Supper was served by the mothers at 6 p.m. and a birthday cake centered the table.

Sunday mrning, children of the nuhsery class through the teenagers assisted in the regular morning service. Neil Benedict acted as minister and eight children received their Bibles. Miniature Bibles were given to all children of school age, white for the girls and black for the boys.

The Youth Fellowship had their Christmas party Sunday evening beginning with a worship service and film, "The Other Wise Man." A gift exchange followed the program with Lillian Rodgers, Bertha Brown and the Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Priest as leaders.

Eighten members of the Christian Duets class of the Congregational Christian church were entertained by the Dundee Congregational Couples Club last week. The Rev. Samuel Wegner of Leslie showed slides and gave an interesting talk on his trip to Germany with the "Heifers for Germany" project. The Britton church participated in this program.

The Britton Women's Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Marie Priest with 14 members present. The program was in charge of Mrs. Effie Gibson and Christmas carols were led by Mrs. Doris Exelby. Christmas stories were read by Mrs. Marie Priest, Mrs. Marion Auten, Mrs. Effie Gibson and Mrs. Mildred Wiggins. The club voted to send a $10 Care package to Korea and they packed boxes for shutins. Refreshments were served.

At a recent meeting of the Britton Odd Fellows Lodge the following officers were elected for the coming year: noble grand, Martin Ivan; vice grand, Bud Lorenz; recording secretary, William Spreeman; financial secretary, Charles Anspach; treasurer, Thomas Korican; trustee for three years, Charles Studnicka. Installation will take place in Jan.

A 1/C Frank Vallie has arrived home from Whiteman AFB in Missouri to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ramage.

The Britton Baptist church has invited the public to a Christmas party and program Saturday evening, Dec. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

Britton merchants will keep their stores open Friday evening, Dec. 23 and Santa Claus will appear on the streets of Britton at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith and Dale and Sharon spent Sunday visiting the Ford Rotunda Fantasy.

Don Greer of Asbury College will present an organ concert of Christmas music Dec. 22 at the Britton Methodist church at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miller of Howell were Sunday guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell.

Ray Edward Covell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Covell of Clinton has gone to University hospital, Ann Arbor to undergo surgery on his nose. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Covell.

William Cundiff and Martin Ivan of the Britton I.O.O.F. attended a visitation of Odd Fellows from Adrian last Monday evening

Mr. and Mrs. William Cundiff and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield accompanied by Mrs. John Slick of Ridgeway were in Toledo one day last week.

Mrs. Donald McKenzie and daughter and Douglas and Norman Bartram of Manchester were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunbar and son Greg.

Second, third and fourth grade groups of Bluebird Girls, 40 members and six leaders went to the Ford Rotunda last week to see the Ford Fantasy. Sunny Bluebirds of the second grade met at the school for their regular meeting and elected officers for Dec. They are: president, Nancy Downing; secretary, Susan Polly; treasurer, Sandy Weyher. Birthdays were celebrated by Sylvia Luegge and Jeanne Collins.

The Koh-Noh group of Campfire Girls held a Christmas party and supper at the I.O.O.F. hall last Thursday. The girls prepared their own supper and decorated the rooms. Fourteen members, two leaders and one guest were present and Christmas carols and stories were sung and told. Gifts were exchanged by the group.

BIRTHS

Dec. 14, to Mr. and Mrs. John Slick, Ridgeway, a daughter.

Dec. 15, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bristle, Manchester, a son.

Dec. 16, to Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Mueller, Britton, a son.

Dec. 16, to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jacobs, Tecumseh, a daughter.

Dec. 16, to Mr. and Mrs. William Parrish, Tipton, a son.

Dec. 19, to Mr. and Mrs. John Powell, Brooklyn, a son.

Here's why more farmers choose TWENTIETH CENTURY WELDERS

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal • Brazing
Drilling Holes • Bending and shaping
Soldering • Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

Awards Presented to Club Pack 4

The Dec. pack meeting and Christmas party of Cub Scout Pack 4 was held at the Baptist Youth House Monday evening. Parents and cubs got their tickets at the door for their colorful and interesting trip to foreign lands by way of T.W.A. airlines. After boarding their ships and fastening their seat belts the group was led in a pledge to the flag by Den 2.

After singing Christmas carols the parents had a short business meeting conducted by Cubmaster Dustin. During the meeting it was announced that the pack now has a uniform exchange. Anyone having a used uniform they wish to sell should contact Robert Williamson.

The singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" followed and then the group was taken on a a colorful tour of Germany, Ireland, Poland, Mexico, France, Holland and England. Each den, dressed in costume of the country which they represented, told of the Christmas customs in that land.

Awards were presented to the following boys: Michael Higgins, gold and silver arrow points; Wolf badges to Richard Sterns and Gary McKenzie; Bear badges to Douglas Sherman, David Dustin, Joey Hanna, Richard Fielder, John Mensing, Terry Beland and Joey Hebb. Craig Rosacrans and Larry Eaton received their Lion badges and their graduation certificates. Larry also received a gold and two silver arrow points.

Joey Hanna received a denner stripe and Paul Snyder an assistant denner stripe. Gary Tietsema was given a one year service star and Brian Packard a two year star. David Wagner was inducted as a Bobcat.

Santa made his expected visit in the usual United States custom and presented gifts and treats to the cubs and then presented their parents with the gifts the cubs had made during their meetings.

Tin can Cubby was won by Den 2 led by Mrs. Kenneth Rutherford and Mrs. Sam Sisson because they had the largest percentage of parents present.

Guests of the evening were five mothers of members, Mrs. Max Souwers, who formerly lived in Australia, Mrs. Kenneth Simpson and Mrs. James Fenoulhet of England and Mrs. Nicholas Stoudt and Mrs. Katharina Feldmann, both of whom come from Germany.

The club members brought dolls they had dressed for Christmas which are to be distributed through the Kiwanis Club of Adrian and Mrs. Everett Fielder received the first prize for hers which was in a Davy Crockett costume.

Clinton Plans Dance In New Community Center

The first public dancing party to be held in Clinton's beautiful new Community Center will take place Dec. 28 when the center ways and means committe will be hostesses at a Holiday Ball. Members of the committee are Mrs. Garfield Smith, Mrs. Ben Mahrle, Mrs. Leon Van Deusen, Mrs. Arthur Schuler, Mrs. John Hoelger and Mrs. Henry Vaughan.

The Skylarks will play for dancing and refreshments will be served. Elaborate plans are under way to make this one of the most enjoyable events of the season and since this is an open party it is anticipated that many of the young people as well as older groups will include this in their holiday activities.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Word has been received of the death of Miss Anna Cutting of Long Beach, Calif., which occurred Dec. 12 at her home at 444 Zona Court. Miss Cutting, a former resident of Tecumseh has made her home in Calif. since 1920.

She was born in New York state moving to Michigan with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cutting and was one of seven children. Those surviving are a brother, Ned Cutting of Glendale, Calif., and a sister Mrs. Edna Johnson, who lived with her sister in Long Beach. Miss Cutting was a member of the Presbyterian church and had belonged to the Tecumseh O.E.S. for over 50 years.

The news of Miss Cutting's death was sent to The Herald by Miss Margaret Glasgow of Los Angeles, who also formerly lived in Tecumseh.

TEACHERS HONORED

Honoring Ivah VanValkenburg whose marriage to Herbert Munger took place Wednesday evening, Mrs. Roy VanWinkle entertained a group of teachers at her home last Thursday evening. Canasta was the entertainment for the guests and both high and low prizes were presented to Mrs. Van Valkenburg, who also received a gift of jewelry from the group.

The grade teachers of the Tecumseh schools enjoyed a luncheon at the Tecumseh Country Club Wednesday noon in honor of two of their number, Mrs. Robert Smith the former Marcelle Gillespie, whose marriage occured this autumn and Ivah VanValkenburg who was married that evening.

DEPENDABLE CLASS

The Temple Dependable Class of the Methodist church met for their Dec. meeting at the home of Mrs. George Cole. Miss Elizabeth Beamish was in charge of devotions and also conducted a routine business meeting.

The program for the afternoon was a series of readings, "A Few Toasties" by Edgar Guest; "A Christmas Prayer" read by Mrs. Mertie Waring; "Kindness is the Answer to All Problems" by Mrs. Cole; "Why Be Discouraged?" by Mrs. Bumpus; "Why It is Difficult To Be a Christian," by Mrs. Carl Burch. Mrs. Burch also conducted a name quiz.

The Jan. meeting of the group will be at the home of Mrs. Burch.

NEW MAIL RECORD — A new record for Christmas mail was set at Tecumseh Post Office this year. In fact the old record was broken as early as last Friday. Just to give an idea of the record-breaking deluge, 106,120 cards and letters were cancelled from Dec. 1 to 16 last year. But this year the number of cards and letters cancelled in the period from Dec. 1 to Dec. 16 was 139,770. Jerry Barron and George Hawkins are getting a case of Christmas mail ready "to pull."

400 Attend Jaycee Football Banquet

Gary Marsh Ray Nichols Bob Benham Val Spangler

More than 400 guests were on hand at the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce's first annual football banquet last Thursday night at the high school.

They saw four traveling trophies awarded to outstanding Indian gridders. Most valuable lineman was Bob Benham, scrappy guard. His trophy was presented by Bob Murray, president of the Jaycees, on behalf of the Jaycees. Most valuable back was Gary Marsh, powerful fullback. His trophy, awarded by THE TECUMSEH HERALD was presented by Bob Warren. Co-captain trophies, awarded by the Tecumseh Rotary Club, were presented to Val Spangler and Gary Marsh by Herb Dillon, president of the Rotary Club.

In addition, a coaches' award to the most deserving player was presented by Vic Lawson, athletic director, to Ray Nichols. Ray played only in one game because he rebroke his leg. But he always was on hand to give his teammates support. The rugged lineman first broke his leg in a motor scooter accident a year ago last autumn; then he rebroke it in practice.

Head coach Bob Breniff served as master of ceremonies. He introduced guests and the Indian varsity, jayvee and junior high teams. He also introduced Jack Osburn, coach of St. Elizabeth's Cubs who had a perfect season and visiting coaches and players from Clinton, Britton and Boysville and his high school coach from Maumee, Ohio, Cliff Conrad.

Coach Breniff also thanked the cheer leaders and the band and Coaches Vic Lawson and Jack Trudeau and Supt. McDowell and Principal Hart for the support and cooperation they gave the team.

Coach Breniff also thanked the Jaycees who prepared and served the dinner.

Dermont Poley introduced Dorne Dibble, star Detroit Lions end, who discussed some of the reasons why the Lions did not repeat as champions this year.

He left time for questions and answers and then showed highlights of the winning 1954 season.

Dibble told the young players: "Stick with your chosen sport and then give it all you've got."

Pictures of the last MSU-UCLA Rose Bowl game in 1954 also were shown.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore gave the invocation and the Rev. Father Thomas Collins gave the benediction.

Coach Breniff and Doug Murdoch were co-chairmen for the banquet.

Proceeds from the banquet will go into the Jaycees' fund for permanent bleachers.

Boysville, Britton Lose Cage Games

Two area basketball teams lost their games Friday night. Boysville, so far without a win, dropped its fourth game to Manchester in a League of the Lakes game, 68 to 53.

Manchester put the game out of reach in the second period, scoring 25 points to the Knights nine after taking a 12-8 first quarter lead.

The Knights, however, came to life in the third quarter, outscoring Manchester, 24-16 but they were edged in the final stanza, 15-12.

Joe Vlezquez was high scorer for the night gaining 19 points on eight field goals and three free throws.

Adams with six and five was high for Manchester with 17.

Paul Cary and John Murray added 14 and 11 points to the Knights' total.

Coach Leo Janendo hopes to be able to start Joe Murray after the holidays. Joe broke his arm last fall playing football and he has not played basketball this season yet.

Manchester won the preliminary game, 54-36.

Britton-Macon Tories dropped their third Little Six League game of the season Friday night, losing to Deerfield, 73-36.

The Minute Men poured it on all the way, leading 21-12 at the end of the first quarter and 39-21 at intermission time.

They continued their fast pace in the third, outscoring the Tories, 15-9 and again in the they had a 19-6 margi

Dick Iott with 21 po leading scorer. Pieh a the winners.

John Korican with eight led the Tories. And Sanch added six.

Britton also lost the reserve game by a score of 57-53.

JIM GETS LETTER

James Harvey Bowser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Bowser of 1351 west Monroe, received a minor football award in the athletic awards convocation at Albion college. Bowser, who is a freshman at Albion, was cited for his outstanding participation in the sport during the past season.

Jim was an Indian end.

WHITE IS YULE COLOR

Red and green are commonly accepted as the conventional colors of Christmas, but there is no real historical basis for their use. In fact, if we observe the dictates of the church, the true Yuletide color is white.

The Christmas Story

And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the City of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find him wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

—Luke 2:7-14

A Christmas Thought

What do you think about when you hear the words "peace on earth, good will toward men?" Are these just empty words or do you fully realize the wonderful significance of them?

Do you realize that for the first time in 16 years the world is at peace, although shaky?

Do you also realize that peace on earth, good will toward men is the most wonderful Christmas gift that could possibly be bestowed on all of mankind?

Legend of Christmas Candles

Many years ago, in a village in Austria, the legend of the Christmas candles brought peace and light into the hearts of men.

It all started, says the legend, in a cottage owned by a very poor shoemaker who had little to offer to others except his kindness.

Although he could barely get along on what his craft provided, he would place a lone candle every night in his window as a welcome to weary travelers.

His candles shone in the dark as war, famine and unhappiness came to the little village and the country. Everyone suffered — but the old shoemaker suffered less.

Neighbors all around wondered why the shoemaker should be so fortunate. They talked about it and speculated and decided finally it must be the candles.

That night, Christmas eve, everyone in the village lit candles and all the windows glittered in the dark.

Next morning, a shining white covering of snow blanketed the earth. The air smelled of peace and hope. And a messenger arrived with the glorious news that the war had ended.

Thus was born the legend of the Christmas candles, bringing hope and peace to men.

"FORGIVING TIME"

Charles Dickens once referred to Christmas as "a good time; a kind forgiving charitable, pleasant time." This is an adequate spirit. Why not make this an old fashioned Christmas?

Elaborately planned parties, those great time-takers should not be a part of the Christmas scene. A homey, hospitable get-together will create an atmosphere in which everyone can relax.

Since Christmas is really "the children's hour," why not give them a greater part in preparing for the day? Children will get more delight from helping prepare and decorate the tree than in seeing only the finished product.

Deck Halls with Holly! —Just Old Pagan Custom

Credit the Pagan Druids for inspiring one of the nice Christmas customs — decorating with holly. The traditional holly for the holidays is widely believed to have had its origin in the Druid practice of bringing holly spring indoors. The Druids woodland spirits lived in the holly.

Indoors, holly gave the spirits a nice warm place in winter. Besides, the lush green holly and the contrast of its red berries provided by men when the sacred oaks were shorn of their foliage.

THE EARLY Christian church frowned on such pagan customs and tried to stamp them out. In due time, however, it was felt that some of the customs could be adapted to the new Christmas conception.

Some beautiful legends associate the holly with Christ. In fact, it is often called the Christ thorn. One legend depicts the leaf spines as the crown of thorns; the red berries as the sins of the world and the blood of Christ. Another credits holly with the first springing up from the footsteps of Christ. The plant is said to remain green all winter as a reward for once hiding Christ from his pursuers.

THE IMPACT of the holly on the Christmas celebration is evidenced in the traditional holiday colors, green and red. The Druids weren't the only people of old who thought the holly was something special. Pliny, the great Roman historian, insisted holly blossoms caused water to freeze. Also, that holly thrown at any wild beast would make it lie down tamely next to the branch.

These legends, forgotten by many people, are said to be the reason we decorate with holly.

Christmas Seal Idea Conceived in Denmark

A Danish postal clerk thought f the idea of attaching stamp o Christmas packages and letter n 1903, and a few years later th cheme was tried in America.

This year millions of Americans ill receive a letter from the cal chapter of the National Tu erculosis Association containin hristmas seals, the seasonal re inder of the never-ending figh stamp out the disease.

Einar Holboell, at work in a anish post office conceived th dea of attaching decorativ tamps to Christmas packages, th ale of which could be conducte y some worthwhile organization.

He mentioned it to his fello vorkers and they decided it would e a great help in defraying the ost of fighting tuberculosis. The dea reached King Christian, who pproved, and the image of Queen Louise was placed on the first eals in 1904.

Jacob Riis, Danish-born Amer can, heard about the idea and sold t to the American public in 1907 hrough a magazine article writ en for Outlook magazine. A Red Cross worker, Miss Emily Bissell, tarted the first American sales that year.

DECORATE FRUIT CAKE

Slices of gumdrops or candied fruits and citron make holiday fruit cake look pretty when you arrange these decorations on the cake to look like holly leaves and berries. If you have made your cake well ahead of time, and are planning to decorate them after storing, dip the cut side of the gumdrops or the candied fruits and citron into hot heavy sugar syrup and press onto the top in the desired design.

Hints to Ease Crowded Cupboards Given by Wayne U. Home Economist

Mrs. Frances Sanderson, head of Wayne University's Home Economics department points out to one of her seniors, Joan Krolicki, what a handy item like the utility rack can do to help ease crowded kitchen drawers and make work easier. The rack was originated and made by the department.

Large or small – kitchens with cramped cupboard space can be a major headache to the housewife.

Recently, Wayne University's home economics department compiled a list of helpful hints for getting the most benefit from your cupboards and kitchen drawers

First look over your cupboard arrangement. You need a mixing center so you can stir up or fix a casserole with a minimum number of steps.

Kettles and saucepans should be stored as near the sink as possible where they can be easily reached when preparing vegetables

Lids are best kept in the storage drawer of the range, since there is no reason to use them until the pan is on the stove burner.

A way to inexpensively ease crowded drawer space is to have the man of the house make a utility wall board (see picture) All that is needed is a two by three foot piece of peg-board, a bulletin board frame of the same dimension. Covers, potholders, strainers, mashers and other kitchen utensils can be hung from this handy item.

Dishes should be kept near the sink where they can be put away easily after washing, or near the dining table where they will be handy for table setting.

If you find it more convenient to store cooking utensils, groceries and dishes together, do so. There's no rule that says you can't. Sort both equipment and food supplies according to how often each item is used. Put those most frequently used where they are easy to reach. Avoid stacking pans or dishes whenever possible

Decide where you need extra shelves and set-in half shelves. They're not difficult to make Measure the length and width of the cupboard shelf Then cut a piece of plywood half the width of the cupboard shelf and two inches shorter in length Two squares of plywood or ordinary board are nailed at right angles to either end to support the set-in shelf.

Or if you prefer, a variety of rubber-coated metal racks can be bought to serve the same purpose. There are several sizes designed for storing plates and baking pans in an upright position, as well as cup racks and step-shelves.

"Adherence to these tips now," claims Mrs. Frances Sanderson, head of Wayne's home economics department, "will make your kitchen a pleasant place to work."

Our Christmas Date Started by Romans

The first celebration of the birth of Christ on December 25 took place in the fourth century. Before that date the commemoration of Christ's Nativity and Baptism was held on January 6.

The first mention of Christmas was found in a Roman document known as the "Pholocalian Calendar" in the year 354, and the first time the festival was celebrated in Britain was in 598, when St. Augustine baptized 10,000 converts.

The National Tuberculosis Association, which is supported by the Christmas Seal sale, was the first organization in which doctors and laymen banded together to fight a specific disease.

Simple Rules Minimize Danger of Tree Fires

A brightly lighted Christmas tree can turn a happy holiday into a tearful tragedy if it is not properly flameproofed.

Particularly dangerous are the trees that have been left in the house too long.

But a few cents worth of easily available chemicals and a simple spraying operation can minimize the danger of a Christmas tree fire.

The spray solution is made of seven ounces of common borax and three ounces of boric acid dissolved in about two quarts of hot water. It can be applied with garden or paint sprayer, or even with a whisk broom. It should be used three times, allowing drying time.

Standing a tree in water helps to keep it green and at the same time makes it less flammable. The water should be replenished daily.

Three Christmas Dates Set in Modern Bethlehem Rites

Christmas is observed in Bethlehem on December 25 by the Roman Catholics and Protestants, on January 6, by the Greek Orthodox and affiliated churches, and on January 18 by the Armenians.

All Bethlehem, however, turns out on December 24 for the arrival of the Patriarch of Jerusalem — Cardinal of the Holy Land — who each year brings an ancient effigy of the Infant Jesus to Bethlehem which he lays in the manger within the cave where Christ was born.

Dramatically the procession approaches: heralded by a single horseman, his banner streaming aloft. A corps of native police mounted upon fiery Arabian horses follow and then another single horseman upon a prancing black steed carrying the cross on high; the Patriarch in his cardinal and ermine, mitred bishops, clergy in embroidered vestments and white robed acolytes — swinging golden censers — precede the jeweled pavilion of the Holy Child. Magnificent corteges of government officials, foreign embassies, bands, religious organizations follow, and finally American made automobiles mingle with native two-wheel carriages.

The procession enters the Church of the Nativity. The public it not permitted to witness the actual placing of the effigy as that part of the Church — built above the Cave of the Nativity — is under the jurisdiction of the Greek Orthodox church.

The grotto-like Cave of the Nativity in no way conforms to the modern conception of a "stable," in Biblical times, however, shelters for man and beast were hewn into rocky ledges — thus, the Stable of Bethlehem.

On Christmas Eve, members of all denominations assemble to sing carols above the birthplace of the Holy Child before midnight mass is solemnized in the Church of the Nativity.

PUT WREATHS OUT

If you want your Christmas wreaths to stay fresh longer make sure they are hung outside the window instead of inside.

New Training School Opened by State Police

A new training school to fill 38 Trooper positions is now under way at Michigan State Police headquarters in East Lansing.

Nineteen of the positions are those that still remain open of the 57 additional men authorized at the spring session of the legislature. The remainder are vacancies due to resignations, retirements and one death.

Meanwhile, preparations also are going forward for two additional schools at which 200 more men approved at the recent first special session of the legislature will be graduated.

Midnight of Nov. 30 marked the end of the most intense recruiting drive ever carried on to obtain candidates for these positions. The campaign was by far the most successful ever conducted, 3,100 applications being received. Those successful in passing the Civil Service examination Dec. 17 will be given oral interviews and physical examinations to qualify for entering the schools.

LEFTOVER TURKEY

You can make a wonderful supper dish out of some of that leftover turkey. Just arrange slices of the cold bird on buttered toast; top with a hot tomato-cheese sauce and sprigs of parsley. Serve with lots of good strong coffee.

More than 5,700 Michigan residents were discovered to have tuberculosis in 1954.

What Is Christmas?

Around this time of season comes
Enchantment in the air,
Hard to define it, but one feels
Its presence everywhere.

A magic wand with heavenly touch
Has floated down to earth,
To fill the hearts of young and old
With peace, good will and mirth.

They smile and laugh, who n'er before
Showed happiness within . . .
There's some bewitchery that tends
To make the whole world kin.

Oh, that this charm could make its home
Within our hearts alway —
To give the world that kindly touch
We feel on Christmas Day!

Two things that make for SAFER driving!

The first and most important thing is you —the driver. As the highway safety organizations and law enforcement agencies point out, the courtesy, care, and common sense you show count more than anything else. You can drive any car safely – or foolishly.

The second thing is the car itself. All cars are safer today. That's shown by the number of accidents in relation to the number of miles passenger cars are driven. The figure's been going down steadily and sharply.

Chevrolet engineers and designers have always made your safety a major consideration, introducing many such features as the all-steel top, safety plate glass all around, and windshield-wide defrosters into the low-price field. And this '56 Chevrolet is the safest one ever built.

Its lively new power means safer passing. Its special Ball-Race steering—the oversize brakes with Anti-Dive control—the Unisteel construction and safety door latches of its Fisher Body—the nailed-to-the-road stability that comes from outrigger rear springs, an advanced suspension system and better balance—the sweeping panoramic windshield – all these things add to your safety.

Seat belts with or without shoulder harness? Instrument panel padding? Of course, they're available at extra cost on your new Chevrolet. But the best protection of all is to keep out of accidents in the first place. And that depends mostly on you and the built-in safety of your car.

As your Chevrolet dealer, we'll be glad to show you the many safety features of the '56 Chevrolet.

Fall Snowstorms Create Extra Peril for Drivers

December snowstorms, chief of Police George Kilbourn warns, can be more hazardous to motorists than Jan. blizzards, for the reason that they come unexpectedly and find many motorists unprepared both mechanically and psychologically for the problems that snow driving brings.

Right now is the time, Chief Kilbourn emphasized, for all wise motorists to observe the following safety rules:

1. Don't blame accidents on the weather.

2. When snow comes, get the "feel" of the road when starting out.

weather; be prepared for bad

3. Keep the windshield clear of fog and frost, and be sure headlights, windshield wiper blades, and defrosters are working.

4. On snow and ice, use tire chains. They cut stopping distance in half, and give 4 to 7 times greater traction.

5. When you have to stop, don't jam on the brakes. "Pump" your brakes to avoid skids.

6. Follow other cars at a safe distance. Give yourself room in which to stop.

Safety First Makes Your Children Last

Safety first makes children last. So said the Michigan Department of Health today in urging shoppers to buy only safe toys for children this Christmas.

"Some toys, a little like Dr. Jeckyl and Mr. Hydé, may seem perfectly safe one minute and be dangerous the next," said Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner.

An an example, he cited a toy coated with paint which has a lead base. The toy is safe, he said, until a child chews on it, "and then he may get lead poisoning."

The Health Commissioner said picking out safe toys for youngsters is another way to reduce the likelihood of death by accident in the home. He reported Michigan last year had over 2,000 accidental deaths, including those at home, work and play — a number which exceeds the highway death toll, and, he said, "makes accident prevention on all fronts a major issue."

"Here's some of the toyland safety advice from the health department:

A child under three shouldn't be given stuffed animals with button eyes which can be twisted off, swallowed and might cause choking; toys with sharp, pointed or rough edges should be avoided, and for this age, small toys and toys with small removable parts should be rejected.

Parents should by-pass flammable toys, non-approved electrical toys and should be wary of toys like dart-games, which might result in eye injuries.

The health department added that gifts such as air rifles, chemistry sets and bows and arrows should be given, "only when you're sure they will be used under parental supervision."

Holiday Food Left-Overs Offer Variety

Left-over turkey is usually one of the holiday problems, but by using your imagination, you might wish there was more turkey to use in left-over dishes.

Grace Masuda, instructor in institution administration at Michigan State University, offers several suggestions in addition to the favorite cold sliced turkey sandwich and turkey ala king. For extra good flavor, you might like to try turkey salad with sliced almonds, or turkey chow mein, cream of turkey soup and turkey croquettes.

An easy-to-make casserole dish, which Miss Masuda likes to serve, is turkey tetrazzini. She lists the ingredients as:

6 oz. spaghetti, ¼ cup turkey fat, 1 bouillon cube, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon celery salt, 2 cups milk, 1 cup diced turkey, ½ cup sliced mushrooms, ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese.

While the spaghetti is cooking, melt the bouillon cube in the turkey fat in the top of a double boiler. Stir in flour, salt and celery salt. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Blend well and add the drained spaghetti, turkey and mushrooms. Pour into a one and one-half quart casserole, and sprinkle the top with grated Parmesan cheese. Bake at 350 degrees F. for about 20 minutes. This recipe should yield about five or six servings and many requests for more.

That's right — you can buy a '56 Buick for only $2253.88* delivered locally!

*2-door, 6-passenger Buick SPECIAL Sedan, Model 48, illustrated. Any state and local taxes, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities. A wide variety of extra-cost equipment and accessories available at your option.

This one has moved a lot of folks to change their buying habits.

For this strapping sweep of car is a Buick SPECIAL—solid Buick through and through, and sedan-big for six adults.

Yet the dollar difference between this beauty and the well-known smaller cars can be sifted down to a pocketful of pennies. (Actually, this Buick costs less than some models of those very same cars—as the price we show here proves.)

But the difference in brawn and breadth and fun and thrill—that's the clincher for the move to Buick . . .

Because here, folks find, is so much more sheer automobile for the money—big-car power, big-car ride, big-car performance and big-car room at a small-car price.

It comes from new, record-high power—from a big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine, the same basic engine that powers the costlier Buicks.

It comes from a new Buick ride—backboned by Buick heft, sinewed by stout steel, leveled by all-coil springing, cushioned by triple-oil-volume shock absorbers.

It comes from a new and advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow† that brings you brilliant new getaway response and bigger gas mileage in your normal driving range—plus sizzling new full-power safety-surge when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch.

And it comes, of course, from Buick size and solidity and steadiness—and all dressed up in Buick's new sweep-ahead style.

So why not come in and try one on for size?

Drop in this week and borrow a key. What happens from that point on is pure thrill—aided and abetted by low prices that make this the best buy yet.

†New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Mice Gnawed the Organ, Beloved Song Was Born

The millions who sing "Silent Night, Holy Night" this Christmas season are indebted, for the world's best loved Christmas hymn, to two men who refused to let the church of an Alpine village be without music because mice had gnawed the bellows of the church organ.

It was just 135 years ago and the two, cold, weary and despondent, were walking home through the gale-swept streets after discovering that mice had destroyed their plans for a festive Christmas observance.

As they walked away from St. Nikolaus Church, the bitter wind suddenly died and the skies cleared.

Lifting his eyes to the stars, Fr. Joseph Mohr, pastor of the little church sighed:

"Silent night, Holy night."

After a moment, he added:

"All is calm, all is bright."

Then, according to the legend handed down through the years, his friend, Teacher Franz Xavier Gruber, urged Fr. Mohr to put the song down on paper.

Exciteedly the men hurried to Gruber's home. They spent the rest of the night working out the verses and melody of their Christmas hymn.

When the villagers gathered in the little church to celebrate the birth of Christ, Father Mohr and Gruber led them in the first singing of the carol.

To the accompaniment of a 12-string guitar, the villagers sang and then sang again.

The song was received enthusiastically by the bargemen who floated salt down the Salzach River to Germany and by the village farmers and their families — and from there around the world.

THE ORPHAN'S CHRISTMAS-TREE

An orphan boy, with weary feet,
On Christmas Eve, alone, benighted,
Went through the town from street to street,
To see the clustering candles lighted
In homes where happy children meet.
Before each house he stood, to mark
The pleasant rooms that shone so fairly;
The tapers lighted, spark by spark,
Till all the trees were blazing rarely;
And sad his heart was, in the dark.
He wept; he clasped his hand and cried:
Around their trees, with merry voices;
"Ah, every child tonight rejoices;
Their Christmas presents all divide,
But Christmas is to me denied.
"Once with my sister, hand in hand,
At home, how did my tree delight me!
No other tapers shone so grand;
But all forget me, none invite me,
Here, lonely, in the stranger's land.
"Will no one let me in, to share
The light,—to take some corner nigh it?
In all these houses can't they spare
A spot where I may sit in quiet—
A little seat among them there?
"Will no one let me in tonight?
I will not beg for gift or token;
I only ask to see the sight
And hear the thanks of others spoken,
And that will be my own delight."
He knocked at every door and gate:
He rapped at wind-pane and shutter;
But no one heard and bade him wait,
Or came, the "Welcome in!" to utter:
Their ears were dull to outer fate.
Each father looked with eyes that smiled,
Upon his happy children only:
Their gifts the mother's heart beguiled
To think of them: none saw the lonely,
Forgotten boy, the orphan child.
"O Christ-child, holy, kind, and dear!
I have no father and no mother,
Nor friend save thee, to give me cheer.
Be thou my help, there is none other,
Since all forget me, wandering here!"
The poor boy rubbed his hands so blue,
His little hands, the frost made chilly;
His tattered clothes he closer drew
And crouched within a corner stilly,
And prayed, and knew not what to do.
Then, suddenly, there shone a light;
Along the street, approaching nearer
Another child, in garments white,
Spake as he came—and clearer, dearer,
His voice made music in the night:
"I am the Christ! have thou no fear!
I was a child in my probation,
And children unto me are near:
I hear and heed thy supplication,
Though all the rest forget thee here.
"My saving Word to all I bear,
And equally to each 'tis given;
I bring the promise of my care
Here, in the street, beneath the heaven,
As well as in the chambers there.
"And here, poor boy, thy Christmas-tree
Will I adorn, and so make glimmer
Through all this open space, for thee,
That those within shall twinkle dimmer,
For bright as thine they cannot be!"
The Christ-child with his shining hand
Then pointed up, and lo! the lustres
That sparkled there! He saw it stand,
A tree, o'erhung with starry clusters
On all its branches, wide and grand.
So far and yet so near! the night
Was blazing with the taper's splendor:
What was the orphan boy's delight,
How beat his bosom warm and tender,
To see his Christmas-tree so bright!
It seemed to him a happy dream;
Then, from the starry branches bending,
The angles stooped, and through the gleam
They lifted him to peace unending,
They folded him in love supreme.
The orphan child is now at rest:
No father's care he needs, nor mother's,
Upon the Christ-child's holy breast,
All that is here bestowed on others
He there forgets, where all is best.

—Bayard Taylor (1824-1878), After Rueckart.

"Christmas Carol"

The Christ-child lay on Mary's lap,
His hair was like a light.
(O weary, weary were the world
But here is all aright.)
The Christ-child lay on Mary's breast
His hair was like a star.
(O stern and cunning are the kings,
But here the true hearts are.)
The Christ-child lay on Mary's heart,
His hair was like a fire.
(O weary, weary is the world,
But here the world's desire.)
The Christ-child stood at Mary's knee,
His hair was like a crown,
And all the flowers looked up at Him,
And all the stars looked down.

SANTA CLAUS SCHOOL TRAINS JOLLY GENTS

In a colonial farmhouse at Albion, N. Y., there's a Santa Claus school and it's the only educational institution of its kind in the world.

Graduates wear white wig and whiskers, red suit trimmed in white fur, wide white belt, and black leather boots.

A course at the school prepares prospective Santa Claus to properly shake when he laughs like a bowl full of jelly, remain calm when a child glares and yells, "there ain't no Santa Claus" and maintain proper diplomatic relations with a parent who thinks Santa has given her tot the brush-off.

Last year tuberculosis struck an average of 110 persons each week in Michigan.

There Are A Variety of Items for Decorating

Home decorations for the Yule season fall in three general classes — the Christmas tree itself, indoor display with a Yule motif and outside displays.

The Christmas tree is taking on color. Some householders spray their trees with silver and gold paint.

This is not new. It is a revival of an old German custom of coating a tree with glue and then sprinkling it with a silver metal dust.

Items for decorating a tree include angel hair, artificial snow, mica, tinsel, bells and balls of different colors, lights with backing of metal stars and tiny objects such as choir boys, Santa Claus and reindeer to hang from the boughs.

Indoor displays usually consist of a Nativity scene, a table centerpiece of reindeer pulling a sleigh or a slow burning candle surrounded with a base of evergreens tied with a satin ribbon.

Outside displays consist of trees decorated with lights, large spotlighted scenes of the three Wise Men or the Nativity and door wreaths of evergreens with bright berries and a bow.

It's Deadliest Night of All

Merry Christmas, friends, but remember—

Christmas Eve is the deadliest holiday night of the year, twice as bad as New Year's Eve for traffic casualties, and fires have put the end to many a Merry Christmas.

Your last-minute rush to complete Christmas arrangements may be your last minute to enjoy life. The 15 hours of darkness before Christmas are a time to be on guard. Some of us will find it a good time to be home trimming the tree.

If we follow some simple rules, our Christmas will be merrier. The ordinary Christmas tree is one of the most flammable objects known —full of pitch and resin, it may take less than two minutes to burn. Firemen might be way too late.

Choose a small tree — it's just as beautiful and safer. Buy it early if you like, but don't set it up until a few days before Christmas; keep it outside or in a cold place.

Cut the tree trunk diagonally one inch above the original cut; mount the tree in a container of water and keep water above the cut surface until the tree is taken down; this will make the tree less burnable and keep needles from falling. Erect the tree in a cool spot, shutting off nearby heat if necessary.

Paper and cotton decorations, wires and electric trains around trees can cause fires, as can candles or electric lights with frayed [illegible] switch at some distance is safer than plugging and un-plugging lights beneath or behind the tree. If needles turn brown, move the lights, and when needles start to fall, take the tree down or hold lighting to a half hour at a time.

"Put Christ Back into Christmas" Move Spreads

A movement to restore the Christ Child to His rightful place as the central figure of Christmas has become nation-wide.

It began in 1948 when a group of mothers in Dubuque pledged themselves to erect Christmas cribs in their homes.

Last year more than 3,000 homes in Dubuque had nativity scenes as the focal point of Christmas decorations and letters indicate that thousands who never had cribs plan them this Christmas. The movement also has taken hold commercially.

MRS. ANTHONY EBERHARDT, who organized the campaign, says stores across the nation will leave more room this year for appropriate religious symbols in Christmas displays.

First action of the Dubuque mothers came almost at the same time as a regional meeting of the Christian Mothers of Pittsburgh, Pa., who had practically the same idea.

MRS EBERHARDT, a writer of short stories and articles, as well as of a novel, began to write crib articles for religious publications and letters to editors of secular magazines.

Letters came in from all over the United States. Answering them keeps her busy the year around.

THIS YEAR, scores of towns in Iowa will have outdoor religious displays, with all denominations joining to raise funds for them.

Evanston, Ill., plans a great religious observance using crib figures. Large Chicago stores will use manger scenes.

Milwaukee plans to better its record of depicting the Nativity scene; 1,700 stores will have religious displays or posters and the name of Christ in electric lights on large buildings, bridges and theatre marquees.

In Minnesota, Vermont, Washington, Maine, Wyoming, Nevada, Georgia and Michigan, as well as nearly all the other states, will be found cribs erected in parks or on court house grounds — even on sidewalks.

BUT THE women who sponsor the idea emphasize cribs for the home.

Their plan is simple, a three-walled shelter with a floor of straw or evergreen branches and figures of the Nativity. The figures may be of plywood cut out with a jig-saw.

Cardboard boxes and cartons also make fine cribs, says Mrs. Eberhardt. Covered with cloth or artificial snow with a few evergreen sprigs here and there, they can be effective, she said. For the children's crib, even a shoebox could do. Figures of Christ in the manger, Mary, Joseph, the Wise Men and sheep for the tiny crib can be purchased at many stores.

ST. FRANCIS MADE FIRST CRIB IN CAVE

St. Francis of Assisi is believed to have originated the custom of displaying the Christ Child in a crib at Christmas time.

He is reported once to have said to one of his followers: "I wish to celebrate holy Christmas night with you. In the woods near the cloister you will find a cave where we shall arrange a manger filled with hay. We shall have an ox and an ass just as at Bethlehem. I wish to see how poor and miserable the Infant Saviour became for us.

So at midnight in the small Italian village of Garcia in the year 1200 St. Francis and his followers celebrated mass at the cave and sang hymns in honor of the Christ Child.

Selling Christmas Seals to fight tuberculosis was originated in 1904 by a Danish postal clerk, Einar Holboell.

Official U.S. Tree Grows in Calif.

The official Christmas tree of the nation is not located in Washington, D. C., as most folks would expect it to be, but in General Grant National Park, 64 miles due east of Fresno, Calif.

Some 267 feet high, the tree was designated as the Nation's Christmas Tree at high noon on Christmas Day, 1925, and is one of the most celebrated in the United States.

Patriotic and devotional services are held beneath it each year and are broadcast over a nation-wide hookup. Heavy snowfalls sometimes cut down on the attendance, but usually a large number of visitors attend the ceremonies.

DOLL CLOTHES DESIGN FITS TOTS SKILL

When you're making doll clothes, it is a good idea to make them with raglan sleeves so that children can more easily dress and undress their dolls without your help.

Little fingers will have more success with big hooks and eyes and big buttons than with the dainty sizes you'll be tempted to use, points out a specialist in Michigan State College's Spartan nursery school.

Tiny fasteners can be an irritating task even for grownups, you know.

Suggests Menu for Christmas Eve Dinner

In many homes Christmas Eve brings the family together. And amid the flurry of last minute shopping and gift wrapping, the pre-holiday dinner must be prepared. For this busy time it's wise to plan your menu in advance.

One excellent choice for this occasion is a tempting and hearty meat pie. If you have a home freezer, this can be prepared several days in advance ready to finish cooking in your oven.

In any case, for cutting last minute preparations, cook the stew early in the day, suggests home economist Reba Staggs. Use lamb, veal, or beef cubes for the stew. Cook them completely covered with water, then add vegetables just long enough before the end of the meat cooking so they will be tender. When cooked (2½ hours for beef, 2 hours for veal, 1½ hours for lamb) remove the meat and vegetables and thicken the liquid for gravy.

Store them closely covered in your refrigerator until time to make up the meat pie.

For making the pie, place the stew in your favorite table casserole or in idvididual casseroles. The topping is what makes it a meat pie—pastry or biscuit.

For a Christmas touch, cut the pastry or biscuit dough with cookie cutters into seasonable designs. For instance, you might have bells over the top of the meat stew, Christmas trees, wreaths.

PETITE SALON HAS HOLIDAY PARTY

The Christmas dinner and party of Petite Salon 127, 8 and 40 was held in Adrian Monday evening with Mrs. Harold Noling as hostess. Mrs. Noling is matron of the children's detention home and the meeting was at that institution with Mrs. Walter Lok, Mrs. Clyde Duncan, Mrs. Edward Brooket and Mrs. Harold Foote assisting.

Twenty-six were present and after a chicken dinner the group was addressed by Judge L. D. Kuney on the subject of "Child Welfare and Delinquency."

Committees for the coming year were appointed by the new chapead and Mrs. Al Bagshaw was named to head that on child welfare; Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, ritual and emblems and Mrs. Fred Marsh, publicity.

Auxiliary Hears Convention Report

Reports made up much of the business meeting of Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Tuesday evening. Mrs. Nyra Parrett conducted devotions at the opening and Mrs. Charles Mensing presided.

A detailed and interesting report of the state convention of hospital auxiliaries held recently in Grand Rapids was made by Mrs. Robert Fuller. Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. Mensing represented the Tecumseh group.

Mrs. Robert Anderson reported on the Holiday Ball held at the Country Club and thanked all those who had assisted to make the event such an outstanding success. She announced that somewhat more than $700 was realized.

The chair appointed Mrs. Earl Wood, Mrs. Harold Easton and Mrs. Wilbur Andrews as a nominating committee to report at the next meeting. It was announced that the Garden Club would be in charge of the decorations at the hospital for the holidays.

New members announced were Mrs. J. D. Cook, Mrs. William Frownfelder and Mrs. Roger Linger, and the auxiliary voted to amend the constitution to allow the election of an assistant treasurer due to the enlarged membership.

Mrs. Robert Yonclas of Adrian was then introduced and gave a most informative talk on physical therapy.

Refreshments were served by the hostess committee, Mrs. Chester Beach, Mrs. Norris Morehouse, Mrs W. L. Beck, Mrs. George McCombs and Mrs. Paul Hohenstein from tables whose decorations were in keeping with the holidays.

THE MIDDLE GUARD
by LES BINGAMAN

NOW THAT THE smoke of battle has cleared and the Lions are looking up at the rest of the league from the very bottom—an indignity that hasn't befallen them in a long time—perhaps this is the occasion to take a peek at the future in winding up this Middle Guard series.

Not since 1948 have our lacerated Lions finished in the basement. It was most unexpected. Two years from top to bottom! First crushed for the world's championship and now shorn even of the Western Division title and shoved in the mud.

It's quite a come-down and maybe a little hard to take, but nobody's crying. Buddy Parker and Bobby Layne and Joe Schmidt and Lou Creekmur and the whole gang are made of sterner stuff.

Everybody's looking to next year. We all feel we'll move up. After all, there's no place to go but up.

Trio Coming Back

None of the Lions brass is overlooking the fine material we are expecting next year, some draft choices from the colleges, others former Lions returning from the service.

True, we'll miss the great Doak Walker and others who undoubtedly will soon announce their retirement, but we are eagerly looking forward to the return next season of Gene Gedman, Yale Lary and Ollie Spencer from military duty.

Gedman is a powerful runner who piled up a lot of yardage for the Lions as a halfback. Lary is a defensive specialist who snares a lot of enemy passes and, man, how we could have used him this season! Spencer is a rugged tackle who can make anybody's team.

In addition, big things are expected of our first two draft choices, Ohio State's Hopalong Cassady and Southern Methodist's Don McIlhenny. Cassady's exploits are widely known, of course, and McIlhenny has done a superb job in the SMU backfield, particularly on pass interceptions, a Lion weakness this season.

A Brighter Future

Moreover, Parker expects to acquire several other top prospects at the completion of the college draft in January, and with the nucleus of fine players we already have, the Lions undoubtedly will start the long road back.

However, this is not to say we'll take any championships next year. From bottom to top is much harder to achieve than top to bottom. The rebuilding process takes time, and no one ever can predict how a highly-touted All-American will do in the pro ranks. We could get some "busts," although this seems unlikely.

In any event, with Leon Hart showing great potential as a hard-driving fullback, Layne's shoulder expected to be strengthened over the winter, service returnees and newcomers of great promise, we'll start moving up there, wait and see.

Next season I expect to be reporting on a resurging Lion football team and I hope you'll be with me again. It was fun doing this weekly column and the broadcasts and telecasts with Van Patrick, and thanks for all your kind messages.

HANG STOCKINGS

Even if you don't have a fireplace, hang up the youngsters' Christmas stockings. Your offspring will be heart broken if stockings and sugar plums are absent on Christmas morn. If you can't afford to fill them with little gifts and sweets, apples, oranges, nuts and hard candies are budget stuffers.

Christmas Seals dollars have been fighting tuberculosis for 48 years in the United States.

Christian Science Services Listed

The ever-present power of the Christ, Truth, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Matthew's account of the coming of the Magi to Bethlehem at the time of the nativity of Christ Jesus will be featured in the Responsive Reading. "Christian Science" will be the topic of the Lesson-Sermon.

Among the pasages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be the following:

"To those leaning on the sustaining infinite, today is big with blessings. The wakeful shepherd beholds the first faint morning beams, ere cometh the full radiance of a risen day. So shone the pale star to the prophet-shepherds; yet it traversed the night, and came where, in cradled obscurity, lay the Bethlehem babe, the human herald of Christ, Truth, who would make plain to benighted understanding the way of salvation through Christ Jesus, till across a night of error should dawn the morning beams and shine the guiding star of being" (Pref. vii:1-10).

IT'S CHRISTMAS

Stars like frosty snowflakes glisten,
Trees are still, as though they listen
For the far-off bells that chime
Their blessings on this happy time.
Children sleep, and, dreaming, see
The magic, present-laden Tree,
While mothers watch and think of one
Who in a stable lulled her Son.
In town and country neighbors go
Caroling across the snow,
And hearts and homes are opened wide,
To let the lonely come inside.

Lord, may this love and joy abide
With us until next Christmastide!

TEN CENTS A COPY

It's All Over But the Shouting

Old 1955 was quite a year in the Tecumseh area. If you don't believe it, just read what happened over the past 12 months as compiled from the HERALD'S files:

JAN. 6: Gas-mixed fuel oil sold from Jim Shiels' station was recovered without accident to those who bought it. The mixture was delivered to Jim in error.

Minor accidents were reported during the long holiday weekend.

A baby girl born to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Richardson of Franklin Township won the Baby Derby sponsored by local merchants.

Five hundred and nine babies were born at Herrick Memorial hospital during 1954, a year-end report showed.

J. M. Artman was named manager of the Secretary of State's office here.

The R. S. Moore & Son Company sold their lumber yards in Britton and Dundee to Archie Spohr and to Paul Sheldon respectively.

The deadline for the payment of winter taxes was announced by Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city clerk.

Two thousand small fry turned out to visit Santa. His stay here was sponsored by the chamber of commerce.

JAN. 13: Joan Downing, Sandra Copeland and Ruth Boyce were named DAR "Good Citizen" winners.

Eighteen polio cases in the Tecumseh area were receiving help from dimes given in previous March of Dimes drives.

An honorary life membership in the Herrick Memmorial hospital auxiliary was awarded to Mrs. Hoyt Whelan.

Alton Morris was sentenced to 30 days for forgery and Maynard Mulvaney also received 30 days for selling liquor to a minor.

Ground was broken for the new VFW home.

The Legion gave $100 to the March of Dimes.

JAN. 20: In a detailed report the State Tax Commission said Tecumseh's assessed valuation was too low.

Phillip Murran received a fractured skull in a two-car crash.

Members of the hospital board asked councilmen if the hospital could borrow money. Attorney J. C. Beardsley told them it could not but the city could. The hospital wanted $11,000 for completion of improvements and $5000 for operating capital.

A 7 x 10 foot plate glass window in the Tecumseh office of the Adrian Federal Savings & Loan Association was smashed when a car driven by Vyrle Knapp of Coldwater crashed into it. He was charged with leaving the scene of a property damage accident after city police ferreted him out.

Dick Eggleston was elected president of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce.

A new salary schedule for teachers was adopted by the board of education.

Mrs. Raynor Ross died.

JAN. 27: The adult education program at the high school offered a full list of courses.

Workmen began to raze East Branch school. The city bought the site from the board of education for a future spot for a new city hall.

Final plans were made for a porchlight drive to solicit dimes for the polio fight.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles was set to observe its 48th year.

Gordon R. Eaton, district governor of Rotary, paid his official visit to the Tecumseh Rotary Club.

Fire gutted the house occupied by the S. Gutlow family in Tecumseh Acres.

Losses due to fire during the year totalled $124,960.

FEB. 3: The porchlight drive netted $1468 for the polio fight.

Stephan Illeck was the first to file nominating petitions for a city council post.

A report from Supt. McDowell showed the school building debt would be retired by Dec., 1958.

A Dale Carnegie International Club was formed.

Russ Garno was named a district governor by Exchange.

Mrs. R. S. Moore died.

The chamber of commerce joined the Better Business Bureau.

David May of Pontiac was held for assaulting a 14-year-old girl.

The Sash & Door had a minor fire.

Boy Scouts observed their 45th birthday with special programs.

Plans were underway for the Merchants & Manufacturers' Show sponsored by the VFW.

FEB. 10: Delegates to the County Republican Convention endorsed Ike's Formosan policy.

The polio drive in Ridgeway netted $864.

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles Andderson (she was a Comfort) left for Brazil as missionaries.

Nominating petitions for council posts were circulated for Mrs. Edith Smith, the Rev. B. O. Bashore, LeRoy Titley and Arthur Schwartz.

Jaycees began rehearsing for a minstrel show.

Thomas Knight escaped serious injury when his car was struck by a train on the Occidental road crossing.

Ernie Campbell was appointed to the board of review.

All public school employees were re-offered contracts.

FEB. 17: Plans were being made for the state basketball tournaments in the gym here.

Two hundred persons attended the Rotary Club banquet honoring members' wives.

The Music Club accepted the musical library of the late Mrs. R. S. Moore.

Madonna Strand and Dick Golat were named queen and king of the March of Dimes.

Booths were all sold out for the M. & M. Show of the VFW.

"Biggie" Munn, MSU athletic director, spoke at the Spartan alumni banquet in Blissfield.

County Democrats held their convention in Adrian.

FEB. 24: William Powell, Robert Fuller, Donald Purkey and John Hamilton filed nominating petitions to seek council posts.

A final report showed $3980 was given for polio work.

The Rev. Edward Escolme resigned from the city planning board.

City assessor John Saling told councilmen he hopes to put the city's assessed valuation up to $11,000,000.

Grenval Spangler was named a delegate to the state Democrat convention.

The hospital was host to several nurses from foreign lands.

Tecumseh Tire Service gave the city civil defense program a truck.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

A HAPPY NEW YEAR to everyone and may all of you welcome the new year with more peace of spirit . . . more health and happiness . . . more friendships true . . . and more joy and gladness.

PHONE OPERATORS WISHING everyone "A Merry Christmas" surprised us. After recovering, however, we began calling just to be able to say "And the same to you."

CARL HENKEL THINKS the Lining is prejudiced toward the U.S. Navy. He says there's always something in here about a sailor, but never about a birdman of the U.S. Air Force. So right now there will be something about a fly guy. Carl is home on furlough visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Rhae Henkel but for awhile he thought he'd never make it. He flew from Shephard Air Force Base in Texas to Chicago and then, instead of coming on in to Willow Run, his plane took him to Washington, D.C. Carl thought he was over Lansing when the Capitol dome loomed up. His dad now calls him "Wrong Way Corrigan."

BUT THE SAILORS CAN'T keep out of this. Jerry Eggleston is home from the U.S. Navy and for good. He says he's having a tough time adjusting to so much room after service in submarines.

TECUMSEH HAS FIVE churches and a Friends meeting house and still the boys go skating on Sunday. Lest you think the Lining is getting prduish, let me hasten to add that this was reported from the HERALD'S files of 40 years ago.

DOROTHY UPDIKE IS SURE it couldn't have happened at a nicer time. Way back last summer she put on paper some of the thoughts and experiences that have come to her in her many teaching years. She called it "Take Time to Listen." About the first of Nov. she screwed up sufficient courage to mail it to "Parent's Magazine." On Christmas eve came a reply, an acceptance and a very nice check. She hasn't touched ground since.

Jingle

Tecumseh merchants reported the best Christmas business in several years. Some even said they had the best Christmas business this year that they have ever had.

Most of them reported they had their best day last Friday, which may prove that most Christmas shopping is done at the last minute.

Friday they did a land-office business and the city's parking spaces were at a premium, even though they were free as a courtesy of the city.

INDIANS LOSE TO ADRIAN, 59-47

Tecumseh high school lost to Adrian Tuesday night in basketball, 59-47.

Bob Howard of the Maple Leafs cashed 34 points. Mike Sisson led the Indians with 23.

CLASSES TO RESUME

Public and parochial school classes will resume next Tuesday, Jan. 3.

PROMOTED — Brigadier General Webster Anderson, son of Mrs. R. K. Anderson of Tecumseh was promoted to Major General Dec. 20. Major General Anderson is now commanding general of the Philadelphia, Pa., quartermaster depot.

New Barber Shop Opens Jan. 6

A new barber shop will open Friday, Jan. 6, in Tecumseh. To be located at 517 east Chicago boulevard, the new shop is owned and operated by Benjamin E. McWilliams.

It will be equipped with the newest in modern barber equipment.

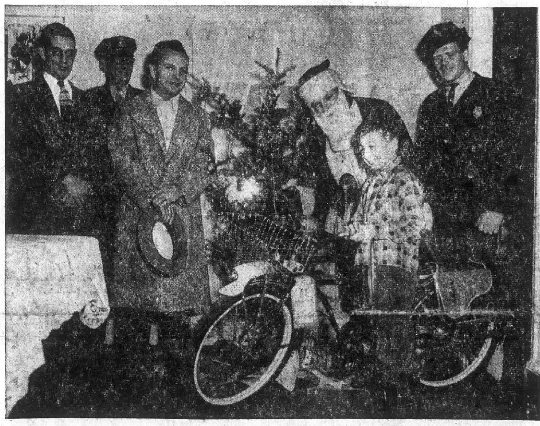
The shop also will feature free parking for the convenience of customers.

It will be open daily beginning Friday, Jan. 6, from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Mr. McWilliams is a graduate of the Toledo Barber College and he formerly barbered in Dundee and in Adrian.

He resides with his wife and son and daughter at 116 North Division street, Tecumseh.

Willie Got His Bike



Patrolman Carl Barnes, Chief George Kilbourn, Harvey Carpenter, Santa Claus and patrolman Richard Christensen were on hand when Willie Brown knew for certain that there is a Santa Claus. (Photo by Dixon's Studio)

Tecumseh policemen and Harvey Carpenter of Harvey's Grill aided Santa Claus in bringing a fatherless Tecumseh boy a bright, new bicycle for Christmas.

The boy, Willie Brown, 9, of 5707 Milwaukee road, wanted a new bike for Christmas more than he wanted anything else.

But on Dec. 10 his hopes for the bike were shattered when his father, William Brown, 53, died suddenly of a heart attack. Mr. Brown, who worked for an Adrian contractor as a plasterer, died as he finished work.

When Tecumseh patrolmen Richard Christensen and Carl Barnes broke the word of her husband's death to Mrs. Dixie Brown, she turned to Willie in her shock and said:

"Well, Willie, it doesn't look like you'll get your bike for Christmas."

The patrolmen told the story in Harvey's Grill when they stopped in for lunch and Harvey Carpenter said he would buy the lad his bike. Tecumseh patrolmen chipped in to equip it with lights, horn and the works.

Saturday night policemen picked up Santa Claus from his busy spot in Tecumseh and Willie got his bike directly from Santa with the assist of a warm-hearted restaurant owner and kindly policemen.

Week of Prayer Set Next Week

Universal Week of Prayer, which is observed on an international basis during the first week of Jan. will be marked in Tecumseh by special services each evening except Monday. These meetings, which are sponsored by the Ministerial Association will begin Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. at the Friends church with the Rev. L. H. MacPherson, preaching.

The Wednesday service will be at the Methodist church with the Rev. Bernard Gill in charge; Thursday at the Baptist church with the Rev. E. C. Dickin; Friday at the Assembly of God church with preaching by the Rev. H. L. James.

This week of prayer dates back to 1848 and approximately inaugurates the New Year in the spirit of confession, petition and intercession. All the services will be in the evening beginning at 8 p.m. and there will be special music on each occasion.

Products Workers Aid Children of Cerebral Palsy

A group of 14 interested Tecumseh people went to Palmyra last week Tuesday evening to attend the Christmas program at the Palmyra Cerebral Palsy Unit.

This was the first public program attempted by the pupils and they had spent many weeks in preparation for the recitations, songs, carols and the presentation of the nativity scene which made up the entertainment.

Eleven pupils took part varying in age from two to 15. They had been trained and directed by Miss Juanita Covington, speech therapist and Miss Kathleen Richmond, whose specialty is physical therapy and by volunteer helpers.

During the intermission the unit was presented with a check for $300 by the Rev. Edward Escolme in behalf of the Chieftain Club of the Tecumseh Products Co.

There was a visit from Santa Claus after the program and gifts were distributed from a decorated Christmas tree. Both gifts and tree were donated by Products workers.

Thanks

Postmaster Jack Metcalf publicly thanks patrons for their excellent cooperation in trying to make postal employees' work a bit easier during the record-breaking Christmas mail season.

"They were wonderful," he said, "and all of us here at the Tecumseh post office want them to know how much we appreciated their help."

The post office will be closed again next Monday all day but the lobby will be open from 2 to 4 p.m. for the convenience of box holders and there will be a pick-up of outgoing mail in the business district at 3 p.m.

Box Factory Destroyed by $20,000 Fire

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the crating and box factory owned by Harry Beland about 3 a.m. Wednesday.

The cement block building on Occidental road was a complete loss. Damages were estimated at $20,000, which are partly covered by insurance.

A Tecumseh police car drove past the building about a half hour earlier and there were no signs of a fire. The fire was out of control when it was seen by a neighbor Mrs. Vern Miller soon after 3 a.m.

The fire had too much of a head start to be brought under control by firemen.

BRITTON POST OFFICE TO MOVE

Postmaster Ronald Cheever of the Britton Post Office announces that the post office will be moved to a new location in the former Britton bank building Tuesday, Jan. 3.

30 Merchants Signed Up for M & M Show

The display booths of the second annual M. and M. Show are nearly all sold out it was announced this week.

Thirty merchants have already expressed the desire to participate in this show of Tecumseh merchandizing.

It is promised to be even larger and better than last year.

Feb. 9, 10, 11 and 12 are the dates set for the show. It will be held in the Products Workers' Union Hall. Door prizes will be given away each evening.

REMEMBER TAXES

Winter taxes for county and school purposes must be paid by Tuesday, Jan. 10, to avoid penalty.

MSU Glee Club Will Appear Here

The Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce announces the appearance here of the Michigan State University Men's Glee Club Saturday, Jan. 14, for a concert to raise funds for athletic field bleachers. The program will be presented at 8 p.m. at the high school gymnasium.

The 60-voice Men's Glee Club will appear this year in many Michigan communities to gain further experience and provide cultural entertainment. In addition, the men will present concerts on the Spartan campus, and on numerous radio and TV programs.

Men from practically every college on campus make up the Glee Club. It is a non-credit activity, the men participating for their own enjoyment and musical advancement. The M.S.U. Glee Club has been a source of entertainment for Michigan people since 1880.

The singers will be directed here by Edward Richmond. He has a wide experience as a professional vocalist, student of music and conductor.

A local committee has been established, under the chairmanship of Bob Mohr with Karl Schneider, Bob Breniff, Joe Conway, and Dave Faling to help with the staging of the concert, the promotion of the program and other details.

GRADUATES

WAC Pvt. Paulina L. Bradley, 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flowers, 9650 north Adrian road, Tecumseh, recently was graduated from the U.S. Army Hospital's on-the-job medical technicians training course at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Private Bradley entered the Women's Army Corps in June, 1955, and completed basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala.

Merchants Sponsor First Baby Contest

A first baby contest for 1956 is being sponsored by local merchants with prizes going to the first baby and to the lucky baby's parents.

This marks the second time that this type of good will contest has been undertaken by Tecumseh merchants.

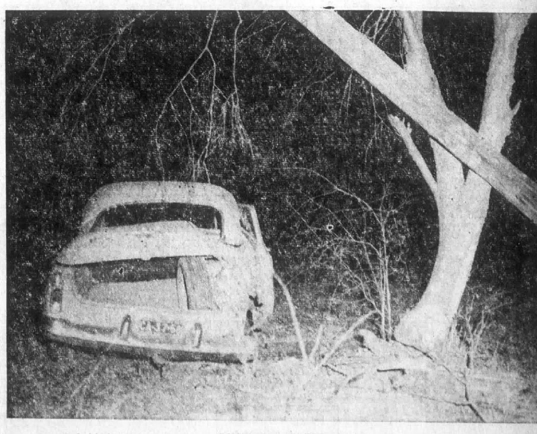
Rules of the contest are simple. They are:

1. Parents must be residents of Tecumseh, Britton, Ridgeway, Tipton, Macon, Holloway or Tecumseh, Ridgeway, Macon, Franklin or Raisin Townships.
2. Winning baby can be born in any hospital.
3. Exact time of birth must be specified in written statement by attending physician.
4. All applications must be received in the HERALD office by 5 p.m., Tuesday, Jan. 3, 1956.

The following merchants are taking part in the first baby contest: Easton's Friendly Service, Lad & Lassie Shop, Dixon's Studio, The Rosacrans Store, Meadowridge Dairy, The Tecumseh HERALD, Eggleston's Cleaners, Sluyter Electric, Eggleston's Jewelry and Western Auto.

They are giving the following prizes:

Easton's — 10 gallons of gas
Lad & Lassie — crib blanket
Rosacrans — $5 merchandise certificate
Meadowridge — Two and one-half gallons of ice cream
The HERALD — A two-year subscription
Eggleston's Cleaners — $5 for baby and $5 worth of cleaning to mother
Eggleston's Jewelry — Child's set
Dixon's Studio — Aunt Mary picture membership
Western Auto — baby car seat
Sluyter Electric — $5 merchandise certificate



GOING TOO FAST — This is what was left of a car owned by Leyton Cleveland of Adrian after an accident Friday night on the curve at Russell and Occidental roads.

Tecumseh police said Leyton tried to take the curve too fast. He lost control, clipped off an REA power pole, smashed into a tree and his car rolled over.

Lights in the area momentarily were out until repairmen made repairs.

He was returning to his home in Adrian from work at the Tecumseh Products Company about 7:30.

Rushed to Herrick Memorial hospital, he immediately was transferred to the University hospital in Ann Arbor. He received critical internal injuries.

PATTERSON P.-T.A. MEETS JAN. 5

The Jan. meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of Patterson school will be addressed by Mr. R. W. Babb of the Lenawee County Probate Court.

The association will meet at the school building at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 5.

Christian Science Services Listed

How lasting peace and harmony may be gained through steadfast trust in God's goodness and power will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "God" will consist of readings from the King James Version of the Bible and correlative selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

Isaiah's promise of peace for those who rely on God is included in the Scriptural readings (26:3): "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee."

Also emphasizing the availability of God-given harmony and goodness are correlative passages to be read from Science and Health including the following (515:22): "All that God imparts moves in accord with Him, reflecting goodness and power."

SCHOLARSHIP STUDENT IS SOLOIST IN CONCERT

A note from Miss Gertrude Spaulding, who is now in charge of the out-patient department of Henry Ford hospital, encloses the program of the Christmas concert of the glee club of the school of nursing of that institution. Among the soloists of the concert held Dec. 16 is Loretta Brown, who is studying at Ford hospital on a scholarship furnished by the Auxiliary of Herrick Memorial hospital. Miss Brown's selection was "The Virgin's Slumber Song" by Reger-Beckers.

Former Resident Named Monroe's Woman of Year

A clipping from the Monroe Evening News carries a picture of Mrs. Edmund R. Childs and the account of her choice by the Monroe Rotary Club as the city's "Woman of the Year".

Mrs. Childs, who will be remembered in Tecumseh as the former Marion Williamson, is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Williamson and the late Mr. Williamson and spent her girlhood here.

The presentation of the white orchid award was made to Mrs. Childs by Rotary president, Robert G. Gustafson at the service organization's Christmas party and was for outstanding community service. He listed many of her activities which included helping in the organization of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults and said she is on the board of directors of six organizations.

Even swindler Humphrey Bogart, strangler Aldo Ray and safecracker Peter Ustinov are prey to the young loveliness of Gloria Talbott in the delightful "We're No Angels," due at the Strand Theatre.

Myrtie L. Kempf and L. C. Reed Wed Saturday

At four o'clock Christmas eve Miss Myrtie L. Kempf of Tecumseh and Lester C. Reed of Tipton were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Henry Kempf on E. Kilbuck street. The Rev. Alvin Brazee performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate members of the families of the bride and groom.

Christmas greens and traditional holiday decorations made an effective setting for the ceremony which took place before a lighted Christmas tree. Miss Judith Kempf, a niece of the bride was her attendant and Mr. Reed was attended by his brother, Herbert Reed of Adrian.

Powder blue and silver lace over powder blue taffeta formed the bride's gown which was made street length. Her only ornament was a gold necklace, set with rhinestones and pearls, which was a gift from the groom and she wore a corsage of white rosebuds.

The bridesmaid wore a street length dress of rose mauve with black velvet trim and her corsage was pink roses. Mrs. Kempf was dressed in navy blue with which she wore a corsage of dark red rose buds.

Joan Kempf, another niece of the bride played piano selections during the evening.

A buffet wedding supper was served from a lace covered table after the ceremony and featured a four-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bridal couple. It was cut by Mrs. Raymond Kempf, the bride's sister-in-law, while the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Reed of Adrian served the groom's cake. Another sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Henry Kempf presided at the coffee urn.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed left after the reception for a trip to Florida. The bride is a registered nurse, employed at Herrick Memorial hospital and the groom is an employee of the Tecumseh Products Co. They will make their home in Tecumseh.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN GRAND RAPIDS

Miss Mary Whitelock has been informed of the death Dec. 23 of Mrs. D. J. Carson which occurred in a nursing home in Grand Rapids. Mrs. Carson had been seriously ill since Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Carson lived for several years in Tecumseh when her husband was manager of Brewer's Foundry and later owner of Carson's, now Bruce's Foundry. She is survived by her son, Gordon Carson of Grand Rapids and one granddaughter. Private services were held in Grand Rapids Tuesday morning.

Grade School News

PATTERSON SCHOOL

The first grade will present their Christmas program Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

Lana Scutt has moved to Ionia.

Henry Mensing and Robert Powell celebrated their seventh birthdays last week.

We are looking forward to seeing many of our parents and friends at the Christmas musical program, Thursday, Dec. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

All of us at Patterson school would like to wish you a very Merry Christmas.

FOURTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Miller

Our room is beginning to have a Christmas feeling. Our tree is up and we are getting the rest of the room decorated.

We are learning about magnets in science. There are several kinds. Richard Fielder and Ronald Jones made an electro-magnet with a dry cell battery, copper wire and a steel nail.

We are working together in Language and Penmanship to make booklets shaped like a turkey. In them we are writing original stories. When they are finished we will take them home for our parents to see.

We are continuing long division in arithmetic and now have three place answers. During one period the children who knew their combinations the best had a free time. They drew number pictures, using only numbers from one to ten for the lines. We had some interesting animals, trees and even battleships—try it sometime.

A Merry Christmas to you all.

FOURTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Bailey

Our room looks very much like Christmas. Our decorations are almost completed and our tree is up. We are enjoying getting ready for the holiday season and are looking forward to vacation.

We are still playing the arithmetic game and are learning our combinations and multiplication tables better all the time. In science we have been learning about magnets—the different kinds and what they can do. In social studies we are learning about the settlements made in our country by the English, French, Spanish, and Dutch people.

We have a new pupil—Shirley Mitchell came to us from Toledo. We are hoping she will enjoy being in our school. We are also losing a pupil. Delbert Hawkins is moving down near Monroe. We hope he will like his new school.

We have two birthdays in December, Lorretta McKenzie and Clark Nichols.

We hope all you people who read our news will have a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

FOURTH GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Whiting

Corky Squires, Eldon Miller, and Sharon Gillen had birthdays this month.

We're all looking forward to our Christmas vacation. We will have our Christmas party on Friday, December 23. We have drawn names and have been decorating our room with Christmas posters.

In reading class we had a lot of fun dramatizing the story, "The Princess Who Could Not Cry."

We all did much better on our 6th Self Test Drill in arithmetic than we had on the 5th. We think we're beginning to understand division now, and are learning our 6's in multiplication.

In science we are studying about "Why We Have Days and Nights."

We have been practicing with Mrs. Smith for our Christmas music program.

We have been having a spelling baseball game for a week and are pretty evenly divided in our scores.

In social studies we have finished Unit II, which was about "People Who Settled Our Country," which we found very interesting.

In language we are learning about invitations, announcements, and introductions.

Each Tuesday we go to our school library and each get a new book, which we may keep until the next week. We add each name to our booklet of "Books We Have Read." We read them whenever we have spare time, and each reads a paragraph or so to the class to show how interesting the story is, also telling the tilte and author.

We all wish you a Merry Christmas.

THIRD GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Illeck

This year we are learning many things about Christmas in Germany, France, England, Mexico and America. We had fun making murals showing how the people in each of these countries celebrate Christmas.

We have an angel tree in our room also. The tree is covered with angels and lights.

Outside our window, we saw four squirrels playing in the same tree. They were having so much fun playing and hiding in holes in the tree, jumping from tree to tree, and playing tag. We enjoyed them so much because we had just finished reading a story about "Frisky, the Squirrel."

Larry Kelly has just returned from the hospital where he had his tonsils removed. We are glad he is back. Cora Murphy and Marlowe Elliott are back after having chicken pox.

We celebrated two birthdays Dec. 2. Marilyn Rose and Dick Hadsell were both nine years old. We enjoyed the treats each brought.

Merry Christmas everyone!
Joyeux Noel
Frohe Weihnachten
Feliz Navidad

THIRD GRADE—CENTRAL
Mrs. Thomas

"We wish you a Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year" can be heard through the halls at Central Elementary school. At long last the holiday season is here and we can hardly wait. Our tree is trimmed and our room is a gala array of Christmas decorations. Under our tree are many beautifully wrapped gifts. It has been difficult keeping secret who each present is for!.

One afternoon we listened to the record, "The Littlest Angel." Loretta Young nararted the story. We also heard "Lullaby of Christmas" as told by Gregory Peck. It is the story of an eight year old deaf boy who regains his speech and hearing on the day that Jesus Christ was born. He then was able to sing a song for the new baby. The manger that Bobby Williamson brought to school helped us to remember the Nativity.

Each boy and girl received Christmas seals. We will put them on our Christmas cards and packages.

Linda Sinkey brought a large map of the world to school. We enjoy finding all the different places on it.

Our Weekly Readers are fun. We like the puzzles, cartoons, and stories.

In arithmetic, we are learning how important number ten is to our number system. We have a counting board that helps us.

We have been reading a story about winter in Holland. The name of the book is "A Day On Skates." It was written by Hilda van Stockum. Dutch children love winter, we do too.

SECOND GRADE
Miss LaPointe

We were glad to have the following mothers visit us since our last news was published — Mrs. MacGeorge, Mrs. Robinette, Mrs. Dickinson, Mrs. Meyer and Mrs. Koons.

Our new front blackboard is in constant use and we all appreciate it very much.

New pupils in our group are Gilbert Relyea and David Elder. The latter has moved back to Tecumseh after having moved to Alabama.

On Robert Titley's eighth birthday which he celebrated December 15 he treated all his classmates to candy canes.

We are all very grateful to Mr. and Mrs. James Barton for presenting us with a beautiful Christmas tree.

Ferma Fairbanks, F. V. Fairbanks Wed Saturday

At a simple home wedding Christmas Eve, Ferma C. Fairbanks, daughter of Mrs. Mary F. Ely and Frederick V. Fairbanks were united in marriage by the Rev. B. O. Bashore. The ceremony, witnessed by only their immediate families, took place in the home of the bridegroom which had been decorated in keeping with the Christmas season.

Attended by Miss Judy Anne Fairbanks and F. Douglas Fairbanks, son and daughter of the bride, the couple stood beside a lighted Christmas tree. Mrs. Fairbanks wore a beige wool dress with a lavender orchid and her accessories were avocado color.

Miss Fairbanks' dress was dusty rose and her flowers a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Ely wore navy blue with a corsage of pink carnations.

Ice cream and a wedding cake which had been made by Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, daughter-in-law of the bride were served after the ceremony.

Mr. Fairbanks is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. and they will live in his home at 6518 Rogers highway.

Grange Plans New Year's Eve Dance

The Tecumseh Grange met Thursday evening with a good attendance. During the regular business meeting, Charles Patterson, chairman of the dance committee announced the New Year's Eve dance, Saturday, Dec. 31. Everyone is welcome at this dance.

The report of Pomona meeting was given by William Grigg and the resolution on the national farm program was discussed.

Members were happy to have Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sanch and son from Camp Larson Air Base and also Edward Bock from a camp in Texas.

The program included group singing and Mrs. Dewey Sturtevant gave several selections with an orchestra composed of five boys. Connie Kahle gave a piano selection and a trio composed of Mrs. Gertrude Birdsell, Mrs. Nina Sturtevant and Mrs. Iva Grigg sang to the accompaniment of Mrs. Lillian Bilby.

Mrs. Hazel Coller played several piano selections and Mrs. Iva Grigg gave one of her humorous readings about Santa Claus.

Carol Bilby then played a piano solo and accompanied Janet and Dick Bilby as they sang Christmas carols. Anthony Korican presented a number of selections on his accordian and the last number was "Jingle Bells" sung by the youngsters as Santa entered and distributed Christmas gifts. The committee then served popcorn, apples and candy. The next meeting will be Thursday, Jan. 12.

Youths Are Fined in Liquor Case

Seven youths, charged with the illegal possession of alcohol beverages in a station wagon, pleaded guilty to the charges when arraigned Wednesday, Dec. 21, before Justice Robert L. French. Each paid a fine and costs of $18.60 rather than spend ten days in jail.

Tecumseh city police stopped the vehicle, driven by a 16-year-old, at 10:05 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 20, after officers observed it speeding. Both beer and whisky were found in the vehicle, officers said. The seven youths were booked at the county jail overnight and the eighth, the minor, was held at the county children's home. Officers said he was released to the custody of his father Wednesday.

The seven who paid the fines and costs were Douglas F. Marsh, 18, of Parma; and Robert M. Cass, 17, John A. Hicks, 17, Gary L. Allen, 17, Robert A. Smith, 17, Jerry G. Secord, 17, and Larry C. Bauer, 17, all of Jackson.

FIREMEN ANSWER MINOR ALARMS

The Arthur Hyde house at 6030 east Monroe road was damaged by fire last Saturday about 1:30 p.m. when a chimney burned out.

Tecumseh firemen were called back about an hour later when a fire broke out in the front of the house. Faulty wiring was suspected. The fire damaged the front wall.

Tuesday at 6 p.m. firemen were called to the Dr. R. J. Murray home at 706 west Pottawatamie when a motor in a clothes dryer burned out. Some smoke damage resulted.

Hotel Gets Stay in Liquor Case

The Hotel Chieftain has been granted a Michigan Supreme Court stay of a State Liquor Control Commission order revoking its liquor license. The stay was granted until Jan. 9.

Mrs. Emma L. Badger, operator, explained she had been cited for selling liquor to a minor but, she added, "this was my first violation charge in 14 years of business."

Here's why more farmers choose TWENTIETH CENTURY WELDERS

There's more than one reason why Twentieth Century Welders are a favorite among farmers who know good welding.

First and foremost . . . they'll tackle, and turn out "to a T", any welding job. Just dial the right heat for the job, and put your Twentieth Century Welder and Carbon Arc Torch to work:

Cutting metal • Brazing
Drilling holes • Bending and shaping
Soldering • Hard Surfacing

AND . . . Twentieth Century Welders save you time and money.

NOW . . . You can quickly and easily repair or replace worn or broken parts on automobiles, tractors, trucks, on all farm machinery.

AND . . . with a Twentieth Century Welder, you can easily make pieces of new equipment.

Take the work out of welding, with the welder that "fits" your farm—a Twentieth Century Welder. Come in. See us for information and demonstration.

SCOUT TROOP SINGS CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Senior Scouts of Troop No. 11 were guests at a wiener roast in the home of their leader, Mrs. Truman Rentschler last Wednesday evening. The Misses Patricia O'Brien and Gail Claxton were guests also. Later the scouts sang carols accompanied by the Misses Claxton and Sally Rentschler on recorders at the LaBounty convalescent home, Marda Gene Duncan's, the Parrett nursing home and Herrick Memorial hospital. They returned to the Rentschler home afterwards where they were served holiday refreshments and had an exchange of gifts.

TURKEY AND FRUIT — Turkeys totaling 3600 and 600 fruit baskets were given to Tecumseh Products Company employees last Friday for Christmas. Married employees received turkeys and single employees received fruit baskets.

Last year the Products gave 3000 turkeys and 400 fruit baskets.

It took seven large Kroger Company trucks to bring the turkeys and fruit baskets from Toledo to the Products.

Part of the large number of employees are shown receiving their Christmas turkeys. In another line at another truck single employees were receiving fruit baskets.

WANT TO ADD SOME COLOR to a rather drab backyard this winter? Make a feeding station for the hardy song birds that stay in Tecumseh. It's an inexpensive device, county agent Louis Hall says, and there's no better way for children and adults to learn to appreciate and enjoy birds. A wooden tray type affair fastened to a window sill or mounted on a five-foot-tall post will do the job. And put out some cracked corn, suiet, crumbs and small grain to attract the birds. Birds need grit to digest the food, too. To be sure of a lot of color in your background, don't neglect the station. Food should be available to the birds at all times.

IT IS WONDERFUL the way Mrs. Robert Smith is working with Tecumseh youngsters in music. They enjoy singing and she does too. She and her young singers put on a mighty fine program of Christmas carols last week. And a word of praise goes to an unsung hero in the pageants. Mr. Smith, Bob to his friends, shepherded the tiny shepherds and angels and other characters and gave them their cues to enter. Mighty fine teamwork from the Smiths.

THE REV. ALVIN BRAZEE brought in a copy of a fine little Florida weekly "The St. Cloud News." The Brazees vacation there in the winter, but, he says, they can't get away this year.

AND W. G. WALDRON gave us another edition of the hilarious "Desert Rat Scrap Book."

YOU'D NEVER REALIZE how intelligent a dog can be until you see one that has graduated from Tom Clute's dog obedience school. Tom had his champion cocker spaniel at a recent Rotary Club program here and the dog did everything but read a newspaper. Incidentally, Tom is starting another course for dogs and their masters (in Tom's school both the dog and his master learn together) Thursday, Jan. 5 in Adrian. If you want more information contact John Thompson at the United Savings Bank. He and his cocker spaniel "Lucky" went through the course and he thinks it is really something.

HOW DID A TEEN-AGE farm girl in Michigan face the New Year exactly 100 years ago?

The TV set was a melodeon then, and the family car was a great sleigh that engulfed a dozen or more boys and girls — but fun was fun, then as now, according to a diary in the possession of the University of Michigan Historical Collections.

Elizabeth Gurney, a 15-year-old girl, living in St. Joseph County near Constantine and Three Rivers, recorded the simple but pleasant events of Jan. 1, 1856, thus:

"Today began the year 1856. First-rate sleighing now. After breakfast Pa went down and got a keg of oysters and then took a pail and got some crackers. About nine Clara (her sister) and I went down to Mr. George Talbot's, left a pail for some milk, went over to the Richardson's and stayed till about half-past eleven when we went after the milk and came home. We had oyster soup and baked fowl for dinner. Ma put some milk in with the oysters which made them taste decidedly better."

Elizabeth Gurney's diary fills 13 large volumes. It was begun when she was 14 years old and covers a span of 33 years.

"Lizzie," who obviously considered that she led a life filled with interesting possibilities, relates that "Pa gave permission for me to keep a journal on two conditions: one — the book was to be open for inspection at all times; two — I wasn't to trot any family skeletons out of the cupboard."

THE KEN DAWSON FAMILY lost their house in the Yuba City, Calif., flood. Ken, former engineer here when Tecumseh was a village, told his father-in-law Yale Kerby the house is a total loss. Yuba City was under 16 feet of water.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — Experience is a wonderful thing. It enables you to recognize a mistake when you make it again. — "Realsilk News."

Approximately 16,000 people die of tuberculosis in the United States every year. In Michigan the death toll averages 10 persons a week.

People can have TB in its early stages without knowing they are ill. A chest X-ray can find tuberculosis before outward symptoms appear.

Michigan Department of Conservation Official News Bulletin

Early heavy snows may spell trouble for Michigan's northern deer herd.

The Conservation Department's game chief, Herry D. Ruhl, reported at a recent Conservation Commission meeting that deer in the Lake Superior drainage are already snowed in to swamps and low areas. Confinement is these "deeryards" so early in the season means a long winter of short rations may be coming.

Michigan's extended waterfowl hunting season closed Dec. 9 with good kills reported on both sides of the state.

Ice in marshes slowed hunting activity somewhat during the closing days of the season, but Herbert J. Miller, Conservation Department waterfowl specialist, described the 70-day season as "generally quite successful."

Good kills were reported during the extra 15 days granted to hunters this year. Goose hunting successes, especially, were up and good duck kills were recorded in some areas.

A total of 3027 geese were bagged at the Fennville-Swan Creek game area, a 35 percent increase over last year. Hunting pressure there was up 23 percent, with 27,305 permits issued. The kill was not considered excessive; as many as 15,000 geese were concentrated in the area at one time.

The total bag at Pointe Mouillee game area was up 47 percent as hunters took 6671 birds, mostly ducks and coots. Some 4500 waterfowl were bagged at the area in 1954 during the 55-day season.

Three fishing sites and 566 acres of forest hunting and game lands were approved for purchase when the State Conservation Commission met in Detroit late last week.

The acquisition includes fishing sites on Juno and Paradise Lakes in Cass county and Bird Lake in Hillsdale county. Also, 406 acres in five southern Michigan game areas are slated for purchase and 160 acres in two northern forests, Pigeon River and Chippewa River.

Concession leases for dune cars were approved for Sleeping Bear dunes and Silver Lake state park.

At 50-it's using less than 10% of its power

Buick's 1956 power-packed CENTURY hardtops—the 2-door Riviera, Model 66R (at top), and the 4-door Riviera, Model 63.

It's practically no effort at all for a sprinter to walk.

It's a breeze for a weight-lifter to pick up a child.

And so it is with the 1956 Buicks in cruising—for these are the mightiest powered Buicks yet built.

Take the '56 Buick CENTURY pictured here. It's almost a loaf for this beauty to cruise a superhighway at a legal 50 mph. At that point it's using less than 10% of its pedal-to-the-floor power.

And that's just the reason for the record-high power and compression ratio in your big 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. You and your engine can take it easy so much of the time.

You have no qualms about the response at your command. Your power plant has no need to breathe hard—so it saves gas, stays young, lasts longer.

So when you take the wheel of a '56 Buick, you take it easy, and still lead the parade.

You know you can call out the reserves with a touch of your toe.

And you find you silk through a whole day's driving with the flowing ease of today's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.*

For not only does this advanced new Dynaflow give you stepped-up gas mileage and brilliant new getaway response at only part throttle. Not only does it permit you to switch the pitch for full-power safety-surge take-off.

It also gives you absolute smoothness in acceleration and deceleration like you get in no other car in the world.

Drop in on us this week for a sampling of the best performance yet—and for a first-hand look at what else goes with the best Buick yet.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

A Hope for the New Year

In less than two days the new year of 1956 will be here. We do not know what it will bring but we hope for the following:

We hope city, board of education and township officials will be successful in completing the projects they have planned. And we hope that they will face up courageously to the tasks regardless of any criticism they might hear.

We hope teachers will get through to their students and that their students will gain new insight into the world around them.

We hope ministers will be spiritually guided in bringing His message to their congregations and that through this guidance our ministers will make better Christians of us all.

We hope members of the staff of this newspaper will continue to have the physical, mental and moral stamina to put out a fine newspaper.

We hope for a better understanding between parents and their children so that both may grow together.

We hope for a continued economic climate where management and labor can work out their problems for mutual benefit without resort to striking and name calling.

We hope that doctors and scientists continue to make great strides in stamping out disease and in treating the sick and the injured.

We hope that "talks on the summit" can be continued internationally and that there will be a greater understanding between east and west.

In brief, it is our hope that all of us, in the Tecumseh area, in the state, in the nation and in the world, will enjoy good health, prosperity and good spirits in the new year and, above all, that all of us will have a better understanding of the other fellow's problems and opinions.

What Others Say

"The consensus is industry will produce from three to five per cent more goods and services in 1956. There will be more employment, better business conditions and the average employee will have more take home pay . . . We are moving upward on the economic charts into a period of prosperity, of expansion, of living standards higher than ever before . . . I can best sum up the business outlook for 1956 this way. The picture is bright. The picture is good."

Good Health to All!

A record number of births in Michigan in 1955! That's the estimate from the Michigan Department of Health which today reported that the number of births during the year totaled about 195,000 — 3,000 more than in 1954.

In a year-end review, Dr. Albert E. Heustis, State Health Commissioner said that the new high in births is matched by an "encouraging low" in deaths. He said provisional figures show the 1955 death toll in Michigan should be about the same as the all-time low of last year — 8.6 deaths per thousand population.

Highlighting public health programs during the year, the Health Commissioner reported: "Tuberculosis detection was intensified. Increased demands were made for child health services. Health in the later years of life gained increasing attention. And, of course, the new polio vaccine was given its first widespread use in Michigan."

He said that the health department divisions of sanitation, occupational health and laboratories recorded the highest demands in history during the year, "making expanded services inevitable if we hope to keep pace."

Even though chronic diseases such as heart disease, cancer, and diabetes are now the leading killers in Michigan, Dr. Heustis cautioned against any let down in communicable disease control. As an example of the need for continued emphasis in immunization programs, he noted that reported cases of diphtheria in 1955 are expected to exceed 75 — a 50 per cent increase over 1954.

WITH AMERICA'S POPULATION growing at the rate of 2,700,000 every year, census experts predict we'll have a population of 200 to 220 million by 1975. That's just 20 years from now! The statistics, by themselves, may not startle many of us until we stop and think that today's new-born babe will have reached voting age and be ready in 1975 to go out into the world and seek his fortune.

Many of us are so busy with today's problems we don't get around to planning very much for the future. But American industry is planning ahead. Business men know for example, that they are going to be called upon to create some 22 million new jobs between now and 1975 — when we can expect to have a working population totalling 88 million.

Letters to the Editor

12-19-55
Tecumseh, Michigan

The Tecumseh Herald
Via the Editor:

What is the farm problem? To me it is divided into three parts:

1. The ability of the farm family to maintain a standard of living comparable to the families in other parts of the economy.

2. The farmer's problem of too low net income after taxes which limits his purchasing power which in turn affects the whole economy.

3. The adidtional cost for all of us in tax money used to take care of the surplus products produced on the farm. So the farm problem is actually the problem of all of us. Therefore, the solution will require the understanding, cooperation and best efforts of all of us.

The farm problem at the present time was brought about mainly through formation which is better defined as mechanization and improved methods and processes used on the farm and through cultivation of marginal land. The casualties of this evolution in farming have mainly been absorbed into industry, thus relieving the impact of this part of the farm problem but these same people along with a great many others will be directly affected when automation reaches the stage of development that formation has now and the impact can be much greater due to the fact it can happen more suddenly.

Lack of space limits detailing my ideas for solving this farm problem. My object in writing this communication is to emphasize the fact that the farm problem, like many other problems such as automation, is interrelated with other problems that directly affect the welfare of all of us — the solution of which requires concerted positive action in seeking the answers rather than wasting our time and effort, as we are now, by seeking in a divided fashion of different economic and political blocs.

The solution will require well thought out, well planned, long range legislation that will have the support of a large majority of our people. I feel this support can only come after better relations and understanding are developed between the various economic groups through the realization we all have the same goal and will reach it quicker by working together.

Thank you,
Grenval Spangler

To the Editor —

I think that our community does a fine job on holidays remembering our children — we do not forget how important these special days are to the younger generation and that they are storing memories that will be with them forever.

However, I am asking if we could all make a little more effort so that no child in our town will be subjected to heart-break — a little friend of mine, a third grade boy (no relative) who has a beautiful belief in Santa Claus went to see him. He had made great plans — what he would say to him etc. He was told that he could not have the usual gift of candy — it was for the younger children.

Perhaps it is a little difficult for us to understand the blow this was to the little boy. He declared that he would never again go to see him.

How old is a third grader? Only eight — full of beautiful dreams of love and Santa, for that is what Santa Claus is. He is certainly one of the "younger children".

Let us all see to it that no child that belongs to us ever hears again that there is no candy for him and let us hope that this memory for him will soon be forgotten.

The telephone rang and a businessman extended this invitation, "Come to my office. I've got a real estate matter to discuss with you."

When I arrived, he said tersely, "I want to buy a home. Get out your notebook. I'll give you a list of things we want in a house so you'll recognize it if you see it. I'm too busy to inspect a lot of homes I wouldn't be interested in. Ready?"

"Shoot," I replied.

"Three or 4 bedrooms, although 2 on the main floor is okay. Older home is fine if well maintained and in a good neighborhood. View if possible. Prefer double garage. Not over $16,000 in price."

"Fine," I answered, "I'll call you back before the day is out."

Fortunately we had a nice home that met most of his requirements. And thus a sale!

The point, however, is this. A few people know exactly what they want in a home. Many have a general idea. And, a few really don't know what they want. But regardless of which category you belong in, we have had years of experience in helping "buyers" in your same position find a satisfactory home.

Break: Have met the men in the clearing and are going back to get the rest of the carcass which should not have been left. Excitement. As the men leading the jeep approached the buffalo remains, they "spooked" a leopard feeding on it. Andy has driven the car away and Jens and Ngora are left in an improvised blind. Not a good setup to shoot a leopard, but we're going back after them in 15 minutes.

Never a dull moment. Twelve thirty now—Jens saw the leopard again, but not for a clear shot. Out in the open at last, preparing an orthodox leopard blind. Heat, flies, bees and such stench from the rear of the jeep! The vultures are swooping and circling over our heads. I suppose that leopard was crouching behind a tree all the time I was reading "Tender Is the Night" trying to decide between me or the buffalo carcass!

GO AFTER RHINO

In camp. Six o'clock in the evening — we were going into town after lunch, but Andy got a call (message on foot) from some natives about some rhino, so he and Jens are off again. "Oh, yes," they say, " a horn this long," and they measure it off on their arms.

Jens looks 10 years younger and is having such a wonderful time.

I washed my hair this afternoon — it tried desperately to squeak, but still looks grey and dry. Arap Sohi lugged me so much water that I gave him a candy bar; all grins. He has thoroughly cleaned up after my bath, brought the neatly ironed clothes, and is getting Jens' bath ready. This morning he had even washed my comb and brush.

CHIEF ARRIVES

Yesterday afternoon the big Chief of the area and an elderly native strolled into camp. All the white men were gone so Bitten and I took their pictures for a bottle of beer. Bitten shook hands with them to say goodbye, so I followed suit. The old gentleman spat on my hand, raised both his arms to the heavens, then rubbed his stomach. It was a good luck blessing for me and a prayer that I have many children. Yes, I carried the hand intact back to the wash basin. Found out later that according to a native superstition if they can get hold on an enemy's spittle, it gives them power over him. So this spitting business was a sign of high respect — putting himself in my power.

COVERED WITH LICE

Poor Clausens — they came in later for lunch, wrapped up in just coats. They should have known better, but foolishly investigated an abandoned native hut and came out covered with lice or fleas! They have been sprayed, their hair, their clothes — a big wash.

The men saw an elephant in the same woods I was sitting in today! Pure luck that I didn't have a chance to find out how fast I could sprint and cleverly zig zag against or with the wind. The white hunters contradict themselves too often about the dangerous animals. Am not going walking in the woods again!

GETS HIS LEOPARD

Feb. 18, 1955
Friday

Decided to sleep in this morning instead of going out with Andy and Jens. Such a commotion in my dreams — tin pans banging, people shouting, and finally I awakened to find it a reality. It's a terrible thing not to know what the wild voices mean. The running feet — was the camp being raided? I paced back and forth for a few seconds, completely bewildered. Then — Jens' smiling face appeared around the tent corner. "Where have you been? Why didn't you come out? You should have seen the show. I got my leopard!" It was just 8:15 and in such an unbelievably short time he was camp hero. All the natives were wild with joy and carried him on their shoulders around camp; a white flag was even put on the car.

It is a beautiful beast. I went out in my pjs and raincoat and we took many pictures. Andy and Jens had another breakfast with me and then we just toured around the plains investigating the other leopard baits — the fellows were completely relaxed, so happy over the conquest. Jens and Andy are now out after rhino.

Mads Clausen has been having such poor luck that he is out with Chris sitting in one of our leopard blinds. Bitten couldn't go — no room — and we've been visiting and I know her heart is fluttering for her husband's return.

IT'S 70 DEGREES

Feb. 19, 1955
Saturday morning

Eight-thirty, just 70 degrees now as I sit in the Mess Hall (mess is a good word) having just finished a good breakfast alone — soft boiled egg, two slices of toast, jam, prunes and three cups of muddy coffee — think it has been standing since five o'clock.

Mads sat in the blind for three hours yesterday — no luck. Jens and Andy tracked a nervous rhino, but couldn't get a shot. We had a pleasant cocktail hour around the fire in spite of the "fruity" wafts of breeze that reminded us of the leopard carcass that had been dragged away from camp. We listened to the painful moans that ended in a hearty loonlike laughter of the hyenas as they devoured the remains.

HONOR THE HERO

"Kadi," called Chris and Andy in unison, and an apparition in a long white coat, a turbaned headdress, melted into our circle. "Chakula!" "Food." We carried our chairs and glasses over to the dining table. Champagne tonight to honor Jens' leopard — champagne in water glass tumblers, its bubbles dancing in the light of an oil lamp. A feast of "game soup," eland steak smothered in French fried onions, shoestring potatoes, tiny broiled tomatoes, French beans, cheese and canned pears for dessert The other night when we had guests for dinner, we were even served a lobster cocktail and later sardines on hot croutons. The Chef is a wonder.

Across the gulley — staring at grass, a black little hand is timidly raised in greeting. I answer and all eight happily waddle on their knees (American fashion) to the very edge of the gully. One brave soul has even slid down the hill; have to be careful or our camp will be infested with them. Their papa has just hollered and they all scatter like black bugs over the grass. Are still calling to me, "Jambo, Jambo." (Oh, how you'd love to see their black little rumps bent in play). The sun shining on the tufts of black candle wicking they call hair. Now even their herd of donkeys are curiously blinking their eyes at me.

Carols and Organ Add Cheer for Hospital Patients

The Christmas season at Herrick Memorial hospital was made much more pleasant for patients, nurses and visitors by the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Hazel Coller, one of the hospital aides. She donated the use of her Hammond organ for the singing of carols and to furnish music during holiday week.

This in addition to the cheer furnished by the three Christmas trees which were decorated by a committee from the Garden Club and the other decorations supplied by the Hospital Auxiliary, helped to make the days pass more quickly for those who were forced to spend Christmas in the hospital.

Don't Let Food Poisoning Ruin Your Holiday Season

"Food poisoning frequently takes away the pleasure of a family holiday. To prevent this make sure your holiday fowl is properly refrigerated", the Lenawee County Health Department advises.

Holiday feasts bring a delightful variety and a great abundance of foods into the home. Reserve your refrigerator for foods in which harmful germs can multiply rapidly if not properly refrigerated. These foods include turkey or chicken, meats — raw, precooked or cooked, fish, milk, salad dressing, cream filling, custards puddings and gelatin preparations.

In preparing your fowl follow these rules closely for your health's sake:

1—Frozen fowl may be safely thawed at room temperature immediately before preparation for cooking.

2—Keep fresh fowl refrigerated and ready to stuff and roast.

3—Make the dressing just before the bird is ready to be roasted.

4—If you must save time by preparing the dressing the night before Christmas, don't put it into the turkey and leave it at room temperature overnight. Put it in a dish and keep it in the refrigerator until time for roasting.

5—The safest way of all is to cook the dressing separately. By cooking it in the same pan around the turkey, you can assure good flavor and more certainty of freedom from germs which may live in the center of the dressing if it is in the turkey.

It is essential that left-over turkey, dressing or broth be kept refrigerated at 50 degrees F. or below. Meats and other protein foods should be kept hot or cold until they are eaten.

Keep them hot — keep them cold — or don't keep them!
